An Act amending the act of July 28 1953 (Appropriation Acts page 16 Act No 20-A) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Forests and Waters for the protection and stabilization of Presque Isle Peninsula and Erie Harbor at Erie" authorizing the use of funds for improvement and development purposes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 1009, makes an appropriation of $2,500,000 to the Department of Forests and Waters for the protection and stabilization of the Presque Isle Peninsula and Erie Harbor at Erie, and authorizing the use of funds for improvement and development purposes.

Mr. Speaker, I believe this is a very necessary bill to Pennsylvania. With the development of the St. Lawrence Seaway we have an opportunity in Pennsylvania to make Erie one of the great ports of the world.

I think this bill should be supported by all Members.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whom I might interrogate on this bill. I would like to ask several pertinent questions concerning it. If there is anybody from the Committee from which this bill was reported who could answer some questions, I would like to interrogate him.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, desire to answer the questions?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I do not desire to answer questions. I would like to discuss the bill with Mr. Auker if he wants to do so.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I have been reading the bill here hastily. Does this amend the Act known as 481, which gives municipalities the right to tax anything not taxed by the state?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I would say it does.

MR. AUKER. Then as I read the bill, this would allow the municipality to raise the levy under those taxation powers from ten to fifteen mills on the assessed valuation of the municipality, is that correct?

Mr. LOPRESTI. That is correct.

Mr. AUKER. And that could make a raise in the wage tax possibly from one to one-and-one half or even two per cent in those municipalities that have a wage tax?

Mr. LOPRESTI. No, it would not have that effect. What it would actually do is to permit the one per cent tax, for example, to remain in effect even though it produced more than ten mills on the assessed valuation. As the law now stands the ceiling is one per cent, but if that one per cent brings in more than ten mills, or a sum equal to more than ten mills, on the assessed valuation, then the municipality must use up the excess funds and reduce the rate in the following year to perhaps three-quarters, or one-half, or whatever rate would raise ten mills or less.

Mr. AUKER. I would like to further ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if that is not going to allow municipalities to go hog-wild on their spending when maybe the same would not be necessary?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I personally feel this is a bill which requires a considerable amount of thought, because by allowing the millage to be raised from ten to fifteen we create a number of problems which are not foreseen just by looking at the figures.

For example, in many counties the school boards would have no tax power under 481 if the municipalities had been allowed to keep fifteen mills. But since the municipalities had to reduce to one-half per cent because their tax was producing more than ten mills, it gave the school boards the opportunity of picking up the other half. This might throw out of balance the budgets of other subdivisions than those which we are increasing today.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman, then, maybe he is looking on the bill the same way as I am, with a little bit of a jaundiced eye?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I suggested I would like to discuss it with you. I view the bill with great alarm.

Mr. AUKER. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Personally, I think this matter ought to have a great more thought and study before we pass it. I intend to vote against it and I think every Member of the House ought to vote against it before we give further unlimited powers to these municipalities to levy this kind of taxes. It is pretty dangerous legislation, and we should watch that we do not let it get away from us.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to discuss the bill a little further. There are many other angles which should require the attention of the Members of the House before they vote on this bill.

We have surrounding a number of our cities small boroughs which from time to time have enticed the more wealthy citizens out of the city They have taken up residence in the boroughs surrounding the city, and because of the fact that they do have in most instances an above-average salary those particular boroughs by this bill are limited to ten mills on their real estate valuation, which brings in a considerable amount of money.

They then find themselves in a position where they must reduce their percentage and, as I said, in many cases the school districts picked up percentages which were reduced by reason of the excess money that was coming in.

In addition to that, in some cases third class cities have been able to pick up the excess and that money goes to the place for which it was originally intended, the third class cities which needed the money perhaps more than the outlying districts.

Where that money exceeded the ten mills and the school district had no need for it, then the surrounding third class cities were able to take maybe one-quarter of one per cent, or one-eighth, or one-half, depending upon the amount which that particular community was forced to cut.

In the actual application of 481 we find this evil has arisen, some communities need taxes under 481 and they have imposed such taxes. Since they are applicable to non-residents, there was immediately a stir in the adjoining community who did not need it, but the residents said, if we have to pay the tax anyway, why not pay it in our home district rather than pay it to the district that needs it? As a result there are a number of communities in Pennsylvania who are today actually collecting more taxes than they need and they are attempting to find ways and means of spending the taxes.

There are communities where garbage collection once a week during the summer period was found to be ample, but because that community had a large amount of money they instituted garbage collection twice a week.

I think if we pass this bill today, we are gaing to encourage more spending on the part of municipalities and I think that it is something we should avoid.

The next angle I think this Legislature ought to consider is that the wider the latitude we allow to the local governments, the narrower becomes the lattitude by which we in the Legislature can raise our state taxes. The more we allow to be siphoned off at the bottom, the more difficult it is going to become for the state to raise the amount of money which it needs.

I think this bill should be seriously considered. I do not believe it should be passed unless there is an effort on the part of someone here today to explain the necessity, to tell us whether or not there are communities that actually are in dire need of this type of legislation. If we are simply going to raise the amount so that some municipality will not have to cut its percentage, then I am very much opposed to this bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Let's be fair about this thing, this deals with 481. That's my baby. The only study this bill needs, and I say if it needs study, all right.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield? The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti. Will the gentleman yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I will yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I apologize, because I thought the gentleman had finished his discussion.

This particular bill we have before us now deals with the original Act 481. I feel we should give it a lot of study in the hope that given enough study we can in some way find a means of eliminating 481 in the state of Pennsylvania so that some day we can get a broad base tax in Pennsylvania.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I feel I must make a statement in regard to this bill. When we caucused on the bill last Tuesday up in our office, we considered the bill very hastily and I am afraid I gave a wrong interpretation to the Members on this side of the House as to the effect of this bill.

I would, therefore, like to make a motion to place this bill on the final passage postponed calendar so we can again caucus on it and secure further information on it as has been suggested here today.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 2083, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" providing for the appointment of deputy commissioners of the Pennsylvania State Police and the fixing of their salaries

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say to the membership on this side that since we caucused on this bill last Monday amendments have been offered limiting the number of deputies that can be appointed to three and fixing their salary at a maximum, I think, of $13,500.

I think I owe the Members on our side that explanation, that the bill has now been restricted to no more than three deputy commissioners.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 35

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 35.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 35, entitled: An act amending the act of May twenty-first nineteen hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws 149) entitled as amended "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are practically and commercially suitable for use in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" providing for full reimbursement of taxes on liquid fuels consumed in the operation of certain tractors and machinery for agriculture purposes for a limited period of time.

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

ALBERT E. MADIGAN,
THOMAS P. HARNEY,
JOHN H. DENT,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

J. DEAN POLEN,
GEORGE J. SARRAF,
NORMAN WOOD,
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I am for this Conference Report. I am at last glad to see that both political parties are willing to go along on a 100 per cent refund of the fuel tax for the farmers of this Commonwealth.

This was a matter that I, myself, have been urging this Legislature to do during the 1949 session and also subsequent sessions including the present session of this Legislature.

It was a matter in which I was opposed by various persons at different times. Sometimes some of the Members of this House would be against it and other times those very same Members would be for it just as was demonstrated in this present session, but I am pleased to see almost everyone is not opposing the farmers today.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 794

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 794.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 794, entitled: "Amending the act of January 21, 1947 (P. L. 3), entitled 'An act relating to officers and employes of the General Assembly, fixing the number, qualifications, compensation mileage and duties of the officers and employes of the Senate and of the House of Representatives, * * *,' changing the title of and compensation of certain Senate and House employes; providing for the appointment of additional employes therein and making appropriations."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

ROBERT D. FLEMING,
WILLIAM Z. SCOTT,
JOHN H. DENT,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

JOHN F. STANK,
ANTHONY J. PETROSKY,
ADAM T. BOWER,
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, this House Bill 794 is an outgrowth of a bill introduced by Messrs. Readinger and Smith on March 29, 1955. The original purpose of the bill was sound. It was intended to give a well-deserved raise to the "Little Joe" and "Little Orphan Annie" who work in the transcribing room of the House of Representatives.

Thereafter it had a merry-go-round ride over in the Senate, and now you as Members of the House of Representatives are asked to adopt a Conference Report which provides on page 7 that forty-six stenographers each of whom shall have successfully completed the prescribed course of a certain character shall be hired at an annual salary of $3,036 each.

This means in plain English that each and every Senator other than the Majority and the Minority Leaders and their respective assistants will now have a full time stenographer on his payroll.

This we think is unsound, unjust, unnecessary and the creation of nepotism in the state of Pennsylvania. We believe the Senators are not enitled to this. We also feel that as Members of the House we should stop this grab-bag propositions.

We ask each and everyone of you to vote against this Conference Report. It will save hundreds of thousands of dollars. If we want to spend it let's give it to "Little Joe" and "Little Orphan Annie."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Because of the absence of many Members, the Chair would like to request the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, to withdraw his request to call up the report and pass the report over temporarily.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FARABAUGH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on Tuesday of this week I asked permission to be absent on Wednesday for a very good reason. I also asked the Leader for permission to be away today for the same reason, and was told it was necessary to be here, we were going to have a full House and a full working day.

So I came here and I see bills passing that in my opinion are controversial bills and I am not content with the vote that is credited on them.

I therefore move we immediately poll the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the members of the Press take their seats.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members will take their seats. Visitors will leave the Floor of the House. Members of the Press will take their seats.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question as moved by Mr. Farabaugh, and ask for a ruling on it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. There is no parliamentary question before this House.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Then I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh, merely asked that the House be polled. That is not a proper parliamentary question.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Therefore, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, suggests the absence of a quorum.

Members will take their seats. The doors of the House will be closed. The Sergeant-at-Arms will carry out the order of the Chair.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, would I be in order to suggest that only those answering to their names be recorded as being present?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Only those answering to their names can be and will be recorded. Only Members will be admitted. Visitors will not be admitted during the calling of the roll.

The Sergeant-at-Arms is instructed not to admit anyone to the Hall of the House except Members of the House or Officers of the House. The Clerk will call the roll. Members will answer "present" to their names.

The roll was called and was as follows:

(During the calling of the roll)

Mr. MIKULA. If I am in order I would like to make a statement on the roll call.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is not in order at this time. Nothing is in order except the calling of the roll and the establishing of a quorum.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair directed the Sergeant-at-Arms not to permit visitors to enter the House during the calling of the roll. Visitors who entered the Hall of the House during the calling of the roll will be removed.

The Sergeant-at-Arms will carry out the orders of the Chair. This is a very serious matter and requires the cooperation of everyone.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know if I am in order or not, but I would like to know if it is alright to state that Dr. Sarraf confined Mr. Blair to his room with the virus.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. It is not in order at this time. Nothing is in order except the question of the absence of a quorum.

Mr. MOODY. I did not hear the name of the Member from York, Mr. Lawyer, on that list. I believe he has a leave of absence, does he not?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. It is known by the membership and the officers of the House that the gentleman from York, Mr. Lawyer, is in the hospital, although leave of absence was not requested for him this week.

* * * * * *

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will return the gavel to the Speaker of the House.

The SPEAKER (Mr. Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Armstrong.

First a word as to the parliamentary situation.

In the event there had not been a quorum present, all the House could have done would have been to adjourn from day to day until a quorum was present. The House would have adjourned until tomorrow. If a quorum was not present, all we could do would be to adjourn until Saturday. If on Saturday a quorum was not present, all of we could do would be to adjourn until Monday.

A quorum being present, the Chair would ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, as to his further pleasure.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that further proceedings under the call be dispensed with.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Had the gentleman from Allegheny desired otherwise and had the House agreed with him, the House could have sent for the absentees and could have compelled their attendance.

Since further proceedings under the call of the House have been dispensed with, the Sergeant-at-Arms will open the doors of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I suggested the absence of a quorum and I did it because of the fact that day after day we have seen highly controversial bills being passed over. We have been compelled to stay here, as recited yesterday, many weeks longer because ten per cent of the men have not fulfilled their duty. Ninety per cent of the Members have been here faithfully.

If we have to adjourn to a date subsequent to the primary election, I am greatly in fear we will have greater difficulty obtaining the necessary votes to pass controversial legislation.

It is rather late in this session to speak on this matter, but I believe that all the Members on both sides of the House agree with me, especially the faithful ninety per cent. Had we had the necessary votes here, especially upon the majority side—I do not wish to criticize or castigate them, I appreciate the great difficulty the Majority Leader has been laboring under, I appreciate his courtesy and fairness in all matters, but I certainly do believe the members of his party have not given him the faithful service to which a gentleman of his character has been entitled throughout the entire session. Had they done so, we would not be here today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as a young boy I used to enjoy listening to a story about a boy watching sheep, I believe it was, and every so often somebody would yell "Wolf" and then they would run away. After a while the young boy did not pay any attention to the call of "Wolf"

That reminds me of what we have been going through in this session. Five or six times during the session we have suggested the absence of a quorum and we have taken up a half an hour of the time of this House, or perhaps more, in determining whether a quorum was present. Then we dispense with further action under the roll call.

I think, Mr. Speaker, it is time to quit calling "Wolf" unless we mean to do something about it. I for one want to state to the Members of the House that on the next occasion when the absence of a quorum is suggested I personally will move this House to bring back those Members who are absent without leave.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Armstrong to resume the Chair.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, as our present plans call for very little more business to be taken up today and since we have such excellent order, I request permission to make a brief statement concerning our plans for the future.

We are planning to have a full working day next Monday when we adjourn today for the week for the reason that the amendments to the sales tax will not come to us until next Monday and it is not possible to call matters of such importance before the House on a so-called consent calendar day.

It has become increasingly obvious that we cannot complete sensibly the work of this session by the end of next week even by meeting five days next week. We plan now to start calling consent or token sessions starting next Tuesday, perhaps one day a week, perhaps two days a week, until after the Primary or until April 30th, which I believe is the Monday following the primary election.

The pressure from the membership to be allowed to go home and campaign, which is a normal thing for anybody who is a candidate for public office, has become worse and worse each week. This is the first time in my recollection we have ever been in session so close to the following election. I am not trying to excuse any Member from his duties, or anything else, I do not think they need to be excused. I think it is the normal thing to expect Members to want to be home to campaign.

Since we intend during the session to pass certain legislation and pass it in an orderly and sensible fashion, we have arrived at the conclusion that we simply cannot wind up all our work by the end of next week.

Therefore we are planning, as I say, to have consent sessions after next Monday.

Mr. ANDREWS. I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, provided thet gentleman asks no lawyers' questions.

Mr. ANDREWS. No lawyers' questions. Would it be the thought of the Majority Leader, who desires a working majority, or at least a very considerable portion of a working majority, to be present next Monday, or would it be his thought if very few Members are actually present to require their presence?

Mr. READINGER. In answer to the gentleman, I would say if we do not have enough Members to pass the amendments to the sales tax that come over from the Senate, I would certainly require the Members to be brought in so we could take care of that business.

Mr. ANDREWS. The gentleman from Cambria thanks the Majority Leader.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, does the Majority Leader know for "proof positive" that the House will have the sales tax correctional amendments back in our possession next Monday?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would be presumptuous if I were to answer that question in the affirmative, because anybody who would speak that positively about what the Senate will do would certainly be presumptuous.

I understand that the amendments which have been discussed, and to a great extent agreed upon, are being drafted today and will be inserted in the bill when it is reported from Committee tomorrow.

I understand the Senate is expecting to meet long enough this week so that the bill will be ready to be passed finally on Monday and sent to us.

I cannot be any more positive about it than what I have been told. That is our full expectation.

In addition I might say to the gentleman's question that we intend to see that those amendments are passed here on Monday. If it is necessary to vote those who were on the prior roll call at the time it passed the House, that might be done.

Mr. VARNER. Thank you.

Mr. READINGER. We do not want the membership to feel that it will be a consent calendar day and that nothing will be brought up which is controversial, because those amendments could be considered controversial and any Member has the right to get up and object to the amendments inserted by the Senate.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, is it possible for the Majority Leader to inform the House, or does he have any idea, after we reconvene on the 30th of April as to an approximate target date for the sine die adjournment of the House so that the Members might have some general idea?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would express the opinion that within two weeks of that date we can adjourn finally. During the interim matters will be discussed concerning which bills should be processed and which bills should not be processed.

If those plans are followed out there will be no reason why we cannot adjourn finaly within two weeks after we return, provided the membership will be present or be brought here to vote on the bills which should be given attention.

SENATE MESSAGE

SINE DIE ADJOURNMENT

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 5, 1956.

Resolved (The House of Representatives concurring), That this Regular Session of the General Assembly adjourn Sine-die on the fourteenth day of April, at 12 o'clock noon.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION

REQUESTING MEETING OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEES

Messrs. BAZIN and POMEROY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1956.

For the purpose of resolving the differences between the Senate and the House of Representatives with respect to House Bill No. 1104, Printer's No. 1043, entitled "An act amending the act of April 21, 1949 (P. L. 665) entitled 'An act to carry into effect section one of article fifteen of the Constitution giving cities of the first class the right and power to frame, adopt and amend their own charters and to exercise the powers and authority of local self-government and providing the procedure therefor, imposing certain restrictions, limitations and regulations, imposing duties upon city councils, city officers, county boards of elections, courts and the Secretary of the Commonwealth and providing for the payment of certain expenses by such cities and imposing penalties' providing for the revision of home rule charters, providing for the establishment of a charter revision commission for the purpose of making revisions and imposing duties upon city councils, city officers, boards of election, courts and the Secretary of the Commonwealth," the Senate appointed three members of the Senate on January 18, 1956 as a committee on the part of the Senate and the House of Representatives on December 28, 1955 appointed three members of the House of Representatives as a committee on the part of the House of Representatives.

To date the committee on the part of the Senate has refused to meet with the committee on the part of the House of Representatives for the purpose of considering the bill.

The bill is of tremendous importance to the citizenry of Philadelphia, should be immediately considered and a report made thereon by the committees; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives respectfully requests the Senate to instruct its committee on conference on House Bill 1104, Printer's No. 1043 to discharge its duties by meeting with the Committee of Conference on the part of the House already appointed on this bill, and to consider the differences between the House and Senate on said bill.

Ordered, That the Clerk notify the Senate accordingly.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. EILBERT, HOLT, Mrs. ANDERSON, Mrs. MONROE, Mr. BAZIN, Mrs. PASHLEY, Messrs. TAYLOR, WELSH, TOLL, LEVEN, BRANCA, FRASCELLA, LIMPER, MULDOWNEY and McKEEVER offered the following resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1956.

The House will recess for the week and will not be in session on the birthday of the leader of the Philadelphia Democratic Delegation.

On Friday April 6, a number of years ago a male child was born who was destined to become the leader of the Democratic members from Philadelphia in the House of Representatives.

His sterling qualities and congenial character have also established him as a leader in the General Assembly; it is therefor

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulate the Honorable Leon Kolankiewicz upon the occasion of his birthday and to express a wish for his good health and continued service as a leader in the Assembly.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kolankiewicz.

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ. Mr. Speaker, I wondered why this delegation was trying to keep me here today. I wanted to take off with the other Members of the Philadelphia delegation. Now I realize why they kept me here.

However I am very grateful to the Members who sponsored this Resolution and to the Members of the House.

It has been a pleasure working with this group, and I hope it will always be as great a pleasure as it has been in the past.

Thank you very much.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. HOCKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, if I am in order, I would at this time like to interrogate the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, Mr. Sarraf.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Sarraf, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SARRAF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, two or three weeks ago out of the goodness of my heart I tried to give the Democratic administration five, six, seven or eight more millions of dollars. They have been crying they do not have enough money. I introduced three bills, first of all, two bills to eliminate fuel oil and gas, mops, brooms, soap powder and so on. In lieu of that, to show I was not fooling or kidding, I introduced a soft drink tax which would take up the slack and give you about $6 or $7 million extra money.

Is there any possibility there will be action on these bills in the near future in your Committee?

Mr. SARRAF. Does the gentleman mean to stress the point of the possibility of action upon his bills which he submitted only a week or two ago?

Mr. HOCKER. That is right.

Mr. SARRAF. There is definitely a possibility.

Mr. HOCKER. There is. May I ask you one more question?

Mr. SARRAF. I won't need a lawyer, will I?

Mr. HOCKER. I said, in the near future. Now that will have to be when we return, but is it your thinking that you will call those bills up before your Committee?

Mr. SARRAF. In fairness to the gentleman's request, I think every bill which has been submitted to my Committee will be given Committee action definitely. There are numerous bills as important as the gentleman's which will be definitely considered.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HOCKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I was not kidding when I put these bills in, especially now the way this present sales tax is being interpreted. We have sent the amendments to it over to the Senate and we are waiting for them to come back.

I am really sincere when I say we are abusing millions of people in this state by taxing the necessities of life. Fuel oil is one of them, gas for heating purposes is another, very definitely soap powders, mops and brooms are others.

I was not kidding when I put this soft drink tax in, in fact, I have lost a few friends through it, but I am willing to gamble on those few friends to help millions of people in this Commonwealth.

The money is there. It is available. All you have to do is bring those bills out of Committee and you will gather up more money than you will get out of that part of the sales tax.

SENATE

FRIDAY, APRIL 6, 1956.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair

PRAYER

Honorable FRANK W. RUTH, a Member of the Senate from Berks County offered the following prayer:

In the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit.

O Thou great universal God, when we realize that Thou hast created and art governing the universe, yet in the vastness of Thy domain Thou dost consider us as units of society and as individuals and are interested in our problems. We pray that we may reciprocate that feeling with Thee, that the little things we deal with here in life are infinitesimal when we compare them with what Thou dost deal with.

May we work close with Thee today in whatever we do and say, so that Thy name may have all the honor and the glory in a world without end, Amen.

GENERAL COMMUNICATION

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication which was read by the Clerk:

(RESOLUTION No. 38)

RESOLUTION

Memorializing the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to enact legislation to provide for the establishment of additional Common Pleas Courts in Philadelphia and to increase the number of Municipal Court Judges.

Whereas, There is now pending in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania legislation to provide for the establishment of additional Common Pleas Courts in the City of Philadelphia, as well as the addition of Judges to the Municipal Court of the City of Philadelphia; and

Whereas, The backlog of cases now awaiting trial in the Common Pleas Courts exceeds five thousand (5,000) and it requires approximately eleven (11) months for a case to be listed for trial in the said Courts; and

Whereas, The backlog of cases in the Quarter Sessions Court in Philadelphia made it necessary to have visiting Judges from other counties sit in said Court for a period of approximately two hundred (200) days in 1955; and

Whereas, The various divisions of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia, particularly those divisions which deal with domestic relations and juvenile problems, are handling cases in such large numbers that it is difficult for the sitting Judges to devote an adequate amount of time to each case; and

Whereas, There is an urgent need for additional Judges, both in the Common Pleas and in the Municipal Courts, so as to reduce the amount of time which persons involved in litigation must wait for their cases to reach the trial stage; and

Whereas, The proper dispensation of justice requires that persons who are involved in legal actions have their cases heard and disposed of expeditiously and with the least possible delay; therefore

Resolved, by the Council of the City of Philadelphia, That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby respectfully requested to enact, without further delay, appropriate legislation creating two additional Common Pleas Courts in the City of Philadelphia and adding not less than five (5) Judges to the bench of the Municipal Court of the City of Philadelphia, in order that the backlog of cases now existing in both Courts may be eliminated and cases may be listed for trial, and disposed of, with the least possible delay.

Resolved, That certified copies of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly. Certification: This is a true and correct copy of the original Resolution passed by the Council of the City of Philadelphia on the twenty-second day of March, 1956.

The PRESIDENT. This communication will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, unless there is objection, I would like to take a few minutes to refer to a discussion on the floor yesterday afternoon and make a short statement.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I talked to Senator Lane yesterday afternoon after the Session was over. Due to the fact that I was meeting with some schoolteacher representatives in the State, I was unable to attend the whole Session and Senator Lane advised me that Senator John Van Sant had made a talk concerning the use of decal type stickers as against paper type stickers in the automobile inspection program. According to this morning's paper, there seems to be some kind of an inference that this was not well planned and decidedly a move in the interest of the motorist and the people of the Commonwealth.

I have before me a letter to Gerald A. Gleeson, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue, relative to this subject and the letter is from the Pennsylvania Automotive Association. I believe the letter speaks for itself and clears the air a little on this question of decals versus paper type stickers and I quote from the letter:

"For a number of years, at least eight, discussions have been held regarding the advisability of usinig decal type inspection stickers instead of paper type stickers.

"Actually, hundreds of hours have been spent discussing the subject. Many conferences have been held. Tests have been made of decal type stickers from at least three or four manufacturers.

"The need for a better sticker arises from the fact that the paper sticker can be removed from the windshield and transferred to another vehicle. The stolen sticker problem became quite serious a few years ago. It is probably still going on but we don't receive as many reports now as we did in the past.

"A partial solution to the problem was made when we all agreed (State Police, Department of Revenue, and PAA, representing the industry) to placing on the back of inspection stickers vehicle identification information in ink.

"About three years ago, it was decided to purchase 50,000 decal type stickers. PAA assisted in distributing these evenly throughout the State and kept accurate records. It was thought that experience derived from their use by dealers in all sections of the State would indicate the practicability of using decal instead of paper type stickers.

"Experience reported by the stations using the decal type stickers was so good that they were overwhelmingly in favor of changing to decals.

"The cost of these stickers was unreasonable to the extent that, since the industry has always been proud of the fact that the Inspection Law pays for itself completely through the purchase of the inspection stickers by the inspection stations, we did not favor spending additional money for decals if it meant a partial subsidization of the inspection program by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

"It was suggested sticker cost be increased by five cents in order to provide sufficient moneys to insure continuation of the inspection program without State subsidization and to allow for enough additional money to justify the expenditure of considerably more money for stickers so that decal type stickers could be used.

"The ten cent sticker was approved and improvements and additional purchases for the inspection program have been made with the exception of changing from paper type stickers to decal type stickers. That change has been delayed for the reason that we require 8,500,000 stickers and the Department of Revenue was not given sufficient assurance by any company that it could build a satisfactory sticker in that quantity until about a year ago when at least one company submitted a new type decal which, upon testing by the Department of Revenue and, I believe, the State Police, showed it to be a satisfactory sticker, whereupon specifications for decal type stickers were drawn and let out for bid.

"Currently, the entire cost of operating the inspection program, including Inspection Unit personnel, salaries, office space, equipment, forms and supplies, etc., and State Police Inspection Station Supervisors' salaries and expenses, and automobile expenses, amount to about $600,000 per year.

"This figure, of course, does not include any of the cost of the 250 annual inspection meetings sponsored by the industry. Total costs of these meetings which are held for all inspecting mechanics are borne by the indutsry.

"Since, let us say, 8,000,000 stickers are used annually at ten cents per sticker, the total income is $800,000. We cannot return to the five cent sticker because current costs are $200,000 over the $400,000 which would be received.

"Paper type stickers cost about $20,000 per year, whereas decal type stickers would cost $100,000 to $170,000 per year. One company told me their cost would be under $100,000.

"Therefore, if decals were purchased, it would mean an expenditure of an additional $80,000 to $150,000. This, of course, could be done without allowing total expenditures to exceed the $800,000 total income.

"The question is: Is the additional expenditure worth the money? I believe the Department of Revenue has a moral obligation to the 10,000 inspection stations since they agreed wholeheartedly at meetings help throughout the State, covering all stations, to accepting a five cent increase without increasing the charge for making the inspections, on the basis that a better sticker would be forthcoming along with the provision of better service through the Inspection Unit. I commend the Inspection Unit and the Department of Revenue for the excellent service being rendered.

"In 1954 and so far in 1955, I can frankly tell you we have had very few complaints about the sticker currently being used. I have the same reaction from the Department of Revenue and the State Police. Probably we could find some complaints if we ask for them but they have not been coming volnutarily by the hundreds as they did a few years ago. I don't know the reason for this unless it could be that the paper sticker manufacturers have improved considerably their own type inspection sticker.

"Therefore, I suggest that in the interest of economy the Department of Revenue continue to use paper type stickers" until that moment when such decals will be available for the use of the Department in sufficient numbers to meet the needs of the Commonwealth.

"We are very much interested in having the total cost of the inspection program in Pennsylvania, exclusive of the cost of our participation in meetings, etc., to be borne entirely by the price paid for the inspection stickers" through the agencies of the Commonwealth.

"We offer our continued cooperation in carrying out the provisions of this extremely important safety law."

Mr. President, the situation as it appeared to be on the floor yesterday, from what I can read in this newspaper article, is that someone had an idea that perhaps there might be some skulduggery in the proposal because the inspection stickers were going to cost more and something about the specifications being such that only one company could qualify.

Many times in governmental operations, Mr. President, it is necessary to take one type of a particular serviceable item that is needed or required by the Commonwealth. If they find that this type of an inspection sticker can be provided within the cost which is being borne by the inspection stations themselves, and the inspection stations agreed to pay five cents more per sticker in order to put this program into effect, then I believe that the State Department of Revenue is morally obligated to go into that program.

I am not fearful of the situation whereby they say there is no competition on the basis of the build up of the decal because if that business is lucrative enough to one manufacturer, it will soon entice others to get into it. They are open bids and they will be given to any particular manufacturer who wants it. Because there has been one particular company in New York that has had more or less of a monopoly on this business, and whose price is completely out of range, then a new company has come into the picture and can make the decals for anywhere from $35,000 to $40,000 a year less than the other company has been making them. Therefore, there will be bids and both companies or other companies can submit a bid.

Mr. President, I want to state for the benefit of the Senate and those reporters who carried the story that this is not a new idea; that it has been mulled over and conversed about for the past eight years, and that it is the judgment of those who have the most to do with automobiles in this Commonwealth, the Automotive Associations, to state to this Legislature that this is a move in the right direction.

We all know that stickers have been removed from automobiles. I even found out how you remove them. They tell me that all you have to do is take a piece of dry ice, hold it on the outside of the windshield for a few seconds and the sticker, which we now have in use, just peals off beautifully and you go over and stick it on another car. A decal, of course, is blended into the face of the glass in such a nature, because it is a build up product and not a flat print job, that once it attaches itself to the glass, you cannot get it off except by a scraping process and you cannot reconstitute the thing after you scrape it.

Mr. President, I think all of us realize that this does not cost the Commonwealth one cent. It does not cost any motorist one cent. It is only an added protection to those who have the problem, and that is the inspection sticker stations. Many of them are interested in these decals because of the fact that they can directly trace that inspection to their station and they will not be in trouble with frauds and things which have occurred in the past. Therefore, I want it clearly understood that the Department of Revenue did not jump into a muddy stream without knowing exactly the depth of the water. They knew what the problem was; they have reviewed all of the testimony and the results of the conferences.

If any Member of the Legislature is interested, I will be glad to read to you the article contained on page 19 of "The Pennsylvania Story on Motor Vehicle Inspections." This particular article is wholeheartedly in favor of the decal type sticker. Incidentally, we are very proud of the inspection system in Pennsylvania because for the first time, the inspection system of this State has rated four national merit awards. I believe that if the inspection stations that are paying the bill want this new refinement, we ought to go along without too much criticism.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I have been requested to offer the following newspaper article, printed in the Philadelphia Inquirer on April 4, 1956, and I desire to have it printed in the Legislative Journal.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, at the request of the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, this newspaper article will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

Wednesday Morning, April 4, 1956

JOHN M. CUMMINGS

Remember, No Politics Just Send $25 Please

Harrisburg, April 3.

The Selinsgrove State School, up the Susquehanna a bit in Snyder county, is one of four institutions operated by the Commonwealth for the treatment of the mentally deficient and epileptic. It is under the supervision of the Welfare Department presently headed by Harry Shapiro. This distinguished authority on psychosis, neurosis and one thing and another was appointed to the Cabinet post by Governor Leader.

In a complimentary way it could be said of Secretary Shapiro that he knows, or should know, something about politics. It is a game he has played at as a Republican and as a Democrat. Some of the hardy old timers around the State Capitol can remember him as a lively and active Republican member of the Senate. They can also remember when he put aside the garments of a Republican and stepped forth clean, shiny and radiant in the pure white toga of a Democratic gabbyjack.

Now you'd think a gentleman of such extensive experience would be able to define "political activity" in terms simple enough to be understood by the dumbest bloke in his far-flung army of employes. Unfortunately, this appears not to be the case.

At the outset of his administration, Mr. Shapiro, with the blessing of Governor Leader, made it quite clear there would be no politics in the institutions under his control. Nevertheless, there's a lot of wondering going on here and there in the State. In spite of Secretary Shapiro's ban on political activity, employes of the Selinsgrove State School have been told it would be a great display of wisdom on their part if they coughed up $25 each for a ticket to a Democratic fund-raising dinner to be held in Shamokin in honor of Jefferson and Jackson.

The letter to the 376 persons on the school's payroll reminds them of "an opportunity, such as never before, to keep men like Governor Leader, Secretary Shapiro and others at the head of the State government."

Moreover, the letter relates, "it is the intention of the Governor, if he gets the support of the House and Senate, to protect 'your job' from political pressure by the enactment of a tenure plan similar to the teachers' tenure act, which will assure you of everlasting employment, regardless of political changes at Harrisburg. The Governor asks for your help on this point."

The letter accuses the Senate (Republican-controlled) of blocking every "progressive move" made by the Governor, including a 20 percent increase for all institutional workers.

"It is up to you and your friends," says the letter, "to get out and work to get it for Governor Leader and enable him to get these things for you."

The final reminder was of a self-addressed envelope and the price—25 smackers.

Both the Selinsgrove Times-Tribune and the Sunbury Item find it difficult to understand this solicitation of funds from employes who have been told by their boss (Shapiro) that they were working in an atmosphere free of political taint. The Selinsgrove paper editorially suggests that Secretary Shapiro give his employes the exact meaning of "political activity." The solicitation says the Sunbury Item, came on the heels of the firing of 15 employes for dabbling in politics.

All of this suggests that on the third day of National Laugh Week the Governor and his Secretary of Welfare, not to mention those who presume to speak for them in the Selinsgrove- Sunbury area, are making with a big joke. On second thought, maybe it's not so funny after all.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on third reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 598, Printer's No. 399;
Senate Bill No. 599, Printer's No. 672;

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not believe there is any question in anyone's mind that all of us in the Senate want to pass a satisfactory censorship bill, one that will stand the constitutionality of the law in Pennsylvania. However, we are finding difficulty with these several bills which have been presented and, even though they have been amended, we have tried to justify them in the light of the recent Supreme Court Decision relative to censorship laws. I also want to point out that only this morning, Senator Lane presented another censorship bill which should be studied. We also have a resolution on the table which would authorize and direct the Joint State Government Commission to make a stury of the censorship laws between now and the next Session of the Legislature.

Mr. President, I have called a meeting of the Rules Committee in my office for next Monday morning at 11:00 o'clock, to which I have especially invited Senator Lane and Senator McMenamin, who have been interested in these censorship bills. I also invited the Reverend Father Lohmuller, of Harrisburg, who represents the Roman Catholic Church in this vicinity. I also would like to invite anyone else to attend who might be interested in this particular problem. I do not expect to hold a public hearing at the time, but any one who happens to have an interest in this, especially any of the Senators, I hope will come to the meeting which will be held in my office next Monday morning. We might be able to discuss this bill, Senator Lane's new bill, and the resolution which is on the table and any other bills that have to do with censorship laws. We certainly want to pass a bill which will stand up under the test of constitutionality, so that we can have proper motion picture censorship in this State. Also, we should, if we can, provide some censorship of these so-called current magazines, or pulp magazines, which surely show a lot more lascivious and lewd pictures in them than I have ever seen in any motion picture theater. I think you do not have to go any further than the news stand in the basement of the Capitol in order to find them, if anyone wants to have instructions as to where to procure them.

I have also been prompted by Senator Fleming at this time to invite any representatives from the Pennsylvania Council of Churches to come to this meeting in my office next Monday morning if they so desire.

Mr. President, so that we may have this meeting and discuss these bills further, I now ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 675, Printer's No. 1655, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on third reading, go over in their order:

House Bill No. 1116, Printer's No. 1659; and

House Bill No. 1269, Printer's No. 1532.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, before making this request, I want to explain to the Membership of the Senate, and to the newspapers, that we are working on amendments which we do not have ready at this particular time.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1311, Printer's No. 1685, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am not rising to object to the request, but I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. I would like to ask Senator Lane, if I might, Mr. President, the reason or the purport of the amendments he suggests are being prepared.

Mr. LANE. Senator Dent advised me that he wanted to make sure that the political subdivisions actually receive the entire amount of money which is allocated under the provisions of this act. Therefore, he must have clarifying amendments.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am not convinced at all that any amendments are necessary to this bill. I am fearful, without making a direct accusation, that this is a delaying tactic on the part of the Democratic Leadership for the simple reason that this bill has been prepared in accordance with, or rather, an agreement in the meeting of the Committee on Highways at which time they agreed on certain things and everything we agreed upon is carried out in the bill as it now stands.

The reason I am pressing for action on the bill is that the allocations are usually determined early in February of each year so that the municipalities, which are then making up their budgets for the year, can know approximately the amount of money they can expect from the State allocation. It is a very, very important thing for them.

Mr. President, we have gone into a number of months and the first part of the year is over. The bill still faces some process; it must be sent over to the Governor's Office and they must study it and so forth. The delay is a very costly thing to all of the municipalities of the Commonwealth.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would be inclined to agree with the gentleman's last statement, that the delay is costly to the political subdivisions of this Commonwealth. However, I am bound to disagreed with him when he infers that this is a deliberate stall on the part of the Democrats to hold up this particular piece of legislation. I might also add that when the time ever comes that no one ever makes any mistakes, we will remove the erasers from all lead pencils. I feel that any piece of legislation before this Senate can be improved upon.

As I previously stated, the amendments, as I understand them, are clarifying amendments. We want to make sure that the political subdivisions actually receive the amount of money that is allocated under the provisions of this act. I resent the statement made by the genetleman from Cumberland when he infers that we are using stalling tactics in regard to this particular piece of legislation.

Mr. WADE. For the purpose of the record, Mr. President, may I further add that ordinarily a bill of this kind would be introduced very early in the Session; that is, in at least February or March of the first year of the Session. This bill was introduced on May 23rd and becouse of the change in Administrations, perhaps that was justified. However, it took some eight months before final action was had in the House. To be more explicit, on January 24, 1956, the bill finally passed the House. We received the bill a couple of days later, and have had it for six weeks. We have constantly been pressing for action. It is a very important piece of legislation and it is only natural for us, on this side, to assume that this is a delaying tactic on the part of the Democrats.

We want this money paid out to the municipalities. We want them to know how much money they can depend on. It is an extremely important thing for them. I still maintain that the bill is now in good order. If it is found later that the bill is not in good order,—We have amended it here very radically and it will go to the House for concurrence in those amendments—the House certainly will have the opportunity to make any minor corrections that might be necessary in the bill. However, I know of no corrections necessary in the bill whatever.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if I were not conviced, after a great many years of association with Senator Wade, that he never has any motives except those that are pure and in the public interest, I would say that he has just left loose the biggest double-barreled barrage of fakery that I have heard in the years I have been in the Senate. However, being such an honest Legislator, I know that he is sincere in what he is trying to do and in what he is saying.

I, of course, would have to disagree with him when he tries to send out to all of the boroughs, cities and townships a semaphore message to the extent that this Democratic Party is withholding the money at this time and that the blame is all theirs. Senator Wade knows that the House is not in Session today. He also knows that between now and Monday, if the corrective amendments which we feel should be put into the bill are accepted, the House will receive the bill just as fast and just as rapidly on Monday and they will be able to act on it just as fast and just as rapidly as if we vote on it today. The House is not in Session; it will not be in until Monday and this bill cannot get over to the House to be received by the House until Monday afternoon when it comes back into Session.

Mr. President, let us tell the boroughs, townships and cities why I have asked for a delay. They know that we have promised them $30,000,000, an increase of $12,000,000 over the $18,000,000 carried under the previous Administration. As this bill is now writeen, there is no guarantee that they will get $30,000,000. I am trying to devise and find a way to put into this bill a guarantee that they do get $30,000,000. I do not want the cities, boroughs and townships shortchanged. If we have made them a commitment, let us live up to it.

This bill was not conceived by any Member of this Senate, unless you can allow me to take that honor. I sold this bill, to the best of my ability, to the Department of Highways for five months. I tried to get them to understand what I had in mind and I think the Senate should know what I had in mind and what others had in mind.

We have been building a great many roads in this great Commonwealth of ours between cities and between townships and between boroughs. We have been building big four-lane restricted highways. What have we done in the past twenty years to relieve the situation in the congested areas of population? We went into every community in this State and we ran into a bottleneck, because the little home owner can no longer carry the load of the transportation system of this great Commonwealth. All of the money from highway use is returned to the State and the State has not been giving back to the local communities their just share. Therefore, we find in every community a bottleneck when traffic hits communities. We find very few, if any, proper facilities for parking. We find in the middle of a busy afternoon, especially one a week end when the farmer comes to town and the outsiders come in to shop, congestion that holds up traffic for anywhere from an hour and a half to two or three hours. Drive right here in the city of Harrisburg. How many of you, who have been here twenty years, have watched the growth of this congestion and how the big problem in this city is the problem of parking, the problem of moving traffic? It is the same in almost every city in the Commonwealth.

The idea was conceived that we ought to give a greater amount of money to the communities. We measured the congestion and we found that the greater amount of congestion is in the larger cities and in the boroughs. Therefore, we came out with a formula that would not take from the townships anything, but would give them proportionate raises in amounts of money out of the Highway Fund and would come to a more realistic approach to the needs of the people of this Commonwealth in their various communities.

The only reason I am asking to hold this bill up is not because I want to delay it, but because I want to guarantee that the $30,000,000 that we had in mind when we introduced this legislation, when we first proposed it, would go back to the communities of the Commonwealth. We are not going to leave it up to an insecure formula that might give them $22,000,000, $24,000,000 or $26,000,000. We are going to write into this, to the best of our ability, the guarantee that they will get the $30,000,000 and that is exactly why it is being held up. We are not asking that it be held up for any reason of delay or for any political purposes.

Senator Wade knows, and I know, that a delay until Monday does not delay this bill one minute because it must still go to the House. The House is not in Session until Monday. Between now and Monday, therefore, if we cannot come up with the answer, we will support the bill the way it stands. If we cannot find the proper language to write into the bill as a guarantee, we will support the bill the way it is. However, if we find that language, I expect Senator Wade to join me in insisting that we put into this bill the language that guarantees to the municipalities that which we started out to give them.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, let me assure the gentleman that I will not engage in any personal invectives or reflections whatever. I simply want this matter resolved and resolved in the proper manner. I learned very much from his discussion. I learned that he is interested in assuring these municipalities that they will receive a figure of $30,000,000 per year, and I appreciate that. I charged that the Democratic Party was using politics in the whole matter. I, perhaps, was a little bit mild in that charge and I want to further amplify it now.

I offer for the record an original letter, written to Mr. Bruce E. Henry, of 2049 Sheridan Street, Williamsport, Pennsylvania, who I understand is a city councilman in the city of Williamsport. The letter reads in part as follows:

'I want to take this opportunity to present for your information the over all road program which we here in Harrisburg are endeavoring to enact into law at this Session of the General Assembly. I feel that this is necessary because the proposal has been misinterpreted by some people. The enactment of House Bills No. 1824 and No. 1311 will more equitably benefit every municipality compared to the allocations which were made in the past by prior administrations."

Mr. President, I am omitting some of the letter as I am offering it for the record, but I would like to read this:

"As an example, I am setting forth the allocations your political subdivision received under prior administrations as compared to what you will receive when this program is enacted. The Chairman of the Highways Committee, Anthony J. Petrosky, advises me that the approximate rate of reimbursement under this formula will be $275 for each mile of road and $1.35 per capita of your population total.

"You will readily see by these figures, and certainly the other counties will do as well, that an effort on the part of your State Organization could help to put this program across."

Signed, "LAWRENCE SWARTZ
"State Representative"

Mr. President, Mr. Swartz, according to the Legislative Directory, is a Democratic Representative from Lycoming County.

At the bottom of this letter is written:

"Your Total 1955 Allocation
"$10,723.58," written in pen, and further:
"Your Approximate Allocation under present Proposal
"$17,746.25," written again in pen.

If this were a single letter, Mr. President, perhaps it would be excusable, but I have no less than a half dozen similar letters with everything exactly alike and reproduced by some printing process, with the exception of the name of the person to whom they are addressed and the figures which are written in in pen and also the name of the person who signs the letter.

Perhaps, Mr. President, I should not have gone as far as I have, but I wanted that in the record. I want to say to the gentleman that I will willingly and gladly join in amendments which will assure these municipalities the sum of $30,000,000. The reason I am glad to do that is that I have maintained, and other Members of the Republican Caucus has maintained, that there are sufficient moneys under current revenues to produce this amount of money to make these allocations. I think, as Senator Dent said, they are in order.

Mr. President, we have used these roads and the road building program is an extremely necessary and vital one. We all want to join hands in building the best road system we can. I think that the Senator has helped us very much, because in his discussion he has implied that we will have the sum of $30,000,000 a year derived from—and I am using the language of the bill as neadly as I can remember—twenty per cent of four and one-half cents tax on gasoline. I have maintained in committee and elsewhere that this will produce with the residue from Act No. 18A, known as the Flood Act, enacted earlier in this Session, an amount sufficient to make an allocation of that size.

I repeat, I will be very happy, indeed, to join in these amendments and feel they will improve the bill even though, unless further amendments are made, it will not over the biennial period add to the total amount of money that is allocated to the different municipalities.

I now offer for insertion into the record the following letter, dated January 23, 1956:

House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, January 23, 1956

Mr. Bruce E. Henry
2049 Sheridan St.
Williamsport, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I want to take this opportunity to present for your information the over all road program which we here in Harrisburg are endeavoring to enact into law at this Session of the General Assembly. I feel that this is necessary because the proposal has been mininterpreted by some people. The enactment of House Bills No. 1824 and No. 1311 will more equitably benefit every municipality compared to the allocations which were made in the past by prior administrations.

The cardinal points of House Bill No. 1311 are:

(1) This legislation will set up a permanent schedule for allocations of Motor License Funds to local municipalities.

(2) Increase allocations from $36 million a biennium to $60 million a biennium.

(3) It eliminates the necessity of the local municipality raising money for matching purposes.

The provisions of House Bill No. 1824 are needed to initiate the above program as this proposal raises the money that is necessary to carry out the expanded highway schedule.

House Bill No. 1824 provides an increase of $5 for passenger car registration and a very nominal increase in the R. S. & T. truck registration. We here in Harrisburg have not had one protest against this method of raising the above funds and I believe that with the accrued benefits your municapiltiy will receive, it would be worthwhile to use your efforts to have your state organization lend some support to this program.

It seems to me that some persons are trying to sabotage House Bill No. 1824 knowing full well that this will stop the passage of House Bill No. 1311. These obstructionist tactics can and should be stopped by our combined efforts; then and only then will we be able to finally give the local administrators a Home Rule Program worthy of the name

As an example, I am setting forth the allocations your political sub-division received under prior administrations as compared to what you will receive when this program is enacted. The Chairman of the Highways Committee, Anthony J. Petrosky advises me that the approximate rate of reimbursement under this formula will be $275 for each mile of road and $1.35 per capita of your population total.

You will readily see by these figures and certainly the other counties will do as well, that an effort on the part of your State Organization could help to put this program across.

Sincerely yours,

/S/LAWRENCE SWARTZ
State Representative

Your Total 1955 Allocation
$10,723.58

Your Approximate Allocation

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I like George Wade, do not want to get into personal invectives or personalities. I concur in what he said, when he said something about the Democratic Party playing politics and I would like to say that the party has played politics since the days of Thomas Jefferson.

Mr. President, I would like to also, in my small humble way, say that up until this moment I have been suspicious that the Republican Party played politics once in awhile. I am so happy to find that they are now out of the political sphere of activity and if they keep working the way they are, they are going to prove they are out of it.

I just want to note for the record that this bill came to Senator Wade on January the 24th. Since January the 24th until somewhere near April the 6th, Senator Wade has had the bill. Now after holding it up in his committee for almost four months, he tells us that we are holding it up because we want to delay it one day or two.

Senator, I know that you are not playing politics when you read the letter of the House Member into the record, but I say that the House Member has every right to write that letter. If you want to really prove who is playing politics, then you ought to put a resolution in, to the effect that every Member who answers a letter ought to put the letter into the record. Then we would find some of the letters that the Republicans write and call us little bitty names, and refer to us as being unfair.

I can remember vividly the Session of 1951 when we were accused of holding up the so-called wage tax. Governor Fine had a very fine barrage of letters directed at the Democratic Membership from the alumni of the various universities, from the schoolteachers all over the Commonwealth and from all of the hospital superintendents in the private hospitals. That was all caused by the fact that a letter went out, stating that unless the Democrats broke down and voted for legislation giving a certain amount of revenue, these hospitals, institutions and the schoolteachers would not receive the moneys Governor Fine had in the budget for them. There might be some narrow-minded person who would think that was political on the part of the Republican Party. However, since I have found that the Republican Party is not political, I am not going to say they were playing politics. I will just say they were using a little political pressure.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I am sorry that this had to get into this kind of a situation. I think that the gentleman from Cumberland knows full well that when we asked for a delay on this bill, we never asked for it with any idea in mind of defeating, or hurting or delaying the passage of the legislation or in any way doing anything that would be harmful to our municipalities of government.

Mr. President, I am awfully sorry that George decided that he had to make the record his way. It is a good thing, perhaps, that the people do not read all of the records we make herein the Senate. If they do read them, however, I hope they continue reading beyond his remarks.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would just like to rise to say a word in defense of the House Member from Lycoming. I know Mr. Swartz and the fact that he is sending letters to his constituents containing information in which they would be interested, seems to me to testify to his zeal and industry as a Representative of the county of Lycoming. The fact that he used a mimeograph machine to do this job indicates to me that he sent out a large number of letters, which is commendable. If there is something sinister about using a mimeograph machine instead of a typewriter, I fail to get the connection.

Mr. President, I am not an expert in the matter of this bill nor am I on the Highways Committee but, from my humble observation, if anyone has done anything in the Senate to seriously delay this bill and prejudice its chances of reaching agreement, it has been the chairman and the majority members of the Highways Committee.

As I understand it, when the bill came from the House, I believe they utterly rejected the formula used in it and substituted another set of standards which proved entirely abortive because, after hearings and considerable delay they finally became convinced that nobody wanted it and they had to set another set of standards and formula.

I think it is unfair to Representative Swartz to bring his name into this Senate discussion unless the gentleman who introduced the letter from Senator Swartz is willing to make a matter of record all of the correspondence he has had on this bill and let the public compare it.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, since the issue of the letter, which I asked be read into the record, has apparently been distorted, I would like to say that I have in my possession here today another letter, similar to the one which I explained on the floor had been made by some photostat or offset printing process and which apparently has been general all over the State. This letter is written to Mr. E. O. Wright from Cogan Station, Pennsylvania, and is signed by another Representative, Perry M. Paulhamus, and again he quotes figures, written in ink at the bottom of the letter. I also find, by consulting Senator Wagner's Legislative Directory, that he is a Member of the Democratic Party.

Mr. President, I am not criticizing the matter of answering mail. The Senator from York and the Senator from Westmoreland know that. This apparently was a reproduced letter. It is not on the standard letterhead of the House of Representatives. It is a reproduction and the letter apparently was passed out, I am assuming this, to all the Democratic Members of the House so that they could write to their constituents who hold office in some of the municipalities. I have received sufficient in number to believe that is true. Therefore, this is an unusual process. It is entirely different than answering a letter which you receive from one of your constituents.

Let me say, in answer to Senator Dent, that the bill was introduced, as I said in my first discussion, on May the 23rd, 1955. The bill passed the House finally on January 24th, 1956 or after a lapse of some eight months. We received the bill—I figured I had it six weeks, but that is not right—on January 24th and have had it eight weeks.

I am unable to count this morning, Senator Dent, but I believe that it is exactly eight weeks. We have held two Highway Committee Meetings and several other off-the-record meetings, at which time this bill was discussed. I think that Senator Dent, as well as Senator Seyler, would agree that we have given the bill much more prompt action in the Senate than they did in the House.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, you know they say there is an old philosophy you should follow in politics. They say that when you are out campaigning in a campaign and you have a very strong candidate and a weak platform, you should forget the platform and praise your candidate. If you have a weak candidate and a strong platform, you should forget the candidate and praise the platform. Then, when you find yourself in a position where you have a weak platform and a weak candidate, you just forget both of them and wrap yourself up in the American Flag and talk about the Constitution.

I like George as a person and as a Senator. I have always said that if George lived in my county, I would be very happy to have him as my Republican opponent.

Senator Wade finds himself without too much of an argument on his original charge against the Democrats. Now he is wrapping himself up in a letter that an innocent Member of the Legislature sent out in order to keep in contact with his constituency. Senator Wade knows, and every Member knows, exactly why I held the bill up. In the provisions of this act, you revert back to the year 1954 for the computation of the income of the four and one-half cents per gallon. By doing that, you get a much smaller amount as a computation base for the return of the twenty per cent. Therefore, I am trying to write this in such a way that the increased income of the year 1955, if we can find a method of doing it, will be used as a base for the computation of the amount. That is the only reason it was held up. I am trying to insure the $30,000,000 if it can possibly be done. The $30,000,000 was computed on the basis of the income this year and not on the income of the 1954-1955 year. According to the figures that we have been bandying around and the figures that Senator Wade, himself, has used when he says there is sufficient money in the Highway Fund to meet most of this, they are the figures of 1955 collections and not 1954. The 1954 collection base was approximately $54,000,000 and the figure that Senator Wade used in the committee the other day was $58,000,000.

If we are going to try to give this money, I am only asking that we try to give it on the basis of what we intended to do and that would be somewhere near $30,000,000. I am happy to see that Senator Wade sees that this is what we are trying to do and that he is going to go along. However, the entire argument that he started out with, the one of delay, does not hold any strength. There is no delay from now until Monday, as I stated before. The House is not in Session and, therefore, cannot receive the bill until Monday.

If I cannot have the amendments ready, Mr. President, I will agree with Senator Wade to pass the bill over to the House on Monday and let them worry about it.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I just want to add one more footnote to this argument. The Senator, who is so anxious to avoid personal references, has now introduced the names of two House Members who are not here to defend themselves.

I would like to point out to him that Mr. Paulhamus, who is also a very fine Representative, is also from the county of Lycoming. If he and Mr. Swartz have decided to have a campaign of mailing information to their constituents, it does not seem to me part of the province of the Senator from Cumberland County to be critical of what the Representatives from Lycoming County are doing. I believe that both of these men have a very strong desire to keep sending information, which they think is useful, to their constituents and I think they should be commended for it.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to this bill going over in its order?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill going over in its order.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, relative to House Bill No. 2101, I do want to say that in light of the election of 1954, when the sales tax was repudiated by the voters of Pennsylvania, the enactment of it was contrary to the wishes of the people of Pennsylvania and to enact it in the light of what happened during that election was bad, but the inclusion of the Ohio stamp plan method of collecting the tax was even worse.

I say, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, that anybody in this Legislature who votes for the Ohio stamp plan method of collecting this tax is voting for extravagance, for inefficiency and for waste of the penny-payers' money.

A few days after the sales tax passed, Senator Dent suggested that we postpone the Ohio stamp method of collecting the tax until a study and survey was made of the States that have a sales tax. This request of his, of course, was denied. I, therefore, took it upon myself, Mr. President, to make a survey of all of the States that have a sales tax and I specifically asked the sales tax administrators to submit to me their opinion on the Ohio method of collecting the sales tax. I have, I believe, most of the questionnaires returned to me as well as the opinions requested. I shall present to the Senate, on Monday, a summary of that survey. However, for the present, for the information of the gentleman on the other side and anybody else who is in favor of the Ohio stamp plan method of collecting the tax, I want to read just one letter which is the unanimous opinion of all of the letters I received from the States that have a sales tax. I have not found one State that is in favor of the Ohio method of the high cost of collection.

Mr. President, I am going to read, so that you might give it some thought over the week end, a letter which I received from the State of Maryland, one of our neighboring States. The letter is dated April 3, 1956, and I quote the letter:

"I have your inquiry of March 23, 1956, in which you ask that we comment on the so-called Ohio Stamp Plan.

"To begin with the Ohio Stamp Plan costs about $10,000,000 a year to operate and this has nothing whatsoever to do with the other operating costs of the Sales Tax Division.

"So far as I know there has been only one claim in favor of the so-called stamp collection method and that is, that the State gets its money in advance. As a matter of fact, it results in a one month prepayment of the taxes and from there on the State receives its sales taxes in monthly instalments.

"It does not force the Vendor to automatically pay over to the State the full amount of sales tax due each month. This is clearly shown by the records in Ohio, where you will find large purchases of stamps by Vendors each June and December, which is the time their semi-annual returns are filed. For the fiscal year June 3, 1955, the redemption value of all stamps in the State of Ohio was $5,827,428 or $1,908,492 more than the actual redemption payments made. From these figures you can easily see that it would have been good business for the State to do away with the stamp method of payment and pay over to the various persons or organizations who redeemed the stamps the sum of $5,000,000. If this was done the State would save $5,000,000 in operating costs. From all I have been able to see the chief proponents for this type of collection are the organizations who make make a business of collecting cancelled stamps and redeem them together with the various persons who are paid to sell the stamps.

"Bear in mind also that there is only one way for a tax administrator to ascertain whether or not a Vendor is collecting and paying over to the State the proper amount of tax and that is to audit his accounts. Every tax administrator will tell you the same thing and we often wonder why it is that this so-called Stamp Plan became a part of your law."

The letter is signed by Walter E. Kennedy, who is the Retail Sales Tax Administrator in the State of Maryand.

As I said before, Mr. President, I have letters from all of the States that have the sales tax and the opinion was unanimous in opposition to the Ohio plan of collecting this tax. I, therefore, repeat that anyone who votes for it is voting for infficiency and is voting for waste and extravagance of the sales taxpayers' pennies. I certainly hope that the gentlemen on the other side will give this method of collection serious consideration over the week end, with the hope that we can eliminate this costly method of collecting the sales tax.

I will be glad to turn over to anyone in the Senate the answers to the questionnaires, as well as the letters expressing an opinion on the Ohio stamp method of collection of the tax.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To to be transcribed for a third reading.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. CARL M. FULTON, Assistant Pastor, Middletown Second Baptist Church, Middletown, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and most gracious God, our dear Heavenly Father, we earnestly beseech Thee this day, praying Thy Holy Blessing to be upon these lawmakers, Thy servants, to help them in their great work. We pray that Thou will unite their hearts that they may be able to perform their great task in unity and brotherly love. Holy Father, forgive our enemies and change their hearts that they may walk with us in love and peace.

We pray Thy Holy Blessing upon the manufacturers, farmers and merchants and all legal businesses in our great Commonwealth, that they may continue to prosper and be successful in Thy holy sight

Give us grace that we may put on the armor of light now in the time of this mortal life. Cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy Holy Spirit, that we may perfectly love Thee and worthily magnify Thy Holy Name here in this world.

Holy Father, Thy humble servant prays Thy blessing upon all who are in the sound of my voice today. We also ask Thy Holy Blessing upon the President of the United States, the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor of our Commonwealth, and all others in authority. We ask these blessings in the Name of our Strength and our Redeemer, Amen.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 246, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing the creation of an additional debt by the Commonwealth for the payment of compensation to certain veterans.

which was returned from the House of Representatives with amendments.

Said amendments having been twice read, and printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

SENATE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE HOUSE TO SENATE BILL No. 246

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 246.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am going to vote for concurrence in these House amendments. However, I am not entitrely satisfied that the amendments should have been inserted in the bill, because we did not have this type of legislation when we passed the bonus for the World War II Veterans.

Mr. President, I have had quite a number of contacts on this and, just for the record, I want the record to show that I am voting for concurrence in these amendments because I have no other alternative. I want to see the Korean veterans receive a bonus.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not know who is responsible for this amendment in the House, but I believe it was the Majority Leader, Albert Readinger. I want to commend him for the fine job which he has done in inserting this amendment. As a co-sponsor of this measure, I believe I made my stand clear, when the bill was introduced, that I felt before payment of the bonus the Governor and the Members of the Legislature should tell the people how this is going to be amortized or paid for. I was a little bit disturbed last week, or two weeks ago, when the press carried the story that the House was going to tie the Korean Bonus in with a graduated income tax. Of course, that brought up the same argument which we had here in the Senate when Senate Bill No. 246 was previously before us. In fact, at the American Legion Convention, when I spoke last August, I said this very same thing and the members of the American Legion were very outspoken in their praise that this should be done and that it not be paid as the World War II Bonus was paid back in 1949, and I am sure that all of the veterans' organizations agree with this. Again, I want to say that I wish to commend Mr. Readinger if he was responsible for this amendment.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am not going to get into an argument with anyone on this. All I want to do is call to the attention of the Membership that the amendment reads like this:

"The law authorizing the creation of the debt and the issuance of the bonds shall not take effect until revenue-raising measures are enacted which the Senate and House of Representatives by concurrent resolution declare and deem sufficient to amortize the amount to be borrowed and paid."

Mr. President, that means they will not receive a bonus until the Legislation is passed, financing it. Supposing we have an arbitrary House and Senate in a couple of years. Supposing one house is Republican and the other is Democratic, and they get into a rat race like we have been in for fourteen months. These boys then will not receive a bonus.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I believe that I was one of the two Senators who voted against this resolution when it passed the Senate. My position then was that I was not against the bonus, but I felt that accompanying this on the ballot, at the time it was voted on, there should be an accompanying proposal of a definite type of taxation or, perhaps, a choice of taxes on which the people should have a right to vote at the same time. Therefore, the objection made the last time that we created a debt, when we created no adequate way to pay it off, would not be raised again.

This bill does not do what I had hoped would be done by it. It does not do what I had advocated at the time when I voted against this bill in the Senate. However, it does set up a situation which I consider in the way of a compromise; namely, that before this bill goes into effect, even though it is passed, or before this amendment has any effect even after it is passed, the Legislature shall specifically create a tax which will take care of the indebtedness. I am satisfied with that, although it is not as much as I had expected. It is not what I had hoped for. I am willing to go along with it; I do not consider it an ideal answer to the solution or an ideal solution to the problem, but I do think it is better than the bill was as it passed the Senate. For that reason, Mr. President, I am going to vote "aye."

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, in reply to Senator Lane and Senator Seyler, I do not know what he means that the bill does not do what he thinks it should do.

Mr. President, I feel that if it were done any other way, if the Korean Bonus were tied in with a graduated income tax, the boys would never get it. This way, at least it is our duty after the people, by referendum, say whether or not we are going to pay these boys a bonus, just as those in World War II received.

In so far as Senator Seyler's consistency, I cannot see where his argument will hold water. If I recall correctly, when Senator Wagner and, I believe, Senator Whalley, and I sponsored the subsidy bill, Senate Bill No. 785, Senator Seyler introduced an amendment giving the teachers $31,000,000. Since that time, Senator Seyler did not vote for a bill which would provide that $31,000,000. He did not vote for the sales tax, but he introduced this $31,000,000 to be paid to the schoolteachers. As I read in the newspapers on Saturday, the Governor said that the money is not there. Yet, the bill passed the Senate, it passed the House and it was signed by the Governor.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the gentleman has taken the occasion to sowewhat shift the ground. However, I am very glad he did because I think the point he makes perhaps deserves some clarification, even though the bill he mentions is not under discussion in the Senate. I am sure that his superior over there, Senator Mahany, views with alarm Senator Pechan's bringing up for discussion a matter that is not before the Senate. I agree with Senator Mahany in that and I try to avoid doing it. However, since Senator Pechan has gone against the wishes of his superior, I am willing to discuss the matter.

The truth of the matter is, Mr. President, as Senator Pechan very well knows, that subsequent to the passage of the amendment which appropriated $31,000,000, I did vote for two tax measures. I voted for tax measures, Mr. President, which would have brought in enough money to satisfy that obligation, together with the other obligations of the Commonwealth. The gentleman who spoke voted against those tax plans and he voted for a tax plan which, by the time he was finished granting exemptions, has not left enough money in the revenue of this Commonwealth to take care of all the appropriations. Hence, we are in the position that it is now a problem of selecting which, among the many appropriations the Senator voted for, the Administration will be able to pay for because he did not vote for enough revenue. That is the true situation.

I think my action and the action of the other Senator we mentioned is entirely justifiable. I am not going to question his but, certainly on the basis of the facts I presented, I think he had better think over his own actions in this respect instead of criticizing mine.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we were debating this resolution and the concurrence of the Senate in House amendments, and then we got back into the tax program. It sort of amuses me for Senator Pechan to stand over there and criticize anyone, because if you will check the record, last year in my interrogation of him, he was going to vote for an adequate tax or a tax that he said was proper. That seems to be the case. Sure, Mr. President, he voted for the sales tax, but he voted against every Democratic tax that was brought over here as far as the Democratic program was concerned.

Getting back to this resolution, Mr. President, and the amendments inserted by the House, I say to you that even though the people do approve, the House and Senate must pass legislation financing the tax program. Therefore, it will not be the voice of the people after all. There will probably be a House, Republican or Democratic, and the Senate, Republican or Democratic, and they will get into another rat race and I am fearful that the Korean Veterans will not get a bonus before 1965.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 672, entitled:

An Act authorizing cities boroughs incorporated towns townships and counties to create historic areas within their geographical limits providing for the appointment of historical boards empowered to preserve historic buildings and to regulate the erection reconstruction alteration restoration demonlition or razing of buildings within the historic areas

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 672, on third reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing cities boroughs incorporated towns townships and counties to create historic areas within their geographical limits providing for the appointment of historical boards empowered to preserve historic buildings and to regulate the erection reconstruction alteration restoration demolition or razing of buildings within the historic areas be recommitted to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am quite sure Senator Stiefel was under the misapprehension—and I believe it now—that Senate Bill No. 672 and Senate Bill No. 673 would be carried over until he was on the floor of the Senate. I know when Senator Stiefel left last week, he left with that understanding and we carried these bills over last Friday. The Majority now wants to recommit this legislation.

I feel that, in all deference to Senator Stiefel, we should extend him the courtesy of being on the floor here to defend these bills on a motion to recommit. I feel it is not fair, since he is under the impression that the bills will be carried over in their order.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. PECHAN. Senator Lane, have you any idea when Senator Stiefel will be here?

Mr. LANE. I though he would be here today, but I imagine he will be here tomorrow. I know, however, that when I talked to him on Friday before he left, he was under the impression that the bills would be carried over until he was on the floor. I though the bills were going to be recommitted last Friday but they were not, and my understanding is that they are to be carried over until Senator Stiefel returns. I believe Senator Stiefel will be here tomorrow. I have no other information, and I thought he would be here today.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL WITHDRAWN

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion to recommit this bill, and will accede to the Senator's wish that these bills go over in their order.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 672, Printer's No. 280, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 673, Printer's No. 270, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chairs hears none.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 675, Printer's No. 1655, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Pechan, could you advise the Members of the Senate as to what the Majority plans to do with regard to censorship? I understand you held a meeting this morning, when I could not be here, and I am wondering if you could advise the Members of the Senate what you plan to do in regard to House Bill No. 675 or other legislation pertaining to movie censorship.

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, I happened to be at the meeting held this morning, at which people interested in this legislation, such as Father Lohmuller, Reverend Poulson and Reverend Wood, I believe, discussed the pros and cons of House Bill No. 675. We came to the conclusion that perhaps House Bill No. 675, as now amended, would be declared unconstitutional even much easier than the old act. Therefore, I believe a resolution is going to be presented by Senator Mahany and others tomorrow, providing for a real study to be made by all the people concerned and have them come up with a bill which will have teeth in it for censorship.

The Majority by no means can be accused, as they have been, of stifling this censorship. We feel very strongly for it, but we feel, too, that a bill should be introduced which will be declared constitutional.

Mr. LANE. Senator Pechan, could you advise me as to whether or not this particular group today considered Senate Bill No. 1066, which I sponsored last Friday? To keep you up-to-date,, maybe you do not know what Senate Bill No. 1066 is about.

Mr. PECHAN. No, I walked in and out of the room and, truthfully, I cannot answer, although I am being prompted by others here who say it was considered. It was not considered, however, while I was in the room.

Mr. LANE. You mentioned something about a resolution being presented today. What is the resolution going to ask for and do?

Mr. PECHAN. It is not necessarily going to be introduced today. I do not believe it is ready, but it may be introduced tomorrow, co-sponsored by the Minority Leader, Senator Dent. Senator Dent was in this meeting with us and several different phases and ideas were brought up. The Majority seemed to think that House Bill No. 675, with the original Printer's Number which I believe was No. 417, together with some amendments which were offered by interested groups, would do the thing we wanted to do. I think they are going to check with the Attorney General's Office and the Governor's Office before this resolution is presented.

If that will do the thing which we want done to censor our movies, House Bill No. 675 will be amended so that we can vote on it.

Mr. LANE. Do you know when it will be amended?

Mr. PECHAN. They are going to check with the Attorney General to see if it is constitutional.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to thank the gentleman, but from all indications here if they are going to present a resolution requesting a study of this problem, it is an indication that the Senate of Pennsylvania and the House of Representatives cannot sponsor legislation which is constitutional as far as movie censorship is concerned.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, this bill will go over in its order.

As far as Senate Bill No. 1060 is concerned, I want to review it to make sure that in my own mind this is not a plan, on the part of the Republicans, to take a crack at Senator Shapiro. SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO OWNER EDDIE GOTTLIEB, COACH GEORGE SENESKY AND ALL THE TEAM MEMBERS OF THE PHILADELPHIA WARRIORS FOR WINNING THE WORLD'S PROFESSIONAL BASKETBALL TITLE

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. MULLIN, SILVERT and McCREESH offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 9, 1956.

Saturday evening, April 6, 1956, at Convention Hall, Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Warriors, owned by Eddie Gottlieb and coached by George Senesky, won the World's professional basketball title by defeating the Fort Wayne Pistons in the National Basketball Association's Championship Playoff. The 99-88 victory saturday night gave them a 4—1 decision in the 7 game series. For Eddie Gottlieb, affectionately known as the "Mogul" to his players and their wives and kiddies, it was 10 long years since a team owned by him had won a pro title.

To Coach George Senesky, in his first year as Coach of the Warriors, the team's success was a combination of many things. In addition, to the superb teamwork of all the team members, fine defensive play and expert shooting, the team employed an unbeatable formula in that if one player fell off in his scoring another took over. Despite the team play, it should be noted here some of the individual achievements. Joe "Grabbo" Graboski, who in the four previous games had netted only 26 points, exploded in Saturday's game for 29 points. Rookie Tom Gola who displayed in all five games fine defensive playing, excellent passing, rebounding and scoring averaged 12.3 points per game. Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston, the big guns for the Warriors netted an average respectively of 28.9 and 20.3 points. Jack George the playmaker and excellent on defense averaged 13.6 points. Ernie Beck, George Dempsey, Jackie Moore and Walt Davis came through in great fashion in reserve roles; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania extend its heartiest congratulations to owner Eddie Gottlieb, Coach George Senesky and all the team members of the Philadelphia Warriors for winning the World's professional basketball title and wish them continued success in future years; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate transmit copies of this Resolution to Eddie Gottlieb and George Senesky, c/o Essex Hotel, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2101, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the sixth day of March one thousand nine hundred fifty-six (P. L.) (Act No. 381) entitled "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act" by defining or redefining certain words terms and procedural provisions in the act excluding certain personal property from the tax and changing provisions for assessment and collection of the tax and license fees.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the Members on the Democratic side feel that we should not infringe too much upon the honor and glory of the Republicans in regard to the sales tax or any sales tax amendments. It is our understanding that after the Republicans pass this bill here today, it will go to the House and be placed on a Conference Committee. Therefore, I do not wish to make a statement and I do not think Senator Dent wishes to make a statement.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, there are some matters in relations to the amendments that were placed by the Senate in this bill which certainly do not carry out the intention of the Senators who were responsible for these amendments. The wording is perhaps ambiguous, but in order to save time so that we may get together and write the amendments as we intend them to be, we ask that the Senators vote for this House Bill in its present form with the distinct understanding, which we have with the House, that the House will non-concur in these amendments and we will then put it into a Conference Committee, which will meet tomorrow. I feel sure that we can then come up with a bill which will carry out our intention.

I also understand that the Attorney General's Office is going to aid us in writing these amendments so that we will not be in a position, as we have been up to now, of passing a bill and then having the Attorney General try to shoot it full of holes. I feel sure that if the Attorney General's Office will cooperate with us in making up the wording of a bill which will carry out our intention as to what property is to be taxed and what property is not to be taxed, we are then going to be able to pass a satisfactory sales tax bill.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote in favor of this bill with that understanding.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, it was my intention today to discuss the sales tax amendment bill and to give the Members of the Senate the result of a survey which I made on the Ohio stamp plan.

I want to repeat today what I said last Friday. Any Member of the Senate, after the facts are given, who votes for the Ohio stamp plan as the method of collecting the sales tax in Pennsylvania, is voting for chaos, confusion, inefficiency, extravagance and waste of the penny-payers' money here in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I am not going to take the time of the Senate, for the reason already given by the Majority Leader and by Senator Lane, to give the facts and the figures which I compiled. However, I am confident that if I gave them today, those who had any inkling of voting for the Ohio plan as the method of collecting the sales tax in Pennsylvania would certainly change their minds.

I just want to say this much for the Senate, Mr. President. When the sales tax bill passed here originally, it did not have the Ohio plan incorporated in the bill. That was incorporated in the House, at the request and stubborness of just one man. He is a nice fellow and I like him. I think he is a good legislator. However, I think in this case he is wrong and he is performing a disservice to the people of this State by insisting on the Ohio plan as the method of collecting the tax in Pennsylvania. This man is a leader over in the House.

Mr. President, if this plan is permitted to remain in the sales tax bill, I say to you Members of the Senate that this man will lead the Republican Party to its doom because of the confusion and all of the other factors which will be involved in connection with the collection of this tax. It will involve the expenditure of millions of unnecessary dollars, and this is a time for economy and not for waste.

When we pass tax bills here, we pass tax bills to raise funds to finance the obligations of the Commonwealth and not to play Santa Claus to a lot of people, who we will play Santa Claus to by way of refunds for the redemption of stamps.

Mr. President, I have the figures here in indicate just how many millions it will cost if the Ohio plan is permitted to remain in this bill. I propose to give these figures to the Members of the Senate for their information at the proper time. Again, I say I am refraining from doing it today so that the bill can get over to the House where, I understand, the House will non-concur in the amendments and the bill will go to a Conference Committee. I certainly hope that Conference Committee will eliminate the Ohio method of collecting the tax from the bill.

Inasmuch as that method is now in the bill, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on House Bill No. 2101.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

Berger,	Harney,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Blass,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Kopriver, Jr.	Propert,	Wade,
Dent,	Madigan,	Schmidt,	Wagner,
Derk,	Mahany,	Scott,	Watkins,
Diehm,	Mallery,	Silvert,	Watson,
Flack,	McPherson, Jr.,	Stevenson,	Whalley,

NAYS—11

Camiel,	Hays,	Mullin,	Weiner,
DiSilvestro,	Lane,	Ruth,	Yosko,
Haluska,	McCreesh,	Seyler,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which concurrence of the House is requested.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

SENATE BILL No. 324 CALLED UP

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, at this time I call up, from page 3 of today's Third Reading Calendar, Senate Bill No. 324, Printer's No. 673, which was passed over in its order temporarily, and ask that it be considered at this time.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 324, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" revising the school health program changing the duties of the Department of Health and the Department of Public Instruction relating thereto imposing duties on the State Council of Education and changing the basis for reimbursement therefor.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred):

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, at the present time, we are voting on Senate Bill No. 324. There has been a great deal of controversy and I would say a great deal of misunderstanding about this bill, at the present moment, especially between the thinking of some of the House Members who are interested in this legislation and some of the Senate Members who are interested in this legislation.

Inasmuch as we know that sooner or later we will have to find an end to this Session, it has been suggested that we allow the bill to go over to the House today, in order that we may work with the gentlemen in the other branch of the General Assembly and work out a bill that will be acceptable to most of the people. We know that we can never pass legislation that is acceptable to all of the people, but we will try to do the most good for the largest number of people.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Armstrong will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—26

Berger,	Fleming,	Mahany,	Seyler,
Blass,	Harney,	McPherson, Jr.,	Taylor,
Camiel,	Hays,	Pechan,	Wagner,
Dent,	Kessler,	Propert,	Watkins,
Derk,	Kopriver, Jr.	Schmidt,	Watson,
Diehm,	Madigan,	Scott,	Whalley,
Flack,			Wolfe,

NAYS—13

Barr,	Lane,	Mullin,	Stevenson,
Chapman,	Mallery,	Ruth,	Van Sant,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Silvert,	Weiner,
			Yosko,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Lord, we do not ask for an easy task. We do not want that all barriers should be broken down for us. We only pray that we may have strength in weakness; the will to do our work as Thou shalt point it out to us; and that we may trust Thy grace, not only in occasional emergencies, but in daily experience. BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 2092, Printer's No. 1169 and

House Bill No. 2094, Printer's No. 1678

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2103, entitled:

An Act amending the "Banking Code" approved May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624) limiting the establishment and maintenance of branch banks

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, I oppose the motion to recommit this bill and I ask for a slow roll call on the recommittal.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Members on this side also to oppose this motion.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, do you think the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Brennan, would like to explain to us what the bill does?

The SPEAKER. The merits of the bill are not subject to debate at this time. The question is on the motion to recommit.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, the bill does not affect my locality much one way or the other, but I do want to say I cannot understand why the bill should be recommitted.

It was considered very thoroughly in the Judiciary General Committee and there was no opposition in that Committee, as I recall, to reporting this bill out.

It seems very funny that all at once the bill is to be recommitted. I am just wondering whether or not the real purpose of recommitting the bill is not to kill it, to bury it.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state in relation to this motion to recommit in opposing it that this bill was not thoroughly considered by the Rules Committee. It was brought out for the purpose of having the Members consider what it did, and I think the interests of justice will be fully served by recommitting this to the Committee on Rules.

I understand some gentleman of the House has an amendment he would like to offer to the bill, and he will certainly be given an opportunity to have that amendment considered by the Rules Committee.

I am asking every Member to vote in favor of the motion to recommit to Rules.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say that I am still opposed to the motion. I would like to ask whether the Majority Leader would care to have the bill passed over until our return from our recess.

Mr. READINGER. I would not. I prefer to have a vote taken on this motion right now.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I still oppose the motion, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. A. P. BRENNAN and READINGER and were as follows:

YEAS—89

Senate Bill No. 999, Printer's No. 666 and Senate Bill No. 1002, Printer's No. 651

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1057, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 7, 1936 (P. L. 106) entitled as amended "An act relating to flood control prescribing the powers and duties of the Water and Power Resources Board of the Department of Forests and Waters in relation to the creation of flood control districts adoption of plans for flood control works and improvements carrying into effect of such plans assistance aid and cooperation with public and private agencies and the Federal Government in Federal flood control works and improvements and entering into compacts and agreements with other states for flood control works and improvements conferring the power of eminent domain providing for the setting off of benefits imposing certain charges upon the Commonwealth providing for appeals and conferring certain powers on municipalities counties and townships and the Department of Highways" authorizing the board to enter into contracts and agreements with Authorities created under any act of Assembly

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill is on the calendar by reason of the fact that the Department of Forests and Waters in making contracts now with various municipalities under the Flood Control Law, where they have set up Flood Control Authorities, found the law did not permit the Department of Forests and Waters to enter into contracts with Authorities.

What this bill does is amend the Flood Control Act so that the state can enter into agreements with Flood Control Authorities as well as boroughs, third class cities, second class cities, and so forth.

I, therefore, ask the membership to vote in favor of this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. Speaker, I just thought I would pass on some information for the benefit of the Press and the Members. As you know, 1:15 p. m. was set for a special order of busisess in the Senate to vote on both the amendments to the sales tax bill and the capital stock tax bill.

It was put off until 4:00 p. m. at the request of some Republican Senators and also, I hear, a Democratic Senator who wanted to get some more information before they brought it to a final vote.

I have just recently come from the Republican Caucus in the Senate and they have asked me to notify everyone that 4 p. m. was made a special order of business to vote on both the amendments to the sales tax and the capital stock tax bills.

That was the agreement we had made, and it was only put off at the request of a Democratic Senator and a few of our Republican Senators to clarify something, but it will be brought to a vote today at 4:00 o'clock.

RESOLUTION No. 168.

In the House of Representatives, April 9, 1956.

The counties of Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery and Philadelphia are each portions of a single great metropolitan area of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. There is, within the aforementioned five counties, 3 cities, 85 boroughs, 125 townships and 241 school districts, and population forecasts indicate a greatly increasing population, with attendant economic development, for this area over the next several decades.

It is recognized that a great many economic, social, and governmental problems are common to two or more of the aforementioned units in the metropolitan area; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives memorialize the Governor to establish and convene, not later than June 1, 1956, a commission to be known as the Study Commission of the Philadelphia Metropolitan Area, and to consist of fifteen members, three each to be residents of each of the aforementioned five counties, and the chairman to be appointed without reference to his residence, except that he shall be a resident of one of the five counties; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor authorize such commission to:

1. Make a study of the facts which the commission deems appropriate on any subject related to proper, orderly and efficient growth and development of the five-county metropolitan area and its relationship to the larger metropolitan region, and to make a report of its findings and recommendations to the Governor and the General Assembly, the municipalities and other bodies concerned;

By Messrs. PETTIGREW, HOLT, Mrs. ANDERSON, Mrs. MONROE, Mrs. PASHLEY, Messrs. ANDERSON, TOLL, McCORMACK, KOLANKIEWICZ, FLOYD and FINEMAN.

In the House of Representatives, April 9, 1956.

During the NCAA Tournament in Chicago, Hal Lear, varsity guard at Temple University was given the most valuable player award.

To earn it he broke practically all tournament records. He topped the old five game record of 118 points with a score of 160. His 48 points in one game broke that record, and he carried away the field goal record with 63 in the tournament.

During the season his 745 points set a new record for Temple University.

Although a great athlete he was also a good student, thus proving that sports participation and serious education do not conflict but rather compliment one another. This year he earned the award as the athlete with the best scholastic record; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their congratulations to Hal Lear on his phenomenal successes and wish him even greater success in the career he will begin when he graduates from the Temple University School of Business Administration where he is now a senior. With his ability and energy he will necessarily lead an active life that will prove of great service to his State and Nation; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Hal Lear at Temple University.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House non-concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments of the Senate?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the amendments to House Bill 2101, which is the bill amending the Sales Tax law, were finally agreed upon tentatively by the Republican leadership of the House and Senate and myself last Thursday. The bill was amended in the Senate last Friday, April 6th, and I presume was in print on that date.

The amendments are quite complicated inasmuch as they redefine the term "manufacture" and "use". Upon going over these thoroughly today and conferring with the administration, it has developed that the administration is not at all pleased with the wording of some of these amendments because of the fact that certain things which were not intended to be excluded from tax would be excluded under the present understanding of the terms included in these amendments.

Therefore, it has become necessary to ask the House to non-concur in these amendments in order that this might be put into a conference committee, which will immediately go to work tomorrow morning to have this bill drafted in the manner which was intended by both the Senate and the House.

We are not now speaking about the correctional amendments which were made by the House last week relative to the stamp plan, and things of that kind, but we are speaking about some things that are quite fundamental in the original intention of what should be included and what should be excluded.

I do not want the membership to feel that they have been dealt with unfairly in being asked to come today. This was a working session because it was fully believed by all of us that these amendments would be in such shape that we could vote on them and either adopt or reject them today.

I assure you it was not anybody's intention to have a situation arise such as has arisen. You must bear in mind the fact that these amendments are quite complicated and one or two words in the wrong place, or the use of a wrong word, can mean millions of dollars of revenue under this tax law. That is the reason why we are asking you today to non-concur.

The Attorney General has assigned two of his deputies today to immediately start working on what the administration considers proper wording for some of these things. It is necessary that the conferees of both the House and the Senate, whoever they are, meet with these people and the Attorney General and try to work out some common agreement as to what words should be used to put into effect the intentions of the membership of the House and Senate.

We must also remember that unless the Governor is willing to sign this bill, or at least not veto it, we will be back to the law as it was passed originally by us and by the Senate. I think many of us believe that that is not too satisfactory.

We should be ready with this report by the end of the week, but it is impossible now to inform you when we will have the next working day in order to pass on this measure. Our plans are, as they were before to have consent sessions from now until the end of April. Obviously it is going to be necessary to ask you to come one day at least when these things have all been agreed upon to pass on the amendments. When that will be, I cannot tell. I do not know whether it will be Monday of next week on Thursday of next week, but you will be advised in plenty of time what the day will be.

So I am asking every Member to vote to non-concur in order that we may carry out the intentions of this Legislature.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am trying today to speak with no temper in my voice, but it is a rather difficult thing, in my estimation, to do.

It seems again that the Majority Leader and every Member of this House is being put on the spot by the Governor and his friends in the Attorney General's office.

I possibly could agree with the gentleman in what he just said that some of the things do not mean what we intended. I do not think there is any doubt about that. I think there is some doubt as far as the grammar is concerned, but I cannot agree with anybody but that the Attorney General's job should have been to have worked with this bill. We have kept no secrets from them. They had since last Friday to find out what they were going to do, and until 3:15 o'clock today everybody was in ignorance.

It seems to me a disgrace to bring 210 men and women in here, some of them from many miles, when they should be doing other things, and then at 3:15 tell them there are some grammatical errors, or some other things, which would not do what they intended to do.

In the meantime there are no intimations by the Attorney General's office as to how this tax is to be interpreted. None whatsoever.

We have gone through this thing. This is the second time we have had to do so at the whim of one man, bring the House here and then be disappointed. All you have to do is look back about three or four months to the compromise tax program when we had it right up to the point of passage and again one man said, "Well I have changed my mind," or, "I have not looked it up," or, "It does not do what I say," and, bingo, out the window it goes.

I think there must be an end to it, Mr. Speaker. If the Attorney General's office wants to cooperate, let them start cooperating today. They had an entire week-end during which telegrams could have been sent out. They had the last three or four weeks when Mr. Readinger and myself were working on this bill. We have not kept this a secret.

In all fairness to your Majority Leader, I think he has done everything humanly possible to get it through. I think again an unbearable burden has been placed upon him. He has kept his promise in everyway possible, but it just seems there are some individuals somewhere today in high position of government who are going to try to make this tax just as chaotic and as tough to work as possible.

I am perfectly willing to work, and your Majority Leader is perfectly willing to work, but I want assurance from somebody. I must pin it back on your unfortunate Majority Leader to get some kind of time schedule either from the Governor's office or the Attorney General's office as to when they are going to sit down and work and how they are going to work, so that we can tell you Members when we are going to come in here and really mean it.

I do not think it is fair to bring you in here. I think it is the most unfair thing that has happened. We have a wasted day again on a tremendously important bill. In the meantime the merchants and the people of Pennsylvania just do not know what to do.

If they are playing politics, we are going to start playing politics too. I do not know why it is being done, you form your own opinion, but if the Attorney General is not fit to be in office, or his men are not capable to work this thing out and do it on a definite time schedule, let the Revenue Department or somebody else do it, because I personally am getting sick and tired of coming here and having a lot of weak excuses that time has not been available.

I would like to ask Mr. Readinger if he would get from the Attorney General as soon as possible a time schedule as to when he will sit down with us, instead of sending a man like he did the last time who read the newspapers throughout the entire conference; a man who will work, or if he himself is willing to come in, so we can get this thing done as soon as possible, and let the vendors and the merchants of this state know what they are doing, because at this point nobody seems to know.

The interrogation is, when can we definitely get a statement from the Attorney General as to when he will sit down with us so these amendments may suit him and the Governor?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's last question, I would say we do not intend to ask the Attorney General when the amendments suit him; we are interested in whether the amendments will suit the Governor. There will be a meeting tomorrow, at least with two deputies of the Attorney General, and if I can bring it about the Attorney General himself will meet with us.

It is my hope that within the next two days this disputed section of the bill can be ironed out so that before Thursday of this week we should know pretty definitely which amendments can be agreed upon and which cannot be agreed upon.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Can I ask the Attorney General, interrogate the—I humbly beg your pardon. I am very sorry, I do not know how to apologize for that last crack, Mr. Majority Leader.

Mr. READINGER. I am flattered.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Believe me, don't be flattered. May I ask the Majority Leader, I do not want to put him on the spot, but I know his answer, there will be no radical changes. But there have been ugly rumors going around again that the Attorney General after he gets this bill to the Governor or after he gets it into a Conference Committee, he might again suggest some changes or the pulling out of the stamp plan. I assume that is not even to be considered. Am I right on that?

Mr. READINGER. As far as the membership on this side of the House is concerned, that is not to be considered. We made a commitment on the floor of the House and we intend to keep it no matter how it may hurt us.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I knew that would be your answer, and I just want to thank you again. I just wanted to clear up some of those rumors.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the Minority Leader made an excellent speech as usual, but I say he is very unfair to the Governor and the Attorney General on the things which have developed here.

I believe I mentioned a minute ago that some of these amendments which are now in the bill were not finally completed until last Thursday.

I know that the bill was not in print until Friday, when the Senate reported it out from Committee as amended. I know that the Attorney General did not see the amendments at least until last Friday.

The way the gentleman from Philadelphia speaks we could just send telegrams, or he could, to the various Members saying, "Do not bother coming in on Monday, because things will not be ready for you vote on." It just does not happen that way.

We had to get those letters off to you Members last Thursday or Friday morning telling you that our plans were for a working day today and that we expected the sales tax amendments to be ready to be voted upon. We did that in good faith. We could not let the communication go longer than that or you would not have known what plans to make for this week.

I think the gentleman has been too critical of the Governor and the Attorney General. I do not think they are playing politics. I feel sure the Governor intends to go along with the spirit of the intention back of the passage of this sales tax law. It does involve millions of dollars of revenue, and for the Governor's office to say, "Go ahead and pass anything you want, we will sign it," is asking too much.

I think we will be able to work this out satisfactorily. Certainly we should amend this in accordance with our own intentions, but it is not an easy job to do.

You will recall the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, his advisers and several other people were working on these amendments for at least two weeks, and it took two weeks of hard work to get them whipped into the shape they finally had them when we passed the bill last week.

We ask your indulgence. We know you want to get back home and campaign. We will try not to interfere with that too much, but it will be necessary to call the House back in full session within the next week or ten days. We will advise you then.

In the meantime, I think we should not be too critical of the Governor or the Attorney General in this matter, because they too have a lot of problems to wrestle with, and they could not see these amendments before they are printed, which was last Friday.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to make a brief statement and to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate the Majority Leader before his statement?

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make the statement that last Thursday I asked the Majority Leader if he had some sort of proof that we would have these sales tax amendments to act upon today. He gave me as much assurance as he could, but of course the thing has blown up in his face.

I would like to ask the question, what specifically is objected to in House Bill 2101, Printer's No. 1703? I think it is only fair to tell the Members, to tell the people of Pennsylvania, what the Governor is objecting to in the bill as it stands now.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, perhaps I should not do it, but I will.

I will point out to him that on page 9 of the bill on line 17 there are some underlined words. The particular words read as follows, and this relates to personal property, which is tax exempt, because all these words relate to things that are excluded from the definition of the word "use," and it is "use" upon which we are imposing the tax. This would be excluded, "tangible personal property * * * used * * * in the producing delivering or rendering of a public utility service" now these are the words which were inserted as late as last Friday—"or any service if in the latter case such service is subject to regulation by the Public Utility Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the Interstate Commerce Commission."

If a trucking company, which is under a PUC certificate, decides to build a $50,000 garage to replace one that is falling down, or one they do not want to use any longer, the way that is worded all the materials going into that building would be tax exempt, because it is used in the rendering of a public service which is under the PUC. That was never intended by anybody, as far as I know, and it would run into much money it could run into millions of dollars, or hundreds of thousands of dollars. That is just one instance. I say there are several others where the words used simply exclude something that nobody intended to exclude.

Mr. VARNER. Thank you, Mr. Readinger. I am willing to listen to the others, to the other instances. I thank you for that because that straightens that one thing out.

Mr. READINGER. You will not hear any of the other instances from me at the present time, because I do not think we should take them up at this time. It is unfortunate that any of these have crept in to distort our original intentions, but the fact is it is there.

I am not prepared now and do not choose to discuss in detail other objections which the administration might have. But I repeat, unless the Governor is willing to sign the bill we finally pass, we are back to the law we passed before, and in my opinion it is not a satisfactory law because it is too vague.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make another statement.

I think with all the great brains in the Attorney General's office they are groping, failing, and falling on their faces. I think it is about time they get on the ball and do something.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman means well, but he certainly is not expressing himself well.

I might point out to him that all these amendments have been drafted by and under the direction, and with the consent and assistance of his own Minority Leader and many others who are high in his party.

As I stated weeks ago we wanted the amendments drafted by the Republican membership. We had no hand in the drafting of them. I never at any time asked the Attorney General to draft the amendments. I did ask for advice from time to time concerning them. If the gentleman wants to criticize the draftmanship of these amendments to carry out the intention of both his side and our side, then he should not criticize the Attorney General but he should criticize his own people. I certainly am not asking him to do that.

Unless the gentleman had sat with us and wrestled with some of these phrases, and definitions, and so forth, unless he had done that, he would not begin to know how complicated the thing is.

I say, I think he meant well. He likes to critize the opposition, which is always a good fundamental policy, but he is speaking out of turn when he says what he said just now.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, since the Members of this House can make the Rules of the House, could the Membership agree to poll itself in absentia on these sales tax amendments?

The SPEAKER. Not officially.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Could the House by unanimous action today under special order of business agree that the Majority and Minority Leaders would state on the record the votes, so that we would not have to come back here another day?

The SPEAKER. No, not if a single Member raised an objection.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I said, if it was by unanimous vote today, could that be done.

The SPEAKER. Not officially. The answer is "no."

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. As a practical matter, can it be done?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has noted at various times during his time here on the Hill it has so happened that things have worked out that way, but not as a result of official action. There have been times when the Chair has imagined that men were voted who were not in the Hall of the House. Now and then that has happened; it might happen again.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Then I ask leave to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, could it happen again?

Mr. READINGER. Off the record, it might.

Mr. Speaker, this is a working day and I am glad the ladies and gentlemen are here working. There are other bills on the third reading calendar to which I would like to return. I am sure we can carry on a great deal more business while we are here today, without delaying the membership unduly.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to address the House very briefly on the queries which were just made by the gentleman from Delaware and the replies by the gentleman from Berks, the Majority Floor Leader, and by the Speaker.

I shall be one to object to anything whatsoever of a controversial nature being passed on a consent calendar day. It is not good.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, perhaps I misunderstood the question of the gentleman from Delaware, but if I did and my answer conveyed the idea we would pass anything on a consent calendar day which was not consented to by the Membership generally, I want to correct the gentleman's impression. When we have a consent calendar we will either know the thing is consented to or we will not pass it at all.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman did misunderstand my question, because I asked if the House could be polled in absentia so that the exact wishes of the membership could be determined and put in the record—

The SPEAKER. The answer was "no."

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. That is correct.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, last week the Majority Leader told us we would be back here for one full working day. We also received a letter to the effect that we would be here for one working day. On the only roll call we had today that I think was genuine there were 158 present, it was an 89 to 69 vote.

What I would like to know—after all, I would like to be home campaigning too, I have opposition—those fifty-some who are not here, are they going to be here when that extra day is called? Why not bring them in here? They are no different than we are.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would say to the gentleman from Allegheny that it is always within the province of the House, it is not within the province of the Speaker, to require the attendance of the absentees who are absent without leave. Since the beginning of the year the Chair has pointed out that fact.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the amendments were not concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 653, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 18, 1917 (P. L. 1043) entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof * * * and providing penalties" providing additional disability and superannuation retirement allowances.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Section 3, page 4, line 11, by striking out "January 1, 1957" and inserting in lieu thereof: "September 1 one thousand nine hundred fifty-six."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 980, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" providing for supervisors of industrial education and for their compensation and that of supervisors of agriculture and of homemaking.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SARRAF. Am I in order to ask a question?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. SARRAF. Are we on House Bill 980 on page 8?

The SPEAKER. That is right.

Mr. SARRAF. Printer's No. 1673?

The SPEAKER. That is right.

Mr. SARRAF. I thought the leadership was going to hold those bills over, Nos. 980 and 981.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny desire to interrogate the Majority Leader?

Mr. SARRAF. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SARRAF. I understand, Mr. Speaker, that House Bills 980 and 981 were to be held over today?

Mr. READINGER. I did not understand it to be that way, but I will be glad to have them passed over if the gentleman so desires. Mr. McCann is here. I did not know anybody wanted them passed over.

Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SARRAF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

I just received some information. I desire to apologize for taking up the time of the House.

Mr. READINGER. These are not social security bills, that is what the gentleman is interested in.

Mr. SARRAF. That is all right, I am interested in those too. I will withdraw my objection, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 981, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" * * * removing the limitation on the maximum compensation payable by the Commonwealth for vocational extension classes and permitting the payment of the full cost of certain vocational training courses and providing for the revision of the budget in such cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate Mr. McCann, one of the sponsors of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman whether this will increase or decrease the amount of money to be paid to the districts as subsidies by the Commonwealth?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this will increase the amount of money, but the bill is written in such a manner that it will increase the amount of Federal money coming to the Department of Public Instruction of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which in turn will not cost the Commonwealth any money at all.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, am I to understand, then, that the Federal Government picks up the entire check on this bill?

Mr. McCANN. According to the resume of House Bill 981 issued by the Department of Public Instruction, this bill is written in such a manner as to receive a greater amount of Federal funds for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that is right.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I do not think the gentleman quite answered my question. I asked him if the Federal Government paid all the money on this or, to put it another way, is the Commonwealth obligated for any increase at all?

Mr. McCANN. The answer I might give you is that the Commonwealth is not obligated to an increase in the funds from state money. Is that your question?

Mr. MOSCRIP. Is that true for future bienniums besides this one?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer for future bienniums. I am positive of the present biennium.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, what I am trying to get at is this: is this one of those devices where the local district picks up the bill for the first biennium and then later reimbursement takes place? Is there anything in this bill which would operate to obligate the Commonwealth in that manner?

Mr. McCANN. I would have to give you an opinion there. I believe that it does not, but I have not asked that specific question.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 986, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 20 1953 (P. L. 550) entitled "An act providing for and regulating the annexation of parts of a second class township to boroughs cities and townships" fixing the time when annextion takes effect and further providing for the payment of costs.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I would like to have an explanation,

Mr. Speaker, on this partcular bill, what it proposes to do. While I can understand part of it, another part of it I cannot understand. If there is someone in the House who can give us an explanation, I will appreciate it.

The SPEAKER. Can the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, explain Senate Bill 986?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe I can give just a thumbnail explanation of it.

As I understand the bill, before annexation can take effect the costs of the annexation, the charges to the municipalities by reason of the annexation under existing law, must all be paid before the annexation can take effect.

Then I think there is a provision in the bill for payment of $150 to commissioners in the event of a protracted negotiation.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, does not this bill also mention approval by the court, the new part of the law?

Mr. JOHNSON. The gentleman could be correct, but my digest of the bill does not indicate that.

I would like to yield to the Chairman of the Committee that brought the bill out for a further explanation of the bill.

The SPEAKER. From what Committee did the bill emanate?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I do not know, but I would presume Townships.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader, the Chairman of the Committee on Rules, which reported the bill out.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, if this is the same bill I am thinking about, I have not had a chance to look at it since it was called up so quickly, one of the amendments added to the present law the words "whenever approved by the court," or some such words.

It is my understanding that at the present time approval of the court is not necessary when part of a township is being annexed to a borough or to a city. It would seem that this bill, while on the surface it appears to talk about the costs involved, also brings in the necessity for approval by the court. I want to know if that is the intention?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that Mr. Johnson could not answer the question?

The SPEAKER. He referred it to another lawyer.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I see dozens of lawyers. Does anyone want to volunteer?

The SPEAKER. The Chair wonders would there happen to be a judge in the Hall of the House?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, as I read the bill, the Court must now approve of the annexation, and the amendment added to the bill refers to the date of annexation. As I read the bill on the last page, the way the bill reads, there is a definite implication that the court must approve of the annexation.

This particular amendment does not change that part of the law, it is already that way.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 76

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 6, 1956.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 76, Printer's No. 572, entitled "An Act amending subsections (a) and (g) of section 403 act of April twelve one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 90) entitled 'An act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto regulating and restricting the manufacture purchase sale possession consumption importation transportation furnishing holding in bond holding in storage traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the establishment and operation of State liquor stores for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalities and townships for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant prescribing penalties and forfeitures providing for local option and repealing existing laws' further regulating the application for an issuance of hotel restaurant and club liquor licenses."

This bill amends Section 403 of the Liquor Code, the Act of April 12, 1951, P. L. 90.

Under the present law, every applicant for a hotel liquor license, restaurant liquor license or club liquor license must file an application containing a description of that part of the hotel, restaurant or club for which the applicant desires a license as well as that part of the hotel, restaurant or club where it is proposed to keep and sell liquor as may be required by the regulations of the board.

The amendment would provide that this information would be given and would show the hotel, restaurant, club or the proposed location for the construction of a hotel, restaurant or club at the time of the application and would show any alterations proposed to be made or the new building proposed to be constructed, but no alterations, improvements or changes shall be required to be made nor new building constructed until approval of the application by the board.

This amendment would introduce a new conception in connection with the construction and alteration of buildings to be used as hotels, restaurants and clubs in that the most important factor would be the possession of a liquor license.

This is contrary to our philosophy of government in dealing with liquor, which is to treat the dispensing of liquor an adjunct to a hotel, restaurant or club, but not as the sole reason for their existence. Our courts have from time to time said that the purpose of the liquor laws was to regulate and restrict sales of liquor, not to promote them.

The Liquor Code expressly provides that it shall be deemed an exercise of the police power of the Commonwealth for the public welfare, health, peace and morals of the people of the Commonwealth and to prohibit forever the open saloon.

I do not consider this amendment to be in conformity with these purposes nor in the public interest.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER,

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 400

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 6, 1956.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 400, Printer's No. 806, entitled "An Act amending the act of April 12 1951 (P. L. 90) entitled 'An act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto regulating and restricting the manufacture purchase sale possession consumption importation transportation furnishing holding in bond holding in storage traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the establishment and operation of State liquor stores for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalties and townships for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant prescribing penalties and forfeitures providing for local option and repealing existing laws' changing the time within which a notice of hearing upon a citation may be issued and the nature of the notice and requiring notice of violations noted by an agent or employe of the board as a prerequisite to the imposition of a penalty suspension or revocation."

This bill amends the Act of April 12, 1951, P. L. 90, known as the "Liquor Code."

The amendatory language of the bill reduces from one year to ninety days the period following a violation of the Code within which the Liquor Control Board may cite a licensee to show cause why his license should not be suspended or revoked.

While the statute of limitations is two years for many crimes or offenses, this amendment would reduce it to a mere ninety days in so far as violations of the liquor laws are concerned. This section of the Liquor Code as it presently stands has been held by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to satisfy all the requirements of due process and adequate remedy at law, in view of the fact that the licensee may appeal any suspension or revocation to the court. The purpose of the Liquor Code is to control and regulate the sale of liquor. The only apparent excuse for this amendment is to weaken the State's control and to invite and encourage violations of the Code.

The bill further amends Section 471 so that the notice to the licensee shall contain a complete statement and particulars of the charges on which the citation is based. Thus the amendment requires more information than an information or indictment. Why the violator of the Liquor Code should be placed in a more favorable position than the violator of any other penal law is difficult to understand. Nor is any sound reason apparent why the Liquor Control Board should disclose all of its evidence prior to a hearing. The final assault upon the Liquor Code is the amendment which provides that no penalty or suspension or revocation in this section shall be imposed unless within fifteen days after the violation noted by the agent of the board, the board notifies the licensee in writing of the nature and time of the violation. This is in effect a reduction of the statute of limitations to a period of fifteen days. Under the common law there was no limitation to criminal proceedings by indictment. Today the limitation is in some instances six, five or two years. I do not propose to be a party to reducing the period to fifteen days, thus protecting those who frustrate and defy the provisions of the Liquor Code.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER,

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1418

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 6, 1956.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 418, Printer's No. 1524, entitled "An Act amending the act of June 5, 1935 (P. L. 266) entitled 'An act to protect trade-mark owners distributors and the public against injuries and uneconomic practices in the distribution of articles of standard quality under a distinguished trade-mark brand or name' further regulating exceptions to contracts of sale and actions at law for unfair competition."

Subsection (a) of the proviso to Section 1 would have the effect of requiring a merchant who is in need of funds due to an emergency situation to wait 20 days prior to disposing at close-out prices of fair traded merchandise in his stock. This would have an unfortunate effect on many small businessmen who would find themselves in the position of having goods in their possession and yet not being able to dispose of them to meet obligations and it might result in the bankruptcy or other financial embarrassment of such merchants. Because of this danger inherent in subsection (a) it is necessary for me to veto this legislation.

For this reason, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 2049

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 6, 1956.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2049, Printer's No. 1442, entitled "An Act amending the act of May 25, 1933 (P. L. 1050) entitled 'An act creating and establishing a fund for the care maintenance and relief of aged retired and disabled employes of the bureau of fire in cities of the second class creating a board for the management thereof providing the mode and manner of payment to beneficiaries and for the care and disposition of its funds and providing for the transfer and payment of all moneys and securities in existing funds in similar boards superseded by the fund and board herein created' further regulating payments to certain beneficiaries under the fund."

The existing law provides that the beneficiary upon retirement is entitled to receive per month 50% of the highest average annual salary earned by him during any 5 years of service providing, however, that the maximum monthly pension does not exceed $250.00 per month.

This bill amends the aforesaid provision by providing that the said beneficiary is to receive an amount not less than 50% of his average monthly salary earned by him during any 5 calendar years of service or, in the alternative, the last 60 months immediately preceding retirement so long as the maximum monthly pension does not exceed $250.00 per month.

This bill is defective in that it provides that 50% of the average monthly salary is to be the minimum amount received without relating any limitations thereafter as to increased amounts below $250.00 per month and furthermore, fails to provide for an adjustment in contributions to be made by the beneficiaries for increased benefits which they may receive therefrom.

The failure to provide for said adjustment in contributions by beneficiaries renders this bill financially unsound and subject to abuse.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution (not printed) re Honorable William Flinn.

RESOLUTION

Mr. GELFAND offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, is not a congratulatory resolution a privileged resolution?

The SPEAKER. A congratulatory resolution is not a privileged resolution unless it pertains to Members of the House.

INTERROGATION

Mr. MOSCRIP asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Education.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman give us any prophecy or news as to when 583 will appear again on the floor of this House?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 583 and House Bill 584 will appear on the calendar in this House on Tuesday, May 1st, I guarantee you.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, since the subject of teachers' salaries is pertinent and also since I think we will all agree on the matter of social legislation, I have noticed in this session that the Governor in signing or in working for various social measures is quite likely to compare our status with that of New York and California, two other great states of our country, which is entirely proper.

I noted particularly in the fields of unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation he was quite gratified we had raised ourselves to the standards of New York state.

I would suggest then for the consideration of the Administration perhaps that reasoning would apply well to the question of teachers' salaries.

I am going to read very briefly for your information a salary schedule for teachers which was just adopted by the village of Waverly in Tioga County, New York. The village of Waverly borders on Pennsylvania, the village limits border on the limits of Sayre Borough, Bradford County, Pennsylvania, so they are very close to us. The starting salary there is $3,700; the second year $3,900; the third year $4,100; the fourth year $4,300; the fifth year $4,500; thet sixth year $4,750; the seventh $5,000; the eighth $5,300; the ninth $5,600; and the tenth $6,000.

Since one of the efforts along the lines of our teachers' salaries is to prevent migrations over the line, or over-the-line raids, I think this information is quite pertinent.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 126

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 15 of today's calendar, House Resolution No. 126.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, November 21, 1955.

The barbarous and unpunished murder of the Negro child Emmett Till in the State of Mississippi has shocked all the civilized nations of the world and subjected our county to scorn and hatred by reason thereof and

Our Declaration of Independence proclaims that all men are created equal and

Section 1 of the XIVth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States provides

(1) "All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside

(2) "No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States

(3) "Nor shall any State deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the law"

Section 4 of Article IV of the Constitution guarantees to every State a representative form of government through legal and properly conducted elections of officers

The XVth Amendment to our Constitution provides

"The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race or color"

Paragraph 1 of section 5 of Article I of the Constitution provides

"Each House shall be the judge of the Elections returns and qualifications of its own members"

Section 2 of the XIVth Amendment to the Constitution provides

"Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of Electors for President and Vice-President of the United States Representatives in Congress the executive and judicial officers of a State or the members of the Legislature thereof is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State"

It is charged that the State of Mississippi acting through its officials has violated the above provisions of the Constitution of the United Sates in that native-born adult Negro citizens of the United States and of the State of Mississippi and entitled to vote therein have been forcibly prevented by the officials of said State of Mississippi from registering in order to be able to vote as required by the law of Mississippi And further that such action has resulted in the exclusion of Negro citizens from jury service in said State because its laws require that the names of prospective jurors appear on the voting lists and Negro residents of the State of Mississippi who may be charged with crime are thus deprived of the Constitutional right to trial by a jury chosen without regard to race or color and are thereby denied the equal protection of the law therefore be it

Resolved That it is the sense desire and request of the members of the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania in meeting assembled

(1) That the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States use their great and potent powers to protect the Constitutional and civil rights of all persons residing in the State of Mississippi without distinction as to race creed color or national origin

(2) It is respectfully urged that said Houses of Congress investigate the above charge and if the same be found to be true that each said House thereupon declare invalid the purported elections whereby the persons presently holding seats in each body as representatives of the people of the State of Mississippi became members thereof and declare said seats to be vacant

(3) That thereupon steps be immediately taken by each House of the Congress to provide for the holding of lawful and properly controlled elections in the State of Mississippi in order to fill such vacancies and that at such elections all duly qualified Negro citizens of said State shall have the free and untrammelled right and opportunity to Register and to vote for candidates of their choice and thereby likewise be made available for jury service and be it further

Resolved and requested that meanwhile the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States take immediate steps to reduce the numerical quota of representation in said House to which the State of Mississippi would otherwise be lawfully entitled in accordance with the provisions of section 2 of the XIVth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and be it further

Resolved That all of the above we the members of the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania respectfully urge and recommend to the favorable consideration of the Congress of the United States bearing in mind that "We the People" did ordain and establish the Constitution of our glorious country the United States of America "in order to establish justice . . . promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity" and be it further

Resolved That duly authenticated copies of this Resolution be forwarded to the Clerk of the Senate and to the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the Congress and also to every Congressman and to the Senators representing the people of the State of Pennsylvania in said Congress

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 15 on today's House calendar House Resolution No. 150.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1956.

Resolved That the Department of Highways is urged and requested to erect and maintain a toll bridge over the Susquehanna River from a point between Safe Harbor and Holtwood in Lancaster County to a point on the opposite side of the river in York County in accordance with the authority granted to the department by the act of January 14 1952 (P. L. 2046)

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 159

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 15 of today's calendar, House Resolution No. 159.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 27, 1956.

The United States Supreme Court in a recent decision has unanimously decreed that the 14th amendment of the Constitution of the United States contains certain basic rights one of which is the prohibiting of segregation based on race color or creed in public schools or in governmental matters which are conducted by State agencies or institutions

Within the framework of such decree certain civil rights organizations such as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have worked tirelessly and vigorously as proponents of civil rights in making the decree which guarantees civil rights and prohibits segregation a reality

In direct illegal and violent opposition to the supreme court decree and the efforts of the NAACP to have realistic enforcement made of such decree there has occurred in many parts of this great nation particularly in the South a wave of brutal and defiant terrorism in the form of illegal mob action against NAACP proponents and leaders whereby their freedom of advocacy property liberty and their very lives have been put in extreme jeopardy

Mob actions such as these cannot be tolerated for they are contrary to every concept of freedom guaranteed to the people and embodied in our Constitution and the Bill of Rights These mob actions have heaped international disgrace on our great nation and have conveyed to the world the belief that our Constitution is not the supreme law of the land but merely a hollow and meaningless symbol of liberty therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States to investigate these mob actions and enact legislation or take other appropriate action which will alleviate this disgrace and mockery of our Constitution and ensure protection of life liberty and property to all proponents of the true constitutional spirit against discrimination and segregation by State institutions and agencies and be it further

Resolved That copiies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States

HOUSE RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up a resolution (not printed) congratulating Dr. Catherine Macfarlane, on page 15 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 3, 1956.

On April 7, 1956, Dr. Catharine Macfarlane celebrates her 79th birthday. The entire State and Nation celebrates with her in appreciation of the dedicated life she has lived. Born in Philadelphia in 1877, she has become one of the Nation's leaders as a surgeon, researcher and teacher.

In recognition of her excellent professional attainment, highest honors have been conferred on her. She is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and the American Academy of Obstetrics and Gynecology; she was the first woman to be elected to the College of Physicians of Philadelphia and as President of the Obstetrical Society of Philadelphia. She is a former President of the American Medical Women's Association and a former Vice-President of the Medical Women's International Association. In 1940 she was named recipient of the Gimbel Award for "Outstanding Service to Humanity." In 1949 she was the first woman to be awarded the Strittmatter Award given by the Philadelphia County Medical Society and in 1951 the famed national Lasker Award for "inspiring application of preventive medicine to cancer control." She has received honorary degrees from outstanding colleges and universities. In 1952 she received the Elizabeth Backwell Citation from the Trustees of the New York Infirmary and in 1953 she received the first annual May E. Silberman Award, for work in cancer prevention.

The control of cancer has been the major interest in her career; for fifteen years she headed a cancer control research program under a grant part of the time from the American Medical Association. The pioneer work of that clinic which stressed early detection in prevention of cancer through early examination of presumably well women, has been followed by many other medical colleges and hospitals.

First Professor and then Research Professor of Gynecology at the Woman's Medical College, Dr. Macfarlane has been affectionately called "Kitty Mac" by generations of students. To them she will always be unique in stature, a woman physician whose name is revered and whose insistence on perfection has guided them into paths of service leading away from provincialism; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives, on behalf of all the people of Pennsylvania, give our most sincere thanks to this woman and assure her that her noble works, while contributing much to the health of our people have done far more for the goodness of our people: for all who have known her are better people for it, and all who know her, are inspired by her story; and be it further

Resolved, That on her birthday we wish her all the happiness she has given others even though we know that an infinitesimally small fraction of it is many times more than any one human can experience in a dozen lifetimes; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Dr. Catharine Macfarlane.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I would like to introduce the ninth grade students from Radnor High School, of Delaware County, who are escorted by Mr. Albert H. Swing and Mr. Paul D. Teel.

I am certainly sorry that Senator Diehm is not on the floor because he talked to me about his group from Lancaster, and I would have liked for him to look this fine group over from Radnor High School. These ladies and gentlemen are, I hope, future Republicans and a few Democrats.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair, on behalf of all of the Members of the Senate, welcomes this fine group of students. We hope you have an enjoyable and worth-while visit here with us today.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, throughout the last week end, in every newspaper in these United States, weeklies and dailies carried articles pertaining to a speech that I made in this Senate on February 7, 1955.

The Pure Food and Drug Administration of our Federal Government saw fit to take time out and spend the taxpayers' money to prepare a release and send a copy to every newspaper to inform the American public that a little, innocent angel, a little girl known by the name of Kathy Allison, had died. She had previously been told by medical science that she had days to live; was given up. The Chamber of Commerce, in Indianapolis, held a Christmas Party for her in July and later she was treated by an outstanding humantarian, Doctor Harry M. Hoxsey, of Dallas, Texas.

Mr. President, joy came to the hearts of all of the newspapers in our Country, joy rather than sadness. When that great American, Robert Taft, died, Democrats and Republicans mourned his death because we lost a good statesman. When Senator Bilbo, Senator Vandenberg and others died, sadness again spread throughout our Country. They died of cancer. Medical science had given them up. Then when a little innocent five-year-old girl died—not of cancer, she was symptom-free; she had broken her leg and died of pneumonia—the newspapers, the Pure Food and Drug Administration and the medical world jumped with joy. They informed the medical world by the newspapers that Kathy Allison, one of Hoxsey's patients, had died. How happy their miserable hearts must be tonight.

No, Mr. President, the Hoxsey treatment does not save everybody's life. However, I renew the challenge made by Doctor Hoxsey that there is now deposited in a Dallas National Bank $100,000 and we invite anyone, any doctor or doctors, pathologists, scientists, the American Cancer Society, the American Medical Society, the United States Government, if you please, to send down to Dallas, Texas, a group of God-fearing men. If it cannot be proven, out of 11,000 pathologically proven cases that the Hoxsey treatment saved their lives, the $100,000 will be turned over to any named charity and the keys of the Hoxsey Clinic shall be turned over to the Government to be used by the Crippled Children's Society of America. The keys to the Portage Clinic, which I hold, I shall give to the State Government to be used for what purposes it may be best fitted. I shall give it over, free of charge, free of mortgages.

Mr. President, I know that my colleagues do not care to hear about this every day. I have refrained from making a nuisance of myself. However, Mr. President, throughout your time and my time, we will have fought two great wars. We have given our lives and our limbs and our money, and we are so indebted that our great-grandchildren will carry the burden. To do what? To fight a common enemy. Yet, we have right in our midst a great scourge, the greatest enemy known to mankind, cancer. The United States Government states that cancer kills one person every two minutes. Out of every three people who must die, one must die of cancer. From recorded cases, 30,000,000 Americans are domed to die and, yet, when someone tries to prove that they have found, if not all, a part of the answer and invites the medical brains down to see for themselves, offers $100,000 for their services, to come and take a look-see only; watch the cases, read them, and see the patients who were told that they had to die and who, today, are back in society. They go to the newspapers, for what reason I do not know, and they fall in line, having no knowledge of what they are writing. They come out and call us quacks, charlatans, deceptive.

Mr. President, I know that I am leading a crusade such as no one has ever led in the history of mankind. I know further that I shall never live long enough to receive my reward. However, believe me, Mr. President, if I thought for one moment that through my crusade I was deceiving one innocent victim, if I thought for one moment that we were not helping humanity, I hope I never see my family again. I hope my Maker disposes of me before the Senate adjourns this evening. That is how sincere I am and how honest I am.

Right today, at 10:00 o'clock this morning, that great Presbyterian Minister, Doctor Parker, as a matter of record, from California, called me and said that 45,000 telegrams were being prepared today to be sent to six United States Senators, demanding a showdown on the Hoxsey treatment. Right this minute, the Gold Star Sons and Daughters of the United States of America, in Washington, D. C., signed by David E. Harris, Founder, have asked me to help in their battle; that all the Gold Star Sons and Daughters are going to flood Congress this week with telegrams and letters from coast to coast, demanding a showdown. Monsignor William McGrath, from New York City, an outstanding Catholic Priest, spent forty-five days at the clinic checking pathological reports and checking patients. A Catholic Mission, called Scaraboro Missions, has put out his findings. He has gone further than I have. I say that we treat cancer. In his release, he comes out very emphatically and says that we do not treat cancer, but we cure cancer.

There are many, many others, Mr. President, who, right in this Body—and I would never disclose a name. However, I say that over fifty per cent of the Members of this Senate, who are humanitarians, have contacted me and have sent patients to Portage, hoping that they, in their small part, could help alleviate human suffering. There are men in this Body who have played their part and I am certain they will get their reward, if not on this earth in the next world. Yet, I must take this punishment; I must take this body beating; I must be looked upon as a criminal, only because I am trying, in my humble way, to save humanity. I always said that there were lots of brains in the medical society. No one questions that. I am hoping that some day we will take their brains and mix them with ours, and let Mr. and Mrs. America have the benefit of their knowledge and our experience. That day will come when the Medical Association will mix their brains with ours and let the cancer sufferers be the recipients.

Mr. President, I realize that I have probably made some of my colleagues somewhat angry, but I could not help but take this opportunity to inform this Body that Kathy Allison did not die of cancer. I have a release from her father, informing me that she died of pneumonia. Even if she would have died from cancer one year after she was given up, is that a crime? Have we not helped humanity? Have we not brought cheer and faith to the hearts of her father and mother? My sister, thank God, who they said had ten days to live and who works for me at the clinic, is not dead. Even that story was queered. A young man from Erie, who was said to have been doomed, is living and he is in the Air Force today. Not one, not two but I stand ready to give anybody thousands of pathologically proven cases of men and women who were told they had to die and who are back today in society, back to take their rightful places with their own families. They were all terminal cases, many who were told by medical science that there was no hope left. Nobody else comes to us. They come to us only after they have been told that they must die.

The newspapers can have their fun; they can call us quacks but, God forbid if it strikes their own families, they may change their tune. I will make this one final challenge. If anybody, any association or the United States Government, knows of one doctor who can cure cancer, let us have his name. I shall turn over to him the keys to our clinic and our entire patient list. Let him put up or shut up. Who are they kidding? They are playing upon the misery of suffering humanity. They know full well that they have no treatment for cancer. They know full well that they are fooling the public. Despite the cancer drives, despite the robbing of piggy banks as they are doing today, despite stories in every newspaper, that great cancer specialist, Charlie Cameron, from New York, does not have any knowledge, any conception of cancer. I challenge him, as I have others, to have the courage of his convictions and discuss cancer with me in an open forum, on television or radio; its origin, its function and its treatment. Let the public draw its own conclusions. Yet, the newspapers will give out great big headlines about Charlie Cameron.

You know, Mr. President, during all the years that I gave to cancer drives, I was laboring under a misapprehension. I always thought that Charlie Cameron was in charge of a huge laboratory, doing cancer research and I, like other suckers, dipped into my pocket. I could not believe otherwise, so I went down to 47 Beaver Street, in New York City, to see for myself. Charlie Cameron took me through. I was shocked and amazed when he told me that they did not even have a test tube. He said, "We do no cancer research; we are a fund raising group. We give our money to somebody else. We only raise money." Very few of the American people know how much they raise and how much they give. Anybody would give a peanut for a watermelon.

In 1951, as I have said in this Chamber, the American Cancer Society collected $17,000,000 and can only account for $6,000,000 in cancer research. What happened to the $11,000,000? The American public does not know. Yet, they put on a front; yet, in the newspapers they make a ballyhoo.

Mr. President, I challenge these editors to sit down with me and discuss cancer. I challenge the Medical Association. Maybe some good will come of it. I ask them to produce the name of one man who has knowledge of cancer. That, they cannot do. Yet, those of us who devoted our lives to this great scourge must pay the penalty. We must have ourselves and our families go down in disgrace only because we believe in a cause. I need a clinic, Mr. President, as much as you need a hole in your head. That is how bad I need a clinic. However, I say to you that we have come to a sad state of affairs and while somebody else in my position would be overjoyed today, I am very sad. I told my staff last Saturday that this may be our last day of operation. I told them to wait until I came back from Harrisburg. I told them not to be alarmed because Uncle Sam had released, under his heading, this terrific story, telling everybody through radio, television and newspapers; a well-planned project. Every radio, every television station and every newspaper carried this same story about me, about deception, about being a quack.

I said, "The American people surely cannot come to the clinic on Monday." I was anxious yesterday to find out what happened. Yesterday and today, Mr. President, are the two largest days we have had since we opened our clinic. My office force tells me that they cannot find rooming space in the town of Portage. The walls are bulging now and people are ferocious. One man from Kentucky told my secretary this morning that if they stop this clinic from operating—and this is bad. He said that he was told last May that he had to die. He said, "I am back at work and if I cannot get further medication, I shall shoot my doctor and shoot myself." That is bad. It is bad when people get in that frame of mind.

I am sad today because ordinarily, after this publicity, the American public would have paid some attention to the news releases. According to every rule of the game, they should have kept away from Portage yesterday and today. It appears to me that the people defied the Government's warning. They defied it and that does not speak good for America. I am sad that they have defied it because I am an American and a good American. The people are aroused about what happened last week. I told you about the telegrams, about the movements and the American people have never been so aroused as they are now. They have not heard the last of this. Our clinic is open. It will be open this year, next year, and the next year, and the next year and the next year, as long as my Lord gives me breath. Mr. President, I defy the Federal Government to try to close that clinic.

Mr. President, that is all I am going to say, I hope in this Session, unless I should be attacked again. I had hoped that my colleagues here would have paid some attention to the appropriation bill I put in, asking for $50,000 for cancer research for the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic. Apparently the bill will die in committee. I had hoped there was enough courage and sincerity in this Body. I believe there is sincerity, all right, but most of my colleagues are in a position where they cannot say much. They are fearful, I suppose. We could have done more with that and saved more lives than with the millions of dollars that will be given to the American Cancer Society.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I notice by the newspapers that Governor Leader yesterday vetoed House Bill No. 76 and House Bill No. 400.

Mr. President, I sent over to the Governor's Office to get his veto message because I was interested in why he would—

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman yield? Will the Senate be at ease for a moment until our visitors leave the gallery?

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I wondered why the Governor would veto these two bills inasmuch as all of the Senators voted for both of them, and there were only five House Members who voted against House Bill No. 76 and only seven House Members who voted against House Bill No. 400.

House Bill No. 76 provides that if an applicant desires to construct a hotel or restaurant or club in a community where a liquor license is available, he may file his plans in advance with the Liquor Control Board. The Liquor Control Board can then approve his plans and after such approval, they could grant a license to the applicant at some future time. If the license is granted, the applicant then can construct his restaurant, hotel or club. The reason for that is that when a new decennial census is taken, there will be room in some of these townships, outside the cities, for perhaps one or two new liquor licenses due to the fact that the population has increased.

There have been many people who have just about bankrupted themselves by proceeding with the building of restaurants, hotels and clubs in these outlying districts, figuring that they were perhaps going to get a liquor license in connection with their establishment. In some cases, it may be that they would have built their establishment regardless of whether or not they were going to ask for a liquor license. However, I think they are certainly within their right to make an application and have some indication that if they build a building according to the plans which they submit, they will have some assurance that they will get the license.

Mr. President, we certainly do not want to bankrupt people whom we may be able to save. This bill would not take anything away from the Liquor Control Board or the people of Pennsylvania. The fact of the matter is, I believe that the people of Pennsylvania would be able to have better establishments if we could obtain the passage of this legislation.

As you travel throughout the State of Pennsylvania, you will find many establishments which now have liquor licenses and you wonder how they were obtained. You can find old farm houses which have been fixed up and now have a liquor license, and they do not even look like a restaurant from the outside. The fact of the matter is, my old home in Saegertown, which I grew up in, has been turned into a tap room and has a liquor license. I wonder how in the world the Liquor Control Board ever granted a license to be located in that little old farmhouse.

Mr. President, if we had legislation such as this, the Liquor Control Board could grant a license to the applicant who had submitted good plans for his restaurant. These plans would show that the public would be well served, that they would have the right kind of accommodations and the public would be generally well cared for. This would not bankrupt people who construct these restaurants and then find that perhaps somebody else, who has constructed a poorer one than he has but because he has an inn or for some other reason, is able to get a license and the man who has spent a lot of money to construct a good type of restaurant is refused a liquor license.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think the Governor was ill-advised when he vetoed that bill. I certainly feel that all of the Senators here, when they voted for the bill, felt that this legislation was in the public interest. However, ever since 1943, when I first came down here in the Legislature, I do not remember of a time when we have ever overridden a Governor's veto, but I think this is certainly one bill on which we might very well override the Governor's veto, because I do not believe the Governor really had in mind what we had in mind when we passed this legislation.

The other bill which he chose to veto was House Bill No. 400. That bill would have provided that the Liquor Control Board enforcement officers give to the licensees, within fifteen days of the date of the alleged violation, a notice that a violation had taken place and also the particulars of the violation.

Under the present law, Mr. President, we have an odd system and every lawyer and licensee in the State of Pennsylvania knows of the inequities which follow our present system. We grant licenses to these restaurant and hotel keepers throughout the State of Pennsylvania and I think almost all of them try to do a good job. Then, what happens is that maybe a year after an alleged violation takes place, the licensee receives a registered mail notice that he is cited because of a violation. He then gets a lawyer and goes to the hearing, at which the Liquor Control Board Examiner is the judge and jury both, and is represented by counsel for the Liquor Control Board. At this time the licensee finds, for the first time, the details concerning this violation.

The Liquor Control Board Examiner will say, "Well, about a year ago, a couple of our men were in your establishment and we saw an old man at the bar, who had a grey overcoat on and an old slouched hat, and he was intoxicated. Your bartender, whose name we do not know, sold this man a drink over the bar." Perhaps the employee of the licensee, who committed the violation, has long since departed and the licensee does not know where he can be located. Therefore, there is no rebuttal of this testimony and there is no chance for rebuttal. The incident is lost in the memory of everybody except the enforcement officers who may have been there. We are certainly putting a large load on the licensees of the State when they try to defend these alleged violations. You will find that in about nine out of ten cases, all the licensee can do is to plead guilty even though he might not be guilty in his own mind in order to get rid of the citation.

Therefore, we felt that it certainly is no more than right, under our system, that we at least give this licensee notice within fifteen days of the alleged violation that took place and something about the particulars, in order that the licensee can at least bring in the employee who is guilty of this charge. If the employee is guilty, then the licensee can discharge the employee because to allow that employee to continue might get the licensee into more trouble. This would also allow the licensee to have some notice of what he has been charged with, so that he may prepare his case if he is not guilty. That is the reason, I believe, for our action in voting for House Bill No. 400. I think it is a good bill and certainly in the public interest, and I am not ashamed of having voted for it.

I believe the Governor was wrong in vetoing this legislation. These bills are both House measures and House Bill No. 400 is sponsored by two Democrats, I believe, and I notice that the other bill, House Bill No. 76, is sponsored by a Republican, Mr. Vaughan. This, therefore, is not Republicans versus Democrats or vice versa. I suggest that those sponsors find out what sentiment there is in the House and Senate to attempt to override the Governor's veto on these measures.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I hope, Mr. President, that our good Governor did not receive any advice from Mr. Baccala—B-a-c-c-a-l-a. Mr. Baccala walks around with one set of rules on one hand and then he would like to be a delegate to the Democratic Convention. I think any head of a commission should be nonpolitical. Even though our brethren on the other side are Republican, Mr. Baccala still should be impartial.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Senator Mahany, did the Governor's veto message give any good reason why these bills were vetoed?

Mr. MAHANY. Not to my mind.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Is there any doubt in your mind as to the constitutionality of these two bills?

Mr. MAHANY. There is no doubt in my mind as to the constitutionality of either one of them.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Do you not think, sir, that when 260 Members of the Legislature pass legislation which is constitutional and which seems to be sensible, and at least in their judgment is decent and good legislation, that the Executive Branch might overstep its boundaries if it vetoes such legislation without good cause?

Mr. MAHANY. I certainly think it would be inadvisable. Senator Barr once asked me what I would do if I were the Governor, and if I were the Governor now and had such legislation as this before me and had some doubt about it, I believe the least I could do would be to call in the sponsors of the bills, and the leadership of the House and Senate, and explain my position and the advice which had been given to me and ask them for any comments which they cared to made. Perhaps if I had some reason for vetoing it which might be corrected by some amendment, I think the least I could do would be to ask them to recall the legislation and give us another chance to meet any objections which the Governor might have to it.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Senator Mahany, I agree with you entirely. That would be my approach, and I want you to know that I will vote with you to override the Governor's veto if it comes up in the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I agree with the sentiments expressed here today. However, I do believe that we might have the cart before the horse.

First and foremost, Mr. President, I believe that this is good, constructive legislation. As a matter of fact, the sponsors of one of these bills, Representative Flynn and Representative Williams, of my county of Washington, I feel have done a good job and an excellent job. However, I do not believe there is any Member here who has read the official copy of the Governor's veto message in regard to these two bills. Before we jump to conclusions, I feel we should think it over, read these veto messages, and find out if there is a possibility that we could be wrong. We do not know whether we are wrong or not. I feel the proper thing to do is to read over the veto messages and then we can decide the action which this Senate should take.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to assure the Senator that there is at least one Senator here who has read these veto messages, and that Senator is myself. I sent over to the Governor's Office and got the veto messages and I have them here before me. I have not only read them once, but I have read them two or three times so that I could be real sure as to what the Governor said in these veto messages. The messages are very short. With regard to the veto message on House Bill No. 400, after he tells what he thinks the bill does, he says in the last sentence of the next to the last paragraph:

"I do not propose to be a party to reducing the period to fifteen days, thus protecting those who frustrate and defy the provisions of the Liquor Code."

The Governor intimates anyway, or might even expressly state, that those who did vote for this legislation were among those who would be protecting those licensees who "frustrate and defy the provisions of the Liquor Code."

Mr. President, the other veto message on House Bill No. 76 ends up by saying:

"I do not consider this amendment to be in conformity with these purposes nor in the public interest."

Therefore, the Governor feels, evidently, that those people who did vote for this legislation, House Bill No. 76, were not voting "in the public interest."

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, you were reading out of context, were you not, a part of the veto message? If you are going to put the message into the record, I believe it would serve as an educational feature for the Members of the Senate if you would read the entire veto message. Then we would probably have a clear vision as to the Governor's position in regard to these two bills.

Mr. MAHANY. They are very short messages, Senator, but if you want me to, I will be glad to read them into the record right now.

Mr. LANE. Well, I feel that probably you should for the benefit of the entire Membership. I have not read the veto messages, although I read a portion of what was published in one of the papers this morning.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the first veto message I will read is in connection with House Bill No. 76:

"I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 76, Printer's No. 572, entitled 'An Act amending subsections (a) and (g) of section 403 act of April twelve one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (Pamphlet Laws 90) entitled "An act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto regulating and restricting the manufacture purchase sale possession consumption importation transportation furnishing holding in bond holding in storage traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the establishment and operation of State liquor stores for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalities and townships for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant prescribing penalties and forfeitures providing for local option and repealing existing laws" further regulating the application for and issuance of hotel restaurant and club liquor licenses'."

The next paragraph reads as follows:

"This bill amends Section 403 of the Liquor Code, the Act of April 12, 1951, P. L. 90.

"Under the present law, every applicant for a hotel liquor license, restaurant liquor license or club liquor license must file an application containing a description of that part of the hotel, restaurant or club for which the applicant desires a license as well as that part of the hotel, restaurant or club where it is proposed to keep and sell liquor as may be required by the regulations of the board.

"The amendment would provide that this information would be given and would show the hotel, restaurant, club or the proposed location for the construction of a hotel, restaurant or club at the time of the application and would show any alterations proposed to be made or the new building proposed to be constructed, but no alterations, improvements or changes shall be required to be made nor new building constructed until approval of the application by the board.

"This amendment would introduce a new conception in connection with the construction and alteration of buildings to be used as hotels, restaurants and clubs in that the most important factor would be the possession of a liquor license.

"This is contrary to our philosophy of government in dealing with liquor, which is to treat the dispensing of liquor an adjunct to a hotel, restaurant or club, but not as the sole reason for their existence. Our courts have from time to time said that the purpose of the liquor laws was to regulate and restrict sales of liquor, not to promote them.

"The Liquor Code expressly provides that it shall be deemed an exercise of the police power of the Commonwealth for the public welfare, health, peace and morals of the people of the Commonwealth and to prohibit forever the open saloon.

"I do not consider this amendment to be in conformity with these purposes nor in the public interest.

"For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

"George M. Leader."

Mr. President, the veto message relating to House Bill No. 400 is as follows:

"I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 400, Printer's No. 806, entitled" and then follows the title of the Act as it appears in the bill.

"This bill amends the Act of April 12, 1951, P. L. 90, known as the 'Liquor Code'.

"The amendatory language of the bill reduces from one year to ninety days the period following the violation of the Code within which the Liquor Control Board may cite a licensee to show cause why his license should not be suspended or revoked.

"While the statute of limitations is two years for many crimes or offenses, this amendment would reduce it to a mere ninety days in so far as violations of the liquor laws are concerned. This section of the Liquor Code as it presently stands has been held by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to satisfy all the requirements of due process and adequate remedy at law, in view of the fact that the licensee may appeal any suspension or revocation to the court. The purpose of the Liquor Code is to control and regulate the sale of liquor. The only apparent excuse for this amendment is to weaken the State's control and to invite and encourage violations of the Code.

"The bill further amends Section 471 so that the notice to the licensee shall contain a complete statement and particulars of the charges on which the citation is based. Thus the amendment requires more information than an information or indictment. Why the violator of the Liquor Code should be placed in a more favorable position than the violator of any other penal law is difficult to understand. Nor is any sound reason apparent why the Liquor Control Board should disclose all of its evidence prior to a hearing. The final assault upon the Liquor Code is the amendment which provides that no penalty or suspension or revocation in this section shall be imposed unless within fifteen days after the violation noted by the agent of the board, the board notifies the licensee in writing of the nature and time of the violation. This is in effect a reduction of the statute of limitations to a period of fifteen days. Under the common law there was no limitation to criminal proceedings by indictment. Today the limitation is in some instances six, five or two years. I do not propose to be a party to reducing the period to fifteen days, thus protecting those who frustrate and defy the provisions of the Liquor Code.

"For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

"George M. Leader."

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, when you sent over for the veto messages, were you advised as to who advised the Governor to veto the bills?

Mr. MAHANY. No, I was not.

Mr. LANE. Well, do you not see that in view of the fact that they are amendments to the Liquor Code, the Bureau of Enforcement in all probability advised the Governor to veto the bills?

Mr. MAHANY. I do not know. I do not know why he should listen to them. He ought to be listening to the elected representatives of the people instead of the enforcement officers of the Liquor Control Board.

Mr. LANE. I am asking you a question. Do you think that is probably why he vetoed the bills?

Mr. MAHANY. Why if he did, he is wrong in doing it. Perhaps he did; I do not know but if he did that, he certainly is not carrying out the democratic system of goverment. He ought to be listening to us instead of listening to these police officers of the Liquor Control Board. All they want to do is make it easy for themselves to put innocent people in the State of Pennsylvania to a large amount of expense, embarrassment and everything else in order to pin violations on them.

Mr. LANE. I am very glad, Mr. President, to hear the Majority Leader talk about our democratic form of government. I have been criticized many, many times on this floor for using the same phrase. The Republican leadership always complained that it was a republican form of government.

I just want to inform the Majority Leader that the Bureau of Enforcement, under the Liquor Control Board, is ninety-nine per cent Republican because they were blanketed in under civil service some time ago. It seems to me that if the Governor vetoed these two bills, it was at the instigation of Republican bureaucrats who have control of the Bureau of Enforcement in the Liquor Control Board.

Mr. MAHANY. Well, that is an excuse, but not a very good one, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I did not rise here to state just how I will vote on the veto of these two bills. I read the newspaper articles which were published. Senator Mahany stated that he did not know why these bills were vetoed. The newspaper article which I read stated definitely that Governor Leader felt that the building of a hotel or restaurant should not be based primarily on whether or not they can obtain a liquor license.

Mr. President, I am not saying that I agree with what the Governor said, but that was definitely contained in the newspapers, together with the statement of the Governor to the effect that he did not want to have violations of liquor laws have a statute of limitations of fifteen to ninety days. Those statements were in the newspaper and were fully covered in the message which Senator Mahany was asked to read but did not so state at the time he made his original talk.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, when Senator Mahany started his discussion of this subject, he started by telling us the vote on the bills. The vote, of course, was overwhelming in favor of the bills. However, it is nothing new for a Governor to veto a bill that was voted upon unanimously by both Houses of the Legislature. I will just mention a couple which were vetoed during previous Administrations since I have been here.

I recall that Senator Taylor sponsored one of the most progressive pieces of legislation, from a fiscal standpoint, that has ever been introduced here. He introduced a bill to set up a Legislative Budget Committee. I do not believe there was one vote against that bill in either house. Yet, Governor Fine, for unsound, impractical and flimsy reasons, vetoed the bill.

Mr. President, I then remember the truck bill, back in the Fine Administration. That was vetoed by Governor Fine, after considerable debate and deliberation by both Houses of the Legislature. I think that bill was carried by an overwhelming majority. The Governor, himself, held a public hearing on it and vetoed that bill. He did not veto it for sound reasoning, but for flimsy reasons, at least in my opinion.

So far as these two bills are concerned, Mr. President, when they were introduced they were sent to the Committee on Law and Order. I am a member of that committee. I voted to report those bills from committee because I thought they were sound and because I thought they were practical. When they came before the Senate on Final Passage, I voted for them.

I have not read the Governor's veto message, which I propose to do, but I do want to say here and now that this Legislature, in the end, has the last say. We have that last say under the Constitution. One of our troubles is that we never exercise the power that is given to us in the Constitution to override a veto. I want to go on record as saying that I will go along anytime and vote to override a Governor's veto if it is not based on sound, practical reasoning.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I did not expect to rise again. However, in view of some of the remarks that have been made, I want to add to what I said previously.

In my opinion, this is not a political matter. It is not a Republican versus Democratic fight or vice versa, and I do not think that two wrongs can make a right. I think this is a very basic problem under our constitutional form of government. We all know that we have three branches of Government and I think that the Legislature has its own rights and privileges and prerogatives, as well as its responsibilities. The same is true of the Executive Branch or the Governor's Office. All of us have the right to do what we believe is morally correct. However, too often there is a feeling, I am afraid, that the Legislature is a rubber stamp and the Executive Branch has a tendency to overstep its bounds and to assume the role of the Legislature. That is what my quarrel is and my reason for saying that I would vote on this particular issue to override the Governor's veto. I think that is what Senator Mahany meant in his opening remarks. I think all of us, and all Pennsylvanians, will be better served if we vote first as Members of an equal partnership in our Government, as Members of the Legislature, without voting for a bill because it is a Republican or Democratic bill, but voting for it because it is right and voting against it because it is wrong. I, for one, will not be for any Governor, regardless of Party, a rubber stamp legislator and I am sure that most of the Senators feel that way.

Mr. President, I think this is a good example because here, it seems to me, is a bill on which the issues are very clear-cut. This is sound legislation. At least, it is legislation that was within the province of the Legislature to decide whether or not it was sound. It is constitutional and, apparently, it has been vetoed summarily, without any explanation or reason given. I think in that particular type of case, in this case, we would be on sound ground ourselves in voting to override the veto because our judgment, as Members of the Legislature, has been questioned implicitly in that veto.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator whether he feels that, as a matter of fact, violators of the State Liquor Code should be given a favored position over violators of other penal laws?

Mr. MAHANY. I would say that they should be given some notice that is not necessary under the Criminal Code. These people, to whom we give licenses, are not criminals. They are people who are businessmen of the Commonwealth. There are a lot of technical violations in this that they may be guilty of, and there are perhaps some that they are not guilty of. I think we should, at least, give the man a notice of what we are charging him with so that if one of his employees is guilty, he can check with that employee to find out the circumstances. Under the Criminal Code, you do not have someone arrested for violation of a criminal act which some employee did. However, in the Liquor Code, the owner of the establishment, the licensee, is not only responsible for his own acts, but also responsible for the acts of his employees even though he may not be physically present at the time the violation took place.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

I take it then that his answer is that he does feel that liquor violators should be given a preferred status over other violators.

I think, Mr. President, that the Governor has presented good and sufficient reasons for a veto. In fact, I think it is regrettable that we did not think of some of those objections before. The objections with regard to the shortening of the statute of limitations, as it would apply to this type of offender, certainly impresses me. The Governor's statement in respect to the other bill, about the purpose of the law and how this would be violating the original intent and purpose of the law, impresses me. Certainly, with regard to the limitations, there is definitely an implication that there might be a question of constitutionality. If the courts have held, under I suppose a test case, that the present requirements of the law satisfy that requirement, certainly if we are shortening the time we would, at least, risk another test and possibly risk the constitutionality of the law.

Mr. President, I think that the Governor has given good reasons for his veto. On the face of it, in the amount of time that Senator Mahany has given me to think about it, I certainly have been convinced. I think if Senator Mahany takes the attitude that violators of this law should be in a special and preferred category from violators of other laws, I think it will be interesting to many people in the Commonwealth to find out that the Senator has such an opinion. I do not share it.

Mr. McPHERSON, JR. Mr. President, I rise to disagree with the distinguished Senator from York in stating that we, in voting for this bill, voted for a preferred status. He certainly must know that under the Motor Vehicle Code, certain violations of that code have to be brought within fifteen days of the occurrence or they are forever barred. Here, under the Liquor Code, the proceeding would have to be brought within ninety days. We are not setting up a special criterion for violators of the Liquor Code as against violators of other laws.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, in the distinguished company in which I find myself, that of Justice Mahany and the two other distinguished attorneys who have spoken, I, of course, rest my case on the Governor's veto message which I presume was the work of the Department of Justice. I have no desire and no competence to enter into a discussion of the constitutionality of a law. I simply rest my statement on the opinion given by, I presume, the Attorney General's Office. They are not going to entice me into any detailed argument about the law or its constitutionality.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I do not believe in being facetious or kidding around on an important question such as this. However, when I voted for these bills, I voted for one of them particularly because I felt that a proprietor of a decent place, a cabaret or a taproom, was confronted with a problem where he might be called for a hearing a year from the day of the offense and he might forget the facts, and the pressure and the different testimony given by some of the inspectors would not meet with what really happened in that particular instance. Let us not kid each other, but we all know that many a time the proprietor is framed. Many a time they have a yen for that person and sometimes, among many of our very honorable officers of the law, there is always some rotten egg in the barrel, somebody who goes in and plants evidence and testimony which is detrimental to the proprietor.

Mr. President, when I voted for this bill I voted for it because I felt that within a reasonable time, anyone who was pointed with the finger of wrong would have sufficient time to prepare his testimony and his facts would be better collected in his memory. He would know just what happened on that particular evening. However, when they want to crucify anybody, they will just put him on the backlog and they will put him one year from the day of the offense, because they know they will have a better chance of convicting him.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, a casual observer, listening to the distinguished Senator from York, would conclude that he has had legal training. He denies it, but I submit to you that his argument had all the earmarks of a fine and precise legal mind. However, in boiling it down, I think what his brief was is simply that a Governor from York and an Attorney General from York, in the opinion of the Senator from York, cannot make any mistakes.

There is one thing Senator Seyler overlooked, however, and that is the tradition that comes down to us from our forefathers and from England where our system of justice comes from, going back to the time of the Magna Charta. I know he is a historian, whether or not he is a lawyer. A man is entitled to know what crime he is charged with as speedily as possible, and he is entitled to a prompt and speedy disposition or trial of the charges against him.

All this bill tried to do was to speed up the processes of prosecution under the Liquor Code. I think it results from, as somebody has just touched on here, what is an open scandal in Pennsylvania in the way the liquor laws are being enforced in many cases, by nothing more or less than entrapment on the part of unscrupulous liquor control agents who have made a prey of the businessmen who are trying to run taprooms and restaurants in Pennsylvania. I think that this bill reflects the thinking of the Legislature on that subject as it has been given to them by the people back home, who do not like the way the Liquor Board is enforcing the liquor laws in recent years.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to assure Senator Seyler, and any other Senator here, that I am certainly not in favor of putting any of these people on a pedestal. I know many people who have licenses and I know that they are usually people of pretty good repute. They are businessmen of this Commonwealth who are trying to serve the public. If this were morally wrong legislation and contrary to what the church believes in, I feel sure that the church group, who is so well represented in the Halls of the Legislature, certainly would have called it to our attention. These gentlemen, representing the church forces in the State of Pennsylvania, are in constant attendance here. They are quick to let us know, in connection with any legislation which is pending, whether or not the church is against that legislation. With both of these bills, the church forces did not tell us or advise us that they had anything against either one of these bills.

In connection with the constitutionality of these bills, in no place in the veto message, of either House Bill No. 400 or House Bill No. 76, did the Governor mention the fact that he thought either one of these bills was unconstitutional. If he had been able to jump on them on the grounds of unconstitutionality, he certainly would have done so. However, he did not choose to do that on either one of these bills because I do not believe, even by the broadest stretch of the imagination, that he could prove either one of these bills was unconstitutional. If Senator Seyler can read unconstitutionality into the Governor's message, he is a better man than I am.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, all I want to say is this. My reason for taking the floor, and the position I have taken, is based upon the fact that I did not think we should act in haste on anything. As a matter of fact, we are arguing about something here today which, I understand, the House has to act on first.

Mr. President, with regard to any rubber stamp operation, I believe that quite a few of the Members on our side know that not by any stretch of their imagination am I a rubber stamp for anyone or any Administration. I took this position solely on the basis of moderation. I do not always agree with the policies of the front office and, as Senator McMenamin well knows, I have violently disagreed many times.

I feel we should be moderate in our approach to any overriding veto action here, Mr. President. Therefore, I am going to think this thing over, as there may be other ramifications involved which we know nothing about. After this has been thought over clearly and precisely, then we will know just what to do.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I feel that the present law was written as a delaying tactic. I learned early in life that justice delayed is justice denied.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I certainly do not want to enter this debate at this moment. I just want to say to the Members of this Senate and the people of Pennsylvania, whether this is the occasion or some other occasion, that the question of a veto or overriding a veto are the questions that are involved in everyday administrative and legislative life. We have certain powers and the Governor has certain powers. The Governor felt the Legislature had not performed its duty in passing these bills. Therefore, using the veto power, he set aside the will of the Legislature. Those who framed the Constitution of this State very wisely put into that Constitution a constitutional provision whereby this branch of government, which is on an equal plane with the other two branches, the Judicial and the Executive, would have in the last resort, and so far as their duties as legislators are concerned, the last say on legislation itself and that at any time two-thirds of the Membership of the General Assembly feels that it acted to the best interest of the people, they have a right to override the veto of any Governor.

Therefore, Mr. President, it is not a question of personalities. It is a question of the inherent rights which go along with the office of General Assemblyman and State Senator. If in the past there have been occasions, and we know there have been many, when the Legislature has allowed itself to become a lesser part of the triumvirate of government, that can be laid at the door of the Legislature as a fault.

I certainly want to study or make a second review of the contents of the legislation itself and the message of the Governor, which I do not have before me. I believe it is proper for any Member, who feels that the veto itself is not proper, to discuss with the Governor his reasons for the veto. If the Membership feels that the reasons are insufficient, they have recourse and they have a right to override a veto. It is also the duty of any General Assembly, under any Governor, to do that which they believe to be the best for the people. It is not a question of whether it is Governor Leader at this time or Governor Fine in the past or any other Governor in the future. It is when the Legislature feels that it is right and fails to perform its duty that it can stand criticism. When a Governor feels that he is right and fails to perform his duty, he is making himself a target for criticism

In order that we all understand each other, Mr. President, I believe this Legislature has within it the means and the will to establish, and keep established at all times for posterity particularly, the independence of the Legislative Branch of any government from any pressures from either the Judicial or the Administrative Branches of Government.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I take it that Senator Dent has summarized that argument. However, there is one other thing I would like to talk about today.

It has just come to my attention that I believe out in St. Louis this week some group of colleges or universities or a committee thereof, apparently self-appointed arbitrators of what is right and wrong in American education, are going to take it upon themselves to decide whether or not Temple University and Jefferson Medical College, in Pennsylvania, should be censured for violation of the spirit of academic freedom.

As I understand it, Mr. President, apparently there were some members of the faculties at Temple or Jefferson, or both, who were what has come to be known as "Fifth Amendment Communists" and refused to answer some questions before some duly constituted authority. Apparently Temple and Jefferson disciplined these faculty members or employees, which I think was proper.

Now, however, Mr. President, they are being threatened with, or are being talked to about, a possible censure by this group of educators. I do not approve of that. I think if the colleges disciplined employees or members of the faculties for failing to answer proper questions to duly constituted authorities, they are open to discipline.

When I can learn more facts about this matter, I will present a resolution to the Senate on the subject, but I did want to bring it to the attention of the Senators because some of them may be interested, as I am, in learning more about it. Perhaps we can get something done this week before this group out in St. Louis does anything. I, for one, want to stand behind Temple and Jefferson on this question.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I have no intention of discussing the merits of what the distinguished Senator just said, but I would like to clear up on misapprehension under which he labors, and under which I fear he has left the Members of the Senate.

The A. A. U. P., the American Association of University Professors, is not a self-constituted authority on extraneous matters. The A. A. U. P. is the organization to which university professors belong, just as members of some trade or skilled endeavor might belong to a union. In other words, it is the group which they have drawn up, and to which they belong, for protecting their own interests, their own employment and conditions under which they work. It seems to me that it is quite proper for them to make objection to any practices in universities or colleges which they feel infringe on their rights as employees of those colleges, just as I would not question the interest of a labor union in discussing and drawing up recommendations about the actions of their employers if they took any action prejudicial to the terms of employment of those employees who are members of the union.

Mr. President, the American Association of University Professors has, for a long time, been interested in the question of tenure. They have a type of tenure which is institutional rather than a matter of State law. The matters which were discussed by Senator McMenamin today are matters which they feel properly come under the question of tenure, as it affects them as employees of colleges and universities. For that reason, while not attempting to argue with the Senator on his contentions, I feel that everybody should realize that this was a group of college and university professors banded together for unity in seeing to it that academic freedom prevails, the necessary atmosphere prevails, in other words, under which university professors can do their best work in research and teaching.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STEVENSON read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1084, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 25, 1947 (P. L. 971) entitled "An Act relating to the annual salaries and compensation of certain county officers of counties of the eighth class," fixing minimum amount to be received by sheriffs as expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY, from the Committee on State Government reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1063, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 4, 1945 (P. L. 1388) entitled "Administrative Agency Law" changing provisions relating to regulations of administrative agencies of this Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I feel that if we enact Senate Bill No. 1063, which I just reported from committee and which was sponsored by Senator Dent and myself, when it reaches the Governor's desk if he asks the advice of his Cabinet Members, he will probably veto this one because it regulates the manner in which they may make regulations governing their departments.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that there be no misunderstanding and as one newspaper said, "The legislators resent what they call being misunderstood"—I am not so interested in that, but I just hope that the people understand what we are trying to do. We are looked toward by the people as those who are responsible for legislation. Regardless of what happens in the ultimate, the Members of this Body receive either the plaudits or the condemnation of the peoples on any of the rules and regulations which become the law of this State.

Mr. President, this bill which has just been reported by Senator Mahany, from the Committee on State Government, was co-sponsored by the Senator and myself. What we are trying to do is see to it that when we give any department, commission or board the right to make rules and regulations, first those rules and regulations must be subjected to study and scrutiny by the Attorney General of the Commonwealth before they are put into effect. Then they must be submitted, if during a Session of the Legislature such a rule is promulgated, to the General Assembly for approval. During the interim, the rules and regulations will go into effect but will be subject to approval by the next Legislature.

The criticism that has been aimed at this General Assembly, particularly this year, because of the length of this session and the rightful demand of the Membership of the General Assembly for a recognition of their needs, has been aimed at them because editorial writers take the position that we do not earn our keep and that we do not work at our jobs.

Mr. President, there may be some who say that this is true. However, I would say to those newspapers that we put in at least as many hours as those who represent many of the industries in Pennsylvania whose only job is to watch the Legislature, and I am sure we do not receive anywhere near the amount of money that is paid to these people.

All of us are the peoples' lobby. We represent, to the best of our ability, the thinking of the people in our Districts. Therefore, we are going to try to make sure that from now on particularly, any rules and regulations which we believe to be contrary to the intent of the Legislature will at least be given to the Legislature for their approval. in too many instances, legislation which we have passed, containing the right to make rules and regulations, has been perverted to the particular thinking of some department head who, incidentally, is only passing through the political picture. The Legislature is a permanent and continuing part of the government. Department heads only serve at the whim of an elected Governor. I have never yet, in the twenty odd years that I have served in this General Assembly, ever had a Cabinet Member admit that within twenty-four hours he did not known all about the department. Legislators who have sat here for many years find themselves in a position of being reprimanded by department heads because of their thinking on legislation which is contrary to that which the department head believes to be right.

Mr. President, in a cooperative spirit, we are offering the departments, boards and commissions the right and prerogative at all times to promulgate rules and regulations, but we also reserve to the Legislature the right of review of these rules and regulations. In this way, I believe that the people will be better served. If the Membership of this Legislature is not what the people want it to be, they have the only right, the sole right, to change it. There have been many changes made and there will be a lot more. This is the learned body of government that has no tenure except when the electorate decides to keep it in office.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I want to say that I am wholeheartedly in favor of the bill which is now under discussion and which was just reported from committee. I want to give just one example of why I feel the way I do.

I do not know how many Members of the Senate had telephone calls from their constituents about increasing the size of license plates. However, my telephone has been busy since the issuance of the new plates because many, many automobile owners bought license plate holders. In fact, each one of us was given a set by the Pennsylvania Automotive Association, which was of a size previously issued by the Department of Revenue. This year the size of the plate was increased so that when the fellow who bought one of these license plate holders attempted to put on his new license plate, he found that it would not fit into his holder and he went into a fit. Apparently the first thing these fellows did was pick up their telephones and call me up, and raised the dickens as to why it was done. Of course, I had nothing to do with it; I do not know who authorized it and, frankly, know nothing about the increased size of the license plate.

One fellow called me up and told me that in order to make the license plate fit the holder which he bought, he had to cut part of it off on each end and then was hauled before an alderman and soaked a fifty dollar fine for it. I think when substantial and material changes such as that are made by a department, certainly this Legislature ought to have something to say about it. If it is practical, the public ought to be given sufficient notice of the change so that they can prepare for it.

Mr. President, this change in the size of the license plates, in my opinion at least, was confiscation of property because every little businessman that has stock of license plate holders, based on the previous size of the license plate, has to throw them into the scrap heap because he cannot sell them due to the fact that the license plate size has been increased.

I repeat, Mr. President, that I am in favor of the proposal which was just introduced, in order that this Legislature will know what is going on with reference to material and important legislative changes in the various departments, boards and commissions of the Commonwealth.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 173, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 173, for consideration at this time.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY AND INVESTIGATE PROPER AND LAWFUL METHODS OF PREVENTING THE SHOWING OF OBSCENE OR LEWD MOTION PICTURES

In the Senate, April 4, 1956.

Whereas, by the Act of May 15, 1915, P. L. 534, as amended May 8, 1929, P. L. 1655, relating to motion picturefilms, reels or stereopticon views or slides, providing a system of examination, approval, and regulation thereof and of the banners, posters and other like advertising matter used in connection therewith, creating a board of censors, and providing penalties, it was sought to make unlawful the showing of obscene lewed, licentious, indecent, filthy and vile films, which tend to corrupt morals and offend decency; and

Whereas, the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the case of Hallmark Productions, Inc., declared the foregoing acts unconstitutional; and

Whereas, it is deemed advisable to prevent the showing in the Commonwealth of motion pictures which are obscene, lewed, licentious, indecent, filthy and vile, which corrupt morals and promote juvenile delinquency; now, herefore, be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study and investigate proper and lawful methods of preventing such showing within the limitations of the Constitutions of Pennsylvania and of the United States; and, be it further

Resolved, that the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly, its findings and recommendations, with drafts of legislation necessary to carry such recommendations into effect.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 173, ADOPTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read by the Clerk be adopted.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the reason that I called this resolution from the table and moved its adoption is because it is connected somewhat with a bill which we have on our Calendar that provides for pre-censorship of movies.

We have had this bill on our Calendar for some weeks now, trying to figure out whether we might be able to include some amendments which would make the bill constitutional. I had occasion to read the concurring opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Hallmark Productions, Incorporated vs. Edna R. Carroll and others, as members of the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors I also read the concurring opinion of Judge Bell and the dissenting opinion of Judge Musmanno. I gathered from this opinion that we had to be very careful in drawing legislation which will stand the constitutionality test when we consider legislation governing pre-censorship of movies. Judge Musmanno, in his dissenting opinion, about sums up the majority opinion by stating that they have just about buried the Censor Board and the censorship law. Also, Judge Bell, in his concurring opinion, pretty much rules out pre-censorship of movies, even though he does it reluctantly. The majority opinion, as I read it, does not go quite that far. It might be that if we could so word a bill that it would be precise and certain, to the point where it would be upheld by the Supreme Court, we might be able to write one which would be declared constitutional.

Mr. President, we had a meeting in my office yesterday morning of the Rules Committee of the Senate, at which all of the Members were present. This meeting was attended by Father Lohmuller, of Harrisburg, together with Mr. Gallagher, an attorney who represents the Bishop of this area. It was also attended by Mr. Poulson, representing the church groups, and, I believe, a Mr. Roberts, who represented the Protestant Churches of Dauphin County. We went over this subject in detail and, of course, they were disappointed to some extent because we could not have something passed in a hurry. However, most of them felt that rather than pass something in a hurry, which might be declared unconstitutional and therefore, in future Sessions it would be difficult to obtain a suitable bill, it was better to, perhaps, make haste slowly and have a Joint State Government Commission study made of this subject. As you know, we feel that we are going to be able to get a bill through which will make every Member of the Legislature Members of the Joint State Government Commission and which will keep in tact the standing committees of the House and Senate to serve during the interim on subjects which they feel should be studied.

Father Lohmuller and Mr. Gallagher, representing the Catholic Church, definitely stated that this bill, House Bill No. 675, Printer's No. 1655, as it now appears on our Calendar, is not satisfactory to them. They felt that the bill which they would like to have passed, however, is House Bill No. 675 as it was originally introduced, plus the amendments which they suggested and which we put in in the Senate on the floor. However, Senator Dent stated that after these amendments were put into this bill, which they suggested, and he sumbitted these amendments to the Attorney General's office, the Attorney General definitely stated that those amendments did not make the bill constitutional and if the Attorney General's office was to hold up this legislation as constitutional, we would have to put in the amendments which were submitted by the Attorney General's office. Senator Dent and others submitted the amendments as written up by the Attorney General's office and that is the bill which we now have before us, House Bill No. 675, Printer's No. 1655. As I stated, that bill in its present form is not satisfactory to either the Catholic Church or the Protestant Church.

Therefore, Mr. President, because of the fact that the Session is nearing its conclusion, and there is not sufficient time between now and the end of the Session to get together with all of these groups and with the Attorney General's office and the others who are interested in this legislation. It was thought best to have a study made of this problem by the Joint State Government Commission. Between now and next January, I feel that a committee will be able to come up with a proper bill which will stand the constitutionality test. In the meantime, the people of Pennsylvania are not without recourse when lewd pictures are shown in their communities. We have the criminal laws of Pennsylvania that prohibit the exhibition of lew or lascivious pictures. If any such picture is exhibited in the local theaters, either the indoor theaters or the outdoor theaters, certainly the office of the district attorney of the county, or any citizen, can make information against the person who exhibits that type of picture.

As I stated yesterday, if the district attorneys of Pennsylvania would be half as active in looking after these so-called lew pictures as they are in closing up the old ladies' bingo games, I do not believe we would have to worry about pictures being shown. If any owner of a theater shows that type of picture and he is brought into court and fined and given the publicity that he would receive because he has violated the criminal laws of the State of Pennsylvania, I am sure that it would be a long, long while before that fellow could again take any risk in exhibiting such a picture.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, yesterday I talked with Senator Pechan in regard to the meeting that you held yesterday morning. I am wondering if your committee considered Senate Bill No. 1076, which pertains to motion picture censorship and which I introduced in the Senate last week.

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, we did. We found, in checking your bill, Senator Lane, that it just about included the same language that was in House Bill No. 675, Printer's No. 1655, which bill, in that form, was submitted by Senator Dent to the Attorney General's Office and the Attorney General stated that he did not feel that it met the constitutionality test.

Mr. LANE. Senaor Mahany, in view of the fact that we will, in all probability, be in Session until sometime in May, according to the newsapapers, if you please, do you think that the leadership in the Senate should get together and try to write a censorship bill which would be constitutional? Do you not think if you put forth your efforts, the leadership could probably get something prepared which the Attorney General would approve, instead of postponing it for a year?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Lane, we are not postponing it for a year. It will only be postponed until next January when we expect to meet again. I wish Senator Dent were here on the floor, because he was the one who suggested that we do this.

Mr. LANE. I wish to thank the gentleman.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I have been very much interested in this subject and I am sorry that I did not have the benefit of everybody's thinking at this meeting yesterday morning. However, as I understand it, what happened at the meeting was that a lawyer, representing certain church groups, and the church people who were there, had amendments to the bill that is out on the Calendar and they were not acceptable to the Attorney General's Office and the Attorney General's amendments were not acceptable to the church groups. If that is the problem, and I am sure it is only one facet of the whole problem, I do not think we should abandon our fight now and let it go until next January.

For several reasons, as a practical matter, we all know that next January we are going to start all over again. We are going to have a budget again and probably another tax problem. I hope not, but we have had that every spring that I have been down here, the first spring of a Session of the Legislature. In other words, action on any censorship bill next Session is not apt to be taken early in the Session and it may drag on again. In the meantime, we have no censorship at all in Pennsylvania as, of course, today we have none either. It seems to me, however, that psychologically you are up against a bigger handicap because then you are going to have to start all over. We have this thing now to a red heat, and maybe in another two or three weeks we can get it to a white heat and get some kind of legislation through this Legislature. Our tax problems and budgetary matters are out of the way. We do not have an awful lot of very great importance on our Calendars and we are going to pretty much mark time, as I understand it, until after the Primary Election and then quit sometime within a month from today. It seems to me that in the month remaining, whether we are here or at home on recess, we can all do a great amount of work on this particular problem and come up with the best possible bill.

Mr. President, the big underlying problem is the decision of the United States Supreme Court and not our Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision. I believe that the Pennsylvania Supreme Court did the only thing it could do in view of the United States Court decision. I do not believe that our Pennsylvania Supreme Court is against censorship, and I think it would be a simple matter to satisfy our own Pennsylvania Court with a reasonable bill. However, it is not only Pennsylvania that is interested. The Attorneys General of Ohio and New York, for two, are also interested in this problem. Ohio has exactly the same situation, and I understand that their Legislature has just passed another bill.

This type of fight is not won over night. I think all of us appreciate that and it may go on for years. Whether or not the United States Supreme Court will recede from its present position, we do not know. However, it seems to me that eventually some State is going to write a bill that will meet the Supreme Court requirements. I would say that one of the ways to get at it is to keep passing bills and giving them to the Supreme Court, and let the Supreme Court rule on them. Gradually, they will spell out the acceptable limits of censorship in America. Perhaps, in one case there may be a clause or a paragraph that is clearly invalid, and they will dismiss that particular act without discussing or going into the entire problem. The more such bills they get before them, the more clearly the court itself is going to be able to say what it thinks a valid censorship law should say and the more understandable it is going to be to the various State Legislatures and Attorneys General.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think it behooves us to pass a bill at this Session, granting that even though it would satisfy the Pennsylvania Constitution, we do not know whether or not it will satisfy the United States Supreme Court. Over and above those reasons, it seems to me that there are too many people interested in this problem of censorship. I think most, or all, of the Senators to whom I have spoken about this subject seem to be in favor of some form of censorship. I want to say that I have received more mail on this partciular issue than I have on all the rest of my mail since I have been a Senator in six years, on everything else put together.

It seems to me that there is a great deal of concern, particularly among the parents of young children in Pennsylvania, about the need for some form of censorship. I do not think it is very assuring to them to say that we will just put off all activity for six, eight, nine, twelve or more months and, in the meantime, maybe the district attorneys can do something about it. I think this is a Nation-wide problem. It is not something that can be settled by every justice of the peace in every township in Pennsylvania. I think that, apparently, it is going on in a great many States, and I think that Pennsylvania should be in the forefront on the fight to get before the United States Supreme Court a bill which will provide reasonable and valid censorship. I think that the way is going to be long and hard, but every mile has got to be fought off by itself. I think we should keep continuing pressure on it and keep passing bill after bill after bill, and I am sure our sister States will join in and eventually one of us is going to hit the jackpot. One of us is going to have a bill upheld by the Supreme Court on this very vital problem. Any other action is just going to be an abdication of our powers and responsibility in the field of public morals.

There is no telling what, without any censorship at all, will be shown in our movie theaters and on television screens to the very young and susceptible and immature minds of our children. The effects will be far-reaching. Without any moral standards at all to guide the makers of movies, who can say how bad it will get in the future? Certainly, in the years that censorship was enforced in Pennsylvania, I do not believe that the movie industry was hurt particularly by it, and I understand that the domestic or the American movie producers are satisfied to submit their films to censorship. They do not quarrel with the Pennsylvania Censorship standards. They have been satisfied with them in the past and were willing to continue under them. It was not out of a Hollywood movie that these attacks arose.

Therefore, Mr. President, I believe that in the time remaining in this Session, we should do the best we can to prepare the best possible bill with the advice of the Attorney General's office and our own thoughts on the matter to satisfy not only the church groups and the people, but to satisfy ourselves and our own consciences that we have done everything we possible can on this very vital subject, and not quit and let the whole fight go until next January.

Mr. MAHANY, Mr. President, of course, what we do with this censorship bill when we reach it on the Calendar is something for us to decide then. We are now considering this resolution which was put in by one of the prominent Democratic Members, Senator Stiefel.

We did discuss this in the meeting, as I stated, and Father Lohmuller was there, representing the Catholic Church, and Reverend Poulson was there, representing the Protestant Church, and there were other ministers there. All of them agreed that they were of the opinion that if the Attorney General could not approve this bill, as it was when their amendments were in it, then they would rather wait until we could make this study.

Certainly, as I said, these children should not be subjected to these terrible movies that the Senator has stated. If the district attorneys of the various counties will prosecute these people, I am sure there soon will be a stop to any further showing of that type of movie. I have yet to see any case where, when a district attorney went after the owner of a movie house that exhibited this type of movie, this action did not stop the showing of such movies. We are trying to give the right to censor movies which are immoral or lewd, and if we do give this right then we should be able to take the movie owners into court, if they do exhibit such movies, and prosecute them under the criminal laws of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I feel we should adopt this resolution. The only reason that I arose at all to talk about it is because I wanted to tell you what we had in mind when we ask you to vote for this resolution. As I have stated, I am sorry Senator Dent is not here because he is in full accord with what I am telling you.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, my distinguished colleague, Senator Mahany, and I, as I undestand it, do not disagree. I would appreciate the help of the Joint State Government Commission in framing a bill, even if it was only to improve next Session a bill that we pass this Session. I think it is certainly something which should be done.

What I am saying is that I do not think this resolution should be an alternative to legislative action at this particular Session. I hope that Senator Mahany is not asking for votes for this particular resolution with the understanding that this is it and we will do nothing on any further censorship legislation at this Session.

Mr. President, I would like to suggest, and perhaps he has thought of it and he may be right and I am wrong, that the United States Supreme Court's objection to censorship is that in our old bill, or in similar State bills, the word "obscene" is vague and not sufficiently defined. Therefore, there was no readily ascertainable way of what constituted an obscene motion picture within the meaning of the act. The act was too vague to be enforceable.

If that is the problem, Mr. President, then why would the same attack not be successful on an action by a district attorney under the criminal law? Certainly a lawyer defending a motion picture operator, having the United States Supreme Court decision in mind, could very well go before a common pleas judge and say, "Look here, not only was the censorship act invalid, but so is the statute prohibiting the showing of indecent and lewd movies." Apparently the problem is the wording and lack of definition of the words. If that is what the United States Supreme Court took its stand on, then that would apply not only to censorship laws but to the criminal laws as well. Some of the motion picture operators spent the mony apparently to get to the Supreme Court on State Acts, and they probably would do the same thing with a local action brought by a district attorney under the criminal law and, it would seem to me, with the same chance of success. The court is certainly going to be consistent, when it is a question of sufficiently spelling out a definition so that everyone will know what is right and what is wrong. I think that is the underlying problem here, to spell out a bill with sufficient particularities so that everyone can decide in advance what constitutes a crime under this act. I do not think it makes any difference whether it is a censorship act or a criminal act in so far as that is concerned.

If I could just speak for a moment on the merits of the resolution. Mr. President; I do not agree with the legal reasoning. It seems to me that the courts every day are working with vague phrases which are not readily definable and cannot be tacked down. Our law has to be based upon philosophy and maxims and that sort of thing, and then general precepts and principles applied to particular factual situations. That is what our law is actually. It seems to me that certainly in terms of numbers, more than half of the courts' business all over America in recent years has been automobile accidents.

Now the problem in an automobile personal injury case is negligence. What is negligence defined as? Merely doing something that a reasonable man would not have done or failing to do something that a reasonable man would have done. Certainly, nothing is more vague or undefinable than that and yet courts all over Pennsylvania, and all over American, every day are taking that phrase, vague as it is, and applying to it to a particular fact situation or letting juries decide whether the facts constitute negligence with that definition as a test, and we are getting really great substantial justice out of it.

There is no difference at all, it seems to me, Mr. President, in the court saying, "Would a reasonable man believe that this is a lewd or suggestive motion picture?" That is all the test one would seem to need. Certainly, the right to freedom of speech is not absolute. We all know that we can be guilty of libel or slander; that there are certain limits on freedom of speech. I think all of us know that if we got up in a crowded motion picture house and yelled, "Fire," and caused a riot, we would be in for some kind of trouble, too. Therefore, there are limits on freedom of speech in the clause of the Federal Constitution.

Mr. President, what we have to do is write some bill on censorship which limits the motion picture producers' right to make movies within the bounds of ordinary decency. All we have to do is spell out a test by which they can decide in advance that this is going too far, but another scene is not and it then will be acceptable. That is all the law is and it is applied every day all over America, as I say, in many types of situations. Basically, that is our problem here and the sooner we get at it, we ourselves, as legislators, the better off we are going to be.

It will be fine and wonderful to avail ourselves of the research of the Joint State Government Commission, but I would not like to see the next eight or ten months just lost in this fight for decent movies.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 19a, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Resolution, Serial No. 19a, for consideration at this time.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE METHODS USED TO REGULATE OPEN-PIT MINING AND CONSERVE AND IMPROVE THE LAND AFFECTED BY SUCH MINING

In the Senate, April 4, 1956.

Whereas, The bituminous coal industry in Pennsylvania furnishes employment to some 76,000 Pennsylvanians; and

Whereas, In the recent past, total annual production of bituminous coal in Pennsylvania amounted to 70,000,000 tons, of which approximately 20,000,000 were produced by strip-mining methods; and

Whereas, The production of bituminous coal in Pennsylvania has declined more rapidly than bituminous production in the nation as a whole; and

Whereas, The thickness of the bituminous seam in the United States ranges from a low of 2.6 feet in the central Pennsylvania field to 7.1 feet in the Illinois field; and

Whereas, Pennsylvania bituminous production equals but 5.07 tons per man-day, compared to 6.07 and 8.00 tons in the competitive states of West Virginia and Illinois, respectively; and

Whereas, These facts indicate that Pennsylvania's bituminous coal industry is in a relatively unfavorable competitive position and that efforts to improve this position should be consistent with the interests of the Commonwealth as a whole; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study the methods used to regulate open-pit mining and conserve and improve the land affected by such mining in the major bituminous producing states, from the point of view of the cost to the affected bituminous operators, the regulatory agency, and the effective restoration of the mined areas; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commission report the findings in its study to the next regular session of the General Assembly.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 672, entitled:

An Act authorizing cities boroughs incorporated towns townships and counties to create historic areas within their geographical limits providing for the appointment of historical boards empowered to preserve historic buildings and to regulate the erection reconstruction alteration restoration demolition or razing of buildings within the historic areas

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have no way of knowing whether or not Senator Stiefel is not here on purpose, and Senator Lane has continually asked us to put these bills over until the Senator arrives. I thought for sure that Senator Stiefel would be here today, but I do not see him in his seat.

Senator Lane, are you going to request that this bill go over because Senator Stiefel is not here again today?

Mr. LANE. I planned on requesting that both bills go over in order, in deference to Senator Stiefel. He should be on the floor when you try to recommit his bills.

Mr. MAHANY. We have half of the sponsorship of this bill! no, we do not even have half anymore.

Mr. LANE. Well, get Doctor Chapman to fight for them then.

Mr. MAHANY. What I would like to do, Senator, is to act on these bills some time, and I hope you will persuade Senator Stiefel to come around some day when we are considering the Calendar so that we may dispose of these bills.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I realize that the bills have been on the Calendar quite some time. However, I do not know the reason why Senator Stiefel is not in his seat here today. There seems to be an understanding here that we always grant a Member of the Senate the courtesy of being here, and give him the opportunity to defend his bills in case they try to get rid of them by recommitting them or by any other method.

Mr. President, I have requested many, many times that these bills go over in order. Of course, I do not know the reason why Senator Stiefel is not here. It may be due to illness; I do not know. I expected him here today. If the Majority Leader will bear with me and let them go over until next week, we will certainly appreciate it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 672, Printer's No. 280, and Senate Bill No. 673, Printer's No. 270, on third reading, go over in their order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I will go along with that under the agreement with the Senator that their candidate for the United States Senate, Senator Clark, will look upon absenteeism here in the Senate when he talks about absenteeism of any United States Senator in which he might be interested.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bills will go over in their order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 675, Printer's No. 1655, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1067, Printer's No. 675, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I had decided to ask that we put this bill on the Third Reading Postponed Calendar. I understand there will have to be some things worked out in relation to this legislation, and we felt it would be better to put it on the Third Reading Postponed Calendar.

I, therefore, would appreciate it, Mr. President, if Senator Lane would withdraw his request for this particular bill to go over.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER WITHDRAWN

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I withdraw my request that Senate Bill No. 1067 go over in its order. That request was made at the suggestion of Senator Silvert, who is not on the floor at this particular time. Since it will be placed on the Postponed Calendar, I think he will be satisfied.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1507, Printer's No. 1020, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, this would probably be a conditional objection. I would call to the Senator's attention that we just passed, and sent to the House yesterday, two bills which are amendments to this bill which is now on our Calendar. If this bill does not move and get to the Governor's Office, we are going to be in very serious difficulty. Unless you have a very serious reason for holding the bill over, I would suggest to you, Senator Lane, that you withdraw your request that it go over.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am holding this bill on the Calendar and taking it over in order at the request of Senator Weiner, who is ill today and cannot be on the floor. He has requested that we hold this bill over for some time. I had hoped that we could dispose of it today, but he is not here and, therefore, I requested, at his suggestion, that the bill be passed over in its order.

Mr. McPHERSON, JR. Mr. President, I discussed this bill with Senator Weiner this afternoon. He is not well today and does not want to debate the bill or express his objections to it, but he told me that he would not have any objection to it going up on Third Reading where the bill will be held until Senator Weiner can have an opportunity to debate it.

It is important that this bill be disposed of within a reasonable time. Otherwise, the plans that have been worked out will go askew and the Commercial Code will end up in a rather confused state so far as certain sections are concerned.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER WITHDRAWN

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, since Senator Weiner has made that agreement with Senator McPherson, I will withdraw my request that House Bill No. 1507 go over in order, and agree to have it read for the second time.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I had a very excellent speech prepared yesterday, but because being a good-natured fellow was talked out of it. Now I have the speech and I am not going to waste it, even though nobody is here except the sidelines. I think they probably will appreciate it more than anybody else anyhow, so I am about to make the speech. Besides I see we have a few reporters, and they are the ones I was making it for in the first place, so that is all right.

Now that the sales tax amendment and the capital stock tax will be put into a Conference Committee, I think it is pretty important that the Governor and the people of the state be given an accurate picture of what we are doing.

Last week the Governor said at a Press conference that anyone is a "liar and a demagogue" who says there is enough money to give the teachers the $31 million which has been appropriated for salary increases in this biennium.

I want to ask the Governor, who does he think he is kidding? If I remember correctly, I think he has a constitutional duty not to sign into law an appropriation for which he does not have the money. I think that applies to our Constitution. Yet he signed the $31 million bill, apparently with the thought in his mind that he could get out of a bad situation by later refusing to sign the necessary enabling legislation which would actually give the teachers and the school districts this money.

Let me make something very clear so the Governor and the people will know just what is what. We voted for the $31 million appropriation bill. We also voted, if the Governor remembers, for the taxes to provide the revenue to pay it. If other less vital appropriations come along later with the Governor's blessing, evidently he wants them to make way for the teachers and not the teachers for them.

The teachers' appropriation for $31 million has already been voted by the Legislature almost unanimously and signed into law by the Governor. It is now a little late for the Governor to come along and say, it was all a mistake. The Legislature should not have done it and it should not have been signed. The fact remains regardless of what the Governor is trying to convey to the people, when the Governor signs an appropriation bill it is the law. He is the one who signed the bill and if he decides to break the law I do not even believe it is right. Nevertheless, that is the attitude the Governor is taking.

Let us talk about the money, the $31 million. Before we passed the sales tax finally in the House about a month ago, there was in effect or in bills on the Governor's desk revenue measures which would produce approximately a billion dollars in revenue, which is almost exactly what was expended by former Governor Fine in the last two years of his administration.

The sales tax according to estimates provided the Senate—and I want to be very emphatic about this—from administration sources, not from Republican sources, will bring in an estimated $325 million in revenue over and above that billion dollars before the end of this biennium.

When we Republicans voted to give Governor Leader that amount of money we did so with the intention that included therein there was $31 million for the teachers' salary increase.

If the Governor comes along now and says this is not true, we ask that he, instead of calling us derogatory names, will show us what has happened to the $31 million. What has become of it? How does he plan to spend it?

In his budget the Governor asked the Legislature to appropriate approximately $200 million more than was appropriated for the previous biennium. In addition, he asked for $35 million for an industrial development program that he did not even include in his budget. Much of this has been scrapped. Yet the sales tax will produce at least $325 million more than was spent by the last administration and not just $200 million more.

It is true that part of this additional revenue is required to pay off the deficit which resulted from increased relief costs and a fall-off in tax revenue in the period following the end of the war in Korea. But that, according to our best information, amounted to no more than $50 million.

The Republican Members are not against an increase in teachers' salaries. What we are against is any deceitful and double-dealing talk or plan which the Governor seems to try to give the teachers to prevent them from having an increase and either pass it on to the local school districts to provide the money or to leave the job of providing the money to the next Legislature.

What we are insisting on, and are going to keep on insisting, and this is a warning that I think we should plainly tell the Governor right now, is that the Members on this side of the House will give the teachers and intend to give the teachers the $31 million which was promised to them. We intend to try to give the teachers the $31 million for which the Governor signed the bill and which was appropriated for them in this biennium for increased salaries without any ifs, ands and buts.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. BAZIN, McCORMACK, TAYLOR, COMER, GELFAND, FRASCELLA, TOLL, BRANCA, LIMPER, McGEE, SCARCELLI, Mrs. PASHLEY, Mrs. VARALLO, Messrs. FINEMAN, SHERMAN, GRANVILLE E. JONES, FLOYD, Mrs. MONROE, Mrs. ANDERSON, Messrs. KOLANKIEWICZ, SARRAF, LEVEN and POMEROY.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, April 9, 1956.

Saturday evening, April 6, 1956, at Convention Hall, Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Warriors, owned by Eddie Gottlieb and coached by George Senesky, won the World's professional basketball title by defeating the Fort Wayne Pistons in the National Basketball Assoication's Championship playoff. The 99-88 victory Saturday night gave them a 4-1 decision in the 7 game series. For Eddie Gottlieb, affectionately known as the "Mogul" to his players and their wives and kiddies, it was 10 long years since a team owned by him had won a pro title.

To Coach George Senesky, in his first year as Coach of the Warriors, the team's success was a combination of many things. In addition, to the superb teamwork of all the team members, fine defensive play and expert shooting, the team employed an unbeatable formula in that if one player fell off in his scoring another took over. Despite the team play, it should be noted here some of the individual achievements. Joe "Grabbo" Graboski, who in the four previous games had netted only 26 points, exploded in Saturday's game for 29 points. Rookie Tom Gola who displayed in all five games fine defensive playing, excellent passing, rebounding and scoring averaged 12.3 points per game. Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston, the big guns for the Warriors netted an average respectively of 28.9 and 20.3 points. Jack George the playmaker and excellent on defense averaged 13.6 points. Ernie Back, George Dempsey, Jackie Moore and Walt Davis came through in great fashion in reserve roles; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its heartiest congratulations to owner Eddie Gottlieb, Coach George Senesky and all the team members of the Philadelphia Warriors for winning the World's professional basketball title and wish them continued success in future years; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House transmit copies of this Resolution to Eddie Gottlieb and George Senesky, c/o Essex Hotel, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I understand that when we complete the Session today, we will either adjourn or agree on token Sessions until possibly the end of the month. I just want to say that this Senate either advocated or agreed to set up a committee to act on all bills to be sent to a special committee.

I want it strictly understood that if that committee does release any bills, they will not be finally acted upon until there is a full Session of the Senate called so that every Member of this Senate will get a chance to review, study and have an opportunity to pass on the bills. I, for one, do not mind transferring the powers to a special committee to act on bills in the closing days of the Legislature. However, I do resent the idea of a handful of Senators coming here for token Sessions during the period that we are to have a recess and to act on controversial bills or on bills that should be considered by the full Membership. That includes Conference Committee Reports and any other bills.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, as Chairman of the Rules Committee, I can assure the Senator that we will not act on any controversial bills without his being present or, at least, most of the Senators being present. We do not intend to move any such bills. We intend to come back here Monday, at which time we can consider the Conference Committee Report relative to the sales tax. Also, we want to move the bill which refers to the acceleration of the capital stock tax. Those are the only two matters that I understand we are going to act on on Monday. We do want to move both of those bills.

I hope Senator Yosko will not object to adopting the Conference Committee Report on the sales tax because that is necessary. If Senator Yosko wishes to say anything about that, I would suggest tha he come back on Monday, at which time he will be given the opportunity, of course, to make any comments that he cares to make. However, it is important that we act on these sales tax amendments so that the people in the State of Pennsylvania will know what we intend to tax and what we do not intend to tax, and that the Department may make up their rules and regulations so that they may send out these rules and regulations to the people of Pennsylvania in order that the people will know what the rules and regulations of the Department are in connection with this very important piece of legislation.

INTERROGATION

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, do I understand from Senator Mahany that between now and Monday he expects to work out the differences that exist in House Bill No. 2101, dealing with the sales tax that is now before the Conference Committee and that the Conference Committee Report will come before this Senate for approval?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman's question, the Conference Committee expects to meet at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon. There are only two matters which are controversial in relation to these sales tax amendments. I think we have pretty much agreed on how we are going to settle those two points. I believe that we will be in shape to have the Conference Committee Report signed, printed and have it presented next Monday.

Mr. YOSKO. Even though it is at a token Session?

Mr. MAHANY. That is right, Senator Yosko.

Mr. YOSKO. That, I object to and I planned to go away. If that is to be the procedure, I will be here and if there are not sufficient Members here on Monday, I will object to that procedure.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, frankly, in my opinion, because the Ohio stamp plan is incorporated in that bill and if it is not deleted, we should hold a public hearing on it. I have letters from organizations and from business people all over the State, demanding that the Ohio plan be deleted from the sales tax bill because it is costly. As I said before, it will result in choas, confusion, extravagance, inefficiency, open the door to fraud, open the door to counterfeiting and cost the Commonwealth anywhere from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000, unnecessarily, to collect the sales tax estimated at $320,000,000. I do not think we should throw between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000 down a rat hole unnecessarily. That is exactly what we are doing when we adopt the Ohio plan of collection.

I heard Senator Mahany, on a number of occasions, argue on the floor of this Senate that because thirty-two States had a sales tax, Pennsylvania should have a sales tax. Using his own arguments, those same States do not use the Ohio plan of collecting the tax. If we are going to follow the majority of States, then we should use the system that is in force in those States and not the system that is in force in one State, which even that one State does not like because it is too costly.

I said before, Mr. President, that I believe I have sufficient facts and figures to present to this Senate, particular at a public hearing, which should convince any reasonable person who is interested in efficiency and economy in government that the Ohio plan should not be permitted to remain in the sales tax law. Anybody who votes for the Ohio plan, under the circumstances, I repeat for the third time, is deliberately voting for waste, extravangance, inefficiency and chaos. I can point out a dozen factors that are sound reasons for removing the Ohio plan as the method of collection in the sales tax law. However, this is not the time to do it; this is not the hour to do it. The Members are not here and the matter is still before the Conference Committee.

I certainly hope that the Conference Committee will take all of those figures into consideration and, when they make the report, that the Ohio plan will be deleted from the bill. However, I resent now the approval of the Conference Committee Report by a handful of Senators in attendance here if it should come before the Senate for final approval.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I respect the Senator's right to have whatever views he does have in connection with these sales tax amendments, which include the Ohio tax stamp plan. I would call his attention, however, to the fact that the Majority Leader in the House, Mr. Readinger, who is, after all, the Governor's spokesman over there, has agreed that as far as he is concerned the stamp plan will remain and he will see to it that it is there. Mr. Readinger has made that agreement two or three times with Mr. Smith, the Minority Leader in the House.

Therefore, Mr. President, it is certainly useless for us to continue to argue about whether or not the stamp plan is good or bad. It is in the act now and we are not doing anything relative to that, other than clearing up some ambiguities which are in the act and trying to straighten out the stamp plan procedure so that there will not be any confusion in connection with it.

If Senator Yosko is going to insist that only those present be voted, and perhaps he might ask for a verification of the roll, then I will change my plans relative to having a token Session next Monday and now call upon all of the Senators to be present next Monday so that they may vote on this Conference Committee Report, because it is very important that we adopt the report so that the people of Pennsylvania, as I said before, will know what is taxed and what is not taxed and that the Department will be able to issue and promulgate their rules and regulations concerning the sales tax. Therefore, instead of having a token Session next Monday, we will have a full dress rehearsal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I would just like to say this. I do not know how Mr. Readinger feels about the Ohio plan but as far as the Governor is concerned, I understand he is not in favor of the Ohio plan. Before we decide what kind of a Session we are going to have, on Monday or any other day next week, let us take a recess and have this Conference Committee work on the bill, which proposes to amend the sales tax law, in order to determine whether or not the differences that exist can be ironed out between now and Monday and to further determine whether you will be ready to pass finally on the Conference Committee Report on Monday.

From the information I get, I understand it will not be ready by Monday. I may be wrong but for the convenience and benefit of the Members of the Senate, I think it is in order for the Conference Committee to get together and in a preliminary way today determine whether or not the differences which exist can be ironed out, as I said before, so that we can be told whether or not the Conference Committee Report will come before the Senate on Monday for final approval.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I want to talk a little bit today about the five bills which I sponsored, in conjunction with Senators Barr, Dent, Hays, Stiefel and Mahany, on February 28th, pertaining to the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

As I stated before on the floor here, Mr. President, this legislation is now the law in the State of New York. I understand there has been some objection as to the cost. I want to advise the Membership that the appropriation figure as set forth in several of the bills is approximately one-half of what the State of New York has spent on atomic energy. If the Appropriations Committee sees fit, it has my consent to go ahead and cut the figure to any appropriate amount.

Since we are in the closing days of this Session, Mr. President, I feel it behooves all of us to make a practical approach in setting up the nucleus of some sort of a commission here in Pennsylvania, to endeavor to utilize the forces of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. As you know, the Congress of the United States, in 1954, passed legislation giving the States that particular right.

I would like to call to the attention of the leaders on the other side just where these bills are located and I would certainly appreciate your favorable consideration. I, for one, and I believe quite a number of people in Pennsylvania, feel that we should take advantage of atomic energy and we should utilize it for peaceful purposes. It is going to be a long time before we accomplish that fact, but if we continue to delay we are going to be just so far behind. This Commonwealth is comparable with the State of New York, and New York has reached a certain height now in utilization of atomic energy.

Mr. President, I would like for the Membership to consider the bills and if they have any objection, let me know. I received the other day a very nice letter from Pennsylvania State University, wherein they state they are quite enthused in regard to this program. As a matter of fact, I received a communication from the University of Pittsburgh, which is also vitally interested in this program. I hope you will consider these bills in the light of advancement as far as Pennsylvania is concerned. I want you to know, too, that this legislation is strictly bipartisan and no one can take any credit for it at all.

I do feel, and I am very sincere when I make this statement, that we should consider this legislation. I worked long and hard on these bills. I worked with the Legislative Reference Bureau for quite some time and we worked them out whereby they would be applicable to Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I want to read to you the different bills and the committees they are in, in the hope that the Committee Chairman or the Chairman of the Committee on Rules, if the bills are referred there, will look them over and give them the benefit of a doubt and report them to the floor. I repeat, if you have any objections at all to any of the bills regarding the appropriation, you have my consent to go ahead and cut the appropriation. However, I would like to see a nucleus set up during this Session and then at future Sessions we can probably advance in atomic energy. I would like the Membership to remember that to stand still in anything is to go backwards. After all, this is a coming thing and Pennsylvania should take advantage of it.

Mr. President, the first bill is Senate Bill No. 1003, which was referred to the Committee on State Government on February 28th; Senate Bill No. 1004 was referred to the Committee on Education on February 28th; Senate Bill No. 1005 was referred to the Committee on State Government on February 28th; Senate Bill No. 1006 was referred to the Committee on State Government on February 28th; and Senate Bill No. 1007 was referred to the Committee on Appropriations on February 28th. I would be glad to appear before each and every one of these committees and express my sentiments to the Membership of these committees or to the Committee on Rules.

I hope you will remember what I have said today and give these bills some consideration. I think if we do not consider these bills, in the coming Sessions we will regret that we did not take some action.

STUDENTS FROM MILROY, MIFFLIN COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we are honored today by a visit from a fine group of young folks, of the fifth grade, from a school in Milroy, Mifflin County, Pennsylvania. This group is escorted by Mr. Thomas Summers and Miss Katherine Clemens, their teachers.

May I ask, Mr. President, that you extend official greetings from the Senate to these young folks?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair, on behalf of all Members of the Senate, extends greetings to this fine group of students from Mifflin County. We hope you enjoy your visit with us and that you can come back again at a later date.

MAYOR AND COUNCILMEN OF TITUSVILLE PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the Senate is also honored today to have in attendance here the Mayor of Titusville and two of its Councilmen.

Mr. President, the Senate has heard me talk often about the fine city of Titusville, in Crawford County, and here we have three representatives from that wonderful metropolis; Mayor C. C. Hampton, Councilman John Fehrenbach and Councilman Domer Bailey.

The PRESIDENT. We are indeed very happy to have these distinguished gentlemen from the city which our Majority Leader comes from with us today. We hope they can return and visit with us many times in the future.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 1:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, to allow us to have lunch and for the purpose of awaiting communications from the House.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Production and Employment

Since the last report to the Legislature in June 1953, the anthracite industry as a whole has been suffering from a declining market. The 1952 production of that portion of the industry represented by the United Mine Workers was 36,900,000 tons, in 1953 27,400,000 tons, in 1954 24,000,000 and 1955 22,700,000 tons. This loss of market has resulted in drastic changes within the industry. Some companies have completely abandoned underground mines, others have closed some higher cost operations in their effort to bring costs in line with declining realization.

Employment during the year 1953 averaged 51,000 men who worked 167 days and produced 2.74 tons per man-day. In 1955 an average of 28,000 men employed 204 days produced 3.27 tons per man-day.

Non-Union Production and Employment

Non-union mine production prepared through non-union breakers has not been accounted for above. This production amounted to 2,100,000 tons in each of the years 1952, 1953 and 1954 and 2,400,000 tons in 1955. Because of the fact that this part of the industry carries none of the responsibilities of the legitimate industry such as wage standards, taxes, social security benefits, unemployment compensation, welfare payments, et cetera, it has a distinct advantage in the market place and is continuing to contribute in a large measure to the economic dislocation of the legitimate industry.

In 1955 employment in non-union mines amounted to about 2,650 men and at non-union breakers approximately 575 men. In addition, as of last November, there were about 325 men engaged in the trucking of run-of-mine from the pits to the breakers. Being non-union, the men in these mines work a minimum of five days a week and eight or more hours a day. A few operations employ as many as thirty men but the vast majority of them are worked by fewer than five men.

Cooperation Under The Plan

Economic pressure and dissatisfaction with other companies' sales policies has resulted in several large producers withdrawing their financial support from the Plan. However, they continue to supply the weekly and monthly statistics by which the market is measured and the Committee has before it each Monday the complete picture of industry performance of the previous week.

New Schedules

The last report to the Legislature recognized the contention of some cooperating producers that percentages on Schedule A did not reflect changing conditions within the industry and should be adjusted. A new schedule was adopted early in 1954. It did not take into consideration the normal inflation that resulted from inability of some producers to meet their percentage positions and this situation was aggravated by the rapid closing of mines and sections of mines because of a rapid decline in the market for anthracite.

To meet the resulting inflation in Schedule A, a supplement to A, called a working Schedule B, was placed in effect in December 1954. It is a schedule which is recalculated each month and gives each producer a percentage based on his accumulated actual or expected production for the preceding month whichever is the lesser. Under Schedule B a cooperating producer can always produce up to his Schedule A and if all companies produced their expected under A, Schedules B and A would be the same. A cooperating producer's Schedule B can only exceed his Schedule A because of the underproduction of other producers.

Schedule B gives a more realistic picture of performance under the Plan and, therefore, is a better guide to the Producers' Advisory Board and the Anthracite Committee in forecasting the current production requirements. In the fifteen months that it has been operating, it has met expectations.

Amendments To The Plan

Article V, Subdivision (i) of the Plan was amended so as to permit cooperating producers to better plan their work. The amendment permits accumulated overproduction during a calendar year quarter to be offset by underproduction in any part of the same quarter. However, at the end of each period all deficiencies for other than cause under the Plan are cancelled.

Quality

The quality of anthracite shipped to market has continued to show improvement. However, there are still a few producers who insist upon selling an inferior product and some others who occasionally ship this inferior product under a standard label. Two producers are currently being prosecuted for violation of the Anthracite Standards Law.

Mine Drainage

By Senate Bill No. 759, approved July 29, 1953, the Anthracite Mine Drainage Study Commission was appointed to submit recommendations for legislation that would eliminate future anthracite mine flood hazards and would reduce drastically the present industry pumping costs. While the directives of this new piece of legislation did not specifically mention the Anthracite Committee, the fact that the Governor is appointing seven men on this new Commission chose six men then serving on the Anthracite Committee, shows how closely the Committee was associated with the drainage study.

The cogency with which the Commission reported to the Legislature the need for help in solving the anthracite water problem and the clearness and completeness with which the requested funds were to be allocated for expenditure seem to have appealed to the Legislature of Pennsylvania and to the National Congress, since each has agreed to donate one-half of the total seventeen million dollars requested. This much needed work is now under way.

Conclusions

It seems to be evident that the Production Control Plan has prevented demoralization in the anthracite industry in the face of a declining market, and that with the revised schedule reflecting currently each producer's fair share of the market, the continued functioning of the Plan can be a key contribution by the Commonwealth to the industry in its efforts to stabilize itself, regain old markets and secure new ones.

Respectfully submitted,

ANTHRACITE COMMITTEE

In the House of Representatives, April 9, 1956.

Whereas The members of the General Assembly join with all good people in working for the establishment of May first as a day for love of one's fellowman as a day of joy and light therefore be it

Resolved (The Senate concurring) That the Governor of this Commonwealth proclaim May First as a day of prayer that man in the image and likeness of God be free to walk upon the face of this earth with Dignity Humility and Love

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION (NOT PRINTED)

Mr. Readinger. Mr. Speaker, I call up the resolution (not printed) relating to the William Flinn Highway Memorial

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 6, 1956.

The Honorable William Flinn (1851-1924) was the father of the first chemically prepared hard surfaced road in Pennsylvania. While a member of the State Senate from Allegheny County, this man of extraordinary character, originality and courage, orignated and introduced in 1879 in the General Assembly the first recommendation to amend the State Constitution to permit and provide a State-wide improvement of its rural highways. His recommendation as to surfacing highways, like the recommendations of many great men before him who offered new and progressive ideas, was met by the opposition who voiced the opinion that surfacing highways was an impossible engineering feat. However, Senator Flinn, who was a fearless fighter no matter how strong the opposition, never gave up. In 1895 through his untiring efforts and devotion to his progressive concept, and after he solved all the problems to the satisfaction of both the Senate and House as to administering the act, such legislation was passed.

When the first hard surface road was laid in Washington County under the "Flinn Road Bill" there were very few people, besides Senator Flinn, who would envision the impact such surfacing would have on the commercial advancement of this great nation. Within a relatively short time, every state followed the example set by the genius from Pennsylvania and paved their highways.

Today beautiful highways are taken as a matter of course. In the passage of time, great achievements and contributions made in realizing such highways by such men as Senator Flinn are sometimes forgotten, except by the few. These few, led by their chairman, Colonel Charles C. McGovern, the county controller, conducted a memorial service in 1926 at which they dedicated a monument, which they placed on the dividing line between Allegheny and Washington Counties, known as the "William Flinn Highway Memorial" in memory of the ingenuity of a great Pennsylvanian who devoted his entire life to the betterment of this Commonwealth. This memorial to Senator Flinn should be made known to and recognized by all the citizens of this Commonwealth in honor of this great man; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the monument known as the "William Flinn Highway Memorial," which was erected in 1926 by the public at the dividing line between Allegheny and Washington Counties, be accepted by the General Assembly and dedicated to the perpetual memory of the late Honorable William Flinn who in 1895 as the father of hard surfaced roads, built the first such road in Washington County, Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly, when accepting the monument on behalf of the Commonwealth, shall give it such supervision as will be neecessary to carry out the spirit and intentions of the public donors in preserving for posterity a perpetual historical monument in memory of the Senator who contribuuted to the perfection of a rural highway system in the Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Charles C. McGovern, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, for the benefit of members who served on the dedication committee and for the benefit of any surviving kin of Senator Flinn.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

SENATE BILL No. 1020, PRINTER'S No. 583, RETURNED WITHOUT APPROVAL

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 13, 1956.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 1020, Printer's No. 583, entitled "An Act amending the act of May 26, 1949 (P. L. 1828) entitled 'An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries' further prescribing the eligibility for authorized investments of the obligations of municipality authorities."

This bill amends Section 5, Clause 3 of the Fiduciaries Investment Act of 1949, as last amended by the Act of August 19, 1953, P. L. 1154. Section 5 enumerates those obligations of Pennsylvania governmental organizations which will be authorized investments within the act. Clause 3, which is here sought to be amended defines those obligations of municipal authorities which will be considered as authorized investments.

Though I am in complete accord as to the laudable purpose of this bill, I am aware that certain ambiguities are contained therein, the effect of which could well alter the application of the amendatory language beyond that for which it was intended, thereby adversely affecting the entire sale of School Authority bonds.

I veto this bill with the understanding that circumstances make it impossible for the bill to have been recalled to permit the necessary amendments as a result of which the ambiguities to which I have referred would have been eliminated, and, further, that a bill wherein the necessary amendments will be made will be presented to the Legislature when it reconvenes.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules:

HIGHWAY MEMORIAL

In the House of Representatives, March 6, 1956.

The Honorable William Flinn (1851-1924) was the father of the first chemically prepared hard surfaced road in Pennsylvania. While a member of the State Senate from Allegheny County, this man of extraordinary character, originality and courage, originated and introduced in 1879 in the General Assembly the first recommendation to amend the State Constitution to permit and provide a State-wide improvement of its rural highways. His recommendation as to surfacing highways, like the recommendations of many great men before him who offered new and progressive ideas, was met by the opposition who voiced the opinion that surfacing highways was an impossible engineering feat. However, Senator Flinn, who was a fearless fighter no matter how strong the opposition, never gave up. In 1895 through his untiring efforts and devotion to his progressive concept, and after he solved all the problems to the satisfaction of both the Senate and House as to administering the act, such legislation was passed.

When the first hard surfaced road was laid in Washington County under the "Flinn Road Bill" there were very few people, besides Senator Flinn, who could envision the impact such surfacing would have on the commercial advancement of this great nation. Within a relatively short time, every state followed the example set by the genius from Pennsylvania and paved their highways.

Today beautiful highways are taken as a matter of course. In the passage of time, great achievements and contributions made in realizing such highways by such men as Senator Flinn are sometimes forgotten, except by the few. These few, led by their chairman, Colonel Charles C. McGovern, the county controller, conducted a memorial service in 1926 at which they dedicated a monument, which they placed on the dividing line between Allegheny and Washington Counties, known as the "William Flinn Highway Memorial" in memory of the ingenuity of a great Pennsylvanian who devoted his entire life to the betterment of this Commonwealth. This memorial to Senator Flinn should be made known to and recognized by all the citizens of this Commonwealth in honor of this great man; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the monument known as the "William Flinn Highway Memorial," which was erected in 1926 by the public at the dividing line between Allegheny and Washington Counties, be accepted by the General Assembly and dedicated to the perpetual memory of the late Honorable William Flinn who in 1895 as the father of hard surfaced roads, built the first such road in Washington County, Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly, when accepting the monument on behalf of the Commonwealth, shall give it such supervision as will be necessary to carry out the spirit and inntentions of the public donors in preserving for posterity a perpetual historical monument in memory of the Senator who contributed to the perfection of a rural highway system in this Commnowealth; and be it further

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the bill I am about to introduce will repeal a certain Act of the Assembly. I just received this information from the Attorney General's Office, and I thought the Membership should know just what the subject matter is in this communication.

The communication I received from the Attorney General's Office states as follows:

"Attached hereto is the bill drafted for introduction into the Senate, together with a return of your note to me."

This memorandum is addressed to Honorable Roy Schafer.

"I herewith supplant the memorandum of Dr. Mattison with a more detailed one.

"The Act of May 28, 1915, P. L. 642, as amended by the Act of May 5, 1921, P. L. 347, should be absolutely repealed because the provisions thereof have been superseded and outmoded by the present Restaurant Law, the Act of May 25, 1945, P. L. 926. The 1915 Act, supra, as amended, required from an employe in public eating place to obtain every six months a medical certificate from a reputable registered doctor of medicine certifying that such person is free from any of the diseases mentioned in the act relative to persons employed in public eating places. The 1945 Restaurant Law, the Act of May 23, 1945, P. L. 296, Section 7, reads as follows:

" 'No proprietor shall have or keep in his employ any employe who is a typhoid fever carrier, or a carrier of other intestinal infections, or of diphtheria, or who is suffering from active tuberculosis, or syphilis in its transmissible stage, or who has any infectious disease or open external lesion, nor shall the proprietor himself or any member of his family under the same conditions have anything to do with the handling, preparation, serving or providing of food or drink to the public.' "

Mr. President, this legislation will repeal the Act of 1915 and there will not be any question as to the validity of the Act of 1945.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Dent and myself, I am introducing this bill.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. LANE and DENT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1086, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 642), entitled "An act for the protection of the public health; by providing that persons, firms, or corporations, who are operating or conducting hotels, restaurants, dining-cars, or other public eating-places in this Commonwealth, shall not employ or keep in their employ, as cooks, waiters, kitchen-help, chambermaids, or other house-servants, any person or persons who are suffering from trachoma, active tuberculosis of the lungs, open skin tuberculosis, syphillis, gonorrhea, open external cancer, or barber's itch, or who are carriers of typhoid fever; and further providing that no dishes, receptacles, or utensiles used in eating or drinking shall be furnished to patrons or customers of any such public eating-place, unless the same have been thoroughly cleansed since used by another individual; and further providing that no towels shall be furnished in any washroom in connection with any such public eating-place, unless such towels be laundered or discarded after each individual use; and further providing that no common drinking-cups shall be furnished at any public drinking-place operated in connection with any such public eating-place; and providing penalties for violations of the provisions of this act."

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, last night I was spending some time reading the Harrisburg Evening News and I was surprised to see a letter on the editorial page which was written by one of our distinguished Senators. I am sorry he is not on the floor. I am speaking of Senator Wade, the Chairman of the Committee on Highways.

The letter was very well written but, after close observation, there seemed to be some glaring omissions in regard to the subject matter contained in this letter. For the information of the Members of the Senate, I will read this letter that Senator Wade apparently sent to the Harrisburg Evening News. It is headed, "A Milestone in Our Road Program." The editorial reads as follows:

"Editor:

"In the Senate, last week, we passed what I consider a very important Bill, and a milestone in Pennsylvania's Road Program. We are all justly proud of the Highway System that has been built up in Pennsylvania over the years. With the tremendous amount of daily use of our Highways, this legislation is important to all.

"I refer to House Bill No. 1311 which was amended in the Senate before final passage to give all Municipalities (Cities of different classes; Boroughs, Townships—first and second class) a fair share of the revenues derived from Highway users.

"As the bill came from the House, it would have given the large centers of population a 'lion's share' of these funds. As amended in the Senate, it provides for what we believe to be a most equitable distribution.

"More particularly, I wanted you to know how helpful Senator M. Harvey Taylor, representing your district, has been in formulating and passing this legislation. His efforts for an equitable distribution were untiring and most helpful to the Committee on Highways.

"The results, if the amendments are agreed to by the House, and the bill signed by the Governor, will be to provide an approximate increase of 66 2/3 per cent to all local municipalities for the building of better roads.

"The over-all distribution has been 'pegged' at not less than $30 million per annum. Over the years, many have strongly advocated 'home rule'—this is an important milestone in that direction.

"GEORGE N. WADE, Chairman,
"Senate Highway Committee."

Mr. President, Senator Wade forgot to add to this letter that he had made a number of statements on the floor of the Senate that we were playing politics when I requested that this bill go over in order, in order that we might put in the amendment which pegged the distribution at $30,000,000. He also forgot to put into the letter that this was a part of the Democratic program, and that it was in our platform. He also forgot to add to the letter that the Democratic Members of the Senate also worked hard and untiringly in support of this legislation. He also forgot to say that Senator Dent was directly instrumental in writing in the $30,000,000 amendment.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think that those who represent the Harrisburg Evening News should take notice of our statements here today.

I realize that this legislation is political dynamite. I realize, too, that when you give officials of political subdivisions additional moneys, they are very much inclined to support you. You fellows on the other side were playing a little politics and so were we. However, I believe that the facts should be brought out here. As a matter of fact, this is a very good letter, but there are some glaring omissions which I believe the people should be informed of. Remember this, Members of the Senate: the Republican Party was in control for sixteen long years. It had control of both Houses and the Governor's Office. The Republicans, who were in control, did not provide an increase of 66 2/3 per cent for our political subdivisions. It was the Democrats who made the pledge and kept it.

I am glad to see Senator Wade on the floor.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am very pleased that Senator Lane has complimented Senator Wade on the fine letter that he wrote for the newspaper. I am also happy that he pointed out what he thought were some omissions in the letter. Perhaps if Senaor Wade had put all those things in the letter that Senator Lane suggested, the newspaper might not have printed it because it would have been so long it would have been impossible to get it all on the editorial page of the newspaper.

I think sometimes we all concern ourselves a little bit too much on who gets the credit for various pieces of legislation which go through the House and the Senate. Most of this legislation is passed by a combination of effort on the part of both Democrats and Republicans. If Senator Lane thinks there were some glaring omissions in the statement made by Senator Wade, relative to this bill, sometime he should take occasion to read some of Secretary Torquato's statements relative to labor legislation which we have passed. As I remember, all of the labor legislation which Secretary Torquato was interested in, and which Governor Leader was interested in and which all of us were interested in, came out of the Committee on Labor and Industry of the Senate, of which Senator Berger, a Republican, is the Chairman, and the Committee on Labor and Industry of the Senate has a majority of Republicans on it. These bills came out of that committee and we voted for them in the Senate. Had the Republicans not voted for those bills in the Senate, certainly the labor legislation, which was pointed to with pride by Secretary Torquato and others, would not have been enacted.

However, in no place in the releases that I have read has Secretary Torquato given any credit of any kind whatsoever to the Republican help in having gotten this labor legislation through the Senate of Pennsylvania. Until this time, we have not criticized him. We felt that perhaps he was being political and if he wanted to be so, we were not going to say very much about it.

I have been down here for some years, Mr. President, and one of the first pieces of legislation in which I became interested was the legislation which would enable the cities of Pennsylvania to obtain some of the highway money. Until I came here in 1943, the cities did not derive anything from the Highway Fund. They also had a great number of bridges within the city limits which they had to maintain. Through securing the passage of our legislation, which I sponsored and, of course, was aided in the passage of by Democrats, we have obtained some money for the cities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the townships to pay for a part of the cost of the maintenance of their roads and highways in these communities. We also have relieved them of the responsibility of taking care of a great many of the bridges in cities of the third class.

Mr. President, I am not disillusioned about how the people back home feel relative to our efforts down here. The councilmen of thet various cities, when they receive this money from the State of Pennsylvania, probably will, if they are Democrats, give thanks to the Democrats. If they happen to be Republicans, they will probably thank the Republicans. At this fall's election, the Democratic councilmen will probably vote Democratic and the Republican councilmen will vote Republican. I do not think it makes much difference how much we call their attention to whether they were Democrats or whether they were Republicans who got this bill through or any other bill through for that matter.

I believe this bill was a good bill, Mr. President, and I want to credit Senator Dent for his efforts in getting more money for the cities of Pennsylvania. I think they deserve money to keep and maintain their roads. I believe Senator Dent had a great deal to do with this increase. However, we, coming from the rural areas, were not quite satisfied with the amount of the increase that was going into the larger cities, and the supervisors back home were not satisfied with it. Therefore, we had to have some compromise between the amount of the increase which was going to be allocated to the townships and the amount of the increase which was going to be allocated to the cities. Sometimes, unless you have somebody who keeps a cool head and who can work matters out so that we can reconcile our differences, you lose the whole legislation. I have seen very good legislation here go down the drain because someone was not available to reconcile the differences between those who wanted the legislation and those who did not want it. In this particular case, our differences were not between the Republicans and the Democrats so much as the differences which existed between the Senators and the House Members, coming from the rural areas and those coming from the metropolitan areas. Nevertheless, I believe all of us can agree that Senator Taylor did aid us in our committee meetings by reconciling the differences which existed among the members of that committee as to how much would be available in the way of an increase for this allocation.

Through Senator Taylor's efforts and also through the efforts of others, both Democrats and Republicans, we did come to reconcile our differences and we came up with a bill which we passed. We hope that, in some way or other, we are going to be able to reconcile the differences now which exist between the House and the Senate in relation to this piece of legislation so that we may obtain this money for our various cities, boroughs and townships.

I not only want to thank Senator Taylor for his efforts, but also the efforts of all the Senators, both Democrats and Republicans, who aided so much in getting this very important piece of legislation through the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, in reply to the Majority Leader's statements, I want to state that I am not criticizing any commendations contained in this letter. What I am criticizing are the glaring omissions. Had the Senator from Cumberland headed the letter, "Another One of Leader's Platform Pledges Fulfilled," and also had inserted in there, "that due to the yeoman work of the Democratic Minority Leader, Senator Dent, this legislation was passed in its present form," I would not have taken the floor. However, it seems to me that the way the letter reads, the Republicans are taking full credit for the passage of this legislation, which is absolutely not a fact because I do not believe there is a Democrat on this side of the Senate who voted against it all the way down the line.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, last week when Senator Yosko asked me what my plans were for the Session this week, I told him that I expected we would be able to act upon the Conference Committee Report relative to amendments to the sales tax. At that time, I did not visualize the great number of matters which we might have to consider relative to these amendments.

When I made my statement last week, Senator Dent and I had conferred in my office in the morning and I thought at the time there were only a couple of things which had to be ironed out and those matters had been settled between Senator Dent and I, and I figured we could soon agree on a Conference Report on the amendments to the sales tax. I am sorry if I misled any of the Senators in believing that we were going to have a full scale Session yesterday. However, when we started having these meetings of the Conference Committee, with the Attorney General and his office force, we found there were many things which they had to suggest relative to corrective amendments and also new items they suggested which might be subject to tax, and those matters had to be settled.

Also, Mr. President, as you all know from reading the newspapers, the subject has again arisen as to whether or not the stamp plan should be eliminated. We have not been able to decide definitely on that point. I have been quoted in the papers as saying that I favored the elimination of the stamp plan, but I want to correct that impression right now. I made my statement relative to the stamp plan when the original sales tax bill was acted on here in the Senate and any statement relative to whether or not the stamp plan might be practical or too costly was made by me at that time.

As far as I am concerned, Mr. President, the House is the body that put this stamp plan into the bill. When the bill came over to the Senate, we tried to eliminate the stamp plan but the House would not stand for the elimination of it and that is one of the big reasons we had a Conference Committee appointed on the original sales tax in this Session.

Until the House changes its position relative to the stamp plan, I do not feel that I should insist on its elimination. I am willing to go along with the House if they feel the stamp plan is necessary and is wanted by the people for various reasons. I certainly am not going to pull the rug out from under the Members of the House, whether they be Republican or Democrat. However, until they come back on May the 1st, in full Caucus, the Conference Committee working on the amendments to the sales tax cannot come up with any recomendation or report. Therefore, until May 1st, we will not be able finally to sign a Conference Committee Report on the amendments to the sales tax.

Next week, Mr. President, we are planning to schedule two meetings of the Senate on Thursday and Friday. Those meetings will be held primarily for the purpose of having the Senate and the House in Session so that in the event the Governor cannot sign one of the bills which we have passed for technical reasons, it will not be necessary for him to veto the legislation as we will be here and can recall the legislation from the Governor's desk for the purpose of amendment. If we do not come back until May 1st, the ten day period, in which the Governor must either sign or veto legislation, might lapse and if we were not here he would have to veto the legislation rather than send it back to us.

Therefore, until Tuesday, May 1st, we do not expect to have a full scale Session of the Senate. The reason we are not meeting on Monday of that week is because of the hotel situation. I understand that both hotels have contracted a majority of their rooms because of a convention being held in Harrisburg on that particular day and, therefore, we cannot come back until Tuesday, May 1, 1956.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator, I talked to the House Speaker this morning and he told me that he has to go back to a meeting in Johnstown tonight, and he asked me whether we were meeting tomorrow. I thought we were, so I told him that to the best of my knowledge we were meeting at about nine-thirty or ten o'clock, tomorrow morning to finally pass the stop gap appropriation. I told him that this had been agreed upon by both sides and I did not think it would be necessary to send for any of the Members who have left or will leave today. The Speaker said that he would be happy to come back tomorrow and sign the bill in the presence of the House, if that would be necessary.

Senator Mahany, I am wondering if that is still the schedule or whether there has been a change in the plan?

Mr. MAHANY. No, Senator, that is still the schedule. I do not expect to be here tomorrow myself, and that is the reason I made my statement today relative to our work in the Conference Committee regarding the amendments to the sales tax. We expect to have a Session tomorrow morning for the primary purpose of moving up the stop gap appropriation bill.

Mr. DENT. Senator, am I also to understand that you have talked to the House leaders about having Sessions on Thursday and Friday of next week?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, I talked to them yesterday.

Mr. DENT. Well, Senator, I was there when you talked to them yesterday, and it was my impression also that they would come back on Thursday and Friday of next week. Will next week's Sessions be full scale or will only the conferees come back?

Mr. MAHANY. I do not like to answer that question directly because there are many people who do not understand the necessity for token Sessions. Many people think we are just having token Sessions with some ulterior motive in mind.

I would say, Senator, that if there are any Senators next week who feel they should stay home and not come to the Session, they will be excused.

Mr. DENT. Thank you very kindly, Senator.

Mr. President, I think at this point it would be good if we entered into the record a statement concerning token Sessions as they are called.

For many years, we never used the word "token." I do not know where that word came from or who dreamed it up. However, we have always used the words "consent Sessions." Consent Sessions are not new in parliamentary bodies. They are as old as organized government itself. Consent Sessions are exactly what the words imply; they mean that a piece of legislation has been discussed and agreed upon. As the people have realized over the years, membership in the General Assembly has never been considered a full time job, although during the past three bienniums one would be led to believe that the job is a full time one. It is inconceivable that any person in their right mind would ever consider a salary, such as has been paid to the legislative members over the years, rightful compensation for members of a full time legislative body.

Mr. President, Congress recognized this a few years ago. I remember distinctly when this General Assembly was paid $3,000 a biennium and Congress was paid $10,000 a year without any expenses. They found that they ran into the proposition of long sustaining Sessions, lame duck memberships, and they started to shift the base from which Congress had worked. Congress is now working on the base of a full time salary of $22,500 a year while the Legislature is still working at $3,000 a biennium.

I have read some critical reports in some of the newspapers about Membership in the Senate and House not being up to par. We have had superman government in this world since the beginning of time, when selective memberships were the only kind of memberships allowed in the governing bodies. These governments have been destroyed by their own perfection and by their own insistence upon perfection.

This is, as has been determined by many writers, a free government in which there is a great deal of waste. However, government, as we know it in this Country, is the only kind of government that all people can participate in; the small, large, mean, good, little, big, educated, and in many instances the uneducated. The history of this Country has proven that in many instances those without formal education have made the very best men in government. The most classical example is the self-educated great leader of this Country in its hour of trial and tribulation, the immortal Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. President, if we are to sustain and keep this kind of government alive, then we must stand up and defend the kind of men who run for the Legislature and become elected. There is no man in this Legislature any better or any worse than his contemporaries in business and other activities in this Country. Yes, some are not as active as others, but that is true in corporate life, that is true in business endeavor, that is true in religious life and that is true in great civic endeavor. There are a great many men who come here, paid by industry, who sit around the side walls of the Legislature and just watch the Legislature in progress and make reports, and they receive a great deal more money than a Member of the Legislature who is committed to vote on every piece of legislation and, yet, we never see any criticisms of these men.

For instance, Mr. President, the newspapers, which are so prone to crack down on legislative pay raises, never say a word about the men they have on the Senate floor to whom they pay a very fancy salary and expense account, and these men do absolutely nothing but come here and watch the legislation go through and look after the individual interest of that particular endeavor.

We, the Membership of this House and Senate, Mr. President, have to look after the interest of every endeavor in this great State of ours and also to keep in mind the interest of the people themselves, and to see to it that predatory individuals do not take advantage of their strength among the Membership and gain for themselves advantages at the cost of other people, businesses and endeavors.

Therefore, to Senator Mahany, I want to say that I back him up in the proposition that if we have a consent proposition on this floor, when it is a matter where both sides have agreed unanimously that this legislation is the best we can get for the people, we ought to have consent Calendars.

Mr. President, there are many lawyers, doctors, dentists, and businessmen in this Membership who are fine men in their own regard and who have families to keep, businesses to tend to and professions to watch. These men are entitled to the same considerations as we expect others to get from us. Therefore, if there is such a thing as a known and acknowledged consent Calendar, so long as we do not attempt at these Sessions to pass through matters which are highly controversial, matters that have not been agreed upon, there is no harm in a consent Legislature anymore than there is in a board of directors meeting of the great United States Steel, or any other corporation, when only a quorum is present, or less than a quorum is present, if their bylaws so permit.

One of the outstanding men in the present Administration of the United States Government is Humphrey, who is Secretary of the Treasury. Another great man is Wilson, Secretary of the Armed Forces. Both of those men, as I noted their qualifications when they were appointed, were members of more boards of directorships of large corporations in this Country than they could possibly attend to if they had thirty days a week and sixty hours in each day. However, that did not take away from those corporations the valued counsel which could be had when necessary of these men learned in their own businesses.

So it is with the Membership of this Senate and House. When we have a token Session, as they call it today or a consent Session, no Member of the General Assembly is further away than his telephone. We have parliamentary rules in the House and Senate that if any legislation is being considered which is important enough to have the Membership here, it is mandatory upon the leadership of the House and Senate to send out, if necessary, the State Police to bring in the Members if they cannot be found by telephone. Never in the history of this State, to the best of my knowledge, and I have searched many records, has there ever been a Member of the House or Senate who refused to come when called for an important decision.

Mr. President, I say to the newspapers, hide your buggy whip for a little while and give us the same consideration we give to you. We are not always pleased with what the newspapers do, and we know they are not always pleased with what we do. However, if condemnation is in order, there are many Members of the General Assembly who feel there are just as many unqualified editorial writers as there are Senators because too many instances have occurred where today you write one story and when proven wrong, you forget it and get on the side that is right. We cannot do that, because our records are forever inscribed upon the records of this General Assembly and when we vote, that vote remains for all posterity to see. We just cannot change our minds or change our tenure.

Therefore, I say to the Membership of this Senate, we are no less serving the people when we are in consent Session than when we are in full Session. When the time comes to make decisions which are paramount in the daily lives of the peoples, I believe that the centuries in history have proven that the General Assembly will meet its obligation. If there is to be a consent Session next week—unless a Member has a particular reason for wanting to be here—any Member, of course, can send to his Floor Leader an excuse stating that he has other business and where he will be, and on very short notice he can be obtained for any vote. I do believe that important legislation has to be passed by full Sessions, and we have tried to insist upon that as the years have gone by. Therefore, do not be too critical of consent Sessions. They are, and have been and will always be a part of any legislative body that runs under parliamentary rules.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, while Senator Dent is up there now, making love to the newspaper reporters, I want to add to his statement that it does not cost the taxpayers any more money because we have hese consent Sessions. When we have these consent Sessions in the Senate, no Senator receives any mileage money if he is not actually present. Also, I think we should point out to the people that most of the work of the Session is done in committees and in Party Caucuses.

Before we get these bills on our Calendar, they are considered by a committee which is composed of both Democrats and Republicans. It is usually in committee that it is agreed upon that a bill shall come out of committee, and it is pretty well settled as to what we will do with the bill once it gets to the Senate floor. After is reaches our Calendar, both the Democrats and the Republicans have separate Caucuses of their Members and we discuss the merits or demerits of the bill in full at these Caucuses. We probably get more debate in the Caucuses than we do on the floor in regard to these bills that we are to consider. After we have agreed and caucused on the bills, we bring them up on the Calendar at the proper time. On some of the bills which are more controversial, there is additional debate on the floor of the Senate and in that way we either pass or defeat legislation. Therefore, it does not detract very much from the legislation or interfere with the legislative process when we have consent Sessions.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this debate and I am going to confine my remarks to the reason why we are here today and the reason why, as it has been said, we will be here tomorrow. The reason is so that we can pass a stopgap appropriation bill in order that the State government can continue to function with sufficient funds.

If that the reason, then I say it is because of somebody's negligence. It is about time we got together and did our planning in advance. I understand the stopgap appropriation bill was passed by the House ten days ago. When the bill came over to the Senate, it was referred to the Senate Appropriations Committee but because there was a difference of opinion, involving one of the employees in the Appropriations Committee, on the need for funds to the end of the month, there was delay in reporting the stopgap appropriation bill from the Senate Committee on Appropriations. If action had been taken on that bill as soon as it came over from the House, we could have acted on it last week, disposed of it and these consent Sessions this week, at least on the stopgap appropriation bill, would not have been necessary.

Mr. President, I am going to suggest that until such time as we pass the general appropriation bill, the leaders of the House and Senate, the Appropriations Committees of the House and Senate, the Governor's Office and the Budget Bureau get together and effect a meeting of minds on what is needed and what is not needed, and not wait until the last minute to act on appropriations in order that these consent Sessions or token Sessions, whatever you might want to call them, can be eliminated.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, a short time ago I said that we had planned to meet next week on a consent Session basis on Thursday and Friday, so that if the Governor had any bills on his desk which he wanted to send back to us for technical amendments, we might be here to put through the suitable recall resolutions. However, upon checking with the House leadership and also after conferring with the Democratic leadership of the Senate, and the Governor's Office, we find there are no bills on his desk now which look as though we might have to recall for the purpose of amendment. Therefore, the plan relative to having Sessions next Thursday and Friday is now changed and we do not expect, after we adjourn this week, to come back until May 1st, 1956.

Mr. President, I now yield to Senator Berger, who will present the adjournment resolution.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. FRANK. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1956.

Americans have gone to Monte Carlo and won great fortunes. Now the ruler of Monte Carlo has come to America and won a priceless treasure. He has conquered the heart of our own Grace Kelly and carried off her love to the principality of Monaco.

The coming marriage of Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III has captured the imagination of the entire world, not because of the prominence of the participants, nor because it is the classic story of prince charming and maiden fair, but because it is the simple and beautiful story of true love between a fine girl and a nice young man.

It is a story repeated every day in the free world and the glamour of this marriage is the glamour of every marriage between those who hold it a sacred institution and enter it with a love of each other and a love for God; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives congratulate Prince Rainier III on his good fortune in winning Grace Kelly, and give our Grace our warmest and most sincere wishes for a long life of complete happiness, and wish them both that the beauty of their wedding day will live forever in their hearts and glow with even greater lustre on their golden wedding anniversary; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Prince Rainier III and Grace Kelly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. FRANK. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1956.

The news of Margaret Truman's forthcoming marriage delights the heart of every American. Her personal conduct while occupying the spotlight of publicity as the daughter of America's President earned for her the respect of the entire world. Throughout those trying years she maintained a modest dignity and simplicity and as a consequence became a symbol of the best in the American way.

Americans are sentimental about her because they like her. She is like the girl next door, they are so fond of, and take such an interest in; a good girl who deserves good in life; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their heartiest congratulations to Clifford Daniel, the lucky fellow Margaret will wed, and wish Margaret the happiness and blessings she so richly deserves, and wish them both the greatest of that contentment which two good people find in sharing life; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to Margaret Truman and Clifford Daniel and to Harry and Bess Truman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have been reading many items in the public Press recently concerning the proposed use of tax stamps in connection with the sales tax. To the best of my knowledge, the reports were carefully written and portrayed the facts as they exist.

However, in talking to many people in my own community recently it appears that many persons have gotten an idea somewhere, or somehow, that the Democratic membership of this House is also in favor of the use of the stamp plan.

I want to take a few minutes this afternoon to reiterate again the fact that the Democratic membership of this House when the bill originally passed some time ago was opposed to the use of the stamp plan and it is still opposed to the use of the stamp plan.

I see our colleagues on the other side of the House are about to receive a visit from two of our eminent Republican Senators who, according to the Press at least, are going to make an effort to persuade the Republican membership of this House, which actually is responsible for the insertion of the stamp plan, that they are wrong and to ask them to change their minds about it while we can still remove it from the bill.

Then I was astounded the other day when I read a statement issued by the Republican State Chairman, Miles Horst, under date of April 13th. I am quoting from a Press release issued under the title, "Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania," as follows:

> "The Governor and Democratic party leaders know that with the Ohio stamp plan of collection in the sales tax law, they will have no more chance of repealing the sales tax than the Democrats have had in Ohio."

Now that is a very wise statement. I am afraid Mr. Horst may have slightly overlooked the fact that the stamp plan was enacted in Ohio back in 1936, or close to that year, and it has been in effect since. I am afraid he also has overlooked the fact that the organizations and the people who have been redeeming stamps in Ohio for many, many years have become sort of a vested interest and no doubt have a very, very powerful lobby, a paid lobby perhaps, operating in the State of Ohio to defeat any efforts to remove the stamp plan in that state.

When Mr. Horst says we will have no more chance of repealing the stamp plan part of the sales tax than they had in Ohio and no more chance of repealing the sales tax, then I think he does not know what he is talking about, because the fact that the stamp plan is in or is not in will have nothing to do with whether or not the sales tax is going to be repealed.

He also states that the people want to know what taxes they are paying to the state and that prepaid tax receipts will give them that information.

That is another wise statement. I wonder who is going to purchase anything on which there is a sales tax who will not even know he is paying a sales tax or how much he is paying. It is a retail sales tax, it must be added to the bill. I certainly do not think there is any sense at all to that statement.

Then he goes on:

> With this provision in the law, it will be impossible for the Governor to fool the people into believing that a sales tax is costing them more than a wage tax would."

I would still like to know how the use of a stamp plan is going to prevent anybody from fooling anybody. In the first place, nobody intends to fool anybody. I think it is pretty clear that a sales tax will cost the low income people more than certain types of income taxes would. I think we demonstrated that pretty clearly months and months ago when we argued the matter as to whether there should be an income tax or a sales tax.

Then, to quote the honorable gentleman a little further, he says this:

> The issue is very simple. With the stamp plan, the Governor won't be able to make the sales tax a political football. Without it in the law, he can revive the sales tax versus wage tax battle in the next session of the Ligislature.

I ask you, does that make any sense? Does it make any sense to say we cannot bring up the battle all over again if we choose to, with or without the stamp plan being in effect. Frankly, I think Mr. Horst is slipping a bit when he dictated and made that statement.

I would like to take the time to read an editorial which appeared in the Sun-Telegraph on Monday, April 16th, entitled, "Expansive Mucilage." I would like to read it into the record because I think it is an excellent argument against the use of the stamp plan:

> Ohio's experience has demonstrated amply that the sticky sales tax stamps are an expensive nuisance. But Pennsylvania is going to adopt that that same expensive nuisance if our new sales tax law is not amended to prohibit it.
> Fortunately time yet remains to accomplish this improvement, but remedial action will have to be taken quickly.
> "The Sun-Telegraph, which has opposed the stamps from the beginning, is encouraged in its opposition by the bold stand which Gov. Leader at last has taken against the nuisance.
> Credit must also be given to Sen. John H. Dent of Jeannette, Democratic leader in the Senate who has been outspoken from the beginning in his opposition.
> "The stamp plan provides that merchants must buy the stamps in advance and issue them as recepits when the sales tax is paid.
> There are provisions that banks shall be paid a commission of one-half of one percent for serving as the state's agents in distributing the stamps and that stamps, after having been given to purchasers, shall be redeemable in certain circumstances at two percent of their face value.
> The stamps are unnecessary and their use only will complicate the tax.
> The commissions payable to the banks and to those who redeem the used stamps will take money out of the state treasury which the state cannot afford to give away.
> Gov. Leader correctly called the stamp plan "ridiculous" at his weekly news conference last Thursday. He said:
> "I think it has been proven again and again that the stamp plan is a most ridiculous appendage to the sales tax."
> Mr. Leader called attention to the fact that although nearly half of the states have sales taxes, Ohio is the only state which has the stamp feature. He added:
> "Only by ineritia has it stayed put in Ohio."
> The fact that the stamp feature has been rejected by more than twenty sales-tax states is pretty good evidence that nothing weighty can be said in its favor.
> There are Republicans as well as Democrats in the legislature who would like to eliminate the stamps.
> But Rep. Charles C. Smith, Republican leader in the House, insists on their retention.

Let's hope the advocates of stamps will listen to reason and spare the people of Pennsylvania the nuisance and the commonwealth the needless expense that the sticky stamps will impose.

It is a well-known fact that a commitment was made on the floor of this House on the day the sales tax bill passed the House. A commitment was made by me that I would not indulge in trying to make any major changes in the sales tax bill as it was being passed and that when the bill came back from the Senate, if any changes had been made or any correctional amendments were needed, we would furnish some votes to make the correctional amendments. That commitment was openly made on the floor of this House.

I have no doubt the Minority Floor Leader at that time had in mind the fact that the bill might come back without the stamp plan in it. The Republican membership of this House did not propose to furnish very many votes, if any, for the bill without the stamp plan in it. I have every intention of abiding by that commitment and I am sure the minority party of this House well knows it.

If the stamp plan must be kept in the bill, and it certainly will have to be kept in unless we are able to persuade the minority membership of this House that it is not a good thing to do, I want the people of Pennsylvania to know that it was because of the decision of the minority Members of this House that it is there. If it does cost the Commonwealth six, seven, or eight million dollars a biennium to use this stamp plan and give away this money to institutions, worthy though they are, then I think the people of Pennsylvania should know who is responsible for it.

In speaking about the millions of dollars that will be received by institutions who will see fit to redeem these stamps, isn't that evidence of the support for this law? I wonder if the minority membership has given any thought to the fact that it will not matter much whether the organization which gets the money is rich or poor or whether it needs the money or not. It will depend upon how aggressive any particular organization will be in collecting these stamps as to how much money they will get.

I would assume, since it will go to a charitable organization, or a church, or a fire company, that the money will be well used, but I still ask, is it right for Pennsylvania to indulge in a matter which will mean millions of dollars perhaps per biennium to these organizations? Is it right for us to have them receive that money in proportion to their own aggressiveness in collecting stamps? If we are going to give money to institutions, I think we should be giving it to them on the basis of need, not on the basis of how many people will be willing to go around and collect these stamps so they might redeem them.

I do not think there is any doubt in the minds of the people of Pennsylvania—those who have been reading anything about this subject—about the fact that it has been a complete failure in Ohio so far as preventing fraud is concerned. The records out there and the statements made by Ohio's Tax Commissioner very clearly indicate that every June and September the merchants who must buy these stamps and give them to their customers buy tremendous amounts of stamps in those two months. The reason is they have to make semi-annual reports, and when they get to June and find they sold a million dollars worth of merchandise and have bought stamps covering only five hundred thousand dollars, they have to buy the additional stamps to match their sales. That is exactly what they are doing.

If it is not clear from that that the merchants are either not being requested by the customers to give the stamps to them or that they are simply not giving the stamps to them, I do not know how you could make it more clear.

I think we are making a horrible mistake in Pennsylvania if this stamp plan is retained in the sales tax law. It will not be until May 1st that we will get the conference report to present to the House, but either on May 1st or May 2nd, when the full membership of the House has returned, we will have this matter before us.

I say the commitment that was made stands. I will encourage all the Democrats who voted for the bill before to abide by that commitment.

I am just hoping and praying that between now and that time a sufficient number of the Republican Members of this House will be able to convince the rest of the Republican Members that they have been wrong, that it should not be done. Certainly a whole lot of you can persuade Charlie Smith that he is wrong, too.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, what the Majority Leader has said about the stamp plan, of course, we have been reading about in the public Press.

I just want to say we were ready here three weeks ago to have this session adjourn sine die last week. Committees were formed that sat down to draft corrective amendments to the sales tax bill which is now the law. We thought a pretty good corrective bill was drafted. It passed the House and went over to the Senate, and they made some corrections in it which were gone over by the majority on this side before it even hit the Senate. We were ready here to concur in Senate amendments and put the corrective sales tax bill on the calendar so that we could adjourn last week sine die.

As you all know, at the last minute we got word from the Attorney General's Office that he was not in harmony with the amendments as made and that the majority side of the House would not concur in the amendments, even though we had the entire membership here.

Of course, back of the whole idea of saying they were not in accord with the amendments was the scheme to try to do away with the Ohio stamp plan.

The history of that is that Members on the Republican side from out in the western part of the state, who are familiar with the stamp plan and its operation in Ohio, came to our Republican Caucus completely sold on the Ohio stamp plan, not only because of its self-policing characteristics but because of the reward which went to organizations in the state for accumulating the stamps and, in effect, helping to police the action and the administration of the sales tax in Ohio.

So I say these men were sincerely convinced that the stamp plan would be a good thing for Pennsylvania, because the criticism of the last sales tax we had was that it provided for very loose collection. They did not like the idea of seeing the jars around in the small stores and they thought an awful lot of sales tax was being lost by reason of poor collection.

Our collection system of the last sales tax was not much different than the way they collect the sales tax in all the other states in the union except Ohio. So, as I say, these men in all sincerity felt that the Ohio stamp plan was a good thing and it would be a good thing for this state, and they convinced our Floor Leader that it would be a good thing.

We, therefore, incorporated into the sales tax the Ohio plan, and it is history that it passed the House and the Senate and was signed by the Governor

I am glad to hear the Majority Leader say he did give a promise here on the floor, it is a matter of record, that he would not insist on any wholesale changes or material changes in the sales tax bill, just merely correctional amendments.

I believe if you would interrogate the Attorney General he would say the bill which we did pass contained the corrections which they felt should be made in the bill. The reason we are now in a Conference Committee on the bill is not to correct the bill from a legal standpoint. I have not heard anybody say there is anything legally wrong with the amendments or with the bill. If there is something legally wrong with the bill, the correctional amendments which are in the bill correct it from a legal standpoint.

What is wrong with the bill is matters of policy, policy that goes to questions of who shall be taxed and why, changes in the bill to bring other people within the scope of the bill. You will be surprised when you see the Conference Report, without revealing secrets from the Conference Committee. I think I can say the Attorney General has not said publicly there is anything legally wrong with the amendments that passed the House and Senate. They go to questions of policy, whether this one should be taxed or not taxed. It is a tax philosophy. Of course, you read in the Press, and there again I think what has been going on in the Conference Committee has been disclosed improperly—they say we are out to do away with the stamp plan. Whether the stamp plan is done away with or not will depend upon the action of our Republican Caucus. They are the ones who, as I say, in all sincerity and in all honesty felt it would be a good thing for this state to put in the stamp plan which is now in vogue in Ohio and which seemingly has met with popular approval there among the populace. Of course, the politicians probably do not like it. But the question is, how does the man in the street like it, the fellow who is paying the tax, not the people who are collecting the tax? Let us start thinking about the people who are going to pay this $325 million. Do they want the stamp plan? Let us keep our eye on the squirrel. It is the people we want to think about.

We might concede that as far as the merchant is concerned it will be perhaps a little more onerous to use the stamp plan. Then again the merchant might find the stamp plan is like the S & H green stamps, a lot of people go to stores today because they can get the green stamps for use in purchasing articles, they have a premium value.

We do not know what the operation of the plan will be. It is in the law now. We will be back here again in January and if there is anything seriously wrong with it, of course, it can be repealed. It is in the Act now and I do not believe we will get it out unless our Republican Caucus is convinced that they were wrong. The members from the western part of the state will have to say: We were wrong. We got poor information from Ohio, we were wrong in our interpretation of the way the stamp plan is being worked out in Ohio. We were wrong in putting it in the bill.

Now that is the status of the matter. As I say, what the Majority Leader has said has of course, been placed in the public print by opponents of the bill. I am not going to take your time and give you a defense of the Ohio stamp plan. You will hear more about that when we reconvene on the 1st of May after our Caucus has given it a full scale rehearsal, if a request is made of them that they go along on a Conference Report which would rip it out.

The SPEAKER. The Chair was interested in the remark of the gentleman from McKean, who said, "Let's keep our eye on the squirrel." The Chair would remind the gentleman that the squirrel is chiefly interested in nuts.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I was interested in the few remarks made by the Minority Whip concerning the feeling of the public about this stamp plan. We passed the bill finally on March 7th, as I recall, but the House bill which also contained the stamp plan feature passed some time before that. To this day I have not received one letter from any citizen stating he was in favor of the stamp plan. I received quite a few letters from various merchants, merchants' associations and small business people who would be required to wrestle with these stamps complaining bitterly about the nuisance and the cost to them and the utter uselessness of the thing.

I was quite surprised that I have not received to this day one letter from any citizen stating that he likes the stamp plan. Now, maybe that is not a strange thing. I receive hundreds and thousands of letters on every conceivable subject in my position as Floor Leader, but when the public is completely silent on this thing about which there has been so much in the newspapers it somewhat surprises me.

When the gentleman from McKean says the merchants will find this system a little more onerous than the other system used by all of the other states except Oiho, I think he is making the understatement of the year.

I received a letter from a friend of mine who runs a restaurant in the city of Reading a few days ago. He stated in that letter that he thinks he will have to put on two more people, employ two more people, once this stamp plan goes into operation, because his ordinary working force would not be able to handle it.

I am taking the time of the Members who are here to day to discuss this matter because I am still hopeful that our many Members who are home campaigning and getting themselves in a position to be reelected and back in this House will give this thing serious thought between now and May 1st and reconsider it.

I never did question the sincerity of any of the Republican Members who wanted the stamp plan, but I centainly think they have been misguided. I do not think after mature and sober reflection on this they will persist and insist on keeping this in the Act.

That is my sole purpose in discussing this matter today, so that perhaps they will give it more thought than they have and realize we are making a very bad mistake if we keep it in the law.

APPROVED AND SIGNED SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RECALLING SENATE BILL No. 420, PRINTER'S No. 483

APPROVED AND SIGNED SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RECALLING SENATE BILL No. 1019, PRINTER'S No. 582

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 20, 1956.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Concurrent Resolution recalling from the Governor Senate Bill No. 1019, Printer's No. 582, for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. This bill will be laid on the table.

SENATE BILL No. 524, PRINTER'S No. 339, RETURNED WITHOUT APPROVAL

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 20, 1956.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 524, Printer's No. 339, entitled "An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) enittled 'An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds' defining transit mix vehicles and fixing registration fees and permissible weights therefor."

This bill proposes to amend The Vehicle Code of May 1, 1929, P. L. 905, as amended, by establishing a separate schedule of increased gross weight limitations for transit mix vehicles. To accomplish this, the bill sets up six classes of transmit mix vehicle based on carrying capacity in cubic yards rather than on the well-established basis of chassis weight. This new classification system would determine the registration fees and gross weight limitations applicable to this type of vehicle. Moreover, transit mix vehicles would be completely relieved of compliance with existing axle weight restrictions.

The vice of this proposed legislation is plainly demonstrable. The bill would sanction a clear departure from the usual and proven norms of classification and treatment of large commercial vehicles by substituting, for one type of vehicle, a classification system based on cubic yards of capacity instead of chassis weights. In so doing, the bill is disruptive of established patterns of uniformity and would undoubtedly hamper the efficient and equitable administration and enforcement of The Vehicle Code.

Similarly, by increasing the permissible gross weights for transit mix vehicles while removing all axle weight restrictions and other similar safeguards, the bill would permit additional and unwarranted strains on the highways and bridges of the Commonwealth. The Department of Highways is opposed to this legislation and informs me that if this bill were to become law thousands of additional bridges in all parts of the Commonwealth would require posting as to their maximum weight capacity.

Apart from the foregoing, this bill is subject to a more fundamental objection in that it attempts to single out a particular type of vehicle for special and privileged treatment. It therefore offends against the basic principle of equality of treatment for the same class of subjects.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

SENATE BILL No. 835, PRINTER'S No. 655, RETURNED WITHOUT APPROVAL

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 20, 1956.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 835, Printer's No. 655, entitled "An Act amending the act of August 9, 1955 (Act No. 130) entitled 'An act relating to counties of the third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto' authorizing the appointment of solicitors by clerks of the court of quarter sessions and oyer and terminer in third and fourth class counties and prescribing their duties."

This bill amends the Act of August 9, 1955 (Act No. 130), known as "The County Code," by authorizing the clerk of quarter sessions and oyer and terminer to appoint a solicitor to advise him upon all legal matters and conduct all litigation connected with the clerk's office.

Under present law, in many counties the prothonotary, the register of wills, the recorder of deeds, the county controller and other county officers are authorized to appoint a solicitor for their respective offices so that the county solicitor, who formerly handled the legal work for those various offices, is now concerned for the most part with the legal work of the county commissioners. The law now provides that the county solicitor shall, in addition to rendering legal advice to the county commissioners, perform similar duties for each elected officer who is not authorized to appoint a solicitor or who has not appointed a solicitor although authorized to do so

The present law further provides that in case any litigation between the county commissioners and any other elected county officer arises, the court may authorize such county officer to retain special counsel for said purposes, the fees to be paid from the county treasury. In addition, it should be noted that the district attorney and the members of his staff, who handle criminal matters, are also avialable to this officer

I know of no need for this bill nor of any reason why the taxpayers should be burdened with the additional expense, particularly since the legal needs of this office are well taken care of by the provisions of The County Code.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time, the Chair invites the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Wagner, to the rostrum to preside.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 185, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE AND LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. PECHAN, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred on April 16, 1956, the following resolution from the House of Representatives reported the same without amendment as follows, viz:

HIGHWAY MEMORIAL

In the House of Representatives, March 6, 1956.

The Honorable William Flinn (1851-1924) was the father of the first chemically prepared hard surfaced road in Pennsylvania. While a member of the State Senate from Allegheny County, this man of extraordinary character, originality and courage, originated and introduced in 1879 in the General Assembly the first recommendation to amend the State Constitution to permit and provide a State-wide improvement of its rural highways. His recommendation as to surfacing highways, like the recommendations of many great men before him who offered new and progressive ideas, was met by the opposition who voiced the opinion that surfacing highways was an impossible engineering feat. However, Senator Flinn, who was a fearless fighter no matter how strong the opposition, never gave up. In 1895 through his untiring efforts and devotion to his progressive concept, and after he solved all the problems to the satisfaction of both the Senate and House as to administering the act, such legislation was passed.

When the first hard surfaced road was laid in Washington County under the "Flinn Road Bill" there was very few people, besides Senator Flinn, who could envision the impact such surfacing would have on the commercial advancement of this great nation. Within a relatively short time, every state followed the example set by the genius from Pennsylvania and paved their highways.

Today beautiful highways are taken as a matter of course. In the passage of time, great achievements and contributions made in realizing such highways by such men as Senator Flinn are sometimes forgotten, except by the few. These few, led by their chairman, Colonel Charles C. McGovern, the county controller, conducted a memorial service in 1926 at which they dedicated a monument, which they placed on the dividing line between Allegheny and Washington Counties, known as the "William Flinn Highway Memorial" in memory of the ingenuity of a great Pennsylvanian who devoted his entire life to the betterment of this Commonwealth. This memorial to Senator Flinn should be made known to and recognized by all the citizens of this Commonwealth in honor of this great man; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the monument known as the "William Flinn Highway Memorial," which was erected in 1926 by the public at the dividing line between Allegheny and Washington Counties, be accepted by the General Assembly and dedicated to the perpetual memory of the late Honorable William Flinn who in 1895 as the father of hard surfaced roads, built the first such road in Washington County, Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly, when accepting the monument on behalf of the Commonwealth, shall give it such supervision as will be necessary to carry out the spirit and intentions of the public donors in preserving for posterity a perpetual historical monument in memory of the Senator who contributed to the perfection of a rural highway system in this Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Charles C. McGovern, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, for the benefit of members who served on the dedication committee and for the benefit of any surviving kin of Senator Flinn.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, on April 18th, in the Philadelphia Bulletin there appeared a caption which read, "Senate Approved Stiffer Bootleg Law." At the bottom of the article it said: "Senator William V. Mullin, Democrat, Philadelphia, cast the lone vote against the bill."

Mr. President, I was not present when the bill was passed. When I left the last Session of the Senate, Senator Mahany stated that only certain Conference Committee Reports on revenue bills were to be acted upon.

This bill refers to House Bill No. 1891. I had not made up my mind on that bill; I was questioning it. However, the bill was reported out of committee, without a committee meeting, and was reported to the floor of the Senate during token Sessions and was passed during a token Session. If that were all there was to it, I would have voted for the bill. I state now, had I been present, I would have voted for the bill. However, there is more to this bill than increasing the powers, in local communities, of the State Liquor Control Board and confiscating property in local communities and so on and enlarging their enforcement powers. I thought there might be some question as to the local government and local home rule and things of that sort, which are in effect at the present time. However, I am not complaining but I would like to make it clear for the record that had I been present, I would have voted for the bill when other matters had been clarified.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, my attention has been called to a communication sent out by the Pennsylvania Democratic State Committee to all of the liquor store employees, at least all of the liquor store empoyees in a town with which I am acquainted. They all stated that this was the first time that any political party had ever addressed such a communication to them. This communication reads as follows:

"The Pennsylvania Democratic State Committee Dinner will be held on Wednesday, May 23, 1956, at 7 P. M., in the Farm Show Building, Cameron and Maclay Streets, Harrisburg.

"Our financial requirements for the election this year on the Local, State and National level will necessitate the expenditure of additional funds to carry on the aggressive campaign we have planned by television, radio, newspaper ads, circulars, direct mail, and every other medium of communication. To carry out these plans for our success we need your valuable support.

"As you may well assume, all the administration officials will be present at the dinner and we feel you will want to join with them for the evening.

"For every one hundred dollar voluntary contribution received we will send a reservation for this dinner. Enclosed, for your convenience, is a reservation card. We would appreciate your returning it immediately so that we do not have to delay in executing our plans.

"Sincerely yours,

/s/ "Bill Teefy
"WILLIAM D. TEEFY
"Treasurer."

Mr. President, most of the liquor store employees of this State do not receive adequate compensation to allow them to spend $100 to come down here to Harrisburg to attend a dinner given either by the Republican Campaign Committee or the Democratic Campaign Committee. I feel certainly that is one group which should not have been contacted with any hint, either direct or indirect, that they should come across with $100 as a contribution. I feel that the liquor store employees certainly should be kept out of this type of thing and I would say to any of them that if they would care to come, it surely should be on a voluntary basis. I do not believe that many of them can afford to do so and if any of them are interfered with in any way by not coming, they definitely should let that be known.

I feel that this should not have been done by the Democratic State Committee. It has never been done by the Republican State Committee, and I feel it should be called to the attention of the Senators here, as well as to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I have not received a copy of the letter that was handed to the Majority Leader by one of the Republican holdovers. Of course, he could probably go out and find a lot of such letters because we Democrats, when we try to raise some funds for our campaigns, have to reach out and talk to the ordinary people. We have to reach out into any particular place where we think we have a friend. I am sure that not all of the State employees are averse to going to a $100 dinner or a $10 dinner or a $50 dinner. In fact, I happened to be in Harrisburg when the clan was gathering for the $100 dinner for Eisenhower. The peculiar thing about it was that there were many State employees waving $100 tickets for that. That was a Republican affair. One of the bitterest complaints, which never reached the floor, Mr. President, was the complaint that was handed to me by one of the well-known lobbyists who said recently, when there was a $50 dinner, that he did not mind buying a couple tickets, but to have them shoved at him by the dozens was just out of reason.

Of course, Mr. President, we cannot do that. We cannot hand any lobbyist fifty tickets and expect to collect for them. Therefore, we have to find either fifty fellows with $100 or we have to find 500 fellows with $10. In doing that, we hope to finance a little bit of the campaign. You see, when we go out to write ads in the newspapers, we have to pay for them. We do not get the free publicity that the Republican Party has been able to get over the years. If they can get for us the same consideration that they get from the lobbyists and from the newspapers, we will not ask anybody to come to our dinners because, truly, it hurts us, too, to have to ask people for money in order to represent people here in Harrisburg.

I am sure that no person who received that letter will feel that he is obligated to buy a ticket. Can anyone show me any better method than the method we use, in which we write a letter that is public, a letter which if it were not public would soon be made public by the Majority Leader, if he gets a hold of it? Certainly, there is nothing dishonest or dishonorable in writing and asking people to attend, if they care to, a dinner and a dance, with an orchestra and a floor show, topnotch speakers, including your humble servant and a few others who will probably give their services for nothing, to try to raise a little money to beat the Republicans.

Mr. President, I do not think Senator Mahany is so angry about the letters going to the liquor store employees and other State employees. What he is really mad about is that we are going to raise some money. For the first time in many, many years, we will probably be able to raise at least a dime for every dollar that the Republicans raise. If we get a dime, it will be a lot of money in our Party and I think we will do a bang-up job come November. If Senator Mahany is peeved because he did not get an invitation, I, personally, will extend to him an invitation and for $100 you, too, can attend and be entertained by brilliant speakers and scintillating ladies.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, Senator Dent is just a little bit too late. I not only received an invitation to this dinner, but also received an offer of a free gift of a ticket. I might be there after all.

I also want to say to Senator Dent that he does not make me cry too much over the Democrats' lack of funds. I think that they put on a pretty good television program. I believe it far outweighed ours in numbers, and probably in quality, when Governor Leader was running against Lieutenant-Governor Wood. I think that the Democrats certainly did not have a lack of funds at that time. They had a lot of advertising in the newspapers, on the radio and on television. I feel that they will have just as much money, if not more, this year and next year and the next year after that to wage their political campaigns. I do not object to that. I do think, though, they were wrong in sending out this letter to our liquor store employees who cannot afford that amount of money to come down here to a $100 dinner.

As I have stated before, the Democratic Party is certainly not lacking in angels. The Republican Party does not have a monopoly on all of the rich people. Just the other day I read in the newspaper about a couple of outstanding Democrats who were attending a wedding over in Monaco. I noticed that one of the chief Democrats from Pennsylvania was a fellow by the name of McCloskey who, I believe, is the treasurer of this group. He reported that he had lost, or his wife had lost, about $50,000 worth of jewelry. I do not know of any Republicans around who, if they had gone to this Monaco wedding, would have carried that amount of jewelry with them. I believe there were also some other Democrats over there who, when their backs were turned, had some jewelry taken from them. Therefore, I would suggest to Senator Dent that when these wedding guests come back, if they have any jewelry left, they pawn a little of it and contribute something to their party.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, there may be something in what Senator Mahany said; that our angels were all in Monaco. I noticed that this man Lark, who Mr. Cummings says sounds like a frog, said that one group spent $250,000 in the Primary and the other group spent $125,000. Our total bills amounted to $1,100 for printing. I do not know where you got that $375,000, but I am sure you got it from some pretty good fat cats. I assure you that the money we are going to get from this dinner will be gotten from the little man, the people whom we represent here in the Senate. If we have $375,000 for the fall campaign in Pennsylvania, we will consider ourselves fortunate. You fellows just put it down the drain for a useless primary election.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I think one of the main reasons why Senator Mahany objected to this matter is because this letter was sent to civil service employees.

I have spoken many times on this floor about the duties of employees under civil service. I have said that when you put employees under civil service, they then feel they are above and different from other people. They are not so active in their civic affairs back home. They think they are a separate group, and above others, and do not have to bow to anybody.

Mr. President, I think it is a very good thing for the civil service employees of this State to get a letter like that in order to remind them that they are citizens of this State of ours and that they have duties to perform outside of their duties as civil service employees.

I am sure that some civil service employes will buy a ticket. However, there will only be a few because civil service employees generally feel they do not have to do anything to help their government.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, one of the things, in my opinion, that was lacking in connection with this dinner was State-wide publicity. I know a good many people in my county who, perhaps, would like to attend this dinner but know nothing about it, and they will know something about it now.

Mr. President, I want to thank Senator Mahany for raising the question and giving the dinner the shot in the arm which is needed. I hope the news boys will give this debate publicity to which it is entitled.

HONORABLE BERTRAM G. FRAZIER PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I note in our midst today one who served us very faithfully and very well some years ago in the Senate. He is a young man from Philadelphia, who was a Republican Senator here some years ago. We all grew to like him very much, we admired his ability and we enjoyed his friendship. I speak of Bert Frazier, and I would ask the Chair to welcome him back to our fold.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, among others, has been happy to meet Senator Frazier today and would suggest that he now stand in place and be recognized.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, I even noted that my distinguished successor applauded me also.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. We do not know whether he is applauding you or applauding the fact that he won.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, yesterday these great United States of our lost one of its greatest statesmen. I am speaking of the great "Veep," Alben Barkley.

Mr. President, I know Alben Barkley was loved by all the people as a great statesman, a great humanitarian and a wonderful story-teller. I recall that the last time I heard Alben Barkley speak was at a dinner in Philadelphia, which I believe was held for Mr. Stevenson. I recall at that time there was a great question as to what was going to happen between the North and the South. There has always been that question of the great division, and Barkley told this story.

He said, "The problem of the North and the South is somewhat similar to the problem of an individual who had a very beautiful wife. It so happened that she had many, many admirers. This beautiful woman died and out at the graveyard, during the course of the burial services, several of her admirers were grief stricken and they displayed their grief. The husband of the beautiful wife said, as he put his arms around their shoulders, 'Don't grieve too much. I plan to marry again.'" That was the story told by Alben Barkley.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE FAMILY OF THE LATE UNITED STATES SENATOR ALBEN BARKLEY

Messrs. LANE, BARR, STIEFEL, DENT and MAHANY offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 1, 1956.

Yesterday the beloved Veep quit our life with a prayer on his lips and a prayer in his heart. He died as he lived in the service of mankind for the love of God.

Alben Barkley was that highest type of statesman whose life brings glory to our Nation, honor to our people and great affection for himself.

He possessed a great good humor and a natural dignity. As a consequence the mere mention of his name conjures up memories of anecdotes either of him or about him. With the memory comes a good feeling of well being, for kindliness is the theme of each one. He poked gentle fun at pomposity but he had a true reverence for humanity, a real love for every human being God created.

He will long be remembered for his good humor and his stories will take their place among those of Lincoln and Mark Twain. That contribution alone is sufficient cause to call him great, but he will be remembered too for his service to his State and Nation. He occupied high political office, Congressman, Senator and Vice-President and brought honor to each through his spirit of dedication, genuine humility, integrity, ability and capacity for hard work. He labored long and hard in the public service and he labored well. During the difficult days of the depression and later during the war he served as Majority Leader in the Senate of the United States. The great accomplishments of our government during that time, the benefits which we take for granted now, depended in large part upon the skill, endeavor and diplomacy of this man. He guided the legislative programs of the administration through many a tempestuous session of the Senate, but with such a delicacy that even those who disagreed were satisfied that an honorable work had been well done.

He loved the living and he loved to make living easier for them. He played a part in giving all of us more material comforts but he played an even greater part in giving all of us more spiritual comforts. His life can teach us the value of integrity and courage in public office, of gentle good humor and patience in our intercourse with fellowmen, of a spirit of service and a willingness to serve, of a dedication to family life and of unreserved loyalty to our Nation and her institutions; and that all of these things proffered as a prayer to God, give only a happy life and comfort of conscience to him who would have them.

When the end came, he was in the element in which he lived, spreading cheer to those about him, rededicating his life to his God, and giving of his precious time to the youth of our Nation, a fitting climax to a life well lived; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania pause in contemplation of the good works of Alben Barkley and breathe a prayer of thanksgiving to God that he lived; and be it further

Resolved, That we extend our individual sympathy to his family and friends in their hour of terrible loss, but bid them solace in the knowledge that he has received the promised reward of God; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mrs. Alben Barkley, his beloved wife and partner.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A THOROUGH STUDY OF THE PROBLEMS ARISING IN RELATION TO THE ECONOMIC DELVELOPMENT, UTILIZATION AND CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY IN THE COMMONWEALTH FOR PEACEFUL PURPOSES

Messrs. LANE, STIEFEL, SEYLER and MAHANY offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, May 1, 1956.

In recent years the production and use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes designed to promote and improve the public health, safety and economic welfare of the people of this Commnowealth, as well as the people of the United States, is no longer an exclusive Federal matter or responsibility. In many instances private corporations within the boundaries of a given state have been assigned the difficult task of conducting atomic research and building nuclear reactors and other equipment necessary for the production and development of atomic energy.

It is time that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which history shows was always progressive and forward looking in new economic development, to take immediate steps to attract such industry. Of course the production of and utilization of atomic energy by private industry for peaceful purposes will give rise to many problems which Pennsylvania must solve such as the control of investment capital, protection of employes in the production of atomic energy, the many economic problems involved in inducing atomic industries to settle here, and the effect of such atomic industry on employment and other industries in the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of the problems arising in relation to the economic development, utilization and control of atomic energy in the Commonwealth for peaceful purposes; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next succeeding biennial session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation if necessary, to carry the recommendations into effect.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I am sure you will all take judicial cognizance of the fact that I am one of the greatest admirers of the learned Senator from Erie, Senator Blass. I have great admiration for his astuteness and adroitness as the Chairman of the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish. I highly respect him, and he has been a great champion of Pennsylvania's history with one slight exception. They say there is always a drop of some diluent in a barrel of honey, and Senator Blass turned a deaf ear to my pleas about Senate Bills No. 804 and No. 936.

Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 804 was originally introduced, after the disasterous flood last August, to remedy certain defects in our children's camping laws. As a matter of fact, all over the United States laws pertaining to children's camps are the crying need of the hour. Questions of medical help, questions of sanitation, questions of protection against possible invasion and, of course, registration are confronting parents today. However, there are many charitable and religious groups that objected because of the severity of Senate Bill No. 804, which was sponsored by Senator Lane and myself. Accordingly, I receded and, together with Senator Lane, I offered a diluted and much less powerful bill, which is Senate Bill No. 936. Even this bill has been attacked by certain groups.

Apparently, in an election year, when people do not want to incur any animosity, Senator Blass did not want to have any criticism from certain groups and, therefore, when the question came up before the committee, both Senate Bill No. 804 and Senate Bill No. 936 fell and they are now dead.

Mr. President, all I have to do now is salvage at least something. For this reason, Senator Lane and I are offering the following resolution, asking the Joint State Government Commission to undertake a thorough study of the subject. God knows what type of people come here from New York and adjacent States and maintain camps here and derive fabulous profits. We entrust to these people our children for two or three months during the summer without passing upon the qualifications of the counselors, without looking into the food which is being served and without inquiring about the medical aid that would be available in a disaster.

For that reason, Mr. President, I believe this is a challenging topic for the Joint State Government Commission.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY AND INVESTIGATE ALL LAWS AND REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO DAY CAMPS, RESIDENT CAMPS AND OTHER OUTDOOR FACILITIES OPERATED AND CONDUCTED FOR RECREATION, GROUP LIVING, EDUCATION AND SOCIAL ADJUSTMENT

Messrs. STIEFEL and LANE offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, May 1, 1956.

Whereas, during the disastrous floods of 1955, the civil defense authorities of Pennsylvania as well as its National Guard could not come to the rescue of children at many summer camps because of the total lack of a systematic registration of the names and locations of such camps. Only the miraculous aid of the United States Navy helicopters averted at the last moment, horrendous catastrophies and a staggering loss of life, by saving hundreds of campers from amidst deadly swirling torrents; and

Whereas, the lack of a systematic and central registration of summer camps for children also hampers the effective enforcement of many salutary laws now in effect in this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, a collation of the various statutory provisions applicable to summer camping for children is long overdue and is imperative for the detection of numerous lacunae as well as inadequacies in coping with deficiencies whenever and wherever they may exist in summer camps for children in Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, the promised "voluntary code" which is now being evolved by many agencies generally, and the Pennsylvania Camping Federation in particular, concerned with child welfare and the promotion thereof, as well as by responsible camp owners, may be unduly delayed in assuming final shape and even if adopted by many camps, church groups and charitable and civic organizations may be flayed by recalcitrants; now therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), that the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study and investigate all laws and regulations pertaining to day camps, resident camps and other outdoor facilities operated and conducted for recreation, group living, education and social adjustment; the operation, conduct, control, and management of such camps; and the feasibility of further regulating, licensing and registering the same; and be it further

Resolved, that the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations together with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have no objection to the purpose of this resolution, but I feel that it is one that should be referred to the Rules Committee. If the Rules Committee feels that it is something the Joint State Government Commission should do and does not now have the power to do, then we certainly will be happy to report the resolution from committee in the very near future.

Therefore, Mr. President, I object to its immediate consideration.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I would like to ask Senator Mahany to answer this question. Will the Committee on Rules be meeting often between now and the day of adjournment? I notice that this committee is going to have a tremendous load and I am afraid it may be that in the pressure of the last days of the Session, some of these bills may vanish inadvertently.

Mr. MAHANY. In answer to the Senator's question, we have a very cooperative meeting of the Rules Committee each morning in my office, at which both your Democratic colleagues, who are members of the Rules Committee, and your Republican colleagues attend. We get along pretty well and I feel sure that your resolution will be given consideration. If we find it worthwhile, we will be glad to report it out tomorrow.

Mr. STIEFEL. Is breakfast served with your compliments?

Mr. MAHANY. So far, we have not had any breakfasts there. However, that is a good idea.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BLASS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I want to say to the Members of the Senate that I have the highest regard for the Senator from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, for his wealth of knowledge of history and his interest in historic shrines, as well as the Senator from Washington. I want to tell both Senators that I extended them every courtesy in connection with Senate Bill No. 936 before the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish. The bill was properly presented to the committee, but was rejected by the committee. I am now sure that the Senator has taken the proper course.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At this time, because of certain duties requiring his attention, the Chair would relinquish its position to the President pro tempore of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 147, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" providing for increasing the membership of county boards of school directors in certain counties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 147, on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I do not think I will bother to ask the obvious question of Senator Pechan as to why this bill is being recommitted. I am sure that it is being recommitted for further study and not with any intention of killing the bill. However, I read the bill and find it to be a very short and simple bill. I see no need for further study.

If there should be anything in Senator Pechan's mind or if anybody else has any idea of killing the bill, then

I would like to know why that is. The bill simply says that in counties having over 80,000 population and desiring to have seven members on their county boards, the board by resolution, may increase the number from five to seven. It does not say that any county must do it. If anyone thinks it is a bad idea for their county, it does not tell that county it must do it. It simply says that in those large counties they shall have seven people participate in the deliberations of the county board instead of five.

Mr. President, this seems to be a good bill. It seems to me that there is no point in recommitting it. Therefore, I wish to be recorded as voting "no" on the motion to recommit.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to assure the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, that we do not have any desire to kill this bill by recommitting it to the Committee on Education. However, we did want to clear the Calendar on these bills.

I would suggest to the Senator that he have the sponsor of this bill come over and advise us on it. I do not know what motivated Mr. Brennan when he sponsored this bill, but I know that when I was a Member of the House and I sponsored legislation, I used to come over here to the Senate on many occasions and explain the legislation that I had sponsored to my Senator. The Member of the Senate from my District at that time was Senator Thomas. We worked together in getting out legislation. I would suggest that perhaps this might be done in this case. Perhaps Mr. Brennan would come over and tell us what he had in mind in relation to this bill.

In order to give him the opportunity to do that, I would suggest to my Assistant that he withdraw his motion to recommit the bill and let it go over until tomorrow.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would be very happy to avail myself of this opportunity. I believe Mr. Brennan is interested and I will be very happy to have him come over and speak to the Senator and also to Senator Mahany. Senator Mahanay is from Titusville, which is not near Bucks County, but I think he, too, would like to hear the reasons.

Mr. President, I thank the gentleman very much for the opportunity.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

MOTION TO RECOMMITT BILL WITHDRAWN

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion to recommit House Bill No. 147 to the Committee on Education.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 672, on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am sure that you and many Members of the Senate remember the famous passage from Roman history. When the gladiators used to come into the arena, they would exclaim, "Ave Caesar, morituri te salutant!" "Long live Caesar. Those who are about to die, salute thee."

Now, Mr. President, we are about to die, so we have to salute. However, this bill is not going down to defeat just so, you see. I want to deliver a long oration.

My inquiry is whether you can stand at this time for an hour's speech. If you can, I am ready to proceed; if you cannot, I will deliver it tomorrow.

Mr. PECHAN. You may as well get it over with. We will take it now.

Mr. President, could we put the bill over temporarily?

Mr. STIEFEL. That applies to the next bill, too, I trust. You have two bills that you are going to recommit for further study, Senate Bill No. 672 and Senate Bill No. 673. Do you want to hear the speech now?

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL WITHDRAWN

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1060, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1335) entitled "Pennsylvania Hospital Survey and Construction Act" by requiring that non-Federal funds be available before application shall be made for hospital construction projects to be owned or operated by the State

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, my attention was diverted. Are we discussing Senate Bill No. 1060?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to make a few remarks on the bill.

Mr. President, I feel that there are some people who are missing the point on this bill. It seems to me that this bill makes a rather radical change in the relationship between the administrative, that is the Executive Branch of the Commonwealth, and the Legislative Branch. This bill would provide that the Secretary of Welfare, who hitherto has administered Federal funds under the regulations laid down by the Federal Government, would now be required, in any case in which he proposed to use any part of this for State purposes, to have specific legislative appropriations passed for those purposes. That is to say, unless a specific appropriation bill for some express purpose were passed, he would be unable to use any part of this money for State purposes.

I think I appreciate the motivation and the rationale of the people who are the proponents of this bill. However, I wonder if they realize that they are putting into law here something which, in my opinion, would hamstring the administration, in this instance the Department of Welfare, in so far as it deals with the administration of these Federal funds which, we all know, must be matched by State funds if they are going to be used for State purposes, or local funds if they are for local purposes and private funds if they are for private purposes. I think this is a far-reaching action that we are taking. I think it is one that is setting, what seems to me, a dangerous precedent.

I am a Member of the Legislative Branch, as is everyone here who is listening. However, I think we would agree that it is a desirable thing to have a separation of powers between the Legislative and the Executive Branches of the Government. I believe that this is making an inroad on the Executive Branch which, casting aside any personal feelings toward any specific member of the Executive Branch or toward any specific act of a member of the Executive Branch, would not to any reasonable person, it seems to me, be a desirable action. In other words, I am trying to say that I do not think we should allow any feeling we may have about one specific act to persuade us to do something which will be far-reaching in its effects and which will disturb the balance between the Legislative and the Executive Branches of Government. As far as I am concerned, I think it is ill-advised and bad legislation.

For that reason, Mr. President, I intend to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Pechan, we have heard a number of discussions on this particular bill. We have had some so-called experts over from the Department of Welfare to discuss it with us. I wonder if you would tell the Members of the Senate what, in your opinion, this bill actually does.

Mr. PECHAN. The purpose of the bill, if I may make an explanation as to why I sponsored this bill, is the fact that the Secretary of Welfare, in some of his press releases, said that he would use the $10,000,000 that is available under the Hill-Burton Act for State mental health hospitals, disregarding any of the other hospitals which have in the past been allocated certain moneys in their building programs. For instance, in Butler and Armstrong Counties, the hospitals, if it were possible, could add more bed space to the existing facilities that we have there only because the Hill-Burton funds were made available.

As we were made to understand, Secretary Shapiro was going to take the entire $10,000,000 and use it for State purposes. That is the reason why this bill was sponsored by me. I sponsored it so that Secretary Shapiro would not use the money for that sole purpose.

Mr. LANE. Is that all?

Mr. PECHAN. I am willing to be questioned further if I have not answered your question.

Mr. LANE. As I understand it, the Hill-Burton Act provides the entire allocation or appropriation of $10,000,000. Is that correct?

Mr. PECHAN. There is $10,000,000 under the Federal funds.

Mr. LANE. Is any portion of that $10,000,000 earmarked for any particular category of hospitalization?

Mr. PECHAN. I am not that familiar with it. However, if I recall, there are four categories for which the Hill-Burton moneys, under the Federal Act, can be used. Our experience here has been that the money has always been used for these private institutions that have these building programs. I think there are twenty-one hospitals that have been promised certain money so they could go ahead with their building programs. They had drives where they went from house to house. They have industry raise so much money, and then this money is matched with the Hill-Burton money and then they go ahead and proceed. Of course, all of the hospitals were disturbed after the survey was made and they were put into certain categories.

I believe early in the 1955 Session, from the Democratic side of the Senate, we were pressured that we pass an appropriation so that this survey could go on. There are various hospitals that are in the process of being built or having additions made, and we were rushed into passing this appropriation, I think, of $750,000. It seems to me that this money would be entirely wasted if the Secretary of Welfare would use the $10,000,000 for his own purposes. I do not mean his own purposes, but I mean for State mental health purposes.

Mr. LANE. Senator Pechan, it is my understanding that the State must put up two-thirds and the Federal Government will put up one-third. Is that correct?

Mr. PECHAN. I do not know whether that is true or not.

Mr. LANE. That is my understanding.

Mr. PECHAN. Do you mean for State hospitals?

Mr. LANE. Yes.

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, I think that is correct.

Mr. LANE. All right; as a matter of fact, we should read this amendment over and arrive at an understanding.

"Section 13 Construction Projects Applications Applications for hospital construction projects for which Federal funds are requested shall be submitted to the Secretary and may be submitted by the State or any political subdivision thereof or by any public or non-profit agency authorized to construct and operate a hospital provided however that no such applications for hospital construction projects to be owned or operated by the State shall be submitted by the State unless all funds required for such construction other than Federal funds shall first have been made available by appropriation for that expressed purpose"—the term "expressed purpose" is used —"or by allocation by the General State Authority pursuant to an act authorizing such allocation for that expressed purpose."

I am trying to find out whether, in the event that we tried to build a State hospital here, the legislation must spell out expressly that the money is to be allocated for that particular hospital.

Mr. PECHAN. If Hill-Burton money is to be used yes.

Mr. LANE. It must be spelled out then, is that correct? Do you follow my thinking on this? In other words, if we go to build a hospital and we pass an appropriation bill, it will be expressly implied in the legislation that that is what the money is for, is that right?

Mr. PECHAN. Are you talking about a State hospital?

Mr. LANE. Yes, a State hospital.

Mr. PECHAN. Yes.

Mr. LANE. Thank you, that is all I want to know.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I just wanted to say to the Senator from Washington that we have allocated $43,000,000 in our General State Authority appropriation bill for State hospitals, to be used by Secretary Shapiro's Department for mental hospitals. Now $43,000,000 in one biennium is a lot of building. The $10,000,000, which the private hospitals need and have depended upon over a long period of time, is provided for by this legislation. This bill was introduced so that those twenty-one hospitals, which have had this building program, will not have to go wanting.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we are not arguing that point at all. I agree with Senator Pechan's statements. However, I wanted to make it clear for the record so that we will know exactly what we are doing. We are not arguing with Senator Pechan's position. We want this for the record, because there has been sort of a misunderstanding as to the actual legislative intent of this amendment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to support this bill. I do so because I am convinced that the program as it has been handled in the past, in so far as returning these moneys to the local hospitals on a matching base, is a worthwhile and workable and laudable program.

Mr. President, I can understand the situation that Secretary Shapiro thought he was going to be in. When he first announced this program he was, in my opinion, operating under the impression that there would not be any money for mental institutions. However, in the face of a program which has already cleared both Caucuses, as I understand, for approximately $43,000,000 for the mental health program of the Commonwealth under the General State Authority, I believe it is essential that $880,000 be spent by the Department of Welfare in the four categories of classification as stipulated by the Federal Act, such as rehabilitation, diagnostic and treatment centers, chronic disease hospitals and wards, and nursing homes. That $880,000 will definitely be spent on a matching base in these four categories, leaving $9,000,000.

There is nothing in this bill, Senate Bill No. 1060, Printer's No. 662, which is before us today that stops the Secretary of Welfare from taking any or all of the $9,000,000 and allocating it to the private hospitals of this State on a matching base, and allocating it specifically for the mental if he so desires.

As I understand it, Mr. President, the Secretary of Welfare right now has a program laid out with one of the large hospitals in Pittsburgh whereby they are going to make available, I think, 400 beds for mental patients, and in so doing they would put up two-thirds and the Secretary will allocate one-third of the $9,000,000. This does not, in any way, alter that program. He can put the money into the various hospitals according to their priorities. As I understand it, this priority list has been built up over the years and as each hospital reaches the priority list, they can get certain moneys.

I do not believe that in the face of the situation as we find it on the General State Authority program, we should allow this money, in the sum of $9,000,000 of the Hill-Burton Funds, to be expended as matching funds for the General State Authority because if you do that, you will then have a program of $52,000,000 in your mental health program. I believe that our local hospitals are in need of this money a great deal more than the mental institutions are when we consider that after a great deal of deliberation, the Republican leadership agreed to raise the allocation from $32,000,000 to $43,000,000. I think that amount is sufficient, for the time we have to work in, to take care of at least three mental institutions for retarded children, which is the number one problem that we have before us.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, it was not my intention originally to argue the merits of the Secretary's acts. I was simply arguing the principle of the bill. However, I would say that if the gentleman on the other side will look at the record, he will find there is no other State which has devoted the moneys to the purpose for which they are devoted in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

As a matter of fact, Mr. President, it requires a straining of the provisions of the Federal act in order to permit Pennsylvania to expend the moneys as they have in the past because the act clearly states that the money is to be used for four purposes, of which the private hospitals are only one, and that they are to be kept on balance.

If the gentleman will investigate, he will find that the practice in other States is to keep it on balance. One of the four uses to which the money is supposed to be devoted is mental health, to which none of the money ever received by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania since the inception of the Federal act has ever been devoted.

So much for that, Mr. President. I would like to say that I think perhaps the colloquy between Senator Lane and Senator Pechan might have confused some people a little. My objection to this act is a fundamental one. It is not a question of the Secretary's acts. I intimated in the beginning that I understood the motivation that was back of his bill. It was an attempt to strike back at an action which people considered improper. However, this bill goes much further than that and the words I object to are the four words "for that expressed purpose" which are repeated twice in this bill. I have no objection to saying "that no such applications for hospital construction projects to be owned or operated by the State shall be submitted by the State unless all funds required for such construction other than Federal funds shall first have been made available by appropriation." I think that language is entirely proper but when you add the words, "for that expressed purpose," you tie, in the future, the hands of any Secretary of Welfare who conceivably, gentlemen, might have a very great need for the use of these funds in the Commonwealth, and unless an appropriation is passed specificially naming the project, that use of the funds would be impossible. That is not the intent of the Federal bill.

This is not the practice in any other State and, in my opinion, it is a step toward disturbing the balance between the executive and legislative departments. I think it is on those grounds that we should all think seriously, not only about this Secretary of Welfare or any specific act of his but of the matter of policy represented in this legislation.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to get into debate with my colleague, Senator Seyler. Each of us, of course, is entitled to his own interpretation and to his own opinion of what he believes to be the proper sphere for legislative action.

Mr. President, one thing I want to correct Senator Seyler about is that the question of being on balance has never been taken into serious consideration by the State. I think you will find that when the department took the position that they were off balance in the categorical spending of the Hill-Burton Funds in the past, they only considered the base of State institutions as being considered an unbalanced equation, because they have spent the money specifically for mental health. For instance, Senator Ruth just reminded me that their hospital in Reading received a half-million-dollar grant which was specifically earmarked for a mental hospital.

Mr. President, this program can be balanced in the categories that the Federal Government demands that it be balanced in, and the only thing we are trying to do is to see to it that where we have institutions ready and willing to serve in the community as State hospitals in certain wards and sections for the categories as described in the Hill-Burton Act, we ought to take advantage of that on the local base. I think the sooner we take more advantage of that type of hospitalization, particularly in the mental field, the quicker we will come to a more permanent solution of the problem of mental health.

I am convinced that smaller units are the answer to the mental health disease and problem. Maybe I am wrong, but I honestly believe that this is where we will find the solution to it.

On top of that, Mr. President, although other States do not restrict the spending as you say, neither are there many States that have a General State Authority program which has built approximately $330,000,000 worth of institutions in the past seven years. We find that if we are going to be liberal in our construction program on a State basis, then we must help the private institutions to carry out part of the load. I do not believe we are smart in centralizing hospitalization no matter what category it is.

This is no quarrel with Secretary Shapiro. I intend to fight for every cent I can get of General State Authority money for the mental health institutional program, and to fight for every cent I can get for the mental health program under the Department of Welfare, headed by Secretary Shapiro. However, when I think it is wrong, I think I have a right to stand up here and fight for what I think is the proper thing for Pennsylvania.

In so far as usurping the powers of the administrative branch, my dear Senator Seyler, for twenty-two years I have seen the Legislature so completely overrun by administrative policy, and the administrative branch of government, that I sometimes wonder if it would not pay each Member of the Legislature to pick up the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania and find out for himself that we are an equal brother and branch of government. If we are saying in a sense, legislatively, that this department of administration cannot do a certain thing, that is a legislative function. If, in the future, this particular restriction works any kind of a hardship on the department, the Legislature then, in its wisdom—and I am sure there will be sufficient wisemen in the Legislature—should pass a repeal law.

Mr. President, it is our job to pass legislation and it is the administration's job to administer it. If we say this is now we want it administered, that is the way it ought to be administered.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, because our mental institutions are over-crowded and there is a need for additional space to house mental patients, I probably should vote against this bill so that Mr. Shapiro could use the Hill-Burton Funds that are available. Moreover, when I consider the fact that a part of these funds were allocated to the city of Bethlehem for an addition to St. Luke's Hospital, which is now under construction, I ought to vote for the bill so that other communities could be given the same advantages as were given to the city of Bethlehem.

Mr. President, it seems to me that when Mr. Shapiro announced that he would use these funds for State mental construction purposes, he did not then know that the Legislature was going to provide funds through the General State Authority for mental institution construction. However, since that fact is agreed upon and there does not seem to be any objection to it, and since Mr. Shapiro has the money that he needs for additional mental institution construction, I do not see why he should need these Hill-Burton Funds. At the same time, I am inclined to agree with Senator Seyler when he said that perhaps it would be bad to tie the hands of future secretaries of Welfare by the passage of this bill.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. YOSKO. Accordingly, Mr. President, because of the situation I am in, and based on the belief that Mr. Shapiro will not use these funds because funds are being provided to him, I move that we recommit this bill to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare for further study and consultation with Mr. Shapiro so that the situation as it is can remain status quo.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this motion. I am very much interested in the passage of this bill. I think we have had considerable debate here and it has been most healthy. The local hospitals need these funds and I, for one, represent a District in which at least two of the hospitals are on the priority list and have depended upon these funds and must look to them for the extension of these hospitals in order to have additional beds.

I could not at this time vote in favor of the recommittal of the bill because by so doing, my vote would be in the nature of a vote against the bill. I so announce and intend to vote against this motion to recommit.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I find myself in a position whereby I, too, must oppose this motion to recommit. When this bill first came out on the Calendar, I was inclined to oppose the passage of this legislation because I felt it was a direct stab at the Secretary of Welfare. However, after reviewing the contents and the fact that we now have some $43,000,000 allocated by the General State Authority for our mental health program, and the matching feature involved, in all fairness to our hospitals and looking at it objectively from the local point of view, actually, I cannot see where this bill is going to do any harm whatsoever to the operation of the Welfare Department. Therefore, I am inclined and I must vote "no" on this motion to recommit.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

Shall the bill pass finally?

Almighty God, the Father of all mankind, who art righteousness and truth, we humbly pray that Thou wouldst keep our love for our country from being blind. Help us to make this nation more like Thy kingdom in the practice of justice and brotherhood and in the quest of peace.

Teach us, O Father, the meaning of community. Help us to know that it means much more than so many houses standing near each other; that it means people sharing with each other, sharing life and things and friendliness and responsibilities and opportunities. Make us to see that because we receive so much of good from others, we should be channels through which goodness flows.

Hear our prayer O God, and grant unto the Members of this body Thy guidance, we humbly beseech Thee in Jesus' name. Amen.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, May 1, 1956.

In recent years the production and use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes designed to promote and improve the public health, safety and economic welfare of the people of this Commonwealth, as well as the people of the United States, is no longer an exclusive Federal matter or responsibility. In many instances private corporations within the boundaries of a given state have been assigned the difficult task of conducting atomic research and building nuclear reactors and other equipment necessary for the production and development of atomic energy.

It is time that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which history shows was always progressive and forward looking in new economic development, to take immediate steps to attract such industry. Of course the production of and utilization of atomic energy by private industry for peaceful purposes will give rise to many problems which Pennsylvania must solve such as the control of investment capital, protection of employes in the production of atomic energy, the many economic problems involved in inducing atomic industries to settle here, and the effect of such atomic industry on employment and other industries in the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring) That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of the problems arising in relation to the economic development, utilization, and control of atomic energy in the Commonwealth for peaceful purposes; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next succeeding biennial session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation if necessary, to carry the recommendations into effect.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

HOUSE RULE 50 SUSPENDED

Mr. READINGER offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 1, 1956.

Resolved, That House Rule No. 50, which reads:

"50. Any House bill placed upon the postponed calendar not called up within five days in which the House is in session, after being placed upon said calendar, shall be dropped unless the time be extended by vote of the House, upon motion for cause shown."

be suspended for the balance of this regular session.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, we have been obtaining extensions of time for quite a while on bills on the postponed calendar. At this time I desire to present a resolution to suspend House Rule 50 for the balance of this session. This is the Rule which requires a bill to be dropped from the calendar after five legislative days, unless the time is extended.

This resolution is presented solely for the purpose of expediting the business of the House inasmuch as the bills on the postponed calendar will be called up and processed as soon as can be done, but it cannot be done within the five-day period.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, just for the information of the Members on our side of the House, I am inclined to agree with the Majority Leader that this would help expedite the business of the House. I would ask that the Members of the House go along with this resolution which has just been presented.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The roll was called and was as follows:

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. BULLEN, LIPPINCOTT, ISAACS, FOSTER and BELL offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 1, 1956.

On Tuesday, April 24, 1956 one of our State's most devoted servants passed his earthly test and went to the divine reward.

M. Joseph Connelly began this life in Conshohocken, Montgomery County. He was the son of William M. and Margaret E. (Kehoe) Connelly. He was educated in St. Matthews Parochial Schools, Schisslers College of Business, Norristown and the School of Local and State Government, University of Pennsylvania.

His formal education complete, and equipped with a sense of duty to his fellow man and willingness to serve he embarked upon a career dedicated to his community and State. His entire adult life was devoted to the public service. He was in his twenty-sixth year as a township commissioner of Upper Darby Township and served as President of the Pennsylvania State Association of Township Commissioners. In appreciation of his endeavors the American Legion Post No. 214, Upper Darby, awarded him a citation for service to his community.

In 1952 he was elected to this House. He served his State energetically and with distinction and honor, and earned the respect and friendship of every member of this House; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hold this man up to the public as an example of all that is good and fine in a public servant, and as an example of the life that every young man should emulate; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their individual sympathy to his family and friends in the loss of their loved one; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to his family at 119 Hampden Road, Upper Darby, Pennsylvania

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in the Sunday Patriot-News of April 29th a very interesting article appeared written by one of our diligent correspondents, Mr. John Scotzin, in his column "On the Hill."

This article related to the number of people on the state payroll, and this is the information which is disclosed. The figures have been received from State Treasurer Weldon B. Heyburn.

On March, 1954, there was a total of 61,095 people on the payroll. On February, 1956, there was a total of 66,001 persons on the payroll. In other words 4,906 more people are on the payroll as of February, 1956 compared with two years before.

What is the significance of the fact that practically 5,000 more people are on the payroll? I say it is significant for the reason that 5,000 persons are added to the payroll unnecessarily at an approximate salary of $3,000 per individual, and that is $15 million a year, or $30 million a biennium. There is the $30 million that Governor Leader needs in order to carry out his promise to the teachers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In connection with this disclosure by Mr. Scotzin, I would like to call to the attention of the House that he agrees with Dr. Gale K. Lawrence, the Director of Personnel, who some months ago was criticized and chastised by the chief brain truster, Dr. Charlesworth, because he disclosed that 5,000 to 10,000 extra people were upon the state payroll.

Having learned there are 5,000 more people on the payroll in 1956 as compared with 1954 in comparable months, March and February, I now realize why a certain bill, House Bill 168, introduced by the Speaker on February 7, 1955, still reposes in the Judiciary Special Committee.

This bill, for the information of the Members of the House, merely provided as follows and I shall read from the bill:

> Each month thereafter no later than the tenth day of the month the heads of the several administrative departments and the several independent administrative boards and commissions shall notify the Auditor General the State Treasurer and the Budget Secretary of the number of persons hired and the number of employes discharged or separated which shall have occurred during the preceding month.
> The information received by the Auditor General the State Treasurer and the Budget Secretry under this section shall be public information.

Here is the significant portion of the proposed legislation:

> In order to keep the public fully advised as to the number of persons being employed by the Commonwealth the Auditor General shall publish in one newspaper of general circulation in Allegheny Dauphin Erie and Philadelphia Counties on or before the twentieth day of each month a complete and detailed statement as to the total number of employes on the payroll of the Commonwealth exclusive of the judiciary. The report shall specifically set forth the number of new employes hired and the number of employes discharged or separated from the State service for any reason.

I can realize why this particular bill, House Bill 168, has not seen the light of day. It has not seen the light of day because the Democratic administration has been unable to carry out the campaign promise of Governor Leader that he would save this Commonwealth at least $100 million in good old Democratic economy.

We realize, of course, that this particular remark was made in the heat of the campaign. However, on January 25, 1955, our Majority Leader asked permission to address the House. In that address he said:

> I think it is wise that this be done so that the public has easy access to the platform of the Democratic Party and can best judge after the Session has come to a conclusion whether or not we have fulfilled the promises made which were adopted in due course by the State Democratic Committee * * * *

One of those promises which was read into the record is as follows:

> Using as a basis the Chesterman Committee report which revealed that after proper reforms, savings of $100,000,000 could be effected each biennium.

I say to you, we have almost passed the biennium. Has the Democratic Party fulfilled the promise of its Governor and has the Democratic party fulfilled its platform?

I say to you that the facts show that 5,000 more people are on the payroll. This is contrary to the entire platform and to the spoken words of our present Governor.

I call to the attention of the Chairman of the Judiciary Special Committee that House Bill 168 deserves consideration. It deserves consideration because of the fact that the taxpayers of Pennsylvania are entitled to know how many people are on the payroll and so it will be unnecessary for vigilant newspapermen to dig into the facts and to apprise the public of them.

It also should be passed so that our new Auditor General, Charles C. Smith, shall have some added duties.

Mr. READINGER. I was wondering, Mr. Speaker whether there are any more political speeches to be made or whether we can conclude the business of the House for the day.

The SPEAKER. Shall the Chair say that the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader have no further business to bring before the House?

Mr. READINGER. No, Mr. Speaker, I desire to make several motions before we conclude for the day.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 895, Printer's No. 1700, together with communication from the Senate be taken from the table.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I wonder whether the Majority Floor Leader would agree to pass over this bill for about five minutes. I expect my speech, which I promised yesterday to deliver, to come from the printer and it will arrive here momentarily. Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I did not understand the gentleman, but if he wants something, I will go along with it temporarily.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?
Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, my father told me one time that if you gave Senator Dent an inch, he would take a mile.
Mr. President, I cannot go along with that motion. I cannot agree with Senator Dent to put this bill over for a day. Frankly, we wanted to act on it today, but Senator Dent requested, when he came over here a short time ago, that we put the bill over. I am willing to do that. I think we should keep the bill on the Calendar, in a position where it can be acted upon. Senator Dent can understand the controversial nature of this bill. Perhaps it is misunderstood, but there are many church groups that are for the bill. Some, perhaps, feel that further study should be made on it. However, I feel, in all fairness to these groups, that we should keep the bill on the current Calendar rather than putting it on the Postponed Calendar because I want to act on the bill, at least by next Monday, one way or the other.
Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will accept Senator Mahany's amendment to my motion.

MOTION TO POSTPONE BILL WITHDRAWN

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I now withdraw my motion to place House Bill No. 675 on the Third Reading Postponed Calendar.

SENATE BILL No. 672 CALLED UP

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, at this time I call up, from page 2 of today's Third Reading Calendar, Senate Bill No. 672, Printer's No. 280, which went over in its order temporarily.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 672, on third reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing cities boroughs incorporated towns townships and counties to create historic areas within their geographical limits providing for the appointment of historical boards empowered to preserve historic buildings and to regulate the erection reconstruction alteration restoration demolition or razing of buildings within the historic areas.

be recommitted to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I am sorry to object to this motion and I want to present my case before the Senate of Pennsylvania in support of my objections.

Mr. President, Senate Bills No. 672 and No. 673 have been denizens on our Calendar since August the 1st, 1955. It was the finger of God that sent them to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish for the following reason. Back in 1949, the learned gentleman from Erie, Senator C. Arthur Blass, was the chairman of a subcommittee which prepared a report on all the historical buildings, sites and remains in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, if I am to present my case, I need silence to do it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the Senate be in order? The gentleman is entitled to be heard.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, will state his point of order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, as I understand it, the rules of the Senate provide that on a motion to recommit, the merits of a bill cannot be debated. he debate must be limited to whether or not the bill should be recommitted, and that is the motion before the Senate. However, if the Senator desires to place his speech on this motion, which he has mimeographed, in the record, I will not object to it. I do raise the point of order, however, if he wishes to continue debating the merits of this bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The point of order is well taken. The Senate rules do provide that the merits of a bill cannot be discussed on a motion to recommit.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the Senate will pass, in a few minutes, on whether or not these two bills, Senate Bill No. 672 and Senate Bill No. 673, which is to follow, are to be recommitted to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, and I want to point out in my remarks under personal privilege that by doing so, some of the Senators who will favor this motion will be contradicting their own vote.

Senator Blass filed a report with the Senate of Pennsylvania in 1949. That report is now an official document. As a matter of fact, I looked up the vote today and I found that Senator Mahany and many other people voted for it.

Now, this document, Mr. President, known as "The Catelogue of Historical Buildings, Sites and Remains in Pennsylvania," has a preface with recommendations. It is a very magnificent document. In fact, it is being requested all over the United States and I have been informed by the Joint State Government Commission that the supply is nearly exhausted.

Mr. President, if you want to know what treasures you have in your county, all you have to do is to open this book to the proper page and there you will find listed, one by one, all the historical sites in your county.

Page one of this document carries a speech made by Senator Blass. He delivered a very fine oration on that occasion, and we were all proud of it. That was at the time his reputation was well established as a historian par excellence in Pennsylvania. Page one of this document reads as follows:

"It is the recommendation of the Joint State Government Commission that legislation be passed to prohibit the destruction or sale of any buildings or sites designated in the following listings as being of prime historical importance, until the proposed action has been brought to the attention of the General Assembly at its regular Session."

Mr. President, each one of the Members on the Republican side voted for that measure and they recommended that legislation should be passed, and Senate Bill No. 672 and Senate Bill No. 673 are the measures which implement that recommendation. I cannot see how a legislator or a Senator can contradict his action by voting against these measures.

I am not fooling myself. You can use all kinds of euphemisms, such as further study and further consideration, but this time when you send the bills back to committee, you send them to certain strangulation and death.

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, on page 251 of the History of the Senate for this week, you will find a long list of historical sites and colonial buildings in Philadelphia which have been destroyed without any consideration to Pennsylvania's history. This maiming, and I may even call it rape, of historical Philadelphia is a shame which would not be tolerated by any other State in the Union. However, in Pennsylvania it is permitted and day in and day out buildings in Philadelphia are being destroyed, and they are probably being destroyed throughout the Commonwealth.

A group of people got up and said they were constitutional lawyers, and that this legislation was unconstitutional. I have here a decision by the Supreme Court of the United States, and a decision of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, which simply state that this legislation is constitutional.

Unfortunately, Mr. President, we not only have primitives, but we have mastodons. One of these mastodons hails from Montgomery County, and I am not referring to Senator Propert. I do not classify him as mastodon. However, there is a member of the Historical Commission who considers himself a great constitutional authority, and it was this lawyer who urged Senator Propert to prevail upon the Republican Caucus to kill these two bills. I submit to you, gentlemen and Mr. President, that by doing this we commit a crime against the history of Pennsylvania.

I know you have a lot of work and in order not to keep you long, I reduced my remarks to a mimeographed compilation. Here I have an editorial from the New York Times which hails bills of this type. I have excerpts from the decision of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts; I have a statement by that eminent historian, Professor Lingelbach. All of these exhibits ask for this kind of legislation.

Mr. President, I want to say to you that you should think twice before you send these bills back to committee. Whoever votes against the recommittal of these two bills will be doing his duty to Pennsylvania's history and, in the words of Pontius Pilatus, he can say, "My hands did not spill this blood."

When Doctor Chapman and I introduced these bills back in 1951, we received the plaudits of the entire nation. We received a commendation from General Ulysses S. Grant III, saying that this would be a model for the entire Nation. Yet, here in Pennsylvania, for reasons not known to me, I only suspect that this mastodon, Mr. Gallagher, caused the complication and that is why these bills are being killed today.

I am appealing to my colleagues and I am appealing to all history-minded Members of the Republican Majority to vote against this motion because by dooming these two bills, you are repudiating the past of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I request that the following prepared statement, insupport of Senate Bill No. 672 and Senate Bill No. 673, be spread upon the record.

Let our hands not destroy that heritage—the ruin of Historical Pennsylvania and the pillage of its historical treasures must be curbed and stopped.

The Preservation of Historic Buildings and Sites

Pennsylvania has a rich heritage in the historic sites and buildings which are to be found throughout the Commonwealth. They are material and visible evidences of the great past of our State and of its part in the building and making of the United States, reflecting its contributions to the economic, social, cultural, and political development of the nation. Such historic buildings and sites give reality and atmosphere to the story of the past, in a way that can never be true of the written or spoken word. Their educational value in making Pennsylvania history real and in awaking a sense of patriotic pride in the achievements of past generations of Pennsylvanians, makes them resources which we should all be interested in preserving for the benefit of present and future citizens of the State. Any measure which seeks to protect them from damage and destruction is deserving of the most favorable consideration.

It is Pennsylvania's great historical background which sets her off as an entirely distinctive state of the American Nation. Her boundaries are largely artificial, the pattern of government is similar to that of other states, and even with industries, natural resources, and population, the difference is one of degree rather than kind. The same thing is true of many other aspects of Pennsylvania life which contribute to her greatness, but which do not account for any difference.

The real distinctive quality of Pennsylvania is to be found in her history, her foundation as a haven of refuge from oppression, her development of free representative government in colonial times, her tradition of government based on the principles of toleration, freedom and the public good, her part in the creation of the United States, and her influence and example in the development of other states. Historic buildings and sites, the physical evidences of Pennsylvania's great past, are a matter of concern and interest to the citizens of the State, as well as to the people of the entire nation.

It is good to note that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth has already given token recognition of the significance of historic buildings and sites in Senate Bill No. 881, Act No. 335, which was approved on February 14. This Act declared the public interest in historic sites and buildings, and provides for certificates commending their owners for maintaining and preserving a distictive part of Pennsylvania's historical heritage. This is a good first step, but it gives no positive assurance that historic buildings and sites will be protected.

Such positive legislation which would do much to assure the preservation of Pennsylvania's heritage of buildings and sites is now before the General Assembly. These are bi-partisan measures, Senate Bills 672 and 673, introduced by Senators Chapman and myself, and one is a repetition of a bill introduced in a previous session by Representative Charles C. Smith. Both were drawn up with great care to give the utmost protection to historic buildings and sites that would be possible under the Constitution.

Such legislation has been adopted and is working successfully in many cities of the United States. Again and again, it has been provided that in order to promote the general welfare historic sites and buildings should be protected, because of the benefits to the economy from the promotion of their historical associations, and because of the benefits to the education of our youth from these visible examples of our historic past. No building, alteration of exteriors, or demolition is permitted without approval in terms of the effect on the historical values of the district. Among the places where such legislation is in effect are Charleston, South Carolina (1924); New Orleans, Louisiana (1936); Alexandria, Virginia (1946); Winston-Salem, North Carolina (1948); Georgetown, D. C. (1950); Annapolis, Maryland (1952); Boston and Nantucket, Massachusetts (1955); and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (1955). Even at Williamsburg, Virginia, the passage of a historical zoning bill was necessary to assure the permanence and completeness of the famous development of this colonial capital by the Rockefeller fortune.

Before the passage of the Massachusetts legislation, questionnaires were sent to chambers of commerce, real estate boards, American Institute of Architects chapters, and officials in each city which already had such protection for historic areas. The unanimous response was that the laws were working well, that in every case the city as a whole had benefitted, that generally retail business had benefitted, and that real estate values had either been stabilized or enhanced. The Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts gave a favorable opinion as to its constitutionality. From it I am excerpting the most important passages.

It has been found possible and worthwhile to do something about the problem of protecting historic buildings and sites. What has been done in other places, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can do, and make it generally applicable to all the historic areas of the Commonwealth. Under Senate Bill 672, local units of government can be given the power to create historic districts, where locally appointed historical boards will have the necessary authority to review and approve proposed alterations and changes, limited to external features visible by the public. Under Senate Bill 673, the State historical agency, the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, can be given authority to avert the destruction or damage of a historic building or site until arrangements can be made for its preservation, under State, local or private auspices. These two bills, providing protection for historic places on both local and State levels, should be passed without further delay.

Aims of Senate Bills 672 and 673

I. General

(a) To protect the historical sites and buildings which are the tangible remains of Pennsylvania's rich historic past.

(b) To meet the pressing danger of their destruction as a result of modern "progress," with new residentional and industrial development spreading over wider and wider areas.

(c) To maintain the educational and civic values of these historical sites and buildings for the benefit of present and future citizens of the Commonwealth.

II. Specific Aims of Senate Bill 672

(a) To give any community within this Commonwealth the power to protect its significant historical sites and buildings and to preserve the historic character of areas, through the creation of historic areas and the appointment of historic sites boards, at the option of various local political subdivisions.

(b) To give communities the means of protecting the cultural, historic and economic values represented by such areas and buildings.

III. Specific Aims of Senate Bill 673

(a) To give the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission the power to protect historic sites and buildings from destruction or alteration until arrangements can be made for their preservation and maintenance under State, county. municipal or private auspices.

(b) To give the Commission the authority to fulfill its existing legal responsibility "as the official agency of the Commonwealth for the conservation of Pennsylvania's historic heritage." Because of this phrase in the Administrative Code, the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission is often blamed for failing to save a historic building from destruction.

Excerpts from an Editorial in the New York Times, November 27, 1955.

A people that has no interest in its own historical and architectural monuments of its past can hardly consider itself fully mature as a nation. The growing concern with these matters in the United States is an important indication of our own cultural development; but the problem of preserving the tangible reminders of this heritage, brick and wood and stone, is not an easy one.

In this city the Municipal Art Society in conjunction with the Society of Architectural Historians has been working hard to focus public attention on buildings the disappearance of which would be a serious loss. During the time it took to compile a list of some 250 such buildings a few years ago it developed that 20 per cent of them were destroyed or drastically altered. Here is a case where 'there ought to be a law" . . .

At present structures of national interest are usually saved for posterity, when they are saved, by spontaneous action of private individuals. Mount Vernon itself would probably have been lost to the nation a century ago if it had not been for a campaign begun by an energentic lady from South Carolina. Sometimes strictly local interest—as recently in Hashville—can be stimulated to save a building worth saving. But so much has already been lost, and there is so much to be done, that public and private agencies working together have no time to lose.

Excerpts from Opinion of Supreme Court of Massachusetts on Nantucket Historic District Bill. July 7, 1955

If the proposed act is to be construed as a taking of property of owners affected by it, manifestly it is unconstitutional, since no provision is made for compensation as required by art. 10 of the Declaration of Rights. On the other hand, there may be many regulations and restrictions upon the use of private property under the so called police power which do not amount to a taking of the property and which rest upon the general power to legislate for the public safety, health, morals, and welfare. We are of opinion that the proposed act is not a taking. There is no provision for a formal taking, and title will remain in the owner as will the possession and usufruct for nearly all purposes, even though restricted in ways that conceivably may in occasional instances bear down heavily.

The question then arises whether the proposed act can be supported without a taking and the paying of compensation as a police regulation in the interest of public safety, health, morals, or welfare. There are many regulations belonging in this category too numerous and too familiar to require specific reference here. Those which in many respects most nearly resemble the proposed act are the zoning laws the constitutionality of which is in general thoroughly established. * * * Many zoning regulations are as severe in their operation upon landowners as any of the provisions of the proposed act.

But the zoning regulations are in general directly related to the public safety and health, and less directly to the public morals. The proposed act can hardly be said in any ordinary sense to relate to the public safety, health or morals. Can it rest upon the less definite and more inclusive ground that it serves the public welfare? The term public welfare has never been and cannot be precisely defined. Sometimes it has been said to include public convenience, comfort, peace and order, prosperity, and similar concepts, but not to include "mere expediency." * * * And it has been held or stated that aesthetic considerations alone are not enough, but that they may be taken into account, if the primary objects of the regulation are sufficient to justify it. * * * It may be noted that these decisions and statements rested upon precedents that originated before the extensive restrictions upon the use of private property now familiar in zoning rules had met with general acceptance. There is reason to think that more weight might now be given to aesthetic considerations than was given to them half a century ago. In Berman v. Parker, 348 U. S. 26, at page 33, the court said, "The concept of the public welfare is broad and inclusive . . . The values it represents are spiritual as well as physical, aesthetic as well as monetary. It is within the power of the legislature to determine that the community should be beautiful as well as healthy, spacious as well as clean, well-balanced as well as carefully patrolled." * * * At any rate it was held as long as twenty years ago . . . that . . . the police power extended to the prohibition of billboards in places "where they deface natural scenery and places of historic interest." * * *

The definition of the purpose of the proposed act . . . is along these same lines and includes "the preservation and protection of historic buildings, places and districts of historic interest; through the development of an appropriate setting for these buildings, places and districts; and through the benefits resulting to the economy of Nantucket in developing and maintaining its vacation-travel industry through the promotion of these historic associations." * * * There has been substantial recognition by the courts of the public interest in the preservation of historic buildings, places and districts. * * *

It is not difficult to imagine how the erection of a few wholly incongruous structures might destroy one of the principal assets of the town . . .

We think that the requirements of the proposed act are not too indefinite or lacking in sufficient standards. The act does not require anything to be done to existing structure with the possible exception of signs. With the same possible exception, it applies only to exterior architectural features subject to public view from a public place. It does not apply to details of design or sizes of buildings or interior arrangement of building features not subject to public view, and requirements of the commission must be limited to the preventing of developmets "obviously incongruous to the historic aspects of the surroundings." * * *

We are of opinion that in a general sense the proposed act would be an act for the promotion of the public welfare and would be constitutional, and we answer the questions on that basis. There might, however, be particular instances in which the decisions of the commission, because of peculiar hardship and remoteness from the legitimate purpose of the act, would be unconstitutional applications of it. This has occurred at times in the application of the zoning laws.

Excerpts from Opinion of Supreme Court of Massachusetts on Historic Beacon Hill District Bill (Boston)

The announced purpose of the act is to preserve this historic section for the educational, cultural, and economic advantage of the public. If the General Court/Legislature/ believes that this object would be attained by the restrictions which the act would place upon the introduction into the district of inappropriate forms of construction that would destroy its unique value and associations, a court can hardly take the view that such legislative determination is so arbitrary or unreasonable that it cannot be comprehended within the public welfare.

In our answers to recent questions of the Senate pertaining to proposed historic districts in Nantucket we have discussed at some length the constitutional aspects of restrictions upon the character of building in areas set apart as such districts, whether or not there is involved any element of aesthetic considerations . . . We beg to refer to what we there said without repeating it here. In that instance the districts of historic interest intended to be preserved were in ancient villages that had survived into our day. In this instance it is an ancient section of the capital city of the Commonwealth. But the principles are the same. * * *

Historic buildings, monuments and sites, like works of art, have always had a strong appeal to the imagination of thoughtful people. They occupy a large space in all cultural and political history, adding atmosphere and visual expression to the story of the past, in a language quite as eloquent as the spoken word. Appreciation of this has varied greatly from time to time. In general, however, an instinctive feeling for the importance of historic monuments has prevailed in every age, from the building of the pyramids of Egypt to the determined efforts of war-stricken Europe during and after World War II to salvage the shattered remains of its historic shrines.

About the middle of the last century this feeling became very pronounced in intellectual circles in western Europe, and gradually found expression in a wide-spread movement for conservation and restoration. Archaeologists, historians, architects, and engineers, following the example of the eminent French scholar Viollet-Le-Duc, developed rules and canons to govern the process. Historic survivals—classical temples, mediaeval castles, cathedrals and other religious shrines—were heralded not only for their cultural value but as concrete evidence of the continuation of history, interpreting the past to successive generations in terms all could understand.

In our country the movement, which is now closely associated with city planning, has grown rapidly in recent years. Under the impact of two world wars, the great depression of the thirties, and the serious challenge to our national heritage by alien ideologies, it has assumed a national as well as a local character, and is today in full stride. On the other hand, not till the devastation wrought by aerial bombing, and the threat to our own treasures in World War II, did we give the problem the serious attention it merited. Moreover, in the rather irregular efforts, during the War to safeguard our historic treasurers against bombing, we gradually became conscious of the dangers from other sources—dangers incident to the sweeping demolition accompanying the growth of modern cities, or, as seen particularly in Philadelphia, to the neglect and decay associated with the shifting of population and business from the older and historic sections which are in turn taken over by newer elements unfamiliar with American history.

More than any other city or province, Philadelphia and Pennsylvania were intimately associated with the personalities, ideas and great events of colonial and Revolutionary history. Likewise, in the formative years of the Republic, it continued to act as host to the nation's statesmen, as they drew up the Constitution and set up the National Government to implement that great document.

AMERICAN HERITAGE, III, No. 1, page 31

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I feel that I must take the floor and support Senator Stiefel's arguments. I do not think the bill should be recommitted. We, on the Democratic side, take the position that any legislation which carries the name of the distinguished gentleman from Philadelphia deserves the consideration of the Senate. I do not feel that the bill should be recommitted. Incidentally, this legislation also carries the name of the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Appropriations, Senator Chapman. To arbitrarily recommit these bills I believe is false. As a matter of fact, Mr. President, I feel that this legislation really represents diamonds in the rough.

It reminds me of part of a story that I once read, in a book which I think was entitled "Acres of Diamonds," whereby over in ancient Arabia there was a mercenary old shiek whose name was Elhaffid. Elhaffid was the type of individual who felt that he should have everything that the world itself possessed. One night, as he was talking with a Buddhist priest, he asked the Buddhist priest what the most valuable thing in the world really was. The Buddhist priest said that he thought it was diamonds, because only royalty possessed diamonds. Elhaffid, being imbued with the ambition of possessing something that no one but royalty had, sold all his earthly possessions. He took out over the world, looking for these diamonds. He was informed by this old Buddhist priest that these diamonds could be located in a river that flowed between high mountains and over white sands.

Elhaffid went all over the Asiatic Continent and went over into the Continent of Europe. By this time, the years had gone by and he became a broken old man. So, he wandered over into Spain and arrived at Barcelona. One night, a great tidal wave came in. He went down by the Pillars of Hercules and he threw himself into the bay, and that was the end of Elhaffid.

Let us go back to his old homestead and his successor. Under the same conditions, his successor was sitting there and one night, as he talked to this old Buddhist priest, the successor's daughter came in with a great big rock which contained all the colors of the rainbow, the sun, the moon and the stars. The successor said to the old Buddhist priest, "What does my daughter have?" The Buddhist priest said, "I do believe that your daughter has found diamonds." The successor said to his daughter, "Where did you find this, daughter?" She said, "Down at the back of our lot. It was lying in a river that flowed between high mountains and over white sands."

That, Mr. President, is the moral of the story. You know, you can always find your diamonds where you look for them. I would, therefore, say that Senator Stiefel's legislation is really diamonds in the rough. I think we should consider it and not recommit these bills. I know, too, that Senator Mahany is quite an historian because he has quoted history here many, many times. As the Majority Leader of this distinguished Body on the other side, I prevail upon him, on behalf of Senator Stiefel, on behalf of Elhaffid. on behalf of those diamonds and on behalf of the Democratic Party, not to kill Senator Stiefel's bills.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in answer to Senator Lane's dissertation, I want to first tell him that I am sure Russell Conwell, if he were here today, would certainly be proud of the way Senator Lane has related a portion of his famous speech, "Acres of Diamonds," for which he used to charge admission. I believe he took the money that he made from the speech to found Temple University in the city of Philadelphia, which we today are trying to carry on and appropriate money for by taking it from the people in the form of a sales tax.

Mr. President, for one thing, I could not object to the Senator's statement because he certainly was not talking on the merits of the bill. I would say to the Senator that if he would read the bill—I do not want to talk about the merits of the bill because a little while ago I said that you should not be talking about the merits of a bill on a motion to recommit—he would find that this bill does take property without due process of law. As I understand it, if it were decided, for instance, that George Washington had slept in Senator Lane's house at one time and they designated Senator Lane's house as a place in which George Washington slept, and it became a place of historical significance, then he would not even be permitted to paint the front door or put new wallpaper on in the living room or in the bedroom in which George Washington slept unless he obtained permission from some group or some historical board. I also understand that the State Historical Commission is not in favor of this bill. However, we are not really putting the bill back for burial. We want to give it further study and deliberation until January 1957.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to add an addenda to Senator Lane's speech. I did not have a chance to do so before the Majority Leader injected himself. What Senator Lane was trying to say was, "Do not polish off diamonds in the rough."

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I do not want to insult the Senators in this Chamber. However, I already have pointed out once that there were giants in the land and perhaps now we do not have the giants around us. If I would present here on the floor of the Senate a list of the bills that were killed in committee or killed on final passage, it would not make such a presentable show.

Apropos of what Senator Mahany said, if he checks up on it, he will be surprised to know that there is a statute on the law books of Pennsylvania which prohibits even eminent domain against any building that has a connection with George Washington or with the Revolutionary War; even eminent domain cannot be put through.

Mr. President, may I say, in conclusion, that the irony of the situation, the paradox of the situation, is that in Philadelphia we have a definite ordinance which is doing what Senate Bill No. 672 and Senate Bill No. 673 intend to accomplish. However, it will be Montgomery County which will suffer more than any other place in Pennsylvania on account of the defeat of these two bills. Mr. Gallagher, and the Senator from Montgomery County, will live to see the day when they will rue the defeat of these measures.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, just to wind up this debate, I want to advise the Majority Leader that the reason I delivered that oration today was with the thought in mind that in the event the Republican Majority seems to be determined to recommit the bills, if they go through with it and recommit them, Senator Stiefel and I are going to pass the hat among the Members of the Senate with the hope that probably we can finance it by voluntary contributions from the Members.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. STIEFEL and Mr. LANE,

and were as follows, viz:

SENATE BILL No. 673 CALLED UP

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, at this time I call up from page 2 of today's Third Reading Calendar, Senate Bill No. 673, Printer's No. 270, which went over in its order temporarily.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 673, on third reading, entitled:

An Act relating to historic sites and structures declaring the same to be affected with a public interest prohibiting the destruction defacing or altering thereof without approval of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission constituting the commission a legislative agency for the purpose of this act authorizing it subject to appeal to determine the educational value of such sites and structures providing for injunctions authorizing the commission to provide for the maintenance and preservation of such sites and structures and prescribing penalties be recommitted to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I have always been most decent, as long as I have been a Member of the Senate, in my attitude toward any bill that is brought up for a vote by my colleagues. I never jeer and I never leer, and I never make a mockery out of it. For this reason, anybody who is absent from the floor of the Senate and somebody casts a vote for him, I am going to apprehend them by asking for a verification of the roll.

It is to serious to make a joke of it.

VERIFICATION OF THE ROLL

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Request has been made to have the roll verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative as follows:

Berger,	Madigan,	Scott,	Watkins,
Diehm,	Mahany,	Stevenson,	Watson,
Flack,	Mallery,	Taylor,	Wolfe,
Harney,	Pechan,	Van Sant,	Fleming,
Kessler,	Peelor,	Wade,	Presiding Officer
Kopriver, Jr.	Propert,	Wagner,

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The affirmative roll will stand as verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative as follows:

Barr,	Derk,	Lane,	Ruth,
Blass,	DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Schmidt,
Camiel,	Donolow,	McGinnis,	Seyler,
Chapman,	Haluska,	McMenamin,	Silvert,

			Weiner,

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The negative roll will stand as verified.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. STIEFEL and Mr. LANE,

and were as follows viz:

YEAS—22

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE DEFEATS REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 305

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has defeated the Report of Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 305, entitled:

An Act to add Section 1201.1 to the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "The Vehicle Code," by providing for traffic courts in cities of the third class

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I was disappointed to learn from the newspapers that the House Republican Caucus has again rejected the plan to eliminate from the proposed sales tax in Pennsylvania the stamp feature. Since we have had an opportunity to work upon that particular section of the act, I have received a great many communications. I have yet to receive a letter or a petition from any organized group, any retail outlet, any wholesale outlet or any of the rest of the institutions in this Commonwealth that will be directly affected by the stamp tax feature, in favor of this plan.

I was very much interested in a series of speeches given in the city of Philadelphia, of recent date, by men who are experts in the field of sales taxes. We in Pennsylvania, I believe, are not too proficient on the subject of taxes and, especially, sales taxes and their effect upon the economy. However, the Executive Director of the Federation of Tax Administrators, Charles F. Conlon, recently stated that the Ohio Stamp Plan is an extremely expensive method of administering sales taxes. Its elimination, he has declared, would substantially reduce administrative costs and increase the funds available for State appropriations by millions of dollars. He said, "If the Ohio stamp feature is regarded as an effective and an exceedingly costly administrative gadget, if Ohio officials want to get rid of it, and if all other States, except Pennsylvania, have rejected it after studying the results of the Ohio experiment, why is the device retained? The answer has been given many times by those familiar with the scheme."

First of all, it appears to me that when any learned man in the question of sales taxes and stamp tax features uses the word "scheme," in describing the stamp plan, the use of the word itself denotes the characterization that he has for such a plan. It provides a subsidy to numerous groups and individuals, and the vested interests demand its continuance. This point is forcibly stated in a recent letter from the Research Director of a large Ohio organization who has lived and worked in Ohio for many years. He writes, and I quote:

"The Stamp system is an expensive administrative device and the money spent on it is 75% wasted. We are probably stuck with it, however, in Ohio because certain politicians are getting campaign help out of the device. The churches, schools, labor organizations, and other similar agencies are financing a lot of projects from it, and a large number of individuals are personally profiting from it. This constitutes a tremendous lobby and my guess is that we will never dispose of it in Ohio."

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, every State in the Union has studied the Ohio stamp plan with great interest. Thirty-five States have some form or other of general sales taxation. Until Pennsylvania took up the much rejected stamp plan, Ohio alone resorted to this measure. It may interest the Members of this Senate to know that eight other States tried it and all of them repealed it at the very first Session of their Legislatures following its passage. The judgment of State tax officials all over the Country, of the Ohio stamp plan, is probably accurately reflected in the recent remarks of two men closely affiliated with State tax administration for many yars. One of these, Mr. Dixwell L. Pierce, Secretary of the California State Board of Equalization, which administers the State sales tax, has declared and I quote:

"I do not regard that method as desirable. If Ohio spent as much money on audits as it has in connection with discounts, redemptions and the cost of printing and distributing the stamps, I am confident that there would be a large gain in revenue and the sales tax would be more fairly administered."

As you go along throughout all of the pages of literature which most of us have received, and petitions that we have received, you find that there is a unanimous chorus of disapproval of the stamp plan.

Mr. President, I have a letter from a gentleman who said: "Pennsylvania has finally come around and adopted a sales tax." This was said by Stanley J. Bowers, Tax Commissioner of the State of Ohio, and let us see what he has to say:

"Pennsylvania has finally come around and adopted a sales tax.

"They have shown great wisdom basically and primarily in following the Ohio plan in adopting a law similar to that of Ohio. I would be the last to say that ours is not a good one. I have lived in Ohio and worked in the Ohio Department of Taxation, as Mr. Young has said, all my useful life and I hope there still may be a few more years left. But among the States in the Union, and my judgment is based upon the observations that I get from taxpayers, Ohio offers the best opportunity and has perhaps the fairest and most equitable tax structure of any State in the Union with respect to a healthy climate for the expansion of business and I hope it stays that way forever.

"However, there can be no prosperity nor can it expand if we don't protect the goose that lays the golden egg. We had to help local governments in Ohio and so, therefore, we decided on a tax program using the stamp collection to help out and when it leveled out a little bit, we expected to get rid of it. We neved did get rid of it because two years later the redemption feature was adopted and put into law. Now there are so many vested interests that we will have the stamp plan as long as we have the sales tax or unless necessity for revenue needs are so great that we must completely repeal the whole sales tax and come up with a new version of a sales tax minus the stamp plan."

Mr. President, the Cleveland Plain Dealer, in an editorial of May 1956, is quoted as saying that 30 odd million dollars a year are taken from the taxpayers of the State of Ohio because of the stamp plan.

Mr. President, the stamp plan is the easiest of all collection plans to cheat with. They have devised all sorts of methods by which the State is deprived of its revenue and the people are deprived of their taxes.

We are passing a sales tax in Pennsylvania out of necessity. That necessity is based upon the needs of the Commonwealth and not upon the needs of the banks, not upon the needs of private organizations, and when we deliberately in this Session, and knowingly, put our hands into the pockets of the taxpayers and into the pockets of the Commonwealth for $13,000,000 to $15,000,000 extra for the administration of a stamp plan, we are not being honest to the people of this Commonwealth, and we are not being honest to our duties as public officials.

Mr. President, I want to say publicly that I had a great deal of help from the Republican Senate Members who worked with me diligently and honestly and untiringly to create an atmosphere in which we could reach some kind of a compromise where we would eliminate this costly feature and, in so doing, grant some relief along the lines of other taxes. We had hoped that we would be able to work out a plan whereby the capital stock tax acceleration would not have to be so burdensome at this particular time during this biennium. However, I fear very much that with the adamant position take by the House Republican Caucus, as of yesterday, that we will now have to revert to the original capital stock tax as it came from the House in order to insure the fifty-four odd millions of dollars that we will receive in this biennium for the uses under our present needs. I had hoped that we would be able to cut that to approximately $13,000,000, thereby granting some relief along the capital stock tax collection line. I had hoped that we would be able to exempt from the sales tax some of the more obnoxious features by taking the money that we would save from the stamp plan and accepting a legislatively mandated deficiency, we would be able to work out something that would be acceptable to both sides.

I am still hopeful that the Senate will take its rightful position in the Legislative Halls. I do not believe that any particular power is granted to either the House or the Senate to positively put its will and wish upon the other branch. If the Majority of the Members of this Senate—and I can honestly say that I believe the majority of the Members of this Senate are opposed to the stamp plan—would like to see some relief along the lines during this hectic tax biennium and if this majority will assert itself, we then may be able to work out a compromise that is acceptable.

One of the features of the stamp plan, which many of you may not be aware of, is that in this State we are limiting the number of places and institutions that will be the distributors of the stamps. In Ohio, upon experience, they found that, although they started out with the distribution of the stamps being in the hands of the banks and trust companies, they had to expand that to include any person, any association, that the Secretary of Revenue decided qualified as a distributor because they found that many of the merchants who had to prepay for their tax stamps were not in a position to buy sufficient stamps to keep on hand a supply to meet their ultimate or unforeseeable needs.

For instance, Mr. President, in this State of ours we are limiting it to banks only, but what about the many rural communities that do not have banks? Do you mean that if an individual storekeeper, living twenty-five, thirty or thirty-five miles from a bank, runs out of stamps because of an unusual sale he may make—and in the furniture business in a small community I can easily see where that could happen—would that storekeeper have to hold the sale until he runs over to some bank for stamps? I can easily see where that would happen to an automobile dealer, as well, who is far away from a bank. As you all know, most banks do not even open on Saturday and a great majority of them close at two o'clock in the afternoon.

If you are going to have the plan, at least do not put greater burdens upon those who will be burdened enough by putting out their money in order that the tax stamps can be prepaid. On top of that, Mr. President, under the original stamp plan which is now in the bill, these banks get paid one per cent for the handling of the stamps and then they use the money, unless the bill is changed, for six months for their own uses. There is nothing in the bill that restricts the use of the money by the banks. The banks turn the money over to the State after a six-month period.

Mr. President, the argument which was advanced was that if we put the stamp plan in, we would be able to get the last month of the biennium because of the prepayment feature. I offered an amendment which said that under the present collection of the regular sales tax, making the monthly report at the end of every month or with five days of the next month preceding the thirty-day period ahead, we would collect on that basis except in the month of May, 1957, at which time the moneys collected in the previous thirty days would have to be paid five days ahead of the end of the month. That would then give us all but five days of the thirty-day period of the entire collection for this biennium and its uses in this biennium.

I, for one, Mr. President, would not like to see this State make a fatal mistake. I would not like to see the merchants in this State harassed, beyond what they are going to be harassed under any type of collection, by the institution of a discredited tax system.

All taxes are obnoxious to most people. Why do we have to reach into the bag of tricks and come up with the worst feature ever written into any tax law in the United States of America, rejected by every State in the Union and disapproved of by the State that now has it, the State of Ohio?

Mr. President, at one place in the statement of Alfred G. Buehler, Professor of Public Finance of the State of Ohio, I believe there is some reference to a situation which I believe is very important at this moment, and I should like to quote from it:

"Recent Tax Commissioners in Ohio, both Republican and Democrat, have decried the ineffectiveness of the stamp plan, after extensive investigations. Both Republican and Democratic Tax Commisisoners, as well as the various Governors of Ohio, I am advised, have recommended the repeal of the stamp system.

"Troups of interested State and Federal tax officials have gone to Ohio to investigate this novel plan. During the Second World War, when a federal sales tax was being considered, the U. S. Treasury studied the Ohio plan and found it to be ineffective in the enforcement of the sales tax as well as costly."

Now, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, we will be called upon very shortly to vote for the amendments to the sales tax. I am a Member of the Conference Committee and I want to vote for the Conference Report because there are some very much needed amendments contained in that report. There are some worth-while improvements. There is some relief along the line where we found the tax to the oppressive. I want to vote for that Conference Committee Report, but I do not, at this moment, see how I can in good conscience sign a report which I know to be dishonest to the taxpayers, dishonorable in its conception and disreputable in its application. Therefore, I want to clearly inform this Senate that although we have devoted a great deal of time to the amendments to the sales tax, I am very fearful that the position taken by the House of Representatives in the Republican Caucus yesterday may well extend this Session even beyond the unreasonable limits that we had hoped we could reach a sine die date in.

For the benefit of all of the people of this State, I plead with the Republican Senators to appeal to their House leadership, with the hope that you will be able to have them change their position and keep this State from being saddled with what has been determined by one speaker to be, and I quote:

"If State and Federal tax officials are correct, only false gold may be mined by the Ohio method."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, for the last couple of weeks we have been talking about adjourning sine die and probably no man in this Chamber is more anxious to see that day than I am. However, I am satisfied that every Member here wants to go back home.

Before we adjourn sine die, Mr. President, we have a great problem confronting us. We have all talked about it, but apparently have done very little about the matter and that is to give due consideration to the teaching profession of our Commonwealth. The House apparently is blowing hot and cold. Here in this Senate we have passed and originated a bill, by Senator Hays and Senator Seyler, asking for an appropriation of $31,000,000. In addition to that, my good colleague from Westmoreland County, Senator Dent, has worked tirelessly day and night in trying to shape up some program. Many Republican Members are doing the same thing. I believe every Member of this Senate, down in his heart, wants to go back home, knowing that he has done something for this great profession. Despite the fact that we want to go back home, I, as one, am willing to stay here all summer if need be to pass some decent legislation, giving the proper consideration to the teaching profession before we adjourn sine die. Mr. President, it is a must. We definitely must give the teachers a bonus for this present year. How much is up to us. We must, in addition thereto, pass legislation assuring them of these increments for the coming years.

In all of our local newspapers, Mr. President, throughout the entire Commonwealth, we find advertisements of agencies which are set up in hotel rooms, luring our teachers into other States at much higher salaries than we give them here in Pennsylvania. Apparently, we will not become alarmed about it until it is too late. Some day we will awaken to the fact that we will have no teachers in our classrooms. Some day we will find them marching up the Capitol only because we failed to do our duty.

We certainly must have taxation, Mr. President, and whatever it takes, it is our duty to face the issue, to face the problem. Before we adjourn sine die, we should make certain that we pass some type of legislation. If the House is going to dillydally around, it is up to us in this Senate to get together, both Democrats and Republicans, and issue a new bill next week to show our sincerity and faith. I am willing to do that with any Republican. I am willing to co-sponsor a bill and take the matter in our own hands, and next Monday start a new bill through and pass it over to the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in answer to Senator Haluska, I would remind him that when the appropriation bill was before the Senate and Senator Seyler and Senator Hays offered an amendment, which increased it $31,000,000 for the purpose of paying teachers additional amounts over and above what they now receive by mandated salaries, I, at that time, called his attention, and the attention of the teachers, to the fact that by voting for this $31,000,000 it did not give the teachers five cents In order for them to receive any additional money, it would be necessary to pass some type of implementing legislation. They all seemed to be satisfied at that time, and we did pass the Seyler-Hays amendments. We passed the bill and the Governor signed it. I believe shortly after that, Senator Haluska even wrote about my remarks in a column which he prints in the Johnstown Observer. I do not have that particular copy before me, but I remember Senator Haluska did mention my remarks in more or less of an unfavorable light in his column.

The House has been struggling with this problem; the Governor has been struggling with this problem. I have been asked to make comments on it from time to time and, perhaps, as the Republican Floor Leader, I might have made some capital of the dilemma in which they find themselves. However, I refrained from doing it because I thought that the Governor and the House, being Democratic, should have the job of trying to work out the problem as to how much they wanted to give the teachers. When they sent the bill over to the Senate, then we would either amend it or accept it as it left the House.

Now, Mr. President, I find myself in an odd position. I find a Democratic Senator trying to make some kind of capital out of the dilemma that the House and the Governor are in, when the Republican Floor Leader refused to do so. I feel that, in all justice to the deliberations which are being conducted in the House and by various groups in relation to this problem, none of us should try to make political capital out of it. I do not intend to do so. I feel that when the problem comes before us, then we shall act upon it. We shall try to do justice to the teachers of Pennsylvania.

We all realize that perhaps the teachers of Pennsylvania should receive some more money. I feel that we are all willing to give them more. It seems that in every Session of the Legislature we are confronted with this problem and we must struggle with it, along with all the other problems with which we are confronted. I want to assure Senator Haluska and the schoolteachers of Pennsylvania that I do not intend to make the teachers a political football. I also want to assure them that when their legislation comes over to the Senate, we will act on it in a forthright and honest manner, both toward them and toward the taxpayers of the State of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am somewhat amazed at the remarks made by my colleague, Senator Mahany, when he points out that someone is trying to make capital out of this. Have we reached the low level where a man cannot rise in place and express his opinion and say what he thinks? I do not have to make speeches here in order to have the teachers in my county vote for me. They have voted for me for the last twenty-two years because they believe in me. I never voted against them. I am not trying to make any political hay.

Senator Mahany made a remark about my column that I edit. I cannot recall where I was severe. If I was, I can always say that it is human to err, but divine to forgive. Therefore, I shall forgive. I ask him now to read my column tomorrow. I have edited columns for eleven newspapers for twenty-two years. He speaks of the Johnstown newspaper. It is on the stands tonight and Senator Mahany shall have a copy tomorrow. I have spoken most kindly of the Senator and it may make him feel better. I speak most kindly of his colleagues, because my story for tomorrow is along the lines that I talked about today.

I sincerely believe in what I am saying. Why must we wait for the House? This is a separate body entirely. I pointed out clearly that the House is dillydalling and I pointed out that it is now our turn, if we are sincere, to do what we are talking about. Why must we wait for the House? If Senator Mahany is sincere about this matter and is not trying to make political hay, sponsor a bill with me. We can put it in the hopper on Monday and pass it in this Chamber. Then, let the House make capital of it if they wish.

I am not trying to take advantage nor am I looking for a disadvantage. I say the day has come now when we must do something for our teaching profession before it is too late. We will awaken some day and find our classrooms empty. If that is making political hay, let us have more of it. Let all fifty of us make political hay and pass the bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, in order to clear the air, I would like to advise the Members on both sides, and especially to remind the Democratic Senators, that yesterday the Democratic Caucus went on record as supporting a program for the purpose of paying adequate salaries to the members of the public schoolteaching profession. This program has been adopted in the Democratic Caucus. The amendments have already been prepared; they have already been sent over to the House of Representatives.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, in the remarks made by the Majority Leader, he made reference to the restraint he has shown in not commenting on this matter. I want to compliment him on that restraint. I may tell him that I, too, have been asked to make many comments on the problem which faces the House at the present time and I felt it judicious to exercise the same restraint.

Senator Mahany made one comment, however, that I think possibly reflects on the action the Senate took at the time of the Seyler-Hays amendments, as he referred to them. He said, at that time, that this would not put one cent into the teachers' pockets in the way of an increase. I think we made that quite plain at the time. I think we made it plain on this side. I would say to Senator Mahany, however, that had the additional appropriation not been passed, there would not even be a moot question before this Legislature at the present time as to whether additional increases in teachers' salaries could be made.

This thing has two sides, Mr. President. First of all, it has the appropriation side, and Senator Mahany well knows that unless the appropriation was passed by the Legislature, no increases could have been paid. The other side is the question of revenue. There are some people who feel that the revenue voted in the Republican sales tax is perhaps inadequate to carry out the full provisions of the appropriation made at that time. That question is not solved. I agree with Senator Mahany that perhaps this is not the time to discuss it. The problem is before the House of Representatives and I certainly want to welcome what Senator Mahany said at the end of his speech; that when this matter does come before the Senate, then he will lend all aid and assistance to the task of providing a fair and just salary schedule for the teachers.

HOUSE BILL No. 147 CALLED UP

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 305

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 305.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 305, entitled:

An Act to add Section 1201.1 to the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" by providing for traffic courts in cities of the third class

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

JOHN T. VAN SANT,
FRANK KOPRIVER, JR.,
JOHN J. HALUSKA,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

ANTHONY J. PETROSKY,
JULES FILO,
and duties on standing committee of the General Assembly.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the Conference Report on this bill. When our forefathers formed the Constitution of this Commonwealth, they very wisely divided the functions of government into three branches, namely, the executive, the legislative and the judicial.

The original bill in the House was amended to alternate the aldermen in third class cities sitting in traffic court. That amendment passed the House unanimously. The Senate did not concur in the amendments, consequently this Conference Report, which, if you will read it, is a bobtailed report, one Member not signing it, that being my colleague from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

The Act of May 1, 1929, the Vehicle Code, requires summary convictions under that Act to be taken before the nearest available magistrate.

I have no objection to a traffic court, but each alderman in each ward in a third class city is duly elected by his constituents and this report takes away from him the privilege of sitting on traffic cases. The report is getting further away from home rule.

The Pennsylvania Magistrates Association on two occasions has diametrically opposed the passage of this legislation, the last one being at a meeting of the Board of Directors in the Penn Harris Hotel last Sunday.

I will ask the Members on both sides of the House to vote "no" and defeat this report.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of the House to adopt this report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill 305, I believe it is a step in the right direction toward better government.

The act is patterned after going traffic courts in existence today which have proven very successful in this field of operation in our government.

I ask the Members on both sides of the House to adopt the report of the Committee of Conference.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 2080, on page 10 of today's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2080, entitled:

An Act to amend the "Transfer Inheritance Tax Law" * * *, by providing for the allowance of deductions in certain cases and by clarifying the procedure for the determination of the allowability of deductions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to read into the record in connection with this bill a memorandum which I received from a Deputy Attorney General by the name of Ralph S. Snyder.

The memorandum reads as follows:

> This bill clarifies the Inheritance Tax Act regarding the allowance of debts and deductions by the amendment to Section 2. The method of determining the allowance of debts and deductions would now be definitely ascertained as coming within the scope of the court's functions at the time of the audit of the account. It further provides for the situation where the property is taxable under subsections (c) and (e), Section 1, of the Act, with regard to debts and deductions, by spelling out where the debts and deductions shall be allowed in such cases. It further goes on to say with regard to the allowance of debts and deductions generally that no deduction shall be allowed in an amount greater than that which was paid by the estate, and if it should develop that such amount allowed was greater than the amount paid, the Register shall reassess the tax.
> Finally, in Section 2 of this bill, Section 13 is amended so as to definitely establish once and for all that the Commonwealth has the right to appeal. The Supreme Court has on many occasions strongly implied that that right of appeal is in the Commonwealth. However, to avoid any situation where it be denied us, this bill is so amended.

I am asking the membership to support this bill as being a proper correction to our present law relating to inheritances.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. READINGER.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 667, entitled:

An Act providing for the determination and effect of comparative negligence in actions of tort and providing that contributory negligence shall not bar recovery.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I to yield to Mr. Sherman of Philadelphia for a period of five minutes.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, before starting on the five minutes, may I yield a few minutes to Mr. Agnew, if he is present?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia yields to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, being the original yielder, I do not want these gentlemen to think they must limit their speeches to five minutes. I certainly will be glad to yield to Mr. Agnew for five minutes, too.

Mr. AGNEW. I thank both gentlemen, Mr. Speaker. My remarks will be very brief. I do not think I will take five minutes.

I do want to speak in favor of this bill because I believe it to be constructive legislation. You have all received—I do not know from whom—an excerpt which was on your desk today which gives a very clear example of how the contributory negligence doctrine in Pennsylvania, which is the old common law, tends to work a substantial injustice in many accident cases.

The example is a perfect one, it tells a story about a person who inadvertently steps off a curb and is hit by a driver who is going, we will say, about eighty-five miles an hour and driving his automobile in a grossly negligent and reckless manner. The case gets into court, and the plaintiff, who has suffered great bodily injuries and perhaps has been in the hospital for a good many months, is denied recovery because the plaintiff perhaps failed to look in the direction from which the car which hit him had come before stepping off the curb. So that mere inadvertence bars recovery against the one whose grossly negligent act caused great bodily damage.

The same thing happens in almost every intersection case where two automobiles collide. One of them can be, we will say, the driver, ninety per cent at fault and perhaps the one whose body suffers great damage is only ten per cent at fault, but because he is at fault at all, whether it be one per cent or thirty per cent, he cannot recover one penny for his damages.

Approximately forty states in this Commonwealth have abrogated the old common law doctrine of contributory negligence in one form or another. I would like to see this bill pass because I am sick and tired of a situation which occurs every day in this Commonwealth. Two automobiles collide, one driver jumps out and admits responsibility for it because he realizes that his negligence caused the accident. He says, "Don't worry, I've got insurance and I am sure this can be taken care of." To the average layman witnessing that accident the driver who made that statement was clearly at fault, yet the other driver who thinks the other fellow's insurance will take care of it cannot recover because of the contributory negligence doctrine.

This bill will not hurt the insurance companies. It certainly has not hurt them in any other state. It is not a bad bill for the insurance companies, and in my opinion it is a very good bill for the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I assure you that with my watch before me I will not take more than three minutes.

This is an important bill which I and others have considered one of the most important, if not the most important, bill on the calendar for a long time. It is important to each and every one of you and to every one of your constituents.

As has been brought out, a party who is two per cent at fault in just walking across an intersection, or proceeding with an automobile in the intersection, or in any other place, should not be held one hundred per cent at fault and be denied a recovery. It is no more than to say that a defendant who is reckless and careless and passes a red light and crashes into the side of an automobile of the party who has brought suit and is crippled for life, maimed, becomes blind, becomes a burden upon our state, should go scot-free and feel he can escape total consequences, or any part of the consequences of the rashness and negligence on his part.

We have had changes in our law in the state of Pennsylvania. We now have a Workmen's Compensation Act, we have changes in the Admiralty Law of our state, we have progressed to a great extent. I have looked faithfully into the matter. I have had long, lengthy correspondence not only from representative organizations of 10,000 lawyers, but from judges and others.

We feel that a party who tries to be careful and under the law, or as Pennsylvania law now stipulates, happens to be held partly or even two per cent at fault, should not be denied a complete recovery. In the interests of your constituents, in the interests of the blind, in the interests of the maimed and in the interests of those who seek relief from injustice this bill should be passed and you should do everything possible to see that it becomes the law of our state.

Mr. WILLAREDT. Mr. Speaker, the rule of comparative negligence proposed by this bill is law in only five states, namely, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Nebraska, North Dakota and Georgia. All of the other forty-three states operate under the rule of contributory negligence.

If the rule of cotributory negligence were working any material hardship on litigants, the fact that the comparative negligence rule is productive of many ills in the administration of justice should not preclude consideration by the Legislature of its merits and demerits, as opposed to those of the rule presently in force. But the rule of contributory negligence, as implemented in the courts of this state, is not unfair to plaintiffs. In death cases contributory negligence is a defense to be pleaded and proved by the defendant. It is rare indeed that actions in cases other than death are dismissed as a matter of law because of the contributory negligence of the plaintiff. The question of contributory negligence in practically all cases goes to the jury which, experience shows, will resolve any doubts on that score in favor of the plaintiff. It is only in cases where a party in the language of the common law, is clearly in the wrong that the law is reluctant to help.

The absurdity of any attempt to introduce mathematical exactness into the uncertain and complex problem of negligence is obvious. As stated time and again in one form or another by the judges of the courts of Wisconsin, where negligent acts differ in kind and quality, they know of no legal yardsitck by which they can classify, evaluate and compare them. Yet it is proposed to impose that complex task upon twelve persons not trained in legal reasoning with the hope that out of their deliberations about a situation, which even in the present state of the law would prove difficult of analysis, will come a verdict fixing with exactitude percentages of fault. The doctrine of proximate cause has been criticized as being obscure and confusing. Its extension would result from any attempt to apply the rule of comparative negligence. Juries now have the difficult task of determining the qualitative questions of the existence of negligence and contributory negligence and whether they in fact produced the injury. The rule of comparative negligence would impose upon them the further burden of determining an involved quantitative question, the ratio plaintiff's negligence bears to defendant's. The deliberations of juries would deteriorate to a marked degree.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker the proponents of this bill are forgetting to tell you one fact, one very important fact about this bill.

The way I understand the bill is that it will raise the liability insurance of everyone in this Commonwealth that carries such insurance. A "yes" vote on this bill will do just that. So if you want to raise the insurance rates of everyone in the Commonwealth who carries liability insurance, vote "yes" on the bill, if not, vote "no."

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, the doctrine of contributory negligence is a relic of the common law. The judges of this state, both in the lower courts and the appellate courts have recognized this for many years. They have tried to evade the harsh results of the application of the doctrine of contributory negligence.

Insofar as concerns the fact that insurance rates might be raised, that I believe is of very little import. I think people who are injured in this state are entitled to receive a fair and honest decision.

Lawyers who specialize in negligence law know that in many cases in order to have their cases get to the jury, they have to subvert the facts.

I say that with the doctrine of comparative negligence the average citizen will get a better deal in the courts of this state.

When the doctrine of contributory negligence was first pronounced by the courts of this state, we were living in a horse and buggy age, where a little bit of negligence might be a responsible factor in absolving the defendant from responsibility.

Today in our modern age of machinery and fast transportation, we feel that the doctrine of contributory negligence is a relic and should be abolished.

I ask all the members on both sides of the House, not for any selfish interest, but for the interest of their constituency, to see that this advance in the law is made so that judge made law may be eradicated by this House.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that we have a slow roll call on this bill and only those answering to their names be recorded.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I should like to support the proponents of this bill. I think there is one phase of it that has not been brought to our attention, and that is, that in some cases the doctrine of contributory negligence makes possible contributory negligence as a matter of law. For that reason the plaintiff never gets to a jury. If we have the doctrine of comparative negligence inserted into our law, then the plaintiff will be able to get to the jury and have the jury rule on contributory negligence and negligence by the defendant as a matter of fact.

I think I might also point out that the statement made by the gentleman with relation to the rise in insurance rates is a very good and potent fact, showing the advantage of the doctrine of contributory negligence to the insurance companies today.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I have made a study of the effect of the comparative negligence rule on insurance rates. The results in Wisconsin and also the results following from the comparative negligence rule adopted by Uncle Sam, is that there is no increase in insurance rates. Those Members who spoke here today about the effect on insurance rates are speaking without knowledge. Whatever available evidence there is, is very emphatic in that there is no increase in insurance rates.

I would like to say further, that the prior speaker indicated that juries now determine comparative negligence. If we think about that for a moment we will realize the absurdity of that position, because some juries consider it and some do not. In every jury there are certainly no guides, no instructions given to the jury, and the jury is left to its own devices. Wouldn't it be much fairer to instruct the jury so that the jury might act sensibly and in uniformity with other juries throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania?

One final thought is with respect to the mathematical degree of thought as measured by a jury. One speaker said that it is very difficult for a jury to do that. I say that, relying upon Dean Pound of Harvard University, who gave a great deal of thought to this particular bill, as well as many of our judges in Philadelphia, who studied it. Dean Pound and our judges in Philadelphia believe that this question of the degree of fault can be determined by juries by ordinary common sense.

The people of Pennsylvania are entitled to a fair and modern bill like this.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I have ten seconds. I wish to advise as to the number of additional states mentioned by the gentleman on the other side. This bill is effective in at least forty states in one form or another. There has been at least one additional state that has passed a bill this year, not mentioned, and that is Arkansas. It has also passed and been approved by the California Bar Association and passed the Senate of at least one other state.

I ask that Pennsylvania agree that this bill shall become law.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. MOSCRIP. I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, are we voting on a motion to recommit the bill or are we voting on the merits of the bill?

The SPEAKER. No motion to recommit has been made to the Speaker' knowledge. We are voting on the merits of the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

ALLEGHENY COUNTY TEACHERS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House a delegation of School Teachers from Allegheny County under the supervision of their President, Mr. Wililam Lee. They are the guests of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. John J. Murray.

SENATE BILLS NOS. 896, 891, 892, 893 AND 895 MADE SPECIAL ORDERS

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that

Senate Bill No. 896, Printer's No. 680, on page 13,

Senate Bill No. 891, Printer's No. 598, on page 12,

Senate Bill No. 892, Printer's No. 696, on page 6,

Senate Bill No. 893, Printer's No. 599 on page 12 and Senate Bill No. 895, Printer's No. 697 on page 6 of today's calendar be made a special order of business immediately in that order.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair lays before the House the first bill on the special order of business fixed for this time, being Senate Bill No. 896.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 896, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the act of January 5, 1952 (P. L. 1833) entitled "An act to provide for the coverage of certain officers and employes of the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions under the old-age and survivor insurance provisions of Title II of the Federal Social Security Act as amended creating the State Agency and conferring powers and imposing duties upon the State Agency authorizing the State Agency to enter into agreements with the Federal Security Administrator and with political subdivisions under certain terms and conditions providing for the Commonwealth's contribution under agreements with the Federal Security Administrator and for the collection and payment of employer and employe contributions authorizing interstate cooperation in certain cases creating a Contribution Fund and making appropriations" extending its provisions to include additional persons increasing contribution rates and providing for referenda and permitting modification of certain local retirement plans and making an additional appropriation

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Section 1, page 30, by inserting between lines 7 and 8

Section 6.4. Employes Covered on Effective Date of Act by Both Social Security and a Retirement System Established by a Political Subdivision—The provisions of Sections 6.2 and 6.3 shall not apply to any employe of a political subdivision who on the effective date of this act is covered by both Social Security and a retirement system established by a political subdivision.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the bill before us is the basic bill of the group now under a special order of business which will allow Commonwealth employes and municipal employes to tie into the social security system if they so desire and if they so vote.

The amendments submitted by the lady from Lehigh would have the effect of allowing certain counties, which in the past have adopted Social Security as part of their retirement systems, to remain in the position they now are in of having no limitation on the amount of retirement compensation which could be received by their employes with relation to their final salaries.

Senate Bill 896 as now drawn, according to my understanding, imposes an eighty per cent limitation on the amount of total retirement compensation an employe may receive under both systems.

I am asking the membership to defeat these amendments for the reason I am informed that very few people are in the wonderful position of being able to receive even as much as eighty per cent of their final compensation, and for the further reason that many counties, by far the great majority of them in this Commonwealth have never up to this time adopted the social security plan. Therefore, they would be subject to the eighty per cent limitation, and those counties which have seen fit up to this time to come under Social Security would not be so limited.

I think it would make for dissension among the employes of various counties. Since very, very few are affected by the eighty per cent limitation, I see no reason why this special favor should be bestowed upon Lehigh County or any other county which now has social security.

This matter has been discussed by the administration and by many people who are interested in it for a long, long time. Senate Bill 896 was amended after its passage in the Senate to conform to the desires and wishes of the administration, which insisted upon having a forty per cent set-off.

Senate Bill 896 as it is now before us, after having been amended again, does not impose that forty per cent set-off. In other words, when a person who is in a local retirement system becomes eligible for social security, he does not lose under 896 any part of that social security unless the total amounst of the two exceed eighty per cent, in which case the local would be reduced to bring him into the eighty per cent. In any event, the person who becomes eligible for social security will get the full amount of social security. It is simply a question of whether he should be allowed to have more than eighty per cent of his final salary as a retirement pension.

I think these amendments are bad for these reasons and I am asking that they be defeated.

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of a great many of the counties who have had the foresight have had actuarial studies and have had in effect for a number of years a pension plan and a social security plan, I cannot see why they should be penalized for having such foresight. They have an investment in their pension plans, they have had the foresight to adopt social security,

I ask the membership of this House to support these amendments. I ask for a roll call, a slow roll call, and that only those answering to their names be recorded.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Berks, the Majority Leader, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall. Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, as I understand under the provisions of this bill, any county which wishes to adopt this plan has to do so by a referendum of their own employes. Am I correct in that assumption?

Mr. READINGER. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Then, Mr. Speaker, is it not true that if the county which Mrs. Markley represents does not want to get under this plan, they would be affected by it?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, they will be affected by the eighty per cent limitation, yes.

Mr. FILO. In other words Mr. Speaker, this applies to all counties?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, it applies to all counties. This bill would modify the pension plan in any county, if they already have one set up.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think I should say, in addition to what has already been said about the rightness or wrongness of these amendments, that it is taxpayers' money which is used to support all of these pension plans.

I think the main reason why the administration wanted the forty per cent set-off included in this bill, as well as all of the other bills in the package, is because it is natural on the part of governmental employes to seek the best possible pension plan. The administration rightly fears that if the county employes were allowed to be in a position where they would not have a forty per cent set-off, which has the effect of reducing the amount the local government or the state must contribute to the plan and contribute to the benefits, it would not be long before state employes, school employes and city employes would all be demanding the same rights and the same privileges. It is certainly normal to expect that they will. The cost to the taxpayers of the various governmental units, the state, school districts, cities, and so forth, will be considerably higher if that change is ever made as far as they are concerned.

I do not know how many more millions of dollars the state would have to contribute to the social security plan for the benefit of its employes if it was not for the forty per cent set-off. It runs into many millions of dollars.

I think the adoption of these amendments would be exceedingly unwise, even though the lady would like to protect a few people in her county. I suppose there are Members of other counties where the plan has been adopted heretofore. I think the price we would pay to protect a relatively few employes is much too great.

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, just one more thought on this amendment. When you make a contract under a retirement plan as our county employes did when they voted to adopt this pension plan and Social Security in all good faith I think we should stand behind them and not interfere with our local government.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mrs. Markley and Mr. Ogilvie.

A vertification of the roll was requested by Mrs. Markley, Messrs. Ogilvie and Gramlich.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, there seems to be some confusion about what Senate Bill 896 means and does.

I think the Members should know that unless Senate Bill 896 passes it will not be possible for the employes of the Commonwealth, the school districts and the other political subdivisions to vote and make a choice as to whether or not they want to come under social security.

I say the history of Senate bill 896 has brought about some confusion because of the fact that it contained certain things when it left the Senate. It was changed here in the House and was changed again. It now provides for the right on the part of municipal employes to vote to come into the system if they so desire, and it also provides for an eighty per cent over-all limit. It does not any longer provide for a forty per cent set-off. That provision is contained in the other bills relating to state employes, school employes, and so forth, but it will not affect county employes.

There seems to be a lot of confusion, a lot of letters have been written and a lot of telegrams have been sent. They all came about the same time, because I know I received many from county people stating they were opposed to 896 because it did so and so. I think all of those objections have now been removed, except the objection raised by the county from which Mrs. Markley comes, and several others.

By and large, all of the objections which were put in letter form or telegram form and sent to me have been removed from this bill. I think it should pass the House.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, is this a "may" bill or a "must" bill?

Mr. READINGER. This is a bill which sets up the machinery by which a referendum will be submitted to the employes of various governmental units. The employes may or may not accept it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order Senate Bill No. 1036 on page 7 of today's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 1036, entitled:

An Act amending the Local Tax Enabling Law act of June 25, 1947 (P. L. 1145) increasing the maximum millage amount for certain political subdivisions.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 1036, Printer's No. 695, is a bill which will increase the over-all limitation of Act 481.

The over-all limitation which municipalities, other than school districts, could collect under Act 481 from the time of its passage until the present time has always been a sum squal to ten mills of the assessed valuation.

This bill seeks to increase the ten mill over-all limitation and would make that limitation fifteen mills. What we will do by the passage of this bill in a number of instances is that we will permit municipalities which are now using the wage tax, which brings in perhaps eight or nine mills, and because of that tax they cannot levy another type of tax.

If we increase the over-all limitation to fifteen mills that would, in effect, be an invitation for municipalities to adopt one of the other forms of tax under 481. For example, we may have a wave of mercantile taxes passed by municipalities which now cannot be passed by them because of the ten mill limitation.

I am opposed to this for two reasons. First of all, most of the municipalities which do not get sufficient income under the ten mill limitation are in that position by reason of a low assessment in those particular boroughs, or townships, or whatever they may be. Because they have an assessment in some cases of 20 per cent of the actual valuation, and some 25 per cent, their valuation is not realistic and under the ten mill limitation they cannot raise the amount of money they think they should have

There is a remedy now which is being used to correct that particular situation. As you know, several months ago we passed a bill which requires the counties to reassess, and I think we set a deadline on that as of 1957. Most of the counties are now in the process of revaluating the real estate in their counties. When this revaluation has been completed, the chances are that many of these communities that are now seeking to have this limitation raised will be allowed double the amount they are now permitted under 481, and if we increase this over-all limitation to fifteen per cent it is going to be considerably more than that.

When we remove that over-all limitation, we invite the communities to use the various forms of taxation under 481. The oftener local municipalities resort to 481, the more difficult it will become in the future for the Commonwealth to raise money from sources which otherwise would be available.

I believe this is a bad bill. I further believe that within the space of a year or so the correction of the assessed valuation in these communities will automatically double the take which the community can have. I believe this bill should be put off, and I am sure that when another session rolls around we will find that the communities which are now urging it will no longer be after this increase.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. READINGER.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 2100, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the committee appointed by the House of Representatives and the Governor to study and investigate all phases of the operation  under which the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission is and has been functioning and operating

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Will the gentleman from Washington please tell me and the Members of the House how much money has been expended by this committee to date?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have been advised approximately $12,000 has been expended to date.

Mr. TOMPKINS. $12,000 expended to date. Is that right?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What does that expenditure involve? Could the gentleman answer that?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that $12,000 involves the expenses for court reporters and travelling expenses.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Court reporters and what?

Mr. POLEN. Travelling expenses.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does the gentleman know how many hearings they have had—how many meetings they have had?

Mr. POLEN. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. This bill calls for $25,000, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. May I make two more inquiries? Could the gentleman tell me the amount of expenditures that were involved in the investigation of Laurelton?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the amount involved in the Laurelton investigation was $7,128.45.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And how much money was involved in the investigation at Morganza?

Mr. POLEN. $6,000.

Mr. TOMPKINS. $6,000, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I have amendments here which are in blank. I want to fill them in for the sum of $12,000 and that for this reason: On the nineteenth day of April of 1956, two of the principals involved in this investigation voluntarily submitted the questions which are to be investigated to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County at Commonwealth Docket No. 170, and as a result thereof the courts will determine the validity of the issues which have been raised by the resolution authorizing this investigation. The matter being before the court, I cannot see any justification for any further hearings by this committee, nor further expenditure of taxpayers' money in pursuance thereof. For that reason, I am going to submit amendments on the basis of the $12,000 which has already been spent and ask that that be approved.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Cameron desire to amend the bill?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am submitting amendments when I get the amount filled into—I will ask unanimous consent for a leave to amend at this time, Mr. Speaker.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out "twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof "twelve thousand ($12,000) dollars."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, speaking on the amendments, I would like at this time to interrogate the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, in connection with a statement that he made.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron consent to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I understand the gentleman to say that there were proceedings in the Dauphin County Court. I am not familiar with them except what I read in the paper. It was my understanding it was in connection with the salaries of the Executive Committee. I would like to ask the gentleman whether or not that is correct?

Mr. TOMPKINS. The proceeding, a copy of which I have, is for a declaratory judgment to have the courts determine the issue of salary for certain members. Yes, that is right.

Mr. POLEN. Then, Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, there is no question before the court involving or stopping this investigation which was authorized by a House resolution. I would like to ask the gentleman if that is correct?

Mr. TOMPKINS. There is no specific, as I understand it, proceeding before the court that raises an issue on this particular resolution. But for all practical purposes, the question as I understand it which has been submitted to the court will resolve the issues which are sought to be resolved by this resolution.

Mr. POLEN. I thank the gentleman.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I believe we should oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Cameron because this committee is operating under a resolution passed by this House authorizing the investigation they are making and I do not believe it refers to the salaries that were paid but to expenses and other matters.

I have a breakdown of the expenses as they apparently are budgeted and it calls for $25,000. If $12,000 has already been spent and the investigation is stopped at this time, nothing beneficial could come out of it and the investigation could not continue. Inasmuch as there is no real relationship between the proceedings of the Dauphin County Court and the proceedings of this committee under the House resolution, I would ask the Members to vote down the amendments offered by the gentleman from Cameron.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Did I understand, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman to state that he has a breakdown of these expenses of $12,000?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have a breakdown I said of the budget of $25,000.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Do you have a breakdown of the $12,000 that has already been spent?

Mr. POLEN. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to further interrogate the gentleman, and ask him whether or not he knows a hearing is being held by this committee today in Easton?

Mr. POLEN. I so understand.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And does the $12,000 figure which he has given include the expenses of the hearing which is being conducted today?

Mr. POLEN. I would say that it did not include the expenses of today's hearing although I do not have that definite information.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TOMPKINS. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the Members of that Committee, as I understand it, consist of three House Members, to wit, A. Patrick Brennan, who has responded to the roll here today, Mr. Yetter, who has responded to the roll here today, and Mr. Metz who has responded to the roll here today. The other Members of that Committee consist of the Attorney General and a Member of the Senate, who is appointed by the Governor.

I rise to the parliamentary inquiry, by what authority is this Committee holding a meeting or a hearing in Easton today without the consent of the Committee that is conducting this hearing?

Secondly, I would like to know to whom this House shall repair for advice in connection with the operations of this committee for impartial advice inasmuch as the Attorney General is a member of this Committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would say that it is within the province of this House to appoint a committee to investigate the investigating committee if it so desires.

The question that the gentleman asks is not now properly before the House, it is not such a question as the Chair can properly decide. If the gentleman desires an investigation of an investigating committee there are parliamentary ways of going about it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the point that I am raising is this, here is a hearing that is being conducted today, supposedly by a commitee, the majority of which are sitting right here in this House today. We have a bill before us for an appropriation for $25 thousand. Are we going to authorize expenses for today's hearing to be included as a part of this? And if so, by what authority?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would say that the question the gentleman raises is not within the province of the Speaker to decide. If the gentleman desires to have an investigation of the procedings of a committee, if he desires to have a committee appointed to audit the accounts of that committee, it is within the province of this House so to do.

The Chair is not acquainted with the rules under which this committee proceeds. It is not acquainted as to what its form is. The Chair knows of instances in which there have been committees of several Members that have held hearings with one Member, and whether the committee has authorized counsel and the one Member to hold hearings, the Chair would not know and would have no way of knowing.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I think the Members of the House should know that so far as I am able to determine, a majority of the committee did not authorize anybody or any one person to act on their behalf.

The SPEAKER. Neither the Chair nor the Members of this House are under official notice that the committee is in session.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. READINGER. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Cameron is not speaking on the amendments offered to this bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman gained the floor under the guise of a parliamentary inquiry to which the Chair did its best to reply. The parliamentary inquiry in the opinion of the Chair is not pertinent to the present proceedings of this House.

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to reply to the gentleman on the other side.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to make a statement?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. I would like to make a statement, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cameron has the floor. Does the gentleman from Cameron yield to the gentleman from Bucks?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, a point of order has been raised and as long as he confines himself to the bill before us I shall not object. If not, I suggest his statement be deferred until after the issue before the House is resolved.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cameron has the floor. The Chair has asked the gentleman from Cameron whether he will yield to the gentleman from Bucks?

Mr. TOMPKINS. The point of order is settled as I understand it, Mr. Speaker. It has been ruled against me. The only question I am raising is that as long as he talks on the amendments to the bill, well and good.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cameron is quite right. The only question before the House is on the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Cameron.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Cameron desire a roll call, a division or a viva voce vote?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am willing to accept a division.

Whereupon, a division was had, seventy-five Members having voted in the affirmative and eighty-two in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee has stated to us that the cost of the investigation in the Laurelton matter was $7,128.45 and the cost of the investigation in the Morganza matter was $6,000. I believe he also stated he had a breakdown as to the items for which these expenses were incurred.

I think the Members of the House should have information on that breakdown, and also information to justify such a tremendously increased expenditure in this investigation over others which have been had by this same session of the General Assembly.

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, for some time this Committee has been holding hearings either in Morrisville, Pennsylvania, or here in Harrisburg. So far none of the Members have received any expense money in spite of the $12,000 which has been spent to date.

I would like to give a brief breakdown so far as the $25,000 necessary to conduct the investigation is concerned. We are going to have to spend at least $20,000 for the preparation of an official transcript of the committee's proceedings and hearings.

It is going to cost $3,000 for reimbursement of travel expenses. It means that every time we subpoena a witness, bring him to Harrisburg, or to Morrisville, we have to pay all of his expenses. That totals up to $3,000.

We are also having an independent auditing company audit some of the records of the Bridge Commission and that totals $2,000, which brings the total up to $25,000.

Of that $25,000, close to $12,000 has been spent to bring witnesses Harrisburg and to have the testimony taken down during the hearings which were conducted.

I am asking all Members of the House to vote for this appropriation bill. If this committee is going to function properly, we certainly have to have some money. A vote against this particular appropriation bill I feel would be a vote to condone lavish spending by an independent agency of the government that this very House set up.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Brennan.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bucks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, how many hearings have been held to date by this committee?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, I could not give the exact figure. I would say we must have had at least twenty-five different hearings so far.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Twenty-five different hearings, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. Approximately twenty-five separate meetings.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Where?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. We have had them in Morrisville, we had one down there. Most of them were conducted right here in Harrisburg. There have been trips made to the various installations along the river. There have been several up at Milford, Pennsylvania, there were hearings held up there, and I think there was one held in Easton. They are having one today at Easton.

If you are asking why the Members of the investigating committee are not there today, it might be said that we have a lot of absentees here. We are elected not to be only members of the committee, but our first duty is actually to be here legislating. That is why three Members who are here in the House did not go to the committee hearing today.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, on the issue of the number of hearings, I would like to temporarily yield to the gentleman from Pike, Mr. Metz.

Mr. METZ. Mr. Speaker, I do not think we have had twenty-five meetings. The ones I have been notified to attend I do not think would exceed ten or twelve, and these were fixed arbitrarily by the Chairman without any consultation. We just received a terse notice that there would be a meeting at this or that place. But the actual number of meetings I do not think would exceed twelve.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to continue to interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Brennan.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in connection with the hearing today, the gentleman from Bucks, a member of the Committee is here, the gentleman from Pike, Mr. Metz, is here, and the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Yetter, is here. I also understand that the Attorney General was in town at 2:30 this afternoon. Who is conducting that hearing at Easton today?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. As far as I know, Senator Yosko as Chairman of the committee is conducting the investigation, along with representatives of the Attorney General's Department. I think the resolution mentions the fact that it can either be the Attorney General or some representative from his office. There are two members up there from the Attorney General's office, the chief accountant of the Attorney General's office and one Deputy Attorney General.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I do not know, but I just received word that Mr. Yosko is over in the Senate today. The question in my mind is, how is this hearing being conducted in Easton today?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been very lenient. The Chair is of the opinion that all of this inquiry is not pertinent. The manner of operating, how they are called, all of those things are not pertinent to the question before us at this time.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I will accept your result, but I am going to differ with you.

They are asking for $25,000. I think we have a right to know how it is being spent. If they want to justify a $25,000 expenditure, they ought to be able to tell us what it is being spent for.

I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Brennan.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bucks consent to be further interrogated?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Bucks has stated that a portion of this money has been spent for witness fees. Can the gentleman tell me how many witnesses they have had before this committee in their several hearings?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have the figures of all the witnesses and what the expenses will total up as far as each witness are concerned. Some of the witnesses were here for one day, some were here for two days. Some had hotel expenses, some did not. We are asking for this $3,000 now to cover those expenses. The gentleman is an attorney, he knows we have to pay them when we subpoena them and bring them into Harrisburg.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Just what rate of pay do you pay a witness? How much do you pay a witness to appear before your committee?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. As far as I know, that is being handled by the Attorney General's office as to what they actually pay when they bring them into Harrisburg.

Mr. Metz is standing right here. He might have some additional information himself.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know how much they are paying a witness and also, if in addition to witness fees, they are paying hotel bills, meals, and so forth? Is that a practice you are taking up?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. Let me break that thing down, Mr. Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. McCORMACK. I rise to a point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. My point of order is that while a committee, appointed by this House is investigating the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission, it is not in order to go into the details until the committee has made a report back to the House. It is out of order at this time to do so, to question a member of the committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would say in reply to the gentleman that the matter before the House is an appropriation, and in line with proper inquiry, the gentleman from Cameron is entitled to ask such questions as may lead him to believe, or lead the Members of the House to believe, that the appropriation is either in line with the proprieties or is excessive.

If the gentleman from Cameron will confine himself along that line, the Chair would rule he is privileged to continue. This is not a trial. No one is on trial by the House, and the gentleman is entitled to information which will lead him to conclude whether the expenditures are in line with the proprieties or are excessive.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am inclined to agree with you and I am inclined to agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia.

I think you will find both in the Morganza and the Laurelton investigation that we did not put in a bill for expenses until after we had completed our investigations, and we detailed the expenses we had incurred. I am trying to find out here, based upon my experience in those two investigations, why this investigation is costing so excessively much more money. I think I have a right to interrogate as to the number of hearings they have had, where they have had them, the number of witnesses they called and what they are paying their witnesses.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that that line of inquiry is more in the nature of an audit than as to propriety, and at this time an audit of the expenses is not properly before the House.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then, Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Do they need so much for transcript? Is the amount excessive? Do they need so much for witnesses? Is the amount excessive?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is what I am trying to find out. How much do they promise witnesses?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cameron is entitled to make statements along that line, but the Chair will hold that this is not an audit, that this is an inquiry and that nobody is on trial.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am not trying anybody. I am really trying to find out how much they are paying witnesses and how many have been paid. Members of the committee should have some knowledge of that.

Does the gentleman know how much they are paying witnesses?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. I would say a negative amount. There usually is not a set fee for paying witnesses. There is a fee and I don't think the Attorney General's office is exceeding that fee.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does the gentleman know in dollars and cents how much that amounts to?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. No, I don't, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does the gentleman know the number of witnesses that have been called?

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. I do not have those figures before me at this time, Mr. Speaker, and to be real honest I have missed some of those meetings.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does the gentleman know, Mr. Speaker, the number of pages of testimony which will be involved and the cost? I think he said $20 thousand.

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, the cost of the testimony in the proceedings will be approximately $20 thousand. In arriving at this figure we have tentatively estimated that the committee will conduct a series of hearings for approximately sixty full days, and the stenographic cost will be at the usual prevailing rates of the official court reporters. The preparation of this transcript is vital to the investigating committee in order to comply fully with the requirements of the House Resolution creating the committee. Those requirements provide for the submission to the General Assembly at its next session of a complete report of the investigation.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

I want to repeat what I said before and make one additional observation.

In the last investigation we submitted our bills in the form of a request for an appropriation after the hearings were completed. They are now asking us to write a blank check for committee to use between now and the end of the 1957 Session of the Legislature for purposes which they cannot explain from the floor of this House this afternoon. I do not think we should appropriate tax monies in that manner. I do not think it is proper, and I do not think the people like to have their money spent in that manner.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I think there have been some rather unfair comparisons made here this afternoon.

When you speak of the expenses of the investigation of Laurelton and the investigation of Morganza you are talking about an entirely different type of investigation from that being conducted by the committee on the Delaware River Bridge.

The Laurelton investigation it was merely to investigate conditions, an investigation which could be made for the most part by direct trips right to that particular institution and talking only to people at that institution. The investigation that we are making now, is not necessarily as to personalities but it applies to the expenditures made by those personalities over a period of years. It must be apparent to the gentleman from Cameron that a great deal of work is going to be necessary if they are going to investigate the proper expenditures or improper expenditures by the Delaware River Commission. It is bound to require a different type of operation completely. Undoubtedly, auditors, accountants and persons searching the records of that particular Commission are going to have to conduct a lot of detail work to uncover, if there are any, improper actions on the part of that committee.

If I am to believe what I have read in the newspapers recently, it would seem there are some irregularities and that this House and the Senate certainly should know about them.

The amendments offered right now to me are in the nature of a "whitewash," because if this committee has already made expenditures to the extent of $12,000 and we pass these amendments limiting those expenses to $12,000, that means for all practical purposes the committee should discontinue as of this moment.

If that is what the gentleman from Cameron wants, then I think he should present a resolution to this House asking us to discontinue our investigation rather than try to force an issue here which would indicate that there is an improper expenditure of funds. If he does not want this investigation to continue, than let us go about it in another manner, but if he does want it to continue, then certainly offering an amendment to this bill which would limit the amount to $12,000, which he knows has already been expended, I think is highly improper.

Either the committee we have appointed is going to do a good job or it is not going to do a good job. One way to hamstring it will be to refuse to give it any more appropriation because if we so refuse, then you can be sure that the accountants will be taken off the payroll as of now and witnesses from this point on will probably not attend any of the committee meetings. I think when the House sets up a committee it should back it up. I believe it is wrong, inherently wrong, to impute to the committee we have appointed from our own Members either negligence or a wilful desire to waste the money of this Commonwealth.

I think if we adopt this amendment we are insulting the intelligence and attacking the integrity of our own committee. If that committee does not have integrity, let us attack it directly but not by this indirect procedure.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I had hoped the debate could have gone along in the manner in which it should have gone along and not start using the word "whitewash" I did not expect that to come from the gentleman from Cambria; it might have come from one of the gentleman in the Senate who is now on the committee. I thought higher of the gentleman from Cambria.

We agree with the gentleman. We on this side are not going to "whitewash" anything the Republicans have ever done or "whitewash" anything the Democrats have ever done.

Let me say to you, we will vote for this bill under one circumstance. Put this bill on the third reading postponed calendar and let the gentleman from Bucks or the gentleman from the Appropriations Committee supply to the Members of this House how the money has been spent. If there is nothing wrong supply us with that information.

I have information from Mr. Metz in which he said there were twelve meetings. The gentleman from Bucks says there were twenty-five meetings. I believe the gentleman from Bucks would not deny the fact that he has not attended many meetings, nor has the gentleman from Pike or anybody else in the House, because they have not been considered. Senator Yosko is running his own campaign on these committee meetings. If he wants to run it, let the appropriation bill start in the Senate and let Senator Yosko produce the cost of the investigation.

We will vote for the bill when we know what it is going to cost, but we will not vote for this type of bill. If the gentleman wants to play fair, let him produce the amount of money and how it was spent, and there will be votes on this side of the House and the gentleman will not have to use the word "whitewash." I do not believe it should be in his vocabulary, I think it probably will be in the vocabulary of a certain Senator.

Mr. LOPRESTI. If the gentleman from Philadelphia were to make a motion or were to ask that this bill be held over until that particular information or interim report be given to this House, I would go along with him and agree with him 100 per cent. But to try to amend this bill to $12,000 at this point, I say he is wrong. If he were to make a motion and ask that this bill be held over until we get that information, I would agree with him 100 per cent and I would vote with him.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I thank the gentleman.

I make a motion that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar and that before we vote on it the expense account of the committee be supplied to every Member of this House.

BILL PASSED OVER

Mr. READINGER. In view of the request for additional information, I move that this bill be passed over at this time.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The status of the bill now is that it automatically goes on the third reading postponed calendar.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up out of order, Senate Bill No. 470 on page 11 of today's calendar.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, has the time for resolutions been passed?

The SPEAKER. We can always return to resolutions.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, it would seem there was no resolution turned in. There are times when the gentleman from Cambria gets a little cantankerous—I do not mean you, Mr. Speaker, so don't look at me in that way. There are other gentlemen from Cambria.

The SPEAKER. That is quite all right; quite all right.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Any time they do get cantankerous I always figure, well, it is just a matter of age, and I always consider that.

Now that Mr. Lopresti is over the hill, today being his birthday, I was waiting and hoping there would be a resolution presented. I did not have one made up, but I would personally like to congratulate the gentleman, extend him best wishes to tell him that being over the hill I know he is going to be a little more cantankerous every day, but we are willing to put up with him because we still think he is a pretty good fellow in the end.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Lopresti, and hopes he accepts the apology.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman from Philadelphia. I will say that from now on you will probably have two cantankerous gentlemen from Cambria. I sympathize with the House if I am here at the age of the Speaker because I will surely be cantankerous by that time.

I wish to thank the gentleman and the Members for their best wishes.

The SPEAKER. You know, that is the way we do things in this House. That is one of the beauties of it. We never let the sun rise on yesterday's wrath. It is a noble, noble sentiment and there is more of it here not letting the sun rise on yesterday's wrath, than the Chair has found in any other body this size in the state of Pennsylvania.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McCORMACK. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the attention of the House to the fact that on page 13 of the calendar Senate Bill 1002, Printer's No. 651, I was not in the Hall of the House when the vote was taken on that bill. For that reason I would like to have my name stricken from the affirmative roll if it happens to be on it. I would like to be recorded as "not voting."

The SPEAKER. The roll is now a matter of record. However, the gentleman's statement on his question of personal privilege will be noted upon the record.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask one other question if I am in order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. Several weeks ago there was a release issued out of the Speaker's office concerning the lack of equipment of the various committees, and particularly the Ways and Means Committee, and a suggestion that it be put on a year-round basis. I was wondering whether anything further had been done along that line, or if it is going to be done before this session is over?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia well knows there is no one less capable of predicting future action in this House than your humble Speaker.

INTERROGATION

Mr. MOSCRIP asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, in the Hall of the House?

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I might interject that my questions are in regard to the appropriations for fourth class school districts. If there is another gentleman across the aisle who is well versed, I would just as soon question him rather than inconvenience Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. The Chair imagines the matter the gentleman refers to will become a matter of inquiry on the part of the whole House within the next forty-eight hours. However, if the gentleman desires to interrogate anyone else, he has that privilege.

Mr. MOSCRIP. I desire then to interrogate Mr. McCann, the Chairman of the Committee on Education.

The SPEAKER. Will the Chairman of the Committee on Education, Mr. McCann, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, my questions will be confined to fourth class school districts. Can the gentleman give me the status of the so-called March appropriations for fourth class school districts?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot officially give the status of the appropriations to the fourth class, or third, or second, or first, but I do believe in a matter of a very short period of time there will be a proper release dealing with a partial payment.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Has any portion of the March appropriation been paid?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, as of this particular date none have been paid on the second round of the payments due to fourth, third, second and first.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I note the presence of Mr. Polen on the floor of the House, if Mr. McCann desires to yield.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Greene yield to the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen?

Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker, although I believe Mr. McCann gave him the information.

Mr. MOSCRIP. For the information of the gentleman from Washington, I was inquiring as to the status of our March payments to fourth class school districts. I would ask the further question, Mr. Speaker, whether or not any of the so-called transportation payments have been paid?

Mr. POLEN. At this time they have not, although it is anticipated they will be paid in the very near future, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Whether or not any of the payments for such items as tuition, rentals on building projects, special education, and so forth, have been paid?

Mr. POLEN. The payments for rentals are being worked on right now and I hope to be able to give the House definite information in the very near future.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Can the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, give me any assurance as to whether funds are now available in the Treasury for this purpose?

Mr. POLEN. Sufficient funds would be in the Treasury at this time, but we have the tax anticipation notes due at the end of this month which would preclude their being paid out of the present funds until we have ascertained there will be sufficient monies to take care of the mandated obligations from the tax anticipation notes and the school payments.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Can the gentleman inform me, Mr. Speaker, whether there has been any rule or policy set up whereby the priority of these various types of payments would be fixed or in what order, and how much of them would be paid?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the policy we have followed is to pay the fourth class districts first, then the third, the second and the first.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman advise me whether the reimbursement fractions for the coming fiscal year of 1956-1957 have been prepared and sent to the districts?

Mr. POLEN. I could not, Mr. Speaker, but I can ascertain that for the gentleman.

Mr. MOSCRIP. If the gentleman will permit, Mr. Speaker, I might ask him a hypothetical question. If the districts have not received their new reimbursement fractions, would it be possible for them to accurately budget their needs for the next fiscal year?

Mr. POLEN. I believe it would be necessary for them to have their reimbursement fractions in order to accurately budget the amounts they will receive from appropriations in the coming school year.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I think a number of us have lapsed into a rosy glow since the payments were made to our school districts here some months ago and sort of felt the pressure was off, which is not the case. Our school districts today, if anything, are more desperate than they were prior to the payment made several months ago on the so-called October payment. They are still being forced to borrow, some are to their limit, and a number of the lending institutions are not nearly as generous as they were the first time.

Further, we are faced with a rather interesting legal question and that is that the procedure whereby most of these districts have borrowed is under a temporary loaning process against anticipated revenues. The Code states the loan must not exceed the gross amount of anticipated revenues or appropriations and the maturity date must not go beyond the close of the present fiscal year.

It seems to me that someone in the administration has been rather arbitrary and has been taking it out on the schools. It has been brought out on the floor of this House previously that our departmental employes have suffered no postponement in pay. We have almost 5,000 more, as was pointed out yesterday. There were ample funds to meet the $20 million deficiency stop-gap that was passed here sometime ago, and at least one if not more stop-gap appropriations for relief and old age assistance have been met without any difficulty. Meanwhile our fourth class districts are struggling along trying to make a go of it, trying to pay the teachers.

This does not involve any new legislation. This does not involve the question of teachers' salaries or any campaign promises. This is a mandated obligation of the Commonwealth for one of the most essential services we furnish the people of Pennsylvania, it has been mandated over the years by the Legislature. In fact I have an idea the Governor himself voted for a good many of them when he was a Senator.

I submit to you, Mr. Speaker, that the delay in this has been capricious and uncalled for. Our boards are trying to do a job, they are not involved politically. The boards in the fourth class school districts are trying to do a good job for the kids that are in school. I can see no excuse for any further delay in the payment, and I feel it is our obligation as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to see that these are paid immediately and in full.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, at about the same time we were arguing about the teachers' pay raises in the Senate yesterday, which Senator Haluska led off and I followed and others followed after me, I notice that the Governor was making statements to the newspapers about his attitude in relation to this problem. I notice that unike myself, who was trying to keep this on a nonpolitical plane, the Governor tried to throw the burden upon the Republican Senate for not being able to grant the teacher's request. The Governor said the reason he cannot grant the teachers' request is that there is not enough money in the till because the Republican Senate has not provided enough taxes to pay the bill. The Governor should know that the Republican Senate cannot initiate tax measures.

We have passed all the tax measures which the House has sent over to us, with very few exceptions. We did turn down finaly the cassified income tax which was sent over here last July. We felt that we did right in turning it down because the people, we thought, did not want that type of taxation. We also turned down the manufacturers' excise tax because we felt that would be detrimental to industry in Pennsylvania. If there is some other tax that the House wants to send overe here, one which they have not already sent, we will be glad to look it over. In the meantime, I do not see how the Governor can blame the Republican Senate for his inabiity to give the teachers what they want. I think the Governor should be as forthright as we are and try to keep this on a nonpolitical basis.

As I stated yesterday, Mr. President, when the House sends over these bills, granting the teachers pay raises, then we will act upon them in the Senate and try to act forthrightly on them. We have been, and will try to be, as honest as we can with the teachers and honest with the taxpayers of Pennsylvania. I feel that the Governor was a little bit wrong in resorting to poitical inferences when he tried to excuse himself with the teachers of Pennsylvania. I wish that he had not done so because, as I stated yesterday, we are trying to keep the teachers from being used as a political football.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I am sorry that this subject had to come up. I had hoped that we would be able to work on the basis of a legislative body on the school teacher question or any other question.

I, too, read the newspapers this morning and I can understand the Governor's hesitancy in making a commitment at this particular moment, when we realize that the amount it will cost the taxpayers of Pennsylvania for the imposition of the stamp plan is more than sufficient to give the teachers a $200 increment during this biennium.

Mr. President, when the sales tax was first talked about, there was a question of raising $322,000,000. With the additional $54,000,000 for the capital stock tax acceleration and with the anticipated inflated increases of the present tax revenue measures on the books in Pennsylvania, which would ge paid at a figure of $30,000,000, we felt that we would be in a position to give the teachers a much needed and required increment increase during this biennium. In working out the best basis for so doing, we tried to relieve the load as much as we could on this particular biennium's budget. If you wil note from the reports that have been carried in the newspapers, we have tried to work with the schoolteacher representatives and we worked out a plan where we could probably get by with $19,500,000 in this biennium's budget and still give the teachers a much needed bonus for the year 1955-1956, out of State funds, without requiring any additional moneys from the local districts on a reimbursement basis. All of us must realize that the local school districts have already closed their 1955-1956 budgets in their areas and cannot ge back to the taxpayers and open up the budgets or the revenue picture. Therefore, they cannot raise any money with which to match State money.

The only workable plan that we could conceive would be to give an outright bonus for the year 1955-1956 out of State moneys and then take the year 1956-1957 and put an increment on for the year 1956-1957, and have the State pay to the local districts, before the end of the biennium, the $13,000,000 required to meet that increment, in order to relieve the local school districts from the necessity of finding the money during this particular period to meet their share of the $13,000,000 increment. Hoping to work out a schedule which woud give Pennsylvania a better standing in the educational picture in so far as teachers' salaries are concerned, we had hoped that we could work out an additional increment for the biennium of 1957-1959. We realize that this adds additional cost to the State's share of education. However, the State has assumed that position in education over a period of years. It is not new with this Administration. The State has been carrying a lion's share of the local school load. That is why on this floor, I argued the point that we could not accept the figures of taxation in the State of New Jersey and in the State of Indiana and in the State of Ohio as basic figures for Pennsylvania on a comparative base, because in those particular States they do not contribute out of State moneys toward the local educational cost at the same rate as what we do in this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, in figuring out the $19,500,000, it comes to this analysis. Six million five hundred thousand dollars is out of State moneys for the $100 increment for this teaching year. The $13,000,000 for the added increment also will come out of this biennium. We all know that—I have had no one argue the point successfully with any figures, anyway—the addition of the stamp plan, as it is now amended in the amendments that have been offered to the conferees, will cost $13,000,000 which is exactly the amount of money that we are wasting on the stamp plan, which could pay for that increment this biennium.

The Governor has no knowledge of what we will finally end up with on amendments to the sales tax. He has no knowledge of what the income will be from that revenue source. Whether or not the newspapers carried the statement as he made it is one thing I do not know. I do know that acting in the capacity of the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth, the Governor cannot make an outright promise to the schoolteaching profession in Pennsylvania on what he will or will not be able to do in the final analysis. However, he will be able to give the teachers—and this is my honest opinion—this bonus. He will be able to give the teachers the added increment if the Legislature, in its wisdom, feels that this is the proper thing to do, if we do not adopt the stamp plan. If we do adopt the stamp plan as it is now written in the act, there is a double payment to the merchants of two per cent under the regular plan of collection and, without repealing that two per cent, another two per cent has been added by the stamp plan that is in the act and is now on the books, which gives four per cent to the merchant. I do not know how many of you realize that, but in the act that we have on the books today, the merchants of Pennsylvania receive four per cent out of the fund. If we assume that we are going to collect $322,000,000 and you take four per cent of the $322,000,000, I think you will find that you will have to pay $12,880,000 to the merchants, alone. If you take two more per cent and you pay that to the refunders, you would get $6,444,000 or a total of $19,320,000. There is $19,320,000 of simple arithmetic, plus, mind you, another half per cent which would be somewhere near $1,625,000, or a total of approximately $21,000,000 that will have to be spent for the tax stamp plan.

The Governor is faced with the situation that if we deduct $21,000,000, with other amendments that I know are being written to the sales tax, we will find ourselves with an estimate of about $274,000,000 to $275,000,000 as the total income from the sales tax.

This may interest the Members of the Senate. We have had to resist the greatest barrage of pressure that I have ever witnessed in this Senate from the very people who have been the advocates of a sales tax in Pennsylvania, since the sales tax has been adopted, in attempting to get them out of paying any sales tax. The very people who stood upon this floor and demanded a sales tax, in opposition to a manufacturers' excise tax, when asked the question from the rostrum, unanimously—and I am speaking of the big steel companies, the big shipbuilding companies and all the rest of them—demanded that this Legislature pass a sales tax. Every one of them has come before the conferees, or sent their emissaries to the conferees, and have bombarded us with messages demanding that they be taken out of the sales tax. If they succeed in taking themselves out, it cost the taxpayers already $19,320,000 of the original $322,000,000.

A big hullabaloo is being made by those who have the stores, that although they are getting four per cent under the present plan, they want excluded for the string and paper with which they wrap packages. Every person knows that when you or I go into a store and buy anything and it is wrapped, the cost of that wrapping is included in the price that you pay. The manufacturers want out under every conceivable type of an amendment. It is going to cost us at least $14,000,000 to remove manufacturing machinery, not already excluded by amendments that have been offered to the conferees. That brings us somewhere near the figure of $286,000,000 as the total revenue. If you take out the string and packaging, which will raise approximately $7,000,000 more, and a few other incidentals that they have been demanding come out, we end up exactly where I said we would, with no one paying the tax except the little people who cannot defend themselves.

Mr. President, we have this tax. I have heard for years that if you are going to have a tax, it should be paid by everybody. However, they want everybody to pay it except them. The Governor finds himself in a position of not knowing how much money he is going to have. I will say to this Senate that another little feature which is very interesting is that in our total figures, when we based what we could or could not do for teachers and everybody else, we anticipated that we would get $54,000,000 from the capital stock tax acceleration. Everyone knows what happened to the capital stock tax acceleration in this Senate. They all know of the option features put in it at the insistence of industry, which not only has crawled out from under the sales tax, but now they want to crawl out from under the capital stock tax which is a tax that has been assessed in this State for some twenty odd years. We know that they successfully came into this Legislature two years ago and had industry removed from paying any machinery tax under the real estate tax laws of this Commonwealth, and many of our local counties have had to increase the millage on the home owner by two mills to meet that. This shift in taxes cannot go on forever. I have heard it said that you cannot kill the goose that lays the golden egg, but you still have to keep somebody to tend to the goose. You just cannot take all of the money from the little peoples.

Certainly, Mr. President, we are for a schoolteachers' raise. I do not think there is a Democrat, speaking politically, who is not for a schoolteachers' increase. I doubt if there are many Republicans who would not vote for an increase. We all recognize the problem in our schools.

I just attended a conference in Hartford, Connecticut, of the Middle Atlantic and New England States, and I was astounded to find that we in Pennsylvania have one of the lowest starting salaries in the teaching profession in the entire eastern United States. The little State of Rhode Island has a $3500 minimum; New York just recently set their minimum at $3600; New Jersey's minimum is $3000 with a graduated scale acceleration clause; Connecticut had before it at that time a $3400 minimum; and Pennsylvania is still sitting with a $2400 minimum. In the proposal which we are trying to work out, and we have been working it out with Republicans as well as Democrats, - - there has been no secrecy about it - - we are trying to establish a $3000 minimum for this year and a $3200 minimum starting in 1956-1957 and then a $200 increase, on up to a $3600 minimum. By the year 1959 we find ourselves, under this schedule we are hoping to propose and hoping to get successfully through the Senate and the House, and which we hope the Governor will see fit to sign, with a minimum of $3600 and a maximum of $5800 which will put us somewhere near a competitive base with other States.

Mr. President, they say, and some people can prove, that a great many of our teachers are not leaving Pennsylvania, but a great many of them are leaving the teaching profession. You cannot expect worth-while students to devote four years of their school life in actual classroom work, plus the many hours of after-graduation work in the graduate schools, seeking their degrees and better training themselves to be the teachers of our youth, knowing there is a limit to their salaries and their incomes which is lower in its final attainment than the starting income of many other professional classes who need no more study than what a teacher is compelled to take.

Mr. President, I want to say, in all fairness to both sides, that over the years the Legislature has tried to raise the standards in Pennsylvania and there have been some valiant men in this body who have worked against tremendous odds because it is difficult having, on one hand, the necessity for raising salaries of teachers and at the same time, on the other hand, having the necessity of increasing taxes to meet these needs.

None of us want to tax industry, but I have so often tried to point out that the sole beneficiaries of higher educational standards are not only the little peoples. Industry benefits from better educated people. It costs them a great deal less to operate when they have educated help than when they have people both ignorant in language and in methods. All of us know that our schools are training for industry. Without our schools, where would any industry ever get an electrician? Where would industry ever get the men who have to read their blueprints? Manufacturing is a complex thing and it takes trained minds and trained students, who are trained in the ability to think, to work in industry today. When we pay to schoolteachers a higher wage and get better services, which in turn are reflected in better trained pupils, industry is the beneficiary and you cannot keep taking industry out of all tax measures in this Commonwealth. This is an industrial State. I have heard it said, "Well, they do not tax them in Texas," but they tax the devil out of oil in Texas because that is what they have. You tax what you have to tax in any given sovereignty of government. Over in Monaco, they tax gambling because that is the only product they have. In the State of Nevada, they tax gambling because it is part of their system. We have industry in Pennsylvania and they must carry their share.

Mr. President, I am not going to take the time of this Legislature today to read the reports of industrial earnings. I am not going to tell the people in this Senate today that Armstrong Cork made twenty-two per cent more profit during the first quarter of this year than in any other quarter in their history. I am not going to take the time and tell every Member of this Senate that the Pennsylvania Railroad has a higher rate earning than it has ever had in its history. United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel and the rest of them have a higher income than they have ever had in their history. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe just had to split its stock five for one, and it is still going to be $200 a share. I bet there are very few schoolteachers who will buy that stock.

We are discussing a problem here and the Republicans are trying to make it into a political football simply because the Governor took a position which under the circumstances I do not believe he could have taken any other. If you will read what he said, you will find he said, "If and when it appears we have revenue, we will talk about this matter." The Governor has a responsibility the same as we have. Now you just cannot pass the stamp plan and take anywhere from $13,000,000 to $21,000,000 out of the revenue. You just cannot take the capital stock tax acceleration and mutilate it to where it means nothing whatsoever to this biennium's income and expect the Governor to stand over there and glibly tell the teachers, "I will raise your pay."

Yes, Mr. President, we can raise the teachers' pay if Senator Mahany and the rest of his colleagues join with us and do exactly what he says; act forthrightly by taking a disease that we know will turn into cancer and cut it out before it gets started. If we take the stamp plan out, we will have enough for an increment of $200 to every schoolteacher in the State of Pennsylvania.

I know the story behind why they want the stamp plan. Even one or two newspapermen caught on. I think if you will read your public print, you will see what is in the minds of those who want the stamp plan. They say this and I think it ought to be in the records. The Republicans take the position that if they insist on the stamp plan, enough people will be getting some gravy out of the sales tax by way of the seven per cent kickback. The banks will receive a half per cent or somewhere near $3,000,000; the merchants will receive anywhere from $6,400,000 to $12,800,000 out of it; all these various organizations will pick up approximately $6,400,000; and when these people start to collect this money, they will become such a strong force and generate so much public opinion against repeal of the sales tax that Pennsylvania will never have to worry whether they get a Democratic or a Republican Administration, because no one will ever have the votes to repeal the sales tax. That might be a laudable plan, but it will not work.

I am going to say to the Membership of this Senate, and say it very frankly, that I, too, want to go home. I am as tired and worn out as any other man in this Senate, but I am not going to go home and charge the taxpayers of Pennsylvania $13,000,000 to $21,000,000 for the pleasure of going home. If it takes a sacrifice of staying here and getting the teachers their raises to defeat the stamp plan, I, for one, speaking for myself, will sit here until doomsday before I will give in and allow a cancerous growth to be attached to the body politic in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

STUDENTS OF CUMBERLAND VALLEY SCHOOL, CUMBERLAND COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I hesitate to interrupt this debate, but I did want to take the privilege to introduce and welcome a rather large group from the Cumberland Valley School, located in the beautiful Cumberland Valley.

These young folks, as I said about another group from the same school yesterday, are privileged to meet in school in one of the most modern plants in Pennsylvania. This group is escorted by Mr. Stanley Hosler and Mr. Robert Bowers, their teachers.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair, on behalf of the total Membership of the Senate, wishes to welcome this fine group here this morning.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I yield to Senator Wagner.

STUDENTS OF BLYTHE TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL, SCHUYLKILL COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I, too, want to introduce a group of students this morning. I would like to note, in passing, that this morning, as on many of our legislative days, there is great discussion about school children, school buildings and school needs in Pennsylvania. We are alerted to these needs because scarcely a day passes when we do not have one or more groups of our fine, young school pupils coming down to see the workings of the Session, the Legislature and the Capitol. I believe these children probably go away from here, at least if they see us on our better days, with the feeling that more and more will be done for the schools of Pennsylvania and, with or without a stamp tax and with or without charges and countercharges from the Governor's Office, we will wind up doing the right thing and the fair thing for the public schools of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am glad that Mr. Wade's group of school children heard this discussion this morning and I am happy, too, to have present in the gallery a splendid group of students from the Blythe Township High School in Schuylkill County, who are under the supervision of their faculty advisor, Mr. Rompolo.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair, on behalf of the total Membership of the Senate, welcomes, also, this fine group of students here this morning.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am very happy that I yielded for just a moment to hear the statement by Senator Wagner.

We, of the Democratic side, have tried to be diplomatic in regard to the problem of raises for our public schoolteachers. We refrained today from making any comment whatsoever in regard to the problems that confronted the Governor, and the newspaper releases regarding raises for the schoolteachers. However, this morning, Mr. President, the distinguished Majority Leader took the floor and, in a pious tone, tried to let the people of Pennsylvania know that in the event the teachers of Pennsylvania do not receive a raise, it is going to be the direct responsibility of the Democratic Governor and the Democratic Party here in Pennsylvania.

If I were to recapitulate what has gone on in the past year and a half, I would be on this floor for at least ten days. I am not going to recapitulate in detail, but I am going to make a statement here and now that I want the public schoolteachers of Pennsylvania to know that if they do not receive an increase in salary this year, the responsibility will lie upon the Republican Majority here in the Senate. I have observed, over the months, their methods of picking away at the Governor's budget. I observed at the last Session that they moved heaven and earth to exempt industrial machinery from taxes. They placed a great load upon the local school districts, especially in the industrial areas. They have argued here for months at a time about the Governor's budget. They are determined that we will not have the funds to do the job.

Mr. President, I have tried to be diplomatic and I tried to sort of pussyfoot on this issue because I thought that maybe something could be done. However, this morning when I heard the statement of the Republican Majority Leader in regard to the problem of schoolteachers in Pennsylvania, I felt it was time to cut the cloth to fit the suit. I do not suppose my speech is going to convince anyone on the other side. Their minds are all made up because they are now campaigning for the next gubernatorial election. They are trying, and they have been trying over the months, to discredit this Democratic Party.

If the Republicans are sincere in wanting to give the schoolteachers a raise, then let us get to work and do the job. Let us forget about these slick amendments which they put in the capital stock tax. That is one thing we have to remember. Let us forget about this stamp plan. Why do they want this stamp plan? Nobody wants it but the Republicans. The Republicans at home do not want it. If we can save them money, we should save it and give these teachers a raise.

Mr. President, Senator Dent went into detail in regard to the figures here today. He was quite diplomatic and it is his job to be diplomatic. I try to be diplomatic, too, but you are not going to stuff down my throat this propaganda that the Governor is on the spot, because you fellows have put him on the spot.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think Senator Lane knows full well that the Republicans have not put the Governor on the spot in any way whatsoever. The amendments to the appropriation bill, which increased it $31,000,000, were offered by two Democratic Senators, Senator Seyler and Senator Hays. All we did was to vote for the amendments which were offered by them. We felt, at that time, that we could find $31,000,000 to do this job. As far as I know, I think we still have that amount. Nobody knows how much this sales tax will bring in, but we feel it will bring in sufficient moneys so that this $31,000,000 will be available to be distributed to the schoolteachers.

Each day Senator Dent gives away "X" millions of dollars which would be saved by elimination of the stamp plan. Yesterday he was going to give it to industry. He made some kind of a barter proposition here that if we did not take the stamp plan, then we would not need the acceleration of the capital stock tax and we could eliminate the tax on wrappings and so forth. Today he says if we do not take the stamp plan, we will give the money to the teachers. I do not know to whom he is going to give the money tomorrow, but each day he gives it to a different group.

Mr. President, Senator Dent uses all kinds of figures on the saving that would be effected if we did not have the stamp plan. I have seen him quoted in the papers as saying that if we did not take the stamp plan, we could save $50,000,000 and now that figure is down around $13,000,000 to $20,000,000. I would say to Senator Dent, in figuring out this stamp plan, that it will cost about $7,000,000 extra. The way I figure that out is by taking $300,000,000 plus, which we figure will be brought in, and take a half per cent of that, or $1,500,000, which is the only extra involved in the stamp plan that goes to the issuing agent. As far as the merchants are concerned, they are going to get the same percentage of two per cent whether we have the stamp plan or not. If we do not have the stamp plan, the merchants will deduct two per cent when they send their money into the State. If we do have the stamp plan, they receive a deduction of two per cent when they go to the bank, or wherever the issuing source is, to get their stamps. Therefore, you can discount that two per cent because it makes no difference.

We also intend to have it provided that the Department of Revenue may issue stamps. There may be people, who sell merchandise under the sales tax, who may obtain from the Department of Revenue an exemption so that they will not have to issue stamps, such as the gas company, for instance. However, if you figure on $300,000,000 as the revenue, at a cost of a half per cent, it amounts to $1,500,000. The extra amount involved, in addition to that, is the amount which will be given to these charities under the redemption feature of the stamp plan. In Ohio, they find that about half of the stamps are redeemed. We will go a little bit further than that and say in Pennsylvania that two-thirds of the stamps will be redeemed. Two-thirds of $300,000,000 is $200,000,000, and you figure two per cent of $200,000,000 for redemption and that amounts to $4,000,000. We then have $4,000,000, plus the $1,500,000 which I referred to a little while ago, and that makes a total of $5,500,000.

The only other expense involved in relation to the stamp plan would be the printing of the stamps. I have heard all kinds of estimates as to how much it will cost to print them, but I think we can say safely that it should not exceed $1,000,000 or $1,500,000 at the most. If we then add that $1,500,000 to the $5,500,000, we get a grand total of $7,000,000 which we believe it will cost additional to have this stamp plan.

Mr. President, the next question is, is it worthwhile? You can find all kinds of arguments as to whether it is worth-while and also arguments against its efficacy. I think if anybody is to be blamed in connection with this stamp plan, it could be blamed on the Democrats. I say that because the Democrats made out quite a case against the sales tax that we had before. I have heard Senator Dent speak for hours on this subject and he made out quite a case against the merchants of Pennsylvania. He told how they had fish bowls by their cash registers and when their children wanted to go to the show or needed some money for candy, the merchant would dip down into the fish bowl and fish out some pennies for his children and that is where a lot of our money went, and we did not get half of the sales tax revenue in the public till which was given in the form of the sales tax by the purchasers of commodities subject to the sales tax. The Democrats said there was a great leak that went on under the previous sales tax plan and, for that reason, the sales tax was bad. Senator Dent now forgets about all those arguments and wants to make out that the stamp plan is bad and the other one is good.

Mr. President, I think Senator Dent convinced a lot of people in Pennsylvania, rightly or wrongly but he convinced them, that a great portion of their money, at least half of it, which they gave to the merchant for the sales tax never got to the State Treasury; that the merchant put it in his pocket and robbed the people. Therefore, this is one reason why a lot of people today are asking us to enact the stamp plan, because when they go to the store and pay a sales tax and receive a cancelled stamp, they know their money has found its way to the State Treasury and has not ended up in somebody else's pocket.

I want to quote from an editorial in the Johnstown Tribune-Democrat. I will not read the full editorial because it is too long. I will just read the last paragraph of it. I feel quite free in quoting from this famous paper, because it is the one that Senator Barr quoted from one time when there was an editorial, trying to make out a case that the GOP Senate leadership was bad and needed a new navigator. This is the same paper and I quote from this editorial:

"Can it be that Governor Leader and Senator Dent and other Democratic spokesmen who oppose this stamp plan recognize that it tends to make the sales tax a little more acceptable to millions of people, and therefore want to exclude it from the sales tax system? Since they are against the sales tax itself, it may be assumed that they do not want to make it more efficient or more palatable.

"The stamp plan may not be perfect. It does cost a little more in overhead. But it furnishes a check on the collection of the tax, and it probably impedes, if it does not altogether stop chiseling. And this redemption money goes, in the main, to worth-while causes. We think it is well worth a trial in Pennsylvania."

Mr. President, I am not going to attempt to answer all of the Senator's arguments about what we should do to industry and how much tax we should put on them. I think he knows, as all of us know, that we must keep our tax structure in Pennsylvania competitive with the tax structures in Ohio and other surrounding industrial States.

John Cummings, in the Philadelphia Inquirer, has written some very good articles on how Pennsylvania is not keeping up with the pace of other States. I think he wrote an article a week or so ago in which he stated that industries locating along the Pennsylvania Railraod, in Pennsylvania, were very small in number and in amount of assessed valuation, whereas the rate influx of industries into Ohio along the same railraod had grown to gigantic proportions.

Mr. President, in News Week of April the 30th, there is an article under the heading "Perspective, by Raymond Moley," in which he discusses, "Ohio, An Industrial Empire." In that article, he states about the great number of plants that are settling there. I would like to quote from this article as follows:

"Aluminum manufacturing is building in the Ohio Valley, with plants by Kaiser and Olin Mathieson. A substantial chemical industry is growing along Lake Erie near Ashtabula where there is a fruitful combiantion of fresh, cold water, salt, and silicia plus accessible limestone, electric power, and transportation facilities.

"A very important political factor has encouraged expansion and drawn industry to Ohio, notably in the two decades in which the CIO has become a political force in other states. Most of Ohio's major industrial cities have had good and conservative government. Cincinnati has had not only good but reform government for several years. Cleveland has had excellent mayors for twenty years.

"The state has had conservative Governors since the election of John Bricker in 1938. Frank Lausche is serving his fifth term. Lausche has been plain evidence to all that there will be no capture of the State's government by the CIO such as has befallen the State of Michigan. There is no reason why industry will not flow to regions where there is some assurance of immunity from class government. This political climate will have its effect for years to come. All Ohioans will benefit—those who work and those who invest alike."

Mr. President, I want to close by telling Senator Dent something that I think he already knows. We must be watchful of our industrial growth in Pennsylvania. We must keep our industrial growth commensurate with the industrial growth in other States or else we are going to be at the tail end of the parade. We must keep Pennsylvania prosperous and growing and keep people working. The only way I can see that we can do that is by providing a healthy atmosphere in Pennsylvania for industry to grow.

I hope we are not going to continue this discussion much longer about the stamp plan versus no stamp plan, because Senator Dent and I are on this Conference Committee and I expect we are going to discuss this at length when the Conference Committee on this sales tax meets again. When we come up with our report, then that is the time when we can debate this at length as to whether the stamp plan is good or whether it is not good. I think every Senator here knows my relation to the stamp plan. I have never been a great adovcate of it, but I do say there are those who feel it is worth-while and I think our Republican and Democratic colleagues in the House are entitled to some consideration. To say that this is some kind of a political maneuver, I do not think is quite correct. I feel that we are trying to do our best to do the right thing. I hope that the Senator does not keep giving away this great number of millions of dollars each day to a different source, which he says can be saved by the elimination of the stamp plan.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the Majority Leader read an editorial from the Johnstown Tribune-Democrat. He is quoting the thinking of one individual and I do not think that it carries too much weight. When Senator Mahany talks about the write-up in News Week, I think he is indicting his own Republican administrations. The Republican Party has been in control for sixteen years and we, of the Democratic side, have just taken over for a year and almost one-half. If there was an unfavorable climate in Pennsylvania for industry, it certainly is not the responsibility of the Democratic Party. Those on the Republican side have had a radical change of heart, because they have driven industry out of Pennsylvania. It is not the Democrats. Let us keep the record straight on that.

Mr. President, before I sit down, I would like very much to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. In order to keep the record straight, Senator Mahany, I would like to know from you, and I know that the Democratic Members over her would like to learn from you, whether or not you favor the stamp plan as far as our sales tax is concerned. Are you for it or are you opposed to it?

Mr. MAHANY. Do you mean myself, personally?

Mr. LANE. I would say yourself, personally.

Mr. MAHANY. I do not think that carries a great deal of weight It means only one vote. I would say that sometimes one must take the bitter with the sweet. If it comes in here in the form of a Conference Committee Report and the stamp plan is included, I will vote for it.

Mr. LANE. Thank you, Senator Mahany.

You quoted today from a news release in regard to the Governor's position on raises for the school teachers.

Do you take the position, as the Majority Leader here in the Senate, that there are sufficient funds in the till for the Administration to grant the school teachers an increase in salary?

Mr. MAHANY. Offhand, Senator Lane, I could not tell you whether there are sufficient funds or whether there are not. As you know, nobody in the world can definitely estimate within, I would say, $1,000,000 or $5,000,000 of how much this tax is going to bring in. Therefore, we only can make estimates. I think we would not be going off the brink, if I may use that expression, if we gave $31,000,000 to the school teachers.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, if you were the Governor of Pennsylvania as of today, would you feel that under the circumstances you would be able to grant the school teachers an increase in salary?

Mr. MAHANY. I believe I would.

Mr. LANE. Do you feel that the funds are available?

Mr. MAHANY. If they are not there, when we come back here in a few months we certainly could make up for any deficiency.

Mr. LANE. Then, if you were the Governor, you would grant the school teachers an increase in salary as of today, is that correct?

Mr. MAHANY. That would be my position.

Mr. LANE. Thank you.

Would you advocate any particular additional tax?

Mr. MAHANY. I do not believe an additional tax at this time would be necessary. I think if we grant this, we would have enough money to run the State and take care of this at least for the months between now and when we come back in January. If we found that we did not have enough money, then we could take care of the problem at that time. We might continue the three per cent sales tax if we found that there were not sufficient funds to take care of our needs, instead of reducing it to two per cent. I do not know what we would do. It would depend upon the financial picture at that time.

Mr. LANE. Was your statement predicated upon the thinking of your second team over there?

Mr. MAHANY. The second team has not told me anything that I heard. Senator Pechan whispered something that I did not hear. However, it did not interfere with or aid my thinking in any way.

Mr. LANE. Senator Dent said that it was lucky you did not hear Senator Pechan's suggestion.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, there is one thing I would like to straighten out with Senator Mahany. I think he should be straightened out when he quotes Raymond Moley. I remember when Raymond Moley was a member of President Roosevelt's so-called brain trust, and I do not think there was a Republican in the United States of America who ever quoted him favorably. Of course, President Roosevelt got rid of him because he found out that Raymond Moley would write anything for anybody who would pay for it.

So far as the question of the arguments that I made against the collection under the Fine sales tax and the eminent fraud that could be perpetrated, if you will look into the bill you will find that I was successful in getting an amendment put into the sales tax, establishing the right of the Department of Revenue to establish effective rates per industry and per classification of business. That effective rate is the greatest guarantee that we would collect, without the stamp plan, the maximum amount of money. When Senator Mahany called attention to the fact that I said there was as much as $50,000,000 that could be taken from the State taxpayers by the application of the stamp plan, he was telling the truth. However, he did not carry it all the way. You will note that I quoted the Cleveland Plain Dealer in its statement, through an editorial, that the stamp plan in Ohio cost the taxpayers in Ohio over $30,000,000 a year because of fraud. I said that if that were true in Ohio, then if you applied that against the rate that we would be collecting in Pennsylvania and taking the greater number of peoples that we have in Pennsylvania on a population base and on a per sale base in this State, you would find that our loss would be $50,000,000 or more and I would stand on that.

Mr. President, I do not often back track on a position that I take. I was against the stamp plan at its inception and I am still against the stamp plan. I am against it for many reasons and I am not going into all of them today. Before the stamp plan becomes effective, if the House Republican Party leadership still maintains its position and tells us with a gun at our head—incidentally, when it comes to using threats, about which the gentleman is talking, how do you think the stamp plan got into the picture in the first place? Our House leaders were told point-blank that if they did not accept the stamp plan, they would not get anything in the way of revenue during this biennium. When it comes to pointing guns at people's temples, you have some pretty good marksmen on your side, too. I did not make a threat; I just simply stated a fact. It is not a threat when I say to you that you must have the capital stock tax as it came from the House.

If there was a deal made—and that is a nasty word, I know, in legislative halls—that when the Democratic House leadership has given its word to the Republican leadership that it will stand behind them on a stamp plan, then I think you will find that that carries into the rest of the package. These are not threats. Threats are never made in public. When people make threats, they usually do it over a telephone or with a backhand letter or something. I am not making threats; I am just stating a simple fact that you will not have sufficient money if you emasculate the capital stock tax and if you cut the revenue from the sales tax from the $322,000,000 anticipated to $274,000,000 actual. I agree with the Senator that we are going to have a deficit. I do not think there is anything we can do to stop a deficit. However, I do not think it is particularly smart business or good legislative action to deliberately create, legislatively, a deficit beyond reasonable proportions.

Mr. President, I assure you that we will have many long discussions on the Conference Committee. However, if we do not soon get to work on it again—it may be interesting to note that we have not met once this week—any dreams of getting out of this Session of the Legislature during this biennium may fade. In fact, they may completely disappear. I am hoping that Senator Mahany will stay, and I know he will because he is always on deck when he is needed. Perhaps we could have a meeting sometime tomorrow to see if we can get somewhere near a solution to our problem.

If I were Senator Mahany, I would not condemn the Johnstown Tribune-Democrat, or whatever the newspaper is called, when it writes something I do not like and then praise it when it writes something that I do like.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. You will have to excuse me. I was talking to the only boss that I have recognized in some twenty-eight years. My wife is undecided whether she can go home today, tomorrow or next July 1st. She wanted to know from me and, honestly, I cannot answer her. After the interrogation, I will call her up and see if I can soothe her ruffled feelings.

Mr. MAHANY. I would say to Senator Dent that his wife sees him a lot more often than my wife sees me.

Mr. DENT. I could give you the reason for that, but I will not.

Mr. MAHANY. I would also like to say to Senator Dent that I am available this afternoon for a conference on the sales tax amendments. I will be happy to work with he and the other conferees.

The question I wanted to ask the Senator from Westmoreland is this. He said that he thought there would be about $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 of fraud with the stamp plan. How much does Senator Dent figure as the percentage of fraud under the old plan, without the stamp plan?

Mr. DENT. The old bill had written into it features that invited fraud. It also had written into it, or rather by regulation they wrote into the law, a specific regulatory feature that gave to special groups in Pennsylvania a discount on the taxes they collected. The feature that caused the greatest amount of fraud was the feature that had a tax of one cent on all sales from ten cents to $1.00, which allowed as much as nine cents tax to be paid on a dollar's worth of eleven cent sales. Then, by regulation, your Department of Revenue put into effect a regulation whereby the collector of the tax made an audit once every three months and paid to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as low as seventy per cent of one per cent of the total volume of business. The tax bill, itself, called for a one cent tax on every sale. Your Department of Revenue, by regulation, changed that and perverted it into one per cent on a dollar volume sale. Then, it went into certain businesses and allowed them a base of seventy per cent of their dollar sales and paid a one per cent tax on that.

If you will comb through your memory, you will find that when we took office in January, I offered a resolution in this Senate asking for an investigation of the regulations that were issued by the Department of Revenue. I looked to a surcharge of somewhere between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 against those who were responsible for writing regulations contrary to the law. That resolution died, of course. However, the bill itself had fraudulent features written into it and, therefore, without too much to work with, except the little knowledge that I have gained in some few years of experience here on the Hill, I took the position that some $20,000,000 could have been defrauded from the people of this State.

I said to you that in order to stop this kind of manipulation again, I asked Senator Kessler, and he went along with me, to include in the present sales tax a provision allowing the Department of Revenue to create effective rates per classification of business, in simple terms. By testing one or two Five and Ten Cent Stores, for instance, in certain communities, they can establish an effective rate of collection and then put that effective rate against all Five and Ten Cent Stores. They can do that on down the line in every endeavor of business. I picked that little gimmick up out of the New York City sales tax law. It has been estimated that New York City comes closer to a one hundred per cent collection of their tax than any other system of sales tax collection in the United States.

I went out to Ohio, at my own expense, and I have had a great deal of correspondence with the Ohio officials.—editorials were sent to me from their newspapers—and I found that legislators, administrators and the Governor are unalterably opposed to the stamp plan. However, the very people whom I pointed out a minute ago as the pressure in Pennsylvania are the pressure people in Ohio. It is a political pressure. The firemen, the union people, church groups, charitable groups and individuals pick up the stamps, refund them and if they get $6,400,000 out of the till in Pennsylvania, how will you or anyone else ever repeal the stamp plan in this State?

I would like to see us take the information that we have gained from the only State in the Union that has the sales tax, and the information from the eight States that repealed it, and not allow ourselves, as I said before, to become party to a scheme that has been called a scheme by the administrators of Ohio which will, in the end, cost the taxpayers millions of dollars and take from the State much needed revenue. If we are going to have a sales tax, at least the money that the people pay ought to go for the purposes that it is being paid. I do not think that the people paying taxes in this State ought to subsidize the banks to the tune of $3,200,000. I do not think you ought to give the banks $3,200,000 out of the pennies paid by the people.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I believe we are still on interrogation, but I think the Senator has probably gone into another speech.

Mr. DENT. He will do that if you do not watch him.

Mr. MAHANY. I do not believe you have answered the question, Senator Dent, as to how much money you would estimate would be defrauded from the State if we did not have the stamp plan. As far as the effective rate is concerned, that will be in the law whether we have the stamp plan or whether we do not have it.

Senator, would you care to estimate? You are shaking your head. Do you not think the effective rate would be in if we do not have the stamp plan?

Mr. DENT. It will be, but it will not be in the other way.

Mr. MAHANY. Could we not put an effective rate in if we did not have the stamp plan?

Mr. DENT. It is already in, if you do not have the stamp plan.

Mr. MAHANY. You also have an effective rate in if you do have the stamp plan.

Mr. DENT. My dear friend, I understood that when you have the stamp plan, you do not need any effective rate because the merchants cannot cheat. They buy the stamps, the people collect them and, therefore, the merchants know their money is being collected. Are you assuming there is going to be fraud under the stamp plan?

Mr. MAHANY. I hope there will be very little. However, as you stated, in Ohio they do find there is a little and perhaps we will have a little here, too, whether or not we have the stamp plan.

I just received some information, Senator, which I am sure you will be glad to hear. There is some food out in the other room, which has been waiting there for us since twelve o'clock, and if you do not mind, let us recess and go out and enjoy that anyway and then come back and take up the Calendar.

Mr. DENT. I appreciate your invitation to lunch and I can tell you that over the years there has been many a time when I would have liked to have an invitation to lunch. I will go have lunch with you and we might settle it out there.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I now move that the Senate do take a recess until 12:30 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mrs. VARALLO, Messrs. GRANVILLE E. JONES and KOLANKIEWICZ. RESOLUTION No. 172.

In the House of Representatives, May 2, 1956.

Old St. Joseph's Church in Old Philadelphia in back of Walnut Street was founded in 1733 on the same location it now occupies at 321 Willing's Alley. Circumstances of its earliest years were such as to make it today, for Americans of all faiths, the symbol of a liberty which is precious to every citizen—perhaps the most basic to human dignity, of all our American freedoms. This is liberty of conscience, the religious freedom without which no man is wholly a man. Old St. Joseph's is a symbol of this freedom in a way which is unparalleled in any other place in our land.

The historical facts are these. In 1733 the religious penal laws of William III were being strictly enforced in all His Majesty's dominions—all, that is, except Pennsylvania. These laws, like similar ones of William's royal predecessors, were based on the principle that a man's right to worship God was strictly conditioned by his king's approval. Americans fought against this principle in many of the Colonies, but helplessly. Finally, Pennsylvania was the only Colony left where Religious Freedom remained an actuality.

On July 25, 1734, Governor Patrick Gordon appeared before the Meeting of the Provincial Council to lodge his protest against the existence of this Church, then in its first year, maintaining that it was "contrary to Laws of England . . . which extended to all His Majesty's dominions." The Council listened "sate long" (as Minutes of the Meeting describe it), and instructed the Governor to appear before it next Meeting for his answer. At that next Meeting, on July 31, 1734, the Council had all the laws concerned read publicly, called attention to the "Law of this Province concerning Liberty" which guaranteed freedom of worship, and concluded by formally refusing to sanction the closing of Old St. Joseph's. This was the only instance in the pre-Revolutionary history of our Nation that the right of a religious minority to exist, when challenged in the concrete, was ever successfully defended.

The glorious page in our History leaves Pennsylvania with unique distinction, since the issue was never raised again in this Colony, of being the birthplace of Religious Freedom as an enduring realty in America. And the issue was fought out around this venerable old Church.

To commemorate this great cornerstone and mainspring of our precious American heritage, His Excellency, Governor George M. Leader, intends to proclaim July 31, 1956, as the Religious Freedom Day in Pennsylvania, thus marking the 222nd Anniversary of what transcribed on the sacred grounds of Old St. Joseph's Church, on the freedom breeding soil of Pennsylvania on that memorable day of July 31, 1734.

As the usually torrid weather conditions in Philadelphia in the end of July would preclude an adequate attendance at the commemorative civic exercises on July 31, 1956, same will be held on May 22, 1956, at which time a narrative bronze tablet relating the glorious events of July 31, 1734, will be attached to one of the walls of the church which formed part of the St. Joseph's original edifice; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives in the name of the people of Pennsylvania join the entire Nation in extolling the significance of the aforesaid commemorative exercises and that the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House of Representatives to participate therein; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of the instant resolution be forwarded upon its adoption to The Rev. J. Joseph Bluett, S.J., Pastor of Old St. Joseph's Church in Philadelphia.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. READINGER and CAPANO.

RESOLUTION No. 173.

In the House of Representatives, May 2, 1956.

The Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Fund has sharply decreased from $639,000,000 in November 1948 to $309,000,000 as of May 1, 1956.

This has caused a rise in the Unemployment Compensation tax rate for 1956 totaling $50,000,000 to the employers of Pennsylvania.

This sharp decrease is attributable principally to tax reductions, refunds and credits as a result of amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Law in 1949 and 1951 at the behest of employer associations and representatives of large individual employers, which were incorporated as Administrative measures, without adequate and proper explanation to the Legislature.

Such amendments were tailored to provide special, preferential and unjustified reductions for a few large individual employers at the expense of the Fund and the generality of employers.

Between December 31, 1949 and December 31, 1954, the state of New York showed a gain of 43 per cent in its unemployment compensation fund ($887,000,000 to $1,267,000,000) while the Pennsylvania Fund showed a loss of 31 per cent for the same period ($574,000,000 to $394,000,000), dropping to 47th position among the states in relation to insured payroll.

The New York fund is now three times better able to withstand unemployment charges than Pennsylvania because of this tax history; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a study of the effect of the amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Law of 1936 enacted in the 1949 and 1951 Sessions fo the General Assembly, and of the activities of employer associations and representatives of large individual employers with regard to such amendments, and make a report thereon to the next Session of the General Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of Labor and Industry provide to the Joint State Government Commission, for the purposes of this study, information on the activities of employer associations and representatives of large individual employers with regard to proposals and amendments submitted by such agencies and representatives as Administration measures, allegedly documented and justifiable under the facts, such information to include:

(a) The individual experience with regard to tax reductions of all firms currently giving employment to more than 2500 persons in Pennsylvania, and

(b) The amount of the tax credits obtained by each such firm as a result of the 1949-1951 amendments, and

(c) Identification of the firms which paid no taxes at all for any quarterly period as a result of such amendments; stating the duration of such tax exemption, and

(d) Identification of any firms which obtained disproportionately large tax reductions by reason of such amendments, and

(e) The total amount of tax charges waived in 1949 by elimination of charges made for benefit payments paid legally during industrial disputes of previous years, identifying the firms which benefited specially by this tax waiver, at the expense of the remaining employers, and

(f) Summary totals for all such firms, for a recent five-year period, of the amount of charges for benefits paid to their employes as opposed to moneys received from such firms in the form of tax contributions, such figures to show deficit or plus amounts, and

(g) Information establishing whether or not preferential bias on behalf of individual employers was administratively provided in establishing reserve ratios for such employers, to the permanent disadvantage of the generality of employers; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Labor and Industry and all other government departments, boards and commissions with information on this subject cooperate with the Joint State Government Commission in this study.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. McLAUGHLIN.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 174.

In the House of Representatives, May 2, 1956.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is one of the very few states which has failed to adopt an official State song. The need for such a song should be of the utmost importance, both as to words and music, to all Pennsylvanians; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the House of Representatives adopt the beautiful lyrics and music of the song entitled "My Beloved Pennsylvania" which was written by David Lincoln Cershel of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, as the official song of the Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives transmit a copy of this resolution to the composer of the lyrics and music of this song, Mr. David Lincoln Cershel, 6551 Shetland Street, Pittsburgh 6, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. READINGER,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1957, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (a) of section twelve hundred one of "The Vehicle Code" approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety * * *" by providing for a one year statute of limitations for violation of section six hundred twenty (j).

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the passage of this bill, as I did before when the bill was defeated on March 13th.

This bill would create an indefinite period of time within which a charge for making a false statement in a motor vehicle application could be brought. It permits bringing an action within one year from the date a false statement is discovered, not from the date it is made. For example, as Mr. Readinger admitted before, when he was interrogated on the bill, if a false statement were discovered twenty years after it was made, the charge could be then made within one year from that date or in, that is, twenty-one years after the crime allegedly occurred.

I think the purpose of this bill is a good one, that is to increase the time within which an action can be brought. But it seems to me that it is very poor legislation to allow a charge for such a minor offense to be brought. That is a longer period of statute of limitations that is allowed for treason, robbery, burglary or any other crime except murder in this state. I think it would clearly lead to political reprisals, and I therefore ask all of the Members to vote against this bill, and request that a slow roll call be taken with only those Members in their seats and voting recorded.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, we debated this bill at great length before and it was defeated. I am simply going to say that the administration proposed this bill, thinking that it is a proper change in the law. If you desire to condone making false statements and giving the Commonwealth an opportunity to punish somebody when they do find out about it, then vote against the bill. If you think it is right that somebody who makes a false statement should be punished in some way, and I am quite sure the penalty is not very severe, then vote for the bill.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I think the last remark might create the impression that to be against this bill is to condone the offense. I do not think that is true at all. I think if a reasonable period of time, say for example, two years from the date the crime is committed were imposed the bill would be fair. But I do not think it is fair or good legislation to have a completely indefinite period of time.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out to the gentleman from Delaware that his analogy between the robbery and treason statutes and this particular amendment to the Vehicle Code is not in order, because there you have no question about a person committing one of those crimes. If a person commits a robbery and he should happen to flee the state, why, of course, you know that we can indict him in absentia. So there is no question as to the statute of limitations there, and there is no question as to the knowledge of the crime. But here it would place an impossible burden on administrative officials to go through all the applications within a certain period of time and determine whether or not there has been any false statement made.

I think this is a very reasonable amendment to the Act and I think it is somewhat similar to bills in equity where you have to bring them within a certain period of time after the discovery of the fraud. And for that reason I thing this is desirable.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. What is the statute of limitations for a violation of the Internal Revenue laws?

Mr. McCORMACK. I believe there is a six year limitation.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Is it not anywhere from three to six years, depending upon the type of crime involved?

Mr. McCORMACK. There is a variable limitation, yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. All right, now, if a man violates the Internal Revenue laws and the District Director of Internal Revenue discovers it twenty years later, can the individual be prosecuted?

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, again it depends upon the fraudulent act or omission that took place. If for instance a person reported certain income, there is a limitation there.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, Mr. Speaker, is not the gentleman talking about civil liability? I am talking about criminal liability. If the gentleman makes a false statement in his tax return, if it is discovered after the statute of limitations, can he be prosecuted?

Mr. McCORMACK. I stand corrected, Mr. Speaker, but it seems to me where there has been an omission of revenue from a return, that the limitation does not apply.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. I do not like to disagree with the learned gentleman from Philadelphia, but if a man makes a misstatement in his tax returns, the civil liability is never exonerated. If he makes a misstatement in his tax return a criminal liability is determined by the statute of limitations. We read in the papers many times where the Senate and House of Congress have investigated the fact that the department has ben lax in going after violators of the law. There is no distinction between this and the present bill.

As Mr. Lippincott has indicated, there should be a reasonable time within which the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can institute a prosecution, but for an individual to be prosecuted many years later, when his means of evidence are gone, is contrary to the principles of American justice. I say to vote for this bill is a vote for American justice and not against law enforcement.

On the question recurring,

ABSENCE OF QUORUM

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentlmean insist upon his quorum call?

Mr. McCORMACK. Yes, I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest to the gentleman from Philadelphia that it is obvious we have a quorum and, unless the gentleman from Philadelphia is disposed to proceed under the quorum call and send for the absentees, there is no reason why we should have a quorum call.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, it is not within my province to send for the Members, that depends upon the majority vote of this House, but I am certainly willing to proceed all the way.

The SPEAKER. It is quite all right with the Speaker if the House will go through with it otherwise it is just nonsense. The Chair will provide the policemen to round up the members.

Mr. McCORMACK. I ask leave of the House to withdraw my request.

The SPEAKER. The Chair accepts the gentleman's decision.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm to preside temporarily.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have asked for permission to make a brief statement at this time because we might get started on a controversial bill which would delay us for some time.

I would like the Members to know now that I am going to request the House to recess from 12:30 to 1:00 o'clock for the purpose of allowing the Members to eat lunch and also to check out of the hotels today if they so desire, inasmuch as tomorrow's session will be a consent session.

We hope to dispose of many of the controversial bills on this calendar today, and it appears it will not be necessary to insist that the entire membership remain for tomorrow.

I hope the Members will cooperate and come back as close to 1:00 o'clock Standard Time as possible so that we will have at least four or five hours this afternoon to dispose of the business of the day.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state what our schedule will be next week?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, to the best of my present ability I would say we will have at least three working days next week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, possibly four days.

Until I learn more about developments on the proposed sales tax amendments, and a few other items which are in conference committees, it will be impossbile now to say how many days it would be profitable to work next week. In other words, we will probably be certain by Tuesday of next week that the final adjournment cannot fall in that week. Therefore, if we must come back the following week, there is no point in staying here five or six days a week when we cannot finish during that week anyway.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 1 and 2 by striking out "and section 1135."

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 3 and 4, by striking out "and amended May 24, 1951 (P. L. 370) are" and inserting in lieu "is."

Amend Bill, page 2, lines 7 to 17 by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu

Section 2. The act is amended by adding after section 1136, a new section to read:

Section 1136.1. Proceedings Without Petition. Townships without petition, may grade, curb, gutter, pave, macadamize, or otherwise improve public streets or roads or parts thereof, or a particular width or additional widths thereof, with or without the assistance or contribution of the State, county or a corporation occupying the thoroughfare, and may assess and collect the whole cost thereof, or the whole cost not thus aided or contributed, or any part thereof, from the owners of real estate abutting on the improvement, by an equal assessment on the foot front, including the expense of the necessary drainage. The board of supervisors may make equitable adjustments for corner lots, or lots of irregular shape, where an assessment for full frontage would be unjust. Property not otherwise assessable shall become assessable by the petition of the owner or the owner's representative. In all cases where the whole width of the street is being paved without State or county aid, and more than two-thirds of the total cost is proposed to be assessed on abutters, the township shall, for this purpose, be considered as owner of the non-assessable property, of street intersection, and of the deducted frontage on equitable adjustments.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess until 1:00 p. m. EST. The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having elapsed, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

BILLS ON THIRD READING POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. READINGER.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of Senate Bill No. 257, entitled:

An Act validating the action of any school board which has heretofore employed any teacher who was related to a member of the board without strictly complying with the law relating to such employment and relieving the members of the board from all liability.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this particular bill is to validate not only the civil actions but the criminal actions of a school board.

We are all aware of the fact that the citizens of the State of Pennsylvania are protected by a provision in the Constitution that no ex post facto law shall be passed. In other words, what is not a crime today may be made a crime tomorrow by virtue of an act of Legislature.

This particular bill would tend to legalize criminal acts. It will set a very, very dangerous precedent. It is bad enough for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the Board of Pardons from time to time has seen fit to release felons, particularly from the eastern district of Pennsylvania.

If this particular bill is followed in the future all that will be necessary where somebody of political importance is involved is to ask that the illegal actions particularly of a public office holder, be validated by an act of Legislature.

We feel this act is unsound, perhaps unconstitutional, and, as I indicated before, would set a very dangerous precedent.

I ask for a slow roll call and only those in their seats be counted as voting.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the Majority Leader accepts the thanks of the gentleman on behalf of the majority and hopes that this spirit will continue throughout the afternoon.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AUKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I just would like to issue a little warning. We have a very light house and I might say if I hear many more counts like the one previous to this bill I am going to ask for a verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The Chair was of the opinion, very much of the opinion, that the former roll call was accurate. It is always the privilege of a Member to verify the roll.

The Chair wants to say to the Members of this House that never within the memory of the Chair has there been a time when the roll calls have been as accurate, when as much pains have been taken to see that the Members were recorded as they voted, as during this session of the House. There never has been a time when there has been a session with such a small number of verifications of the roll.

The desk has been instructed to record only those present and voting, and the Chair is confident that on the previous roll call that is what the desk did.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 296, Printer's No. 1716 together with communication from the Senate be taken from the table.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE

L. 300) entitled "An act authorizing counties of the second and fourth classes to establish fire training schools for the paid and volunteer firemen of municipalities within the county" extending provisions of the act to certain counties and limiting the amount counties may expend on training schools in certain cases.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 4, line 11, by striking out after the word "hundred" the following: "thirty-four" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "thirty-three."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to discuss very briefly this bill. I notice on the list of bills favored by our labor groups that today there are five bills listed. I also notice that so far today the Majority Leader or perhaps someone named Leader has called up three of the five.

It seems to me that this is obviously a deliberate process to call up bills when we have the lightest House attendance that we have had this week. The bills were not called up on Tuesday or Wednesday, but they are called up today after the Members are told that it might be well to check out, and of course, a great many of them have gone home.

I think the question might well be asked, is this thing done to get the Democratic Members off the hook?

The SPEAKER. The only question before the House is whether the House will concur in Senate amendments to a particular bill. Before the next order of business is called up, if the gentleman has any remarks along the lines that he is now pursuing he will be in order.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill that I am discussing happens to be one of the bills favored by labor, and for that reason I think a certain amount of latitude should be given me in discussing this bill in connection with the other ones.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is at liberty to discuss the bill, but is not at liberty while discussing the bill to discuss matters of policy insofar as the Floor Leader is concerned. He is at liberty to do that when we have disposed of the business before the House.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I say, Mr. Speaker, that this bill that we are now asked to concur in, as amended by the Senate, is one of the bills that is on the favored list. I say it is an example in calling it up now or either getting the Democratic Members off the hook or * * *

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is out of order. Either the amendments are of the sort that this House desires to concur in, or the amendments are of the sort that the House does not desire to concur in, and the only question before the House is the merits or demerits of the amendments. The remarks that the gentleman is now making are distinctly out of order. They would be in order before we take up the next order of business.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Is the Speaker ruling that it is improper to discuss in the debate of a bill why that bill is called up at a particular time?

The SPEAKER. I think this Chair would so rule from the tenor of the gentleman's remarks. He is discussing motives rather than actualities. In this particular situation, the Chair would hold that the gentleman's remarks are out of order.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Is the Chair ruling that the motives in calling up the bill cannot be discussed?

The SPEAKER. There are certain limitations in which motives could be discussed, but in the opinion of the Chair, the line the gentleman from Delaware is taking is distinctly out of order.

The Chair will recognize him for his remarks when we have disposed of the present order of business, or he can make a motion that this matter be temporarily placed upon the Speaker's table. There are several things that he can do and then he would be in order to make the line of remarks that he is now making.

MOTION TO LAY ON TABLE

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed temporarily upon the Speaker's table, so that I may conclude my remarks.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Delaware request a division, a voice vote, or a roll call?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I will be satisfied with a division.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I speak on this motion?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that the gentleman withdraw his motion until this bill has been disposed of, and at that time I will be glad to ask the House to give unanimous consent for him to address the House, on the subject upon which he desires to speak.

MOTION TO LAY ON TABLE WITHDRAWN

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I will be satisfied to do that, and will withdraw the motion.

The SPEAKER. That was the tenor of the Chair's suggestions from the beginning.

The Chair thanks the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LIPPINCOTT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as I started to say, and I will conclude very briefly, it seems to me that calling these labor favored bills up on a day when we have the lightest attendance of the week, the question could well be asked, is the Democratic party trying to get its own Members off the hook, or is this an indication that it is really only giving lip service to the labor party.

Thanks to the Republican votes, these labor favored bills have passed, but I think the motive might well be inquired into.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mrs. REIBMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I notice that according to the House calendar, House Bill No. 1935 was passed by this House March 21, by a vote of 190-0; that it was passed in the Senate April 17th, 47-0. I question the motives of the previous speaker in directing his remarks * * *

The SPEAKER. The lady is not privileged to question the Member's motives.

Mrs. REIBMAN. I merely wanted to state that this bill had unanimous approval in both the House and the Senate and that it is not a question of whether it is a labor favored bill or not.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am quite disappointed that the gentleman from Delaware would make a statement such as he has made today. I hold him in high regard and I consider him very intelligent. I am amazed and disappointed in him when he says what he says today.

I say that emphatically for the reason that he well knows that there have been many, many days when I have been trying to get as many Members here as possible, so that bills of this type, as well as other types, could be disposed of.

When he raised the question of the motive of the Floor Leader in calling bills of any kind on a day like this, then I think he is really slipping, because if the Democratic party wanted to make labor or any particular type of bill a favorite we would certainly not call it up when a lot of our own Members are not here.

The gentleman also must know from his experience here in the House that bills come over from the Senate whenever they come. They are put on the calendar and we dispose of them if and as we can. That is the case with House Bill 1935, which was just now voted upon.

Some of the other bills have been on the calendar for quite a long time and they have been passed over because these have been a relatively large number of absentees from time to time, or other matters were more pressing.

They have not been passed over for any particular reason other than that we think they are good bills and would like to see them passed. But the gentleman also must know that we are near the end of this session and if bills are not passed now they are never going to be passed. So we do not have much choice any more. We bring them up and we hope they pass, if they don't they don't. If that is showing favoritism to any group then I cannot understand the gentleman's thinking.

I am not trying to defend any course of action that I have taken. I have used my best judgment and followed the directions of our caucus as to what to do about certain bills, when they should be called, and so forth. I am certainly disappointed in the statement made by the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott desire to be recognized.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I note a number of these bills have been on the calendar for many weeks and certainly have been on the calendar when the Democratic party has been in greater attendance than it is today. I also note the bills were on the calendar this week on Tuesday and Wednesday when we had comparatively a full House.

It seems odd indeed that they were not called up until today when we have the lightest House of the week, especially when we will be here three days next week and undoubtedly will have a heavier attendance than today. If that is not a basis for inquiry as to why they are called up at this time, I do not know what is.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FROST asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, and the other Members of the House, this is not a labor bill. This is a retirement bill and it has nothing to do with labor. What the attitude of labor might be toward it, I do not know.

It is essentially a retirement bill, the same bill as was passed by this House in 1953—it might not have been exactly the same wording, but the purpose was exactly the same in 1953—without a dissenting vote.

Unless I am asked to go into the details of the bill, I do not care to at this time. It is perfectly all right, the bill is all right, and the amendments put in by the Senate are clarifying amendments.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I did not say it was a labor bill, I stated it is on the list of bills favored by labor.

At this point I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the only two bills on this list favored by labor which have not been called up today are House Bill 1379 and Senate Bill 316. Does the Majority Leader intend to call those two bills up now?

Mr. READINGER. You will learn that when I make the decision.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Are they on the Majority Leader's calendar marked to be called up?

Mr. READINGER. You will learn that when I make the announcement.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. If the Majority Leader does not want to state what his intention is, I think the only way we can find out is by asking questions. If his decision is not to call them all up, then I think we should know it.

Mr. READINGER. You will know in due course.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. READINGER.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1387, entitled:

An Act amending the "Child Labor Law" * * *" regulating the employment of minors on farms.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say a word or two about this bill.

This bill is now before the House on reconsideration. I want to urge the Members of the House to vote for it. I call your attention to the fact that it does not apply to any farm which has less than twelve employes. It does not apply to minors over twelve years of age. In other words, changes have been made to make it satisfactory to almost everyone and it now applies only to minors under twelve years of age and it does not apply to farms having less than twelve employes.

I hope you will give it favorable consideration.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, if you want to help reduce child delinquency, then vote against this bill. If you want to help the farmers in a rush season of harvesting fruits and vegetables, then you should vote against this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I hope my colleagues will vote "no" on this bill. I ask to be recorded as voting "no."

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, briefly on this bill I would ask the Members to consider it very carefully because it strikes at the fundamental problem of our American way of life.

We have a lot of successful people who were kids raised on farms. Our farmers today are caught in a pinch, it is difficult for them to get labor. Farming is an industry where the weather will not wait. When Mother Nature says something is ready to be harvested, it means long hours and it has to be done right now or the entire year's income may be lost.

I ask the Members of the House to consider this carefully and to vote against the bill.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I too would like to ask you to consider this bill very carefully. It has been noised around through my county, which to a great extent is fundamentally rural and farming, that the bill is before us. I have received numerous calls and requests from my farmers to see that this bill is not enacted into law.

It is contrary to the best interests particularly of our farming communities. For that reason I am asking to be recorded against it and ask you to vote against the bill.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call to the attention of the Members of the House that this does not apply to the parents of children on farms or guardians of children. This bill really strikes at the problem of migratory labor, the families with very small children six, seven, eight and nine years of age who are brought up from the South to work on the farms in this Commonwealth.

I think in all fairness and in all decency, to give these very, very small and immature children a chance, they should not be exploited. Those who feel they need that kind of labor to work their farms should vote against it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 163

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 163 on page 17 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 13, 1956.

The Upper Allegheny River Valley last week suffered the most disastrous flood since 1865 The Borough of Warren alone has been damaged reckoned in money far in excess of a million dollars Most other up-river communities have suffered in proportion

In contrast Pittsburgh and the Lower Allegheny Valley have incurred but little damage The reason clearly is that sizable heads of water were held back by the system of flood control dams in operation for the benefit of the lower river

This system was authorized twenty years ago by the seventy-fourth Congress of the United States However the flood control dams for the upper river still remain in the preliminary planning stage notably the great dam to be built athwart the Allegheny above Warren reportedly near Kinzua

Continued in action in proceeding with the construction of the upper river flood control system commencing with the main dam above Warren means a heavy handicap to the northwestern Pennsylvania area an ever-to-be-reckoned-with threat to life and property and an active and deadening threat to the economic development of the region therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the General Assembly of the Comomnwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to expedite to the utmost the appropriations and any additionally needed enabling legislation to bring into being the main upper Allegheny Dam and other uncompleted units of the Allegheny Valley flood control system without further delay and be it further

Resolved That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 171

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 171 on page 18 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 13, 1956.

The General Assembly has before it many bills which attempt to remedy in various degrees and in different manners various problems pertaining to the relationship between the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions as employers and the great number of public servants as employes

The General Assembly requires for its use comprehensive factual information concerning the employer-employe relationship of State and political subdivision employes and how they are affected by State laws therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate who together with three persons appointed by the Governor shall constitute a commission to study State laws and their effect on employer-employe relationship between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and its political subdivisions and their employes particularly as they relate to

(1) A retirement system for State and municipal employes especially as to the relationship of such plans to the OASI program and as to the mutual recognition of service credits for retirement purposes

(2) Improvement of State Civil Service programs and procedures

(3) Cooperative recruitment of professional and technical personnel in short supply

(4) Working hours and vacation and sick leaves of public employes

(5) Cooperative State and local in-service training programs and be it further

Resolved That the commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

HOUSE RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution (not printed) congratulating the Palmerton High School Basketball Team.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 26, 1956.

The little community of Palmerton in Carbon County, a borough of 6600 people, has produced a champion that bettered its greater and more powerful neighbors in the Eastern part of the State. On Wednesday, March 21st of this year, the Palmerton High School basketball team, after a series of 18 victories, best Radnor High School and became the Eastern Regional Class A PIAA Champion.

It was a great vistory, after a great season, for a truly great team. The people of this community, though small in number, gave largely of themselves to produce a winner, and as a consequence, in matters of civic activity became a real winner, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend our most earnest congratulations to the people of Palmerton, to the student body and school officials of Palmerton High School and to the Palmerton High School basketball team and its coach and commend all of them for their spirit and determination; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the principal of Palmerton High School.

HOUSE RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution (not printed) congratulating the Farrell High School Basketball team.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 4, 1956.

On March 24, 1956, before a capacity crowd at Penn's Palestra, Philadelphia, the basketball team of Farrell High School western Pennsylvania champions, defeated the eastern Pennsylvania champions, Palmerton High School basketball team for the PIAA Class A State Championship by the score of 57 to 45.

Farrell High School entered the championship play-offs with an outstanding season's record of twenty-eight wins in thirty-two games. Eddie McCloskey, coach of the Farrell High School basketball team has compiled a record probably unequaled by any other high school coach in Pennsylvania. In his eight years as coach, Farrell High School won the State championship in 1952 and 1954. In addition, Farrell has been undefeated on its home court in ninety-six consecutive games extending over a period of approximately seven years. However, his record is not his sole attribute. He has always instructed his teams to fight hard but in a clean sportsmanship manner and his team at the championship game at the Palestra displayed the fact that his instructions were followed to the letter.

Although Palmerton battled Farrell through every quarter, the excellently coached team of Farrell displaying a full court press, excellent ball handling, accurate shooting combined with the tremendous rebounding efforts and defensive play by Jones were just too much for Palmerton High School.

The citizens of Farrell, justly proud of one of the finest basketball teams ever to represent their city in a State championship play-off, subscribed $4,000 to offset the expense of a special radio program for the Farrell coach and players; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its heartiest congratulations to Coach Eddie McCloskey and players of Farrell High School basketball team and wish it continued success in the future; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk transmit copies of this resolution to Coach McCloskey of the Farrell High School basketball team and the principal of Farrell High School.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 163 REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules:

ALLEGHENY DAM

In the House of Representatives, March 13, 1956.

The Upper Allegheny River Valley last week suffered the most disastrous flood since 1865. The Borough of Warren alone has been damaged, reckoned in money, far in excess of a million dollars. Most other up-river communities have suffered in proportion.

In contrast, Pittsburgh and the Lower Allegheny Valley have incurred but little damage. The reason, clearly, is that sizable heads of water were held back by the system of flood control dams in operation for the benefit of the lower river.

This system was authorized twenty years ago by the seventy-fourth Congress of the United States. However, the flood control dams for the upper river stall remain in the preliminary planning stage—notably the great dam to be built athwart the Allegheny above Warren, reportedly near Kinzua.

Continued inaction in proceeding with the construction of the upper river flood control system, commencing with the main dam above Warren, means a heavy handicap to the northwestern Pennsylvania area—an ever-to-be-reckoned-with threat to life and property, and an active and deadening threat to the economic development of the region; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to expedite to the utmost the appropriations and any additionally needed enabling legislation to bring into being the main upper Allegheny Dam and other uncompleted units of the Allegheny Valley flood control system without further delay; and be it further
